

The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6801-The sudden commotion immediately stirred all the living beings within Tai Chi Grand Temple, especially the Xurxo Daeclon Rank and the Yitro Daeclon Rank powerhouses inside. They soared into the air and chased after the swiftly passing purplish-red light.

At the same time, James and Adina, who had reached the Thirty-Three Heavens, were also alarmed by this sudden upheaval.

Turning his head, James looked towards Tai Chi Grand Temple. "Who's causing a ruckus in Tai Chi Grand Temple?"

"It's impossible." Adina furrowed her brows tightly. "It should be the disturbance they caused themselves."

"How about we go take a look first?" James suggested.

Adina grabbed James. "Master, we're in great danger right now. Our priority should be to find Kronosia Realm, rescue Light Heavenly Path and Abelard, and then deal with them."

James narrowed his eyes into slits after listening to Adina's words. "There shouldn't be any problem with using Zen to check, right?" "They'll know immediately as soon as we use Zen," Adina said anxiously. "

Master, don't forget, those five Soma Daeclon Rank powerhouses are not to be trifled with. They're not pushovers either."

Seeing Adina strongly objecting, James could not help but furrow his brow. "Do you know where Kronosia Realm is?"

"It's not far now," Adina said hurriedly. "We might catch them unawares if we go now."

James crossed his arms and looked towards Tai Chi Grand Temple. "I still want to go see what Tai Chi Grand Temple is like. We can deal with Kronosia Realm later."

Without waiting for Adina to speak, he summoned the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell.

“You go back to the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell first, don’t expose US.”

Just as Adina was about to speak, James’ face suddenly darkened. The next moment, she gritted her teeth, nodded, and plunged into the bell.

James immediately changed his appearance and concealed his aura, rushing towards Tai Chi Grand Temple.

At this moment, the temple was in chaos. All of this was because the Demonic spirit was being blocked by a large number of powerhouses in the temple, and had no choice but to fight back. Wherever his purplish-red light passed, any powerhouse below the Yitro Daeclon Rank was instantly killed, creating a bloody scene.

The Demonic spirit was a part of Morgott, a monstrous powerhouse who had even killed Tai Chi and the Law of Paths. Although it now possessed only twenty percent of its original strength, it remained a terrifying existence.

Unfortunately, there were many Zymurgy powerhouses in Tai Chi Grand Temple at this moment, including more than a dozen of the Yitro Daeclon Rank. They took to the air and immediately surrounded the Demonic Spirit, launching attacks from all sides to suppress it.

“You’re forcing me to go all out,” cursed the Demonic spirit angrily, then summoned Light Thea and immediately possessed her.

In an instant, Light Thea opened her eyes abruptly, two terrifying red lights flashing in her eyes. The exquisite and translucent body instantly emitted a terrifying purplish-red light, spreading rapidly in all directions.

The dozen Yitro Daeclon Rank powerhouses around were caught off guard, immediately engulfed by the purplish-red light. They suffered severe injuries, spitting blood, and were immediately sent flying.

The five Soma Daeclon Rank powerhouses surrounding Lady Herodias on the ground all sneered simultaneously and rose into the air.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6802-“You bunch of trash,” the possessed Light Thea spoke. “You’d better scram right away, or don’t blame me for killing you.” “You finally came.” Emperor Qadeer chuckled. “Morgott, do you really think you can regain your former power?”

The possessed Light Thea snorted coldly. “Leaving a strand of gray hair and growing a beard to pretend to be a wise and virtuous immortal. What kind of creature are you?”

With that, he suddenly reached out, and a majestic purplish-red light shot from his hand. It moved at a speed tens of millions of times faster than light and headed straight for Emperor Qadeer. However, to the surprise of the Demonic Spirit, this attack against Emperor Qadeer was so feeble that it instantly collapsed under a golden-purple Energy Wall.

Exclaiming in surprise, the possessed Light Thea was astonished. “This is impossible! How could my possessed power be so weak?”

At that moment, Lady Herodias soared into the air and shouted loudly, “Run!

This Light Heavenly Path is fake!”

The Demonic Spirit was shocked, immediately rushing out of Light Thea’s body and flying into the sky.

Seeing this scene, Emperor Qadeer roared angrily, “Lady Herodias, you actually colluded with Morgott-“

As he spoke, he slapped Lady Herodias.

Lady Herodias immediately drew a huge golden-purple Energy Wall in front of her as she faced the countless palm prints attacking crazily. However, it instantly collapsed under the thunderous impact of the palm prints. At the same time, countless palm prints struck Lady Herodias, immediately sending her flying to the ground. She spat out a mouthful of blood, severely injured.

“As a daughter of Tirta, you dare to collude with Morgott,” Emperor Qadeer shouted furiously. “You’re digging your own grave.”

In the instant his words fell, a purplish-red light suddenly fell from the void, immediately enveloping Lady Herodias and lifting her into the sky once again.

“You dare to come back, then stay!” Emperor Qadeer shouted angrily.” Fellow cultivators, let’s attack together and destroy the demon!” The next moment, the supreme beings in the void simultaneously made a move, immediately forming a huge golden-purple energy net in the sky. It crashed down the moment the purplish-red light carried Lady Herodias into the sky, swiftly suppressing them to the ground. With a thud, Lady Herodias and Morgott fell to the ground. They were severely injured once more.

“What are you coming back for?” Lady Herodias immediately grabbed Morgott.

“I’m not a heartless person,” Morgott roared at Lady Herodias. “You are Truett’s mother. I promised him to bring you back safely, how could I leave you behind alone?”

Upon hearing this, Lady Herodias slapped her forehead and sighed helplessly.

However, the shock caused by Morgott’s actions, especially on a spiritual level, left her with mixed feelings. It was difficult for her to associate this current Morgott with the once arrogant, mad, and bloodthirsty demon. ‘This guy ran away and came back just for the sake of this sentence. How laughable and exasperating,’ she thought.

The five supreme beings in the void descended gracefully. Then, they made a move from all sides simultaneously, sealing the cultivation base of Morgott and Lady Herodias, binding them up immediately.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6803-“I never thought it’d turn out this way,” Emperor Qadeer sneered while stroking his beard. “Originally, this was a trap set for Forty-nine, but you stumbled in here by chance.”

“Isn’t this just perfect?” Claude smirked. “We’ve captured the Demonic Spirit, finally rid ourselves of a major threat.”

“It’s just a pity we didn’t catch the Chosen One,” Joshua sighed helplessly. “He’s even more crucial now than the Demonic Spirit.”

Listening to the trio, Beatrice and Zeux exchanged a glance, a hint of resignation flashing across their faces. They had not intervened earlier.

Otherwise, the Demonic Spirit and Lady Herodias would have been utterly destroyed instead of captured alive. However, it was still somewhat distressing for them even with the current outcome. Yet, the current situation made it difficult for them to act, so they could only endure silently.

At this moment, James, who had already entered stealth mode, stood in the void not far from the Demonic Spirit and Lady Herodias, witnessing the scene.

He had intended to take action earlier but was stopped by Lesia.

According to Lesia, these five powerhouses were at the Soma Daeclon Rank.

They could not save Lady Herodias and the Demonic Spirit even if they acted together. Instead, they would only bring themselves into jeopardy. By then, there would truly be no hope left.

However, witnessing the Demonic Spirit and Lady Herodias fall into such a trap to save his wife, James felt heartbroken. Especially the fact that the Demonic Spirit could have escaped but chose to return to rescue Lady Herodias shocked him greatly.

“Master, let’s go,” Lesia reminded via sound transmission. “The longer you stay here, the more uncomfortable you’ll feel. I’m afraid you won’t be able to resist taking action, and by then, there’ll be no turning back.”

Upon hearing Lesia’s advice, James took a deep breath. “What kind of person is Morgott?”

“He’s a bit absent-minded and eccentric, but by no means foolish,” Lesia said leisurely. “His brutality is real. It’s just not yet displayed because his strength isn’t enough.”

“Regardless of whether he’s on the side of darkness or light, I acknowledge him as my brother for this act alone,” James transmitted his voice coldly.

“Since you acknowledge him as a brother, you should leave him some hope,”

Lesia advised again. “With your current strength, defeating one Soma Daeclon Rank powerhouse isn’t a problem, but there are five here, and Tai Chi hasn’t even appeared yet. You have no chance of winning. I know a bit about the Kronosia Realm Adina mentioned. That place is where previous Tai Chi transformed into human form. There should be even greater opportunities and fortunes inside. You should improve your cultivation base and strength there before coming to rescue them.”

James’ cheeks twitched. ‘Tai Chi might kill them.’”

“She won’t,” Lesia hastily transmitted. “Lady Herodias is Tirta’s daughter, she holds a lofty position in Zymurgy. Even with a hundred times the courage, Yehria wouldn’t dare harm her. As for Morgott, they wouldn’t dare either because he might truly be reincarnated and bring upon them an unparalleled catastrophe if they killed him.”

James fell silent. While they might not kill them, the humiliation and torture were inevitable, which James could not accept.

“Master, let’s go,” Lesia urged once more. ‘They’ve arranged a good show for us. We have to take the stage. That’s where you should be.’”

After hearing Lesia’s confirmation, James slowly clenched his fists, looking at the Demonic spirit and Lady Herodias being taken away by several living beings. He murmured softly, “Morgott, Lady Herodias, wait for me. I’ll definitely come to save you.”

With that, James flickered and disappeared in the blink of an eye.