

The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6871-That's right. Stick right next to him." Beatrice pointed to Raquel and said," You will follow and serve him starting today.

"You are to obey his every command, no matter how harsh or dangerous they can be. Even if he tries to beat you to death, you are not allowed to resist or fight back."

Raquel had a look of bewilderment on her face. She could hardly believe her ears.

James was about to object to the notion when Beatrice waved her hand dismissively to stop him.

"I know you are fiercely loyal to your wife, James. Even if it's just a fling with another lady, it's probably considered unacceptable in your relationship.

"However, you don't have to worry. My disciple is obedient, quick-witted, and kind. You can just keep her around as your servant.

"If you do happen to take a liking to her, you can always make her your mistress later on."

James dropped his jaw upon hearing those absurd remarks.

Similarly, Raquel was staring at Beatrice with bulging eyes. Her master's suggestion of her becoming someone's mistress was beyond Raquel's comprehension.

"Well, I need to leave now to prepare for the move." Beatrice immediately transformed into a ball of purplish-blue light. "Be nice to her, James!"

As her voice echoed through the air, the purplish-blue light shot toward the sky and disappeared behind the clouds.

For a moment, James and Raquel stared at each other awkwardly.

Just then, Yehria's agonized cries came from inside the Three Treasures Formation.

"Has Thea always been this violent?" James muttered to himself.

He rushed toward the Three Treasures Formation, leaving Raquel standing there alone with a dazed look on her face.

Inside the formation, Yehria was subjected to a series of torture conducted by Thea, who glowed all over with a purplish-red light.

Thea pulled out all of Yehria's hair by using her Yrjia.

Despite having a beautiful face, Yehria looked strange after losing her long, silky hair.

Moreover, the wounded and disheveled state she was in made her appear even more pathetic.

After plucking out the hair, Thea went ahead and used the Yrjia to pull out Yehria's fingernails, toenails, and body hair. It made Yehria scream desperately in anguish.

Yehria would have been able to resist and heal herself if she had her original powers.

Unfortunately, she had been trapped within the Three Treasures Formation for quite some time. The formation's mysterious powers had reduced Yehria's cultivation to the level of the Xaeclon Rank.

Yehria was completely defenseless against her opponent at the moment.

A chill ran down his spine as James took in what was happening inside the Three Treasures Formation.

Thea, his beloved wife, seemed like she was possessed by the devil.

She knew what to do to a beautiful and prideful woman like Yehria to make her suffer.

"Kill me, James Caden! Kill me right now!" Yehria shouted frantically the instant she saw James. "I beg of you! Kill me! Don't let her lay her hands on me anymore!"

"Open your mouth wide. It's time we pull out your teeth," Thea announced.

Yehria shut her mouth tightly upon hearing that. Anyone could see how terrified she was of Thea.

James landed beside Thea. With his hands on his back, James smiled enigmatically as he observed Yehria's miserable state.

"She says that she's more beautiful than me." Thea turned her eyes to James.

"Does she look beautiful to you now?"

James shook his head. However, he could not seem to suppress the urge to steal glances at Yehria.

'Why does she still look so amazing even in this state?! And she's naked right now. It's as if my gaze gets drawn toward her body even if I don't want to!' James thought.
