

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6836

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6836-James looked at them and suddenly stopped speaking.

From their explanation, he learned that only the wife can truly eliminate Yehria.

However, his wife was split into two, and could not be considered the Yin governor. How, then, could they trigger the Tai Chi Tribulation?

He concluded it might be necessary to merge the two halves of Thea to defeat Tai Chi. Yet, he had a dilemma about whether Thea would still be his wife after that happened.

As the thought crossed his mind, James used his Zen to check on Light Thea in his soul space.

Previously, she was not in the right state of mind after suffering Yehria's brutal torture. Now that she had endured the Chaos Storm's Innate Energy, her injuries had healed, and her powers had increased drastically.

He spotted her cultivating beneath the Calidum Spiritual Tree, bathed in a mysterious white light. It was a serene and beautiful sight.

James reflected on their experiences together in the Timaeus Sect and remembered his statement-to win my beloved's heart until death doth gray-haired part.

The thought of having her disappear put him in a dilemma. Theoretically, since she is half of Thea, she was also his wife. He cared deeply for her and they had overcome countless dangerous situations together.

It appeared the fate of Yehria would be determined by the two halves of his wife.

Only they had the right to make that decision.

James turned to Chuba and Zemra, asking, "Are you familiar with the chant of integrating the Three Treasures and Five Spirits?"

Chuba responded smilingly, 'The Xurraeus awakening, Historial coexistence, Hongrome transformation, and Innate Bloodshade. The Three Treasures transform essence into energy, convert energy into spirit, and then allow the spirit to return to nothingness.

Zemra continued, 'To not hear, listen, move, or speak. Thousands of tribulations amount to the Five Spirits. The limitless body and ultimate serenity. All Paths converge to one and to one's original state.'

Surprised, James asked, "You know of it?"

Chuba answered, "We're not the only ones. Zymurgy's powerhouses are also aware of it. However, they choose to keep it a secret."

Zemra emphasized, "Knowing is one thing, but practicing it is another. To be frank, you're the first person we've seen succeed."

James' brows furrowed, as he asked, "What about the Five Spirits? Lesia said that if I entered the Chaos Storm, I'd have a chance..."

Zemra and Chuba burst into laughter.

James asked puzzledly, "Did I say something wrong?"

Chuba nodded and answered smilingly, "You're correct. However, it's only a chance. It's not guaranteed. Moreover, you've already integrated the Three Treasures. It's only a matter of time before you integrate the Five Spirits as well, so why the rush?"

Zemra looked at him and said, "With your current strength, you hardly have any opponents in Zymurgy. You can wait until the Five Path Emperor, and seize the Gate of Mystery, Creation, Virtue, Wuia. By then, you'll succeed effortlessly."

"The Wuia Body and the unification of all paths are not achievements that happen overnight."

James absorbed their advice, realizing that to integrate the Five Spirits and Three Treasures, he would first need to confront and defeat the Five Path Emperors. It was a daunting task indeed.

With this understanding, he ventured another question, "I've heard rumors that the current Tai Chi, Yehria, is the illegitimate daughter of Emperor Qadeer. Is it true?"

Chuba and Zemra paused, stunned for a moment, before breaking into laughter once again.

James growing impatient, grumbled, "What are you laughing about? Can you give me a straight answer?"

Zemra replied seriously, "Such rumors do exist. However, there's no solid proof." Chuba looked at James and said, "Emperor Qadeer is an exceptional powerhouse. A million entrapochs ago, he was already ranked second amongst the Five Path Emperors. Moreover, he had cultivated the Five Spirits. He's not an easy opponent. If Yehria is really his illegitimate daughter, you'll have to be cautious."

Zemra scoffed, "What's there to fear? He has already regulated the Three Treasures..."

Chuba quickly interjected, "Please, don't give him the wrong idea. Although he has achieved immortality, his cultivation rank is so much weaker. He may be able to fight the supreme beings. However, facing one of the Five Path Emperors is an entirely different story.

"Don't you remember we had to join forces with Yianni and Harper to defeat two of the Path Emperors? Even then, we weren't even close to their third strongest."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6837-"When Morgott wreaked havoc throughout Zymurgy, he ascended to the Forty Ninth Heaven. Emperor Qadeer severely injured him in a hundred moves, allowing Taichu and Tirta the chance to seal him away by sacrificing themselves..."

Zemra suddenly paused.

Chuba fixed his eyes on James and said solemnly, "I must impart some final advice before our time is up." "First, do not attempt to challenge the Five Path Emperors unless you have reached the Daeclon Mahayana. Though you've regulated the Three Treasures and gained immortality, it would not be wise to fight them.

"Second, exercise caution against Yehria. If you're uncertain about triggering the Tai Chi Tribulation, do not eliminate her. She isn't your ultimate opponent.

"Third, you're capable of manipulating various energies, you still lack control over these skills. Try to engage more frequently in combat, challenge stronger opponents and improve your cultivation rank.

"Forth, trust that Frona's actions are for your own good and be more lenient with her.

Chuba turned to Zemra and asked, "Is there anything else you'd like to add?"

Zemra responded, "You've covered everything. What's more is there to say?"

Chuba was speechless.

Suddenly, Zemra pointed at James and said, "Ah, that's right. Keep your eyes on Yiannia and Harper. We suspect they may have fallen victim to a scheme, and got trapped inside of one of the gates. Perhaps you could save them."

Chuba added, saying, "Yeah. Yianni and Harper are much younger than US.

Unlike US, they have many years ahead. Their whereabouts are unknown, so it'll be up to you to find them."

James looked at them in shock, uncertain of what to say.

Zemra slapped his thigh and said smilingly, "Alright. That's all we have for you.

Since this will be our final meeting, we should leave you a gift."

After searching through his things, he laughed ruefully, "The Chaos Storm had ruined everything. All that remains are our cultivation base and Supernatural Powers. If you'll have them, they're yours. It's all we have left."

Chuba sighed and said, "Indeed. Who would've imagined that at life's end, we would find ourselves in the company of a transcendent figure who had integrated the Three Treasures. It's only fitting we leave you a gift."

Without giving James a chance to respond, they extended their hands forward and unleashed radiant bursts of lights.

The Gate of Wonders was instantly illuminated by the bright lights, and violent winds gushed throughout the area, causing the area to tremble. Flashes of lightning boomed, causing the already cracked Gate of Wonders to collapse.

"No, wait..." James called out anxiously.

Chu Ba and Zemra exchanged serene smiles as dazzling light escaped their bodies, turning them increasingly translucent.

Moments later, they dispersed into two brilliant bursts of multicolored light, prompting James to reflexively cover his eyes.

Instantly after, the vibrant light faded, and they vanished into the void.

A humming filled the air as a multicolored divine sword, trailed by a massive energy ball drifted toward James.

Collecting himself, James seized the sword in one hand and the energy ball in the other.

"Is this their parting gift?" James brandished the sword, and a translucent Sword Energy burst forth.

Boom! Boom! Boom!

The successive explosions hastened the collapse of the already crumbling space within the Gate of Wonders.

James retracted Fennec and Hemera into his soul space, then soared into the void and disappeared as the detonations obliterated the surroundings.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6838-In the Thirty-Third Heaven, just outside the Kronosia Realm, a burst of purple golden appeared.

Shortly after, a mysterious woman with an elegant silhouette appeared. Her appearance was concealed by a black veil.

She observed a mass of swirling black-and-white air before her. After a while, she took a deep breath. "Gather."

As her command resounded, multiple beams of light flickered in the void, and several mysterious figures cloaked in black assembled behind her.

They discarded their cloaks one by one and unveiled their true identities. Had James been there, he would have been furious.

These were the powerhouses whom James had once liberated from the Great Historial Land to serve as guardians over the Sky Bridge and the Genesis Worlds.

Among them stood prominent figures such as Toviyyah from the Toviyyah Temple, Zoltán from the Zazen Temple, Ysanne from the Dynastia Temple, and Neville from the Haurvatat Temple.

Influenced by Adina, they had chosen to betray James and side with Yehria and Zymurgy.

They participated in Adina's scheme and imprisoned Yegor, Zenda, Hugard, and Quintia. Additionally, they captured many of James' close acquaintances from the Sky Bridge, Skynett, Forladtt Land, and Yin World, according to the list Yehria had provided.

Toviyyah questioned, "Where's the Tai Chi? We've already completed her orders. She ought to meet US in person." Zoltán snorted, "Exactly. She's a supreme being, but so are we. We should be treated as equals. Why should we tolerate her arrogant behavior?"

Ysanne smiled and said, "Be patient, my friends. Since we're here, she will come to see US."

Neville raised his head and said, "I'm not concerned about your negotiations.

However, I want Zenda and Quintia. I intend to have my form of amusement with them."

As Neville's words slipped out, Adina swiftly shot him a sharp glare. "Shut up, Neville."

Neville retorted, "What's your problem? Zenda is Zoltan's sister, no? Zoltán has long forsaken family ties in pursuit of his cultivation. He doesn't care..."

His voice trailed off, catching a hostile glare from Zoltán.

Adina raised her hand and interjected, "Please be patient. If you wish to meet Tai Chi, you should show sincerity. Remember, she desperately needs the beings you've captured." The powerhouses exchanged glances but showed no intention to act.

They had captured beings Tai Chi wanted, which was their leverage against her.

If they were to hand them over now, they would lose their bargaining power.

Noticing their hesitance, Adina sighed deeply and suddenly produced a shimmering token.

"Do you see what this is?"

Toviyyah and the others glanced up, their expressions instantly shifting.

"It's Emperor Qadeer's Token." A wave of awe swept through the group, and they promptly knelt.

"Now that you know Emperor Qadeer supports the Tai Chi, what is there to fear?"

Even I'm negotiating with you out of courtesy. You can't possibly be thinking of resisting Emperor Qadeer, right?" Adina's eyes gleamed with a triumphant spark as she blatantly threatened them.

Realization dawned on Toviyyah and the others as they exchanged weary glances, their heads sinking in frustration. They understood that the promises Adina had made were likely lies, mere tools of manipulation.

From the moment they had left the Sky Bridge to enter the Tai Chi World, they had been unwitting pawns in a larger game.

"Fine. I'll hand them over." Neville was the first to break the tension. He stepped forward, waved his hand, and expelled a few Jademora Empire's higher-ups from his spatial storage

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6839-Among them were Rebella, Xatia, Xatia, Adair, and Xezal, all of whom were exceptional beauties.

Zoltán gave a cold snort and remarked sarcastically, “You sure know how to enjoy. Were you on a mission to capture hostages or mistresses?”

Neville chuckled and replied, “Though these girls are somewhat weaker in their cultivation rank, they can still serve as my cultivation partners. I intend to enjoy each of their company well. It’s better than nothing, right?” He turned to Zoltán and said, “If you’re interested, I could exchange them all for your sister.”

Provoked, Zoltán roared, “You-“

Adina could not bear it any longer and interjected, “Enough! What about the others? Will you hand over the hostages or not?”

Confronted by Adina’s threats, the group reluctantly surrendered the hostages they had in their spatial storage.

Truett, Xitlaly, Lyla, Perthacus, and Yegor, who were close friends with James and a few other powerhouses at the Daeclon Rank, appeared in sight.

The group consisted of James’ close allies from the Dark World.

Staring at the groaning beings before her, Adina nodded in satisfaction. She had nearly completed all the missions Yehria gave within the given timeframe.

Her sole disappointment was being unable to capture James’ children.

Jacopo and Xainte proved to be the most elusive. Not only did they evade capture, but they also managed to whisk Winnie and Noel away to a mysterious realm.

James’ pair of Hongrome Children, born in the Great Historial Land, fled into the Forbidden Bloodshade. However, their escape had little impact on the overall plan. After all, the group in their hands was sufficient leverage against James.

After scanning the group, Adina slightly narrowed her eyes and said, “Welcome to the Thirty-Third Heaven, lowly beings. From this moment on, you will each serve a purpose.”

Noticing the intense glares of anger directed at her, Adina burst into laughter.

“You all seem eager to speak, but unfortunately, you’re too weak. It’s a misfortune to have been acquainted with James, a fool who had committed such atrocious acts.

“How could he, a mere human, hope to stand against Tai Chi? What strength does he have to challenge Zymurgy?

“I enjoy seeing you in sorrow and rage. I want to see you pull your hair out, claw your skin in frustration, yet remain utterly powerless to speak.”

With Adina’s arrogance on full display, the restrained creatures were overwhelmed by grief and fury. Unfortunately, they were unable to move or retort against her.

Adina laughed, “But rather than boiling with anger, you should be praying James wouldn’t be so heartless and sacrifice your lives!

“As long as he leaves the Kronosia Realm, you will survive. Moreover, you’ll have the chance to serve Tai Chi. Otherwise, you’ll perish one after another, never to be reincarnated. Nobody will be able to save you.” Her last words were almost a shout.

Nobody responded to her.

After what seemed like an eternity, a light yet sinister voice resounded, “Is that so?” “W-Who’s there?” Adina stuttered.

The mysterious voice replied, “You’re a mere lackey to Tai Chi, yet dare to act arrogant and shameless. It was quite entertaining.”

Adina shouted, “You! Show yourself! How dare you cause trouble in the Thirty□Third Heaven.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6840-A malevolent, beguiling laughter erupted from the void. “I’ve been eagerly anticipating your arrival. Since you seem keen on courting death, I’ll fulfill your wish.”

In an instant, lightning streaked, and thunder boomed directly above the group.

A terrifying hiss echoed from every direction, instilling a deep sense of dread and oppression.

Suddenly, countless malevolent purple-red light beams descended, swiftly engulfing the area.

Simultaneously, thick clusters of purple-red lightning, intertwined with vengeful spirits, crashed down, enveloping Adina and all the individuals who had turned against James.

The group exuding arrogance a few moments ago frantically scrambled in different directions and cast their Supernatural Powers in a desperate attempt to defend themselves.

Seizing the moment, hundreds of sinister purple-red light beams shot from the void, lifting the captives who had been taken and sealed. One by one, they rose into the sky and were brought away from the turmoil below.

“No! The witch has come to take our hostages!”

Adina waved her hand, instantly dispersing the horde of vengeful spirits around her. Just as she raised her hand again, three purple-red light beams pierced the void, striking and knocking her away.

Upon landing, Adina retreated dozens of steps before stabilizing herself.

She spat out a mouthful of blood, and her eyes widened in shock.

‘Who could it be? Which supreme being in Zymurgy has such formidable strength? She’s not using Waltraud Power. It’s Demonic Power that even supreme beings fear!’

Boom! Boom!

Caught up in the chaos, Toviyyah, Zoltán, Ysanne, and Neville were knocked down to the ground. Now, they appeared far from their earlier arrogance.

Bloodied and disheveled, they were a pitiful sight.

Toviyyah said, “It’s an opponent at the Soma Daeclon Rank. We need Tai Chi to confront her, Adina! Otherwise, we’ll lose our hostages.” “Such malevolent power. I’m sure nobody in the Great Historial Land has such strength. It’s unlike anything we’ve encountered before,” Ysanne added with furrowed brows.

Zoltán states gravely, ‘That leaves only possibility. It must be a mysterious female deity from Zymurgy.’ “A female deity? Sounds perfect to me. I can capture her for my entertainment,” Neville remarked with a malicious grin, only to be met with disapproving stares from the others.

Just then, the sinister light blanketing the ground vanished, and the demonic clouds above them began to roll intensely.

Adina exclaimed, “It’s Morgott! Everyone, come with me! Now!”

As Adina spoke, she raised her hand and cast a light beam toward the swirling black and white mass, causing the Gate of Kronosia to swing open suddenly.

Without hesitation, she surged forward, leading the charge, and called out urgently, “Get in quickly, or you will all perish!”

The void above was filled ominously with demonic clouds, and blinding purple red light beams struck down.

Toviyyah, Ysanne, and a few others reacted swiftly. Following Adina's lead, they transformed into streaks of purple light and darted through the Gate of Kronosia.

However, Zoltran and Neville hesitated. The next moment, they found themselves on the wrong side of the closing gate.

Neville shouted, "Damn it! I haven't gone in yet! Open the door! You can't just leave me here!"

After a brief shock, Zoltán turned around and was caught off guard again.

Neville pleaded, "Please open the gate! Don't leave me! I'm not familiar with this place...argh!"

His plea was abruptly cut off as Zoltán grabbed him. After turning around, Neville, too, found himself momentarily stunned.

A woman in a fiery red robe radiating an aura of malevolence was standing before them. Her beauty was otherworldly-enchanting and seductive. Her presence seemed to exude a dangerous allure that captivated and tempted anyone who laid eyes on her, pulling them into a whirl of forbidden thoughts.

Neville involuntarily swallowed his saliva as he looked at her in awe. His eyes glowed with desire as he murmured, "S-so beautiful. This must be the most beautiful woman of Zymurgy. An allure beyond compare..."