

The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6751-Lord Zenda and Zoltán looked at each other briefly. They could tell something had happened.

Zoltán was about to ask James what was going on, but Lord Zenda stopped him.

“Several esteemed guests have arrived. I’m afraid we need to move to another room for now,” James said through clenched teeth.

Sherman and Manny led James to a smaller room connected to the hall. Lord Zenda and Zoltán quickly followed them.

Behind them, Lesia dragged Neville along and entered the room as well.

A short while later, cultivators from six holy temples came into the Haurvatat Palace.

They were a little surprised to see that no one else was there inside the hall.

However, each of them soon found a seat and sat down right away.

“The members of the Haurvatat Temple always act so high and mighty.

Can’t they show US a little respect?” “Well, they have someone who’s a Chosen One. That’s why the other temples can never compare to them.”

“Watch your mouths. We’re at their temple, after all.” “Why should I? It’s not like they can still act arrogant and superior around us now.” “She told us to come here today. It’s fine if we can settle things in a civilized way. otherwise, we’ll have to set things straight once and for all.”

While the others were talking amongst themselves, Lord Toviyyah sat with his eyes closed. It was impossible to tell what was going through his mind.

Suddenly, Lord Xandurr slammed his hand onto the table next to him and stood up. "Where the hell are the servants? Are they not even going to serve tea to their guests?"

The other cultivators exchanged glances and smirked upon seeing Lord Xandurr's outburst.

"What would you like for tea, Lord Xandurr? Should I serve it to you myself?"

Everyone was slightly taken aback by a monotonous female voice coming from outside the hall.

Those who made hateful and scornful remarks about the Haurvatat Temple earlier scrambled to their feet. Only Lord Toviyyah and Lord Tzivya remained in their seats.

as she walked past them. A dangerous light glinted in her eyes.

"Greetings to Lord Haurvatat!" The men bowed deeply to her.

be reckoned with.

everyone here today for a celebration or a gathering. I've gathered all of you here to ask about a person's whereabouts."

Her gaze drifted across all of the faces there. Everyone could feel her eyes bore into them. 'The Yin governor. Which of you took her? If you come clean and release her now, the Haurvatat Temple won't take any action against you.

Instead, we will reward you handsomely.

"If you decide to continue keeping her hostage and claim to have done it on the friend and comrade once I find them."

As soon as she said that, the other cultivators looked at each other nervously and murmured in low voices.

Just then, Lord Tzivya let out a scoff.

Lord Tzivya lifted her gaze and said unsmilingly, “Lord Haurvatat, you’re a Chosen One. Shouldn’t you say things that are more appropriate to your status?”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6753-Lord Tzivya specifically stressed the words “Chosen One”. Her voice dripped with sarcasm.

almost instantly.

Lord Tzivya rose from her seat and took a glance around her. “All of US have been busy helping the Haurvatat Temple with the issue of the Chosen One that has snuck into the Great Historial Land.

“How would we have time to abduct anyone? Moreover, it’s the Yin governor you are talking about.”

The others seemed to agree with Lord Tzivya’s statement as they nodded and continued murmuring.

whilst releasing her aura. It created immense pressure on the others and made them quiet down.

governor, or none of you will be leaving this place today. The temples you’re affiliated to will also face terrible calamities as well.”

A commotion broke out among the cultivators of the six temples as soon as they At that very moment, Lord Xandurr slapped his hand forcefully onto the table Chosen One.

“We might have shown you some respect previously because of your grand patriarch. However, we know everything now! So, stop acting as if you are still above us!”

The other cultivators were also on their feet by the time Lord Xandurr finished.

to lie to everyone about being a Chosen One!”

“Are you going to keep lying to US after all these years?” “Every Chosen One has the Ultimate Golden Body. How about you show US your Ultimate Golden Body and prove to US you are the real deal?”

were today. Normally, these men from the other temples would humbly follow any orders from the Haurvatat Temple, yet they were acting completely different now.

It did not seem like they were doing this solely because of their suspicions who was the number one cultivator in the Great Historial Land.

It was very likely that these men had abducted the Yin governor. They claimed to have done it on the Haurvatat Temple’s orders but did not bring their captive They wanted to have the Haurvatat Temple take the blame for the abduction.

Consequently, the unwelcome Chosen One would take his revenge on the Haurvatat Temple and wipe out all of its members. It would help the other temples get rid of the Haurvatat Temple, which they wanted gone for a long time now.

this time.

A brief moment later, she threw back her head and laughed out loud.

Her derisive laughter had the cultivators from the other temples frowning and pausing from their taunting.

and asked frigidly, “Is it one of those old foxes from the Forty- Ninth Heaven?”

“No.” She shook her head. “With your abilities, none of you would be able to reach or meet those people.

“The only suspects left are the current Tai Chi, Yehria, or the Law of Paths, Wesley Shepherd.”

Upon hearing her words, the other cultivators simply looked at each other and grinned malevolently.

and looked toward the hall entrance.

A ball of mysterious, colorful light came flying from a distance and stopped outside the door.

Then, it transformed into a woman in a robe of white and black colors. She also had a dark veil worn over her face.

with the grand patriarch at the Forty-Ninth Heaven?”

Marci Annell, the woman wearing the veil, entered the hall without saying anything.

The other cultivators got down on one knee and called out almost hearing that.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6754-With her hands on her back, Marci continued walking until she was face to face only the two of them could see.

In a flash, the two of them performed all the signature skills they knew and blasted their powers at each other.

battle as Marci gradually gained the upper hand.

At one point, Marci pushed her palms forward and sent thousands of planets backward.

lost her footing and fell onto the bottom of the steps leading up to the podium.

She failed.

day. She never felt this humiliated before.

living beings, but she was fine with that.

After all, that person received Emperor Yarden's legacy and gained exceptional powers. He even had the protection of the Quasar Second Body.

utmost attention to for a long time.

resources.

Temple's grand patriarch to help her level up quickly.

never would have imagined receiving a critical hit from Marci like this.

moved to stand behind Marci.

The looks of scorn and malevolence were evident on their faces.

laughed.

"Didn't you call yourself the number one cultivator in the Great Historial Land?"

Isn't your cultivation close to the level of the Soma Daeclon Rank? Yet, you lost the battle so miserably and so soon?"

She retorted indignantly, "If it weren't because I had been injured, the group of you wouldn't have succeeded in your plans!"

After a brief pause, the cultivators before her burst into fits of laughter.

"We simply grabbed onto the golden opportunity to take you out. Is that too strange for you to understand?" "You only have yourself to blame for ending up like this today." "How dare the Haurvatat Temple imprison the real Chosen One from the Great Historial Land so that you can use the title for your own benefit?"

"Now that the Great Historial Land's Chosen One has regained their freedom, the Haurvatat Temple will face your downfall now!"

feet.

'That's right. I've fallen into your trap. However, this won't shake the Haurvatat Temple. Don't forget. We have a grand patriarch, who's the strongest Soma Daeclon Rank cultivator in the Great Historial Land-" "You're still saying that, Curiously, she had a man's deep voice despite having a lady's appearance.

Anyone would find her speaking like that an odd sight.

will never forgive you for what you've done!"

Marci laughed a harsh, evil laugh. "I guess I should at least explain everything before we get rid of you for good.

"Your grand patriarch has been overpowered and captured by the supreme beings at the Forty-Ninth Heaven.

"As for the other two grand patriarchs in the Soma Daeclon Rank from the Great Historial Land... They were killed by Lord Tai Chi even before reaching the Forty-Ninth Heaven.

"In other words, I am the only Soma Daeclon Rank cultivator left in the Great Historial Land."

seat on the podium. "No! That's impossible!" She had a look of disbelief in her eyes.

"No matter how powerful they were, those from Zymurgy would never try to exterminate the Great Historial Land's top three grand patriarchs. That will only bring great harm to themselves." Marci slowly lifted her gaze. "Don't you get it yet? The so-called event held at the Forty-Ninth Heaven was a trap meant for the Great Historial Land's three grand patriarchs."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6755-Marci continued, "It's the Haurvatat Temple's fault. It is your men's fault for becoming too greedy.

"You and your men want to gain control over the entire Great Historial Land and me, a Chosen One, to fight against Zymurgy.

"Have you not thought about it? Ever since the Ten Bloodshade Lords passed away, we had not produced any new Daeclon Mahayana Rank cultivators in the Great Historial Land.

"So, who would you dispatch to fight against Zymurgy?

"Are you planning to rely solely on the Waltraud Power and the Vital Energy Appraisal? You guys are too naive.

“In the eyes of those whose powers are above yours, all of you are easy meat.

They could always take away from you what Emperor Yarden left behind since you wouldn't be able to defend it.”

“So, all of you have secretly sworn allegiance to those in Zymurgy? You were just waiting for an opportunity to seize control over the Great Historial Land?”

“You're smart.” Marci stretched out her palm and looked at her fingers. “It's a shame you realize all of this too late.”

Her eyes hardened. “Alright. I am done explaining. I'll give you two options.

“One, you can hand over the Haurvatat Temple's Waltraud Pearl and become my partner for Dual Cultivation. I will spare all members of the Haurvatat Temple in return.

“Two, I will kill every member of the Haurvatat Temple.

“Then, I will strip you naked and let the men behind me have their way with you.

After that, I will use your body to make a cauldron.”

On the other hand, the cultivators from the six temples were extremely intrigued.

They responded to Marci's suggestions with enthusiasm.

“I hope she picks the second option. We'll get to have some fun if she does.”

“She always acts so high and mighty. Also, she's never revealed her true appearance to others. It'll be exciting putting someone like her through various tortures.” “I want to examine her body and find out what makes her the number one cultivator in the Great Historial Land.” “I'm a lady, but I'm curious to see how she will be forced into a Dual Cultivation.”

before I die. Where is the Yin governor?" Marci laughed derisively. "You're still thinking about someone else at a time like expressionlessly," I'll agree to the Dual Cultivation if you answer my question."

Meanwhile, Marci had a lustful look in her eyes.

serious about it. She replied, "An envoy sent by Lord Tai Chi has taken the Yin governor away with them.

"Meanwhile, I am here to take care of two tasks. Firstly, I am to seize control of the Great Historial Land's Ten Holy Temples.

"Secondly, I will enter the Forbidden Bloodshade and exterminate that annoying Chosen One, who is also a living being."

reaction left Marci and the others dumbfounded.

Haurvatat Temple did not abduct your wife! We also know where she is now.

"Now is the time you punish the real perpetrators!"

words.

At that very moment, decachrome lights shone from a small room connected to the hall.

Simultaneously, an overwhelmingly powerful energy spread from the room to reach every inch of the Haurvatat Palace.

Marci and the others stared at the colorful lights warily. Some of them even seemed nervous.

At the same time, gray clouds began to gather in the sky above the palace.

As a peal of bells rang out, a beam of Quasar Divine Light came down from the sky and shone on the Haurvatat Palace.