

The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6876-James also finally understood why Morgott was so frightened when he unsheathed the Joze Sword.

“Good heavens!” Morgott stared at James. “I’m glad I’ve chosen to join your side, otherwise, I would probably be exterminated for good this time.”

James took a deep breath. “So, can I head up to the Forty-Ninth Heaven and defeat the Five Path Emperors using this sword?”

Morgott fell silent and looked to the side. There was something strange about the look on his face. It was as if he was trying to plot something.

James knitted his brows.

“Perhaps you can.” Morgott tapped his finger on his chin. “However, it is a different story if they use the gates in the battle.”

James replied, “I have the knowledge of the Three Treasures Integration, this sword, and the cultivation of a Soma Daeclon Rank cultivator...”

“You should still master the Five Spirits Integration first.” Morgott cut him off.

‘The Forty-Ninth Heaven is like a huge trap for US.

“We only have one chance to attack that place. If we fail, it is unlikely we can get a second chance.

“The only way for you to succeed is by achieving the Limitless Body and Ultimate Serenity first.”

‘Am I hearing it right? The hot-headed, impulsive Morgott is saying this? Did being sealed up for entrapments really change him?’ James pondered.

Just then, two balls of purplish-gold light traveled through the air at a high speed. The lights stopped in the distance and transformed into Zeux and Beatrice.

The two of them narrowed their eyes as soon as they spotted Morgott’s spirit.

‘They are excellent materials.’ Morgott ran his tongue over his lips.

“A Tirrube Body and a Ganollen Body. I can make them into an indomitable super soldier if I just put them into the Hiram Cauldron. Hahaha!”

Zeux's and Beatrice's faces hardened as they listened to Morgott's words.

Morgott continued, "James, let me have these two! I will use them to enhance the manpower in your army."

"Enough." James rolled his eyes again. "If you continue with that nonsense, I'll have you address them as your seniors."

Morgott flinched and dropped his head submissively.

James turned his eyes to the supreme beings. "Are you two ready to go?" Zeux seemed a little stiff as he nodded.

"Mhm," Beatrice replied softly. She sounded completely different from how she had spoken to James before.

"Let's go, then." James straightened his back. "It's time we head to the Great Historial Land and restore order in all the worlds."

"James," Zeux called out.

He walked over to James and whispered something next to his ear.

James' expression darkened almost instantly.

"Whoever told him to do that?"

Zeux sighed. "He's the Law of Paths. He has to bear part of the responsibility for what's happened to the Thirty-Third Heaven."

"Would he ever be able to join US again?" A deep frown drew James' brows together. "What a fool..."

Then, James pointed to Morgott. "You will follow the two of them to the next destination. Don't bully them. Otherwise, I'll let you have a taste of the sword's power."

As James was about to leave, Zeux hurriedly produced an energy ball.

"James, he left this for you. He wanted you to look at it with others around."

James halted and lifted his brows.

On the other hand, Morgott and Beatrice had puzzled looks on their faces as they looked in James' direction.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6877-James raised his hand and cast a small cloud of Innate Energy into the energy ball given by Wesley.

In a flash, an open scroll appeared before his eyes.

Several lines shining with blood-red light were written on the scroll.

“For a long time, we had hope. All beings waited for the Caden Supreme Path to restore peace and restructure the world.

“Don’t fret even if it’s a matter of life and death. I will do everything in my power and risk my life even if I have to. To prepare the way for you to achieve the Supreme Path and realize the Bloodshade Theory.

“Therefore, I have three reminders for you.

“First, practice the Three Treasures and search for the Five Spirits. Strengthen your base and steel your resolve. Recluse yourself and enhance your powers.

“Second, bring peace and order to the Tai Chi. Open up the Historial and let others in. Use your men wisely and form a new system.

“Third, pause the Tai Chi Tribulation. Keep the Yin governor and Morgott under control. Be extremely cautious, especially of the Hokuwn.”

The frown on James’ forehead grew deeper.

Overall, he understood what Wesley was trying to tell him.

Wesley declared he would handle the early works for their operation to seize the position of the Supreme Path.

Also, he reminded James to spend some time and effort in using the Xyloria Tai Chi Pearl to restructure the laws of the world.

In addition, James should allow others access to the Great Historial Land. That way, they could attract superior cultivators to join them and become a formidable force.

Those in Zymurgy had more edge since they monopolized nearly all of the cultivation resources.

To fight against them, James would have to open up the Great Historial Land as a base to gather all living beings.

However, James was left dumbfounded by Wesley's advice to keep his wife and Morgott under control. Furthermore, they had to be wary of Hokuwn too.

A tower glowing with beautiful lights floated toward James and stopped before him at that moment.

'The Wohrdaemon Tower?' James exclaimed. He held out his hand and let the tower rest on his palm.

Wesley would not lend James the tower, no matter how many times the latter tried to persuade him previously. Out of nowhere, he was giving the tower to James now?

Zeux said in a low voice, "Wesley said that you might have some use for it. So, he's lending it to you."

James had mixed feelings as he looked up into space. He finally understood Wesley's actions and intentions.

Wesley, the current Law of Paths, was not a greedy, unprincipled person. He did not side with those from Zymurgy or Yehria.

Instead, he had been waiting and preparing all along to help James, who he felt could actualize the true philosophies of the Paths, assume the position of the Supreme Path.

James muttered softly, "Mr. Wesley, I won't ever forget about the hopes you have for me and the help you've given me.

"If those men at the Forty-Ninth Heaven dare imprison or harm you, I, James Caden, swear to use everything I have to exterminate them. I won't stop until I kill every last one of them."

He lifted his hand and conjured the Wuia Demon-Slayer Sword.

Whoosh!

The scabbard shot into the air and traveled out of the Thirty-Third Heaven. In a matter of seconds, the scabbard entered the Forty-Ninth Heaven.

It stopped atop a mountain and transformed into a huge flag.

As the flag swayed in the wind, the words "James Caden's Oath" embroidered on the flag could be seen clearly.

The supreme beings in the Forty-Ninth Heaven were alarmed by the sudden occurrence. Soon enough, the news of James Caden's Oath spread across the Forty-Ninth Heaven like wildfire.

Meanwhile, within an exotic space found at the very top of Zymurgy...

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6878-A good-looking man wearing a black robe levitated mid-air in a seated position.

A bright purple light and a tremendous amount of Qrohms emanated from his body.

Apart from that, the man was surrounded by countless colorful, slow-rotating light orbs. Upon a closer look, those light orbs were actually mini universes.

The word "Path" floated above the man's head, glowing faintly and rotating slowly. It added an air of authority and holiness to the man.

A beam of Quell Divine Light appeared in a far corner just then.

A beautiful young lady in a white robe stepped out of the light the next instant.

Her body glowed with the Quell Divine Light as well.

The man's eyes flew open. "Huh? What are you doing here?"

"I have good news and bad news." The lady smiled mischievously. "Which do you want to hear first?"

The man clicked his tongue.

"Leirita, I don't like playing your childish games. Just say what you have to say."

Then, he closed his eyes.

"You already have the Three Treasures and Five Spirits, and you are only left with the final step of integrating them. Sadly, you won't be the first person to achieve that."

Leirita Yansle, the lady said mockingly, "Someone completed the Three Treasures Integration ahead of you."

The man opened his eyes wide. "Who was it?"

"The competitor that you looked down on the most." Leirita chuckled. "He's also a member of the living beings."

Upon hearing her words, the man smirked and shook his head.

"I'm not lying." Leirita conjured a huge screen in the air.

The footage of what James did in the Thirty-Third Heaven played on the screen right away, such as how he captured Yehria and Emperor Craig and how he cut off Cyril's limbs.

However, the only thing that caught the man's attention was the Three Treasures Formation cast by James.

At first, his eyes widened in astonishment. Then, the man adopted a cold and solemn expression on his face.

"So?" Leirita grinned. 'This gave you quite a sense of defeat, right?

"You don't have to act so calm and composed as if you are really not bothered by this.

'There's no one else here. You can shout all you want to release your frustration."

The man shot a glare at Leirita. "It's fake. Does the real Three Treasures Formation look like that?"

"You haven't even succeeded in the Three Treasures Integration until now. How would you know what the Three Treasures Formation would look like?" Leirita retorted.

A scornful look flashed across the man's eyes. "I still don't believe it. How is it possible for a living being to master the Three Treasures Integration?"

"However, there's no denying that he's managed to trap Yehria and Emperor Craig." Leirita continued, "By the way, he even seized one of the Forty-Ninth Heaven's priced treasures, the Wuia Demon-Slayer Sword.

"Also, he sent its scabbard back to our realm and transformed it into a flag bearing the words 'James Caden's Oath'. Everyone is talking about him right now.

"What's more, he seems to be gaining more fame in the Forty-Ninth Heaven than you do." The man balled his fists upon hearing that

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6879-"What a pity..." Leirita treaded slowly.

"Youcef Maevik, the number one cultivator among Zymurgy's younger generation. The Chosen One who will most likely be the next Supreme Path...

"Yet you were completely clueless about a potential enemy. Instead, you are still stuck in that naive and arrogant delusion of being matchless among your peers.

What a joke!"

Leirita focused her gaze on the man. "Youcef, I've heard that Yehria is your older sister. She is captured by your opponent now. Shouldn't you, her brother, do something..."

"Shut up..." Youcef said biting.

In an instant, the mini universes around him emanated overwhelming amounts of pressure simultaneously. The pressure came down on Leirita.

Leirita was not intimidated in the slightest. She released the Quell Divine Light to protect herself.

"Leirita, you shouldn't be picking fights with anyone just because you've reached the Daeclon Mahayana Rank."

Youcef's monotonous voice rang through the space.

"Even if you're my fiance, showing such disrespect is unacceptable."

Youcef extended his arms.

At the same time, two beams of colorful lights traveled past Leirita, one on each side, creating strong currents of air.

Numerous cracks appeared on the wall of the exotic space behind Leirita as the lights landed on it.

When she turned around and saw the impact of Youcef's attack, Leirita subconsciously gasped.

She did not expect that a conceited guy like Youcef had improved his powers to this extent.

Just then, the immense pressure that filled up the entire space disappeared altogether.

On the other hand, Youcef closed his eyes.

"James Caden... Indeed, I've underestimated him. A lowly living being like him even managed to wield the Wuia Demon-Slayer Sword. This is good news. I finally have a worthy opponent."

Leirita snorted. "I made a vow to marry the Supreme Path. If you fail to get rid of the Yin governor's unsightly husband, I won't hesitate to break our engagement."

"Also, your father wants to see you. He's probably about to fall sick because of anger."

Then, Leirita transformed into a ball of Quell Divine Light and vanished from the spot.

Youcef clenched his fists tightly. As he opened his eyes, those orbs shone brightly with a mysterious light.

“It’s time I put my training to use... I’ll be seeing you soon, James Caden.”

Youcef flipped his hands. In a flash, the mini universes around him moved to form a line before Youcef.

One after the other, they swiftly entered Youcef’s body.

With his Zen, Youcef disappeared from the exotic space shortly afterward.

The people were buzzing as James returned to the Forladtt Land’s third level.

Those that were captured and brought here by Adina had all had the seals placed on them lifted.

All of them were excited upon learning about James’ current cultivation and powers.

Not long after that, James gathered a small group of people in a separate room to have a meeting.

The meeting attendees were Lord Zenda from the Great Historial Land, Hador and Yrian from the Ying World, Yegor and Herodias from Skynet, Truett and Xitlaly from the Solstice Alliance, and the Forladtt Land’s Grand Chancellors, Lyla and Rebella.

Naturally, Thea and Morgott were there too.

These were the men that James could confidently put his trust in.

James took a glance around the room and declared smilingly, “Soon, we will be independent and no longer fall under Zymurgy’s governance!”

The faces before him lit up as James announced the good news.

“Also, we need to have a new name for the Forladtt Land.”

James continued, “The Forladtt Land’s original name was the Great Historial Land. This land was created by using Zymurgy as a reference.

“Therefore, from now on, we don’t need the cultivation resources from Zymurgy anymore.

“Instead, we can create our own cultivation resources in the Great Historial Land and determine the levels of vital energies ourselves!”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6880-“Great!” Yegor laughed heartily. “For so long, we had to follow those pretentious supreme beings’ rules.

“We’ve had enough! We’ll form our own group and system and completely ignore them.”

Herodias rolled her eyes. “James’ plan of becoming independent is just a temporary thing.

“Once he becomes the Supreme Path, all realms will fall under his governance, including Zymurgy.”

“Of course!” Yegor turned his eyes to James. “We should start working on enhancing and refining our skills and powers.

“With abundant cultivation resources, I’m sure we living beings won’t lose to Zymurgy’s beings in terms of power.”

‘That is why I’ve chosen the group of you.” James said in a deep voice, “It takes more than our current manpower to be enough to bring down Zymurgy.

‘Therefore, I need everyone to grow stronger.

“Some of you have achieved the Daeclon Rank or the Xaeclon Rank while some are close to entering the Xaeclon Rank.”

James paced around briefly and stopped before the group again. ” Regardless of your progress, I hope that everyone here will discard all of your cultivation and start training from the very beginning.”

Several people let out soft gasps. Almost everyone was looking at James with rounded eyes.

These men had spent years training to reach their current cultivation ranks.

Yet, James made it sound as though he was just asking them to take out some trash.

After a while, Morgott got up and smiled dryly. “Do I have to do it too, James?

I’m a spirit, though.”

James rolled his eyes. ‘You’re definitely not included. Maybe I’ll help you enhance your powers just a little.’

Morgott seemed much relieved. He grinned and looked at others. “I’m not included.”

He sat in his seat and continued drinking the Chaos Absinthe.

“Do I have to do it?” Thea fixed James with a piercing gaze.

‘Yes!’ James replied firmly, ‘The same goes for the other you.’

Thea opened her mouth but could not come up with a retort.

Zenda rose from her seat. “Master, I am already a Yitro Daeclon Rank cultivator...”

‘You need to fuse and acquire new powers.’ James pointed to her. “However, I hope that you’ll start over. Otherwise, you’ll have to go through a long, painful process to achieve the Soma Daeclon Rank.”

Zenda paused briefly and nodded. “The process of cultivation has never been easy. I don’t mind taking the tough way.”

“What about me?” Yegor asked, “I have Yitro Daeclon...”

“If possible, discard your current cultivation.” James interrupted, ‘The Tirta Power is an excellent source of power.

“However, you’ve pretty much reached the limit for enhancing that power. Also, the amount of your Tirta Power is limited.”

Yegor directed his gaze at Herodias next. He wanted to know what his wife thought about this.

“Can I do it too?” Herodias looked at James curiously.

“Sure.” James nodded. “You can also consider combining your powers to make new forms of power. You can give this some serious thought before making your decision.

“Also, I have something to inform the two of you. The Tirta Power is part of the requirement for learning the Five Spirits Integration. To be more specific, I will need the Xyloria Tirta Pearl.”