

The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6811-James had a dazed look on his face. A few seconds later, he burst out laughing.

“You can be a bit more honest with yourself.” The woman gave a small snort. “I can give you what you want if you are willing to do the same for me.”

James took it that the woman was in a way telling him she would accept his advances if James had such intentions.

He sipped the Chaos Absinthe whilst trying to suppress the restless feeling inside him. “Were you born with the Soul Enchantment Art? Or did you learn it from someone?”

The woman’s brows arched. “Are you trying to say that’s the reason for the lustful thoughts in your head now? I’ll be frank. I’ve always kept my true appearance hidden, not because I want to maintain a mysterious or elusive image. It’s only because I want to avoid the troubles that may arise from having an unnecessarily beautiful face.”

James smirked. “You truly are the most narcissistic and thick-skinned person I’ve ever met.”

Yehria snapped, “Why you-“

“Calm down.” James chuckled. “I admit that you are the most beautiful woman I have ever met. But do you honestly think you can always get your way by using your beautiful appearance? Just because you are beautiful, anything you do or say is fine? People will find it cute even if you do all sorts of evil things?”

Yehria fell silent.

“I’m sure you have numerous Zymurgian supreme beings who are your admirers and have fallen for your looks,” James continued, “You can even take advantage of that and make them do your bidding. Unfortunately, I won’t become one of those men.”

"I wasn't expecting that to happen either." Yehria snorted. "I want to make one thing clear, though. Other than my parents, you are the first person who has seen my actual appearance."

"Well, I guess I must have rotten luck." James shrugged.

"I didn't last this long just by relying on the beauty I was born with," Yehria responded. "I succeeded because of my wit, my powers, my efforts, and the opportunities that came my way."

"Opportunities that were shamelessly given to you by unscrupulous people," James said mockingly.

"Enough with the useless chatter. What is it that you want, then?" Yehria fixed her gaze on James.

"I want to kill you," James replied straightforwardly. "I want to get revenge for me and my wife. She was forced to be reborn again eighty-one times, whereas I suffered unfair treatment because of your doing."

After listening to James' words, Yehria started laughing hysterically.

James took another sip of the Chaos Absinthe. His gaze fell on Yehria. He did not want to admit it, but there was just something mesmerizing and irresistible about Yehria.

Yehria eventually stopped laughing. "I'm afraid you haven't gotten a full grasp of your situation yet, James Caden. Anyone, be it living beings or the gods, won't be able to leave the Xyloria Kronosia Realm without my help."

James snickered. "Oh! I'll be the first to do it, then."

"It's impossible." Yehria retorted, "Adina might have told you what a Kronosia Realm is. However, there are actually two parts to the Kronosia Realm. They are the Xyloria Kronosia Realm and the Heloria Kronosia Realm.

"The space I am standing in right now is the Heloria Kronosia Realm.

"It was where the Xyloria Tai Chi first assumed human form and produced the Yin and Yang governors.

it is a space full of the Chaos Essence. It's where I train and cultivate."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6812-“On the other hand, the palace where you’re at is the Xyloria Kronosia Realm,” said Yehria. “It was formed from the Inner Demon Xyloria Tai Chi removed from himself after assuming the human form.

“It is a place filled with the Errodian Calamities. The negative energy, miasma, and evil Chaos Aura that have been accumulated since the Five Primal Evolutions are contained there too. If you refuse to cooperate with me, the Innate Energy will completely seal your cultivation at some point. The Errodian Calamities inside will eat away at you bit by bit.

“Eventually, you will become part of the evil auras in the Xyloria Kronosia Realm.”

James curled his lips as he took in the confident look on Yehria’s face. ” You must have racked your brain trying to figure out how to lure me here, huh?”

“Of course.” Yehria jutted her chin out. “However, this plan wasn’t meant for you originally. Instead, our initial target was your wife, the Yin governor.

“I didn’t expect your powers to improve so quickly. You obtained Emperor Yarden’s legacy with just one trip to the Great Historial Land. The legacy made you more powerful and threatening than your wife.

“In the end, I resorted to using the Solm Primordial Spirit that I planted in the Great Historial Land. I don’t usually go so far for anyone.”

“Adina Haurva.” James raised his brows. “She’s your Solm Primordial Spirit.”

“That’s right.” Yehria nodded. “She was my tool to control the Great Historial Land. Regrettably, we lost the land to you.”

Yehria proceeded to sit on the cloud of black and white colors. She conjured a cup and a bottle of liquor the next instant.

Then, Yehria started drinking as well.

James silently stared in Yehria’s direction. He was considering how he could pull more information from Yehria as she still carried many secrets with her.

After a while, Yehria opened her mouth and spoke again, "Losing the Great Historial Land was a huge loss for me. Initially, I planned to summon my Solm Primordial Spirit back.

"However, you somehow decided to bring her along. So, I have no choice but to adjust my plans accordingly."

"Did it not occur to you that I might discover her true identity?" James flashed her a grin.

"You will surely catch on." Yehria replied unhurriedly, "You possess the Nonusential Heart and Yianni's Chaos Yin-Yang Eyes after all."

"Still, you went ahead with your plans." James asked, "Are you not afraid that your plans may fall through?"

"As long as you show up, my plans will surely be a success." Yehria directed her gaze at James.

"It's so easy for US to see your weakness. You are always too ready to risk your own safety whenever the situation involves your wife.

"She is your biggest weakness."

James chuckled and nodded. "I have another question. You wanted Adina to lead me into the Xyloria Kronosia Realm. So, why did you put up all those formations in Zymurgy?"

"You're a clever and cautious opponent." Yehria had a pensive look in her eyes.

"Therefore, I prepared extra measures just in case. Besides, those formations don't serve just a single purpose."

James narrowed his eyes as he had a dawning realization.

"The formations are meant for Zymurgy's supreme beings too. You want to show them how much of an effort you have put in to exterminate me, who's worked with Morgott."

"You're a bright man." Yehria filled her cup with more liquor. "If you were willing to pledge loyalty to me, I might just discard Marci Anell and help you become the Supreme Path instead."

James asked, "Do you not want that position for yourself?"

"Of course I do." Yehria answered firmly, "However, there are certain things that are already set in stone when it comes to the paths. I can't force things.

"It's fine even if I can't become the Supreme Path. What matters is that none of the Alcide beings gets to hold the position!" "You hate the Alcide beings so much..." James asked monotonously, "Is that the reason for all the bad things you've done to my wife?"

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6813-"Yehria's expression visibly hardened when she heard those words.

She threw away her cup in a fit of temper. Then, Yehria lifted the bottle and downed the liquor in a gulp.

James frowned slightly as he observed the change in Yehria's mood.

A short while later, Yehria flung the empty bottle aside and got up. "To hell with the Alcide beings' Who gave them the right to act all superior and trample over US living beings? Just because they were born privileged, they think they could manipulate all living beings' destiny?" Yehria yelled furiously.

James snickered, "Don't you feel a little embarrassed saying that?"

"What do you mean?" Yehria asked frigidly.

"You said the Alcide beings acted superior and trampled over US." James cast her a scornful glance. "Didn't you, Tai Chi, do similar things to the living beings too?"

"I... How could you..." Yehria was at a loss for what to say.

"I get it now." James said flatly, "The Alcide beings aren't the ones who are oppressing the living beings.

"Instead, it is their descendants and people like you, pretentious living beings who have gained power, that are doing it.

“All of you are the same. You shamelessly take whatever you want from living beings to satisfy your own greed. You made zero contributions in return.

“Yet, you act as though you are a victim of oppression and blame it all on the Alcide beings.

“Everything you did to my wife, you did it out of your greed and inferiority. You were afraid that my wife would replace you as Tai Chi. Isn’t that right?”

Yehria was positively fuming over what she had just heard. As she could not come up with an effective retort, she called out indignantly, “Enough with the small talk, James! How about we make a deal?”

“No.” James refused point-blank.

“You...” Yehria shouted impatiently, ‘Why are you rejecting it when I haven’t even explained...”

“I just feel like it.” James straightened his back a little. “It’s an insult to my character and soul if I strike a deal with a trickster like you.”

“You foolish man!” Yehria snapped, “Are you really going to stay in the Xyloria Kronosia Realm and be reduced to the evil Chaos Aura? You will cease to exist permanently!”

“You won’t be able to pressure me into doing it this way.”

James took a gulp of the Chaos Absinthe and grinned. “After all, I have more leverage than you do. The person who feels more pressed is you.”

“Ha!” Yehria scoffed. “How pathetic! You are the one who is about to die, whereas I am standing out here in a safe place.”

“Between US, you are the one who has more to lose.” James continued calmly, “I may be trapped in the Xyloria Kronosia Realm, where I will be fated with a gruesome death. However, I’ll be taking half of your Solm Primordial spirit with me.

“If I am going to suffer just as you’ve described earlier, your powers will also decrease drastically when your Primordial Spirit sustains that level of damage.

“You’ll probably drop below the Xaeclon Rank by then. Helping someone to become the Supreme Path? You might not even be able to keep your position as Tai Chi at that point.”

Yehria flinched and staggered a few steps backward.

James pointed out her weakness precisely this time. He had the upper hand in this situation.

Even if he did not manage to overpower half of Yehria’s Primordial Spirit, James’ priority was to get into the Xyloria Kronosia Realm to save Light Thea, who was also his wife.

However, things were different for Yehria.

James was not the only enemy she had to be wary of.

Until now, the Dark Heavenly Path had yet to show herself. She could be the trigger of a fatal Tai Chi Tribulation for Yehria at any moment.

Moreover, all eyes were on her at the moment.

If Zymurgy’s supreme beings were to find out that her Primordial Spirit was damaged, Yehria would definitely lose the position of Tai Chi.

Yehria could not even bear the thought of losing the position. She felt like she might lose her mind if it happened.

A few moments later, Yehria suppressed her anger and asked, “What is it that you want, then?”

“I want the two of US to go down together,” James responded, “You can try leaving the Heloria Kronosia Realm right now. We’ll see what happens when those in Zymurgy notice the current state of your cultivation.”

Yehria clenched her fists. “Tell me your terms.”

James completely ignored her and continued drinking.

Meanwhile, Yehria was in a state of panic. She even considered releasing James right away by using the Xyloria Tai Chi Pearl. However, she just could not bring herself to do it.

After a moment's consideration, Yehria looked at James again. "I... I can let you out! However, you must cooperate with me!"

James gave her a sidelong glance. He seemed entirely uninterested.

Yehria flushed with indignation. "How about this? I will get the supreme beings from levels below the Fortieth Heaven to support you in becoming the Supreme Path.

"Also, I will make peace with the Yin governor if she agrees to stop picking fights with me.

"What's more, I can help the Light Heavenly Path and Dark Heavenly Path fuse so that she can resume her status as the Yin governor."

James remained silent.

"James Caden!" Yehria shouted furiously, "Well, say something! Don't make me scream at you over and over again."

James chuckled quietly as he observed the anxious look on Yehria's face.

It gave him quite a sense of accomplishment since not many could get the infamous Tai Chi this nervous. However, James could not help but find the beautiful lady quite naive.

Yehria must have thought that her plan would be a complete success if she just made sure to put James in the Xyloria Kronosia Realm, yet it completely fired back at her.

Just then, Yehria added in a slightly hesitant voice, "If... If you are willing to cooperate... I... I don't mind conducting Dual Cultivation with you. Also, I will agree to all of your other terms."

James spat out the liquor in his mouth the instant he heard the term "Dual Cultivation".

He did not expect Yehria would go so far as to offer her body to secure her cultivation and position.

"So? What's the verdict?" Yehria asked.

James wiped his lips with the back of his hands. His gaze fell on the grumpy Yehria. "How do I trust that you'll keep your word? Ah! You should strip right now to prove that you mean it."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6814-Yehria's anger flared up as soon as she heard James' response. Curiously, she dropped her gaze for a moment.

Then, Yehria met James' eyes and asked flatly, "Are... Are you sure you want me to do that?"

"Go on." An enigmatic smile hung on James' face. "Or perhaps, are you feeling shy?" Yehria snorted. As she extended her arms, the gases swirling around her body and the black veil covering her face disappeared.

Her perfect naked body was completely exposed. Coupled with her unparalleled good looks, Yehria could charm almost any man in the world. She called out haughtily, "I've done it. I stripped myself naked. Do you have the balls to do it with me, though?"

"No, you don't. James Caden, can you really call yourself a man? In truth, you're the Yin governor's slave. You are a pathetic man who follows her every order.

"Do you know how many women there are in the living beings' world? Do you know how pleasurable it is to conduct Dual Cultivation with Daeclon Rank female cultivators?"

"Can you envision yourself having both absolute authority over everyone and beautiful ladies by your side? No, you can't. You are afraid that the Yin governor and others will label you as someone unfaithful and promiscuous.

"You may have what it takes to achieve the Daeclon Mahayana Rank, such as the wisdom that came along with the Nonusential Heart and your driving ambition. However, deep down, you are just a coward who fears your wife. A man who doesn't have the guts to... Huh?!"

Yehria's nagging came to an abrupt halt.

She just noticed the camera flashes and quick clicking sounds coming from the top of the huge palace. The camera lenses were all pointed at her.

James, who was initially alone in that spot, was now surrounded by several forms.

“You... The three of you...” Yehria hurriedly waved her hand and conjured the black and white gases.

Those gases surrounded her body, concealing her form and even her face.

“Hey! Don’t cover your body!” Lesia shouted immediately, “Give US a few more poses! You can’t possibly show everyone only that feisty side of yours.”

Hemera mumbled, “I was going to make a runway decorated with flames and have you walk on it. I’m giving you a bad review for your unprofessional attitude.”

“She just needs a long coat, and I can make it sway when she walks down the runway.” Fennec continued, “I took more than a thousand of her nude photos, but that wouldn’t be enough for promotional purposes.”

Yehria’s anger boiled over as she listened to the exchange between the three spirits. She raised her hand and blasted the Tai Chi Power in their direction.

Boom!

James cast his powers in defense. The decachrome light and Tai Chi Power collided in the air with a loud bang.

Yehria’s voice shook with rage. “James Caden, you bastard! I won’t ever forgive you for this! I’m definitely going to kill you!”

Yehria had just suffered the greatest humiliation in her life.

For a rare beauty like her, it was extremely mortifying to be turned down when she had offered herself completely to someone.

Furthermore, James even let others watch and take photos of her. Yehria had never received such degrading treatment.

It was a blow to her pride. Yehria would never let this pass without getting her revenge.

On the other hand, James merely shrugged with a resigned look on his face.

“Well, you suggested the Dual Cultivation earlier. Isn’t it a proper procedure that we have some kind of foreplay first?”

Yehria fumed, “Why you...”

“Why are you getting so upset?” James’ face darkened.

“It’s going to make me want to curse at you too. To be fair, I’m just giving you a taste of what you always do to others.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6815-James said, “Put your hand over your heart and think about it. How did you treat my wife, the Light Heavenly Path, Abelard, and all living beings?

“You were humiliated by what I did? Does it even compare to all the pain and suffering you’ve put others through?

“This is just a small payback from me. Rest assured, we have more surprises in store for you.” Yehria was momentarily stunned as she listened to James’ words.

“You used your looks and even offered to join me in a Dual Cultivation,” James said frigidly.

“From my perspective, not only were you degrading yourself, but you were also extremely naive.

“You thought you could seduce me into taking the offer. When I lower my guard during the Dual Cultivation, you will use the opportunity to retrieve half of your Solm Primordial Spirit in my possession.

‘Then, you would no longer have to hold back in eliminating me.’”

‘Too bad. You had it all wrong.’ James curled his lips. “Someone like you would never be able to get between me and my wife. Did you seriously think I was someone who would fall easily for any lady’s seduction?”

Yehria was in so much shock that she could not come up with a response.

“Yes, I admit.” James got to his feet, the bottle of Chaos Absinthe still in his hands. “Your looks and your body are amazing. They are flawless.

“However, you’re an idiot if you think all men are willing to give up everything they have just because they are attracted to a woman’s appearance.

“You don’t understand what it’s like to be willing to die for someone else. You haven’t experienced relationships that matter more than anything else in this world.

‘Therefore, you couldn’t empathize with how one only had eyes for a single person.

“You may be the most beautiful woman in the world. However, you are nothing but a cunning and cruel being to me.”

As she listened to James, Yehria was shivering slightly in rage. “So... You won’t agree to my offer, no matter what?”

“I’ve compromised, though.” James grinned malevolently. “At the very least, I didn’t resort to using the most unethical way to punish you.”

Yehria’s eyes widened.

“If it were the old me, I would have gone along with your plan.” James explained, “I would have joined you in a Dual Cultivation just as you suggested.

There’s no harm in having some fun with a beautiful woman anyway.

“Moreover, I am confident you won’t be able to achieve what you really want to do during the act under my watch.”

Yehria retorted, “You can’t...”

“Yet, I didn’t do that.” James slowly shook his head. “It’s not because of reasons relating to you. It’s because I’ve done something wrong to my wife before.

“I still regret it even now, and I’ve paid a hefty price for my actions.

“I have learned my lesson, and I won’t allow myself to make the same mistakes twice. Also, I’m trying to solve the issue between US most peacefully.”

A mocking grin played across James’ lips. “You are proud of your impeccable looks and beautiful body, don’t you? So, I’ll help you feel even better about yourself.

“You are going to achieve instant fame with these nude photos. Every living being, even Zymurgy’s supreme beings, will lust for you.

“You will become the lady of their dreams.

“I will make multiple copies of the photos Lesia and the others have taken.

Then, we will try to distribute them to everyone across the different worlds.

What’s more, we won’t charge a cent for these promotional activities.”

“You... How dare you...” Yehria fumed, “You shameless bastard! James Caden, you’re-“ “Master, that won’t do!” Lesia interrupted, ‘These photos are rare and exclusive!

Numerous supreme beings are extremely curious about her actual appearance.

Not only do our photos show Yehria’s real face, but they are also nude photos of her! We should be selling these photos at a high price!”

“I agree!” Hemera nodded vigorously. “We should charge each person a transcendent divine tool or a Xaeclon Rank grade elixir for each photo.” “You guys are too unambitious.” Fennec jutted his chin up. “Each of her nudes is worth at least one spiritual tool. We may even be able to get the supreme beings to fulfill our request in exchange for the photos.”

Yehria’s temples throbbed as she listened to the spirits’ plans. Eventually, she coughed up a mouthful of blood.

‘She vomited blood!’ Lesia exclaimed.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6816-“You guys are being rude.” James smiled sarcastically. “She is the most beautiful woman in all of our worlds. You shouldn’t embarrass her like that.

“I think we don’t have to set the bars that high. We can sell each photo for elixirs or pills of at least the peak of Consummation Yuraeceon Daelm Rank’s Ninth Tribulation.

“The goal is to share these wonderful photos with everyone. Besides, we need to do our best and help Aunt Yehria with promoting these photos.”

Yehria spat out another mouthful of blood upon hearing James’ words. She swayed and dropped to the floor face down.

“Shit!” James widened his eyes. “Did she faint because of all the praise we gave her?”

Lesia, Hemera, and Fennec cast a glance at the lady on the floor. Then, they shook their heads simultaneously.

“James... James Caden... I’ll tear you to bits and get my revenge!” Yehria staggered to her feet. Her face twisted into a grimace. “For all of the humiliation I’ve suffered today... I am going to give all those people that you care about hell.

They will be put through unimaginable torture.

“Then, I’ll capture your beloved, the Dark Heavenly Path. I’ll strip her naked and let all living beings have their way with her. She will suffer the same humiliation I’ve gone through today!”

Yehria transformed into a ball of black and white light at that moment. Then, she shot into the mass of gas making up the Tai Chi diagram high up in the air.

With a low whirl, the mass of gas disappeared the next instant.

James and the others were momentarily stunned by the sudden turn of events.

Hemera muttered a brief moment later, “She took off so soon. I was ready to take more photos, though.”

Fennec lightly nudged her elbow. "Enough with the photos. Things might have just gotten a little tricky."

"We completely ticked her off." Lesia drew a long breath. "Judging from our experience, that crazy lady is definitely going to go into full-on revenge mode."

Lesia looked at James. "Master, did we push too far with the jokes?"

James gulped the Chaos Absinthe. The corners of his mouth lifted. "You guys underestimate Yehria too much. She's not that dumb. She won't do anything rash for now."

The three spirits exchanged glances. They had puzzled looks on their faces.

James chuckled. "Think about it. Why was she so willing to offer herself just to convince me to cooperate with her?"

Hemera and Fennec shook their heads slowly.

Lesia finally caught on. "We have half of her Primordial spirit suppressed within the Xyloria Kronosia Realm!

'That means her full powers have been reduced to half as well. If she leaves the Heloria Kronosia Realm now, those in Zymurgy will notice the change in her powers!'

'That's right.' James nodded. "She might have driven US to a corner. However, she's unknowingly gotten herself in hot water at the same time.

"It's a competition now. The person who is more calm and composed will be able to secure their safety first."

"Doesn't that mean she will remain in the Heloria Kronosia Realm no matter what?" Hemera asked, "We didn't have to say all those things to her just now, right?"

Lesia flicked Hemera on the forehead with her fingers. "She would try to stop us if she stayed around.

"Yehria has the Xyloria Tai Chi Pearl. She can always enter the Xyloria Kronosia Realm to sabotage our plan."

"I... I still don't get it." Hemera stared at James gloomily.

“Don’t hit her head again. You’re going to make her even more confused.”

James stopped Lesia just in time. ‘To put it simply... We need to keep Yehria in the Heloria Kronosia Realm. At the same time, we mustn’t let her find out about our plans in the Xyloria Kronosia Realm.

“The only way to do that is to irritate her to the point where she loses her rationality and composure. Then, we can quickly execute our next plan.”

“It’s so complicated...” Hemera lowered her head, looking completely worn out.

“Were our explanations clear enough?” Lesia glanced at Fennec.

Fennec held his hands up warily to protect his forehead. “Uh... I think so.”

Lesia replied, “Well, go ahead and start preparing then!”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6817-Fennec froze for a moment. Then, he quickly took Hemera along and entered the highest part of the palace.

On the other hand, James was grinning at Lesia.

“Master, are you having inappropriate thoughts right now?” Lesia eyed him warily.

“Cut it with the nonsense!” James snorted. ‘The issue relating to Yehria has been taken care of for now. What about you? Don’t you have something to tell me?’

Lesia flinched and turned her eyes away, isn’t the weather lovely today?’ James narrowed his eyes and pinched her ear.

“Ow!” Lesia yelped. “Can’t you be gentler with the ladies? If you don’t stop, I’ll tell the mistress that you’ve flirted with Yehria.”

“Hmm?” James added more strength to his grip. It made Lesia flail frantically.

“I’ll say it! I’ll tell you everything!”

James scoffed and let go of her. “You’re becoming more and more sly and secretive these days, spill it!”

Lesia rubbed her reddened ear gently and muttered, “I just want you to come to the Xyloria Kronosia Realm first.”

“You can just tell me directly.” James rolled his eyes. “Why take the roundabout way?”

“You’re set on looking for your wife!” Lesia complained.

‘The Chaos Storm is a rare opportunity that comes only once every a million entrapochs in the Xyloria Kronosia Realm. Will you listen to me even if I told you about it?’

“The Chaos Storm?” James furrowed his brows. “What is that?” “Remember the Three Treasures and Five Spirits I told you about?” Lesia met James’ eyes. “The Chaos storm is the only place where one can learn and cultivate them.”

James had a look of bewilderment on his face. “You... You said that no one would be able to fully master the Three Treasures and Five Spirits, though.”

“That’s why I’ve brought you here,” Lesia explained patiently, “Not only could it help you save the Light Heavenly Path and Abelard, but it would also help you achieve immortality. You can kill two birds with one stone.” James heaved a deep breath. He was once again surprised by Lesia’s capabilities.

Lesia had most likely noticed early on that Adina was one of Yehria’s Solm Primordial Spirit.

Therefore, she let James handle all the Daeclon Rank cultivators belonging to the Great Historial Land, except for Adina. They even ended up bringing her along.

Lesia had prepared an elaborate plan just to get James in the Xyloria Kronosia Realm for the Chaos Storm.

She seemed to be aware of the fact that the Xyloria Tai Chi Pearl was needed to access the Xyloria Kronosia Realm. Lesia cleverly used Adina to achieve that.

However, James could not understand how Lesia was so certain that Adina would bring them here just as she hoped. He voiced his thoughts right away.

Lesia chuckled upon hearing his question. "It's simple. Yehria must think that the only place where she could trap you in Zymurg/s Thirty-Third Heaven was the Kronosia Realm."

James lowered his gaze. "She could somehow persuade Zymurgy's supreme beings to kill me instead, right?"

"Of course, she had attempted that too."

Lesia pursed her lips. "It was part of her plan to get Herodias and Morgott to trespass on the Tai Chi Grand Temple.

"Now you know why I've stopped you from saving them at the time, right?"

James smiled wryly and shook his head. "Sometimes, I wish I could open up your head and see what other secrets or knowledge you have in there."

"You might get the chance to do that someday." Lesia beamed. "Well, we should get ready now. It's almost time for the Chaos storm to appear." James took Lesia along and transformed into a ball of decachrome light. The light flew into the palace the next instant.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6818-"That darn man! I swear I'll have you go through thousands of reincarnations filled with pain and suffering!

"Just you wait, James Caden!"

Yehria seemed like a madwoman as she stood alone beside the entrance of the Heloria Kronosia Realm and cursed aloud furiously.

Despite her restlessness and indignation, Yehria dared not take a step out of the Heloria Kronosia Realm.

Her powers were reduced since James had overpowered half of Yehria's Primordial Spirit.

If the supreme beings were to find out about this, Yehria would certainly lose both their help and the position of Tai Chi.

After a moment's consideration, Yehria raised her hand.

A beam of black and white light appeared a few steps away from her. A few seconds later, Adina stepped out of the light. "Master, are you... Are you injured?"

"That's none of your concern." Yehria instructed monotonously, "You are to carry out two missions right away."

Adina got down on one knee and bowed her head slightly.

"First, head to the Sky Bridge." Yehria continued, "Capture all living beings that are close to James, including his children, and bring them here. I've just given you a list of names."

Adina lifted her head. "Master, there are several Yitro Daeclon Rank cultivators guarding the Sky Bridge now-"

Yehria cut her off. "You're just one small step to achieving the Soma Daeclon Rank. With your powers, do you have to fear those men?"

"Besides, I had the Great Historial Land under my control for a very long time.

There's no way James Caden's influence has grown enormous enough to make everyone submit to him."

Adina paused briefly before nodding quickly. "Understood."

"Secondly, bring Herodias and Morgott's spirit here. Show this to those old men if they try to stop you," Yehria said in a harsh voice.

She conjured a token that glowed with a beautiful light next.

Adina's eyes widened as the token floated toward her and landed on her palm.

“Go.” Yehria ordered, “Get these things done as soon as possible. They are crucial for the success of our subsequent plans.”

Adina bowed deeply to Yehria. Then, she got up and exited the Heloria Kronosia Realm through the door.

After Adina left, Yehria lifted her head and inhaled deeply. “I thought I could manipulate and use you just like how I did with others, James Caden.

“Yet, you insisted on being stubborn and cocky. So, don’t blame me for what’s coming. We’ll see how you will react when we bring your family and friends here.”

As soon as she finished, Yehria rose in the air and transformed into a huge mass of black and white gases.

The gases started swirling quickly at one spot. Curiously, the black and white gases began emitting mysterious, sinister-looking colorful lights.

Simultaneously, immense amounts of Chaos Essence found in the Heloria Kronosia Realm flowed rapidly toward Yehria.

It made the colorful lights around her shine even brighter.

On the other hand, James had begun experiencing the pressure of being inside the Xyloria Kronosia Realm.

Even his superb signature skills were not enough to defend himself from the Errodian Calamities, the Innate Energy’s sealing power, and attacks from countless malicious spirits.

Numerous cracks appeared in the armor formed from the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell. It seemed like the armor would fall apart at any moment.

James could sense that his powers were gradually being suppressed and sealed. He was about to launch an attack to stop the phenomena around him, but Lesia stopped him. “Master, the pressure and attacks in the Xyloria Kronosia Realm increase when its target possesses greater cultivation and power.

“You’ll receive even more vicious attacks if you try to fight back. You might not be able to hold against those attacks for long.”

Upon hearing her words, James had no choice but to wait and bear the Errodian Calamities' and Innate Energy's attacks.

After a while, strong winds started blowing in that area. Thunder rumbled in the sky.

Countless planets shot past them quickly. A tremendous amount of energy flowed into the surrounding area.

At the same time, the Chaos Aura carrying along powerful seals and negative energy began accumulating in that space.

The amount of Innate Energy increased exponentially as well. For a moment, it seemed like they were facing an apocalypse.

Boom!

With a deafening noise, the armor on James' body was shattered into pieces.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6819-James was caught completely off guard.

Still, James swiftly extended his arms. The decachrome light and blood- red light radiated from his body instantly.

In a flash, the lights formed a colorful sphere of light to encase all of the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell's shattered pieces.

Boom!

James received another attack which was a combination of the pressure coming from the moving planets, the Innate Energy, the Chaos Aura, and the Errodian Calamities.

This time, the attack shattered James' Ultimate Golden Body.

Lesia immediately rushed toward the spot where James was by stepping on the flying planets. "The Xurraeus, Historial, Hongrome, and Bloodshade.

“From Essence to Aura, to the mind, and to nothingness. The Three Treasures are achieved.

“To not hear, listen, move, or speak. Thousands of tribulations amount to the Five Spirits.

“The limitless body and ultimate serenity. All Paths converge to one and to one’s original state.”

Lesia recited those phrases and flipped her hands over.

In an instant, the Bleis Light was formed around the spot where James’ body exploded just a while ago.

Like a flowy ribbon, the Bleis Light circled the area, forming layers of light.

These layers rotated and held James’ shattered Ultimate Golden Body, Golden Bones, and soul within.

Even his treasures, Fennec, and Hemera were levitating in that space.

Soon enough, the Errodian Calamities, Innate Energy, and malevolent energy reduced the shattered pieces of James to masses of purple gas.

Strangely, those purple gas were still held firmly in place.

Just then, a tornado began to take form in the distance. As thunder crashed in the sky, the tornado started sucking everything nearby toward it.

The tornado grew bigger in no time. The multiple layers of wind forming the tornado moved quickly in a circle.

“The Chaos Storm!” Lesia cried excitedly, “Master, you’ll have to work on learning the Three Treasures and Five Spirits yourself now. Don’t forget about the chants!”

Lesia pushed her palms forward. The gigantic ball of Bleis Light shot toward the tornado almost instantaneously.

At that very moment, a dark form emerged from a corner and followed quickly behind the ball of Bleis Light.

Lesia swiftly conjured a shadowy hand and caught the form instantly.”
Yehria’s Primordial Spirit, you think something like you deserve to enjoy the Chaos Storm’s gifts?”

The dark form cast a blast at Lesia and tore itself away from the shadowy hand.

Then, it shot toward the top of the palace.

“I never said you could run away from me.”

Lesia raised her hand. In a flash, the dark form that had almost reached the top of the palace was pulled backward by an immense force.

“Why... Why aren’t you affected by the Errodian Calamities and Innate Energy?” The dark form was dragged back to Lesia.

“I’ve once inhaled Innate Energy as if I’m breathing normal air.” Lesia snorted and seized the dark form by its throat.

“As for you, don’t even think about following US into the Chaos Storm to level up. Instead, you should stay here and enjoy being tortured by the Errodian Calamities.”

There was a flash of colorful lights as Lesia placed a seal over the dark form.

Then, she loosened her grip and let the form drop.

The dark form let out a shrill scream as it fell to the ground.

Meanwhile, Lesia looked in the Chaos Storm’s direction and grinned.” Leave these things to me, Master. You want to get revenge on all of them, right? I’ll help you with it!”

Lesia teleported the next instant and reappeared on the ground beside Yehria’s Solm Primordial Spirit.

Then, Lesia started beating her up.

Back at the Heloria Kronosia Realm’s entrance, Yehria suddenly coughed up blood. Her eyes bulged in shock. “The Chaos Storm. It’s the Chaos Storm that happens once every one million entrapochs.”

Yehria transformed into a ball of black and white light. She immediately shot toward the Xyloria Kronosia Realm and entered the palace.

Just as Yehria charged toward the Chaos Storm, a beam of Bleis Light appeared out of nowhere and blocked her path.

Yehria crashed into the beam of light, causing a loud boom.

The impact created a force that shook the entire space. Even the Innate Energy, Errodian Calamities, and malicious energy were shoved away by the force.

Lesia stepped out of the beam of Bleis Light a brief moment later.

On the other hand, Yehria assumed her actual form and stumbled a few steps backward.

“You...” Yehria finally steadied herself. She stared at Lesia with rounded eyes.

“You can control the Innate Energy! Who are you?”