

The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6926-Apart from marveling at Yehria's perfect body shape and flawless beauty, James finally obtained the information he wanted.

He had previously overlooked the fact that Yehria had successfully cultivated at least three auras of the Five Primal Evolutions although she was not a Daeclon Mahayana Rank powerhouse, nor had she reached the Three Treasures Integration. She had hidden all her important secrets within these three auras.

Any attempt to search her soul was futile. This was the reason Yehria dared to offer her Soul Energy Balls so confidently and remained unfazed.

After pondering for a moment, James telepathically communicated to Lesia, "Is everything clear now?"

Lesia responded with an affirmative grunt. "I never imagined Yehria would end up in such dire straits. She even managed to open a passage from the Forty Ninth Heaven to the Mortal Dimension using the Xyloria Tai Chi Axe and the Xyloria Tirta Tower, releasing countless sealed unorthodox factions and sects without anyone noticing.

"However, I'm curious about how could she ascend to the Forty-Ninth Heaven without being detected with her cultivation merely at the Ninth Xaeclon Rank.

Have all those old fogeys in the Forty-Ninth Heaven turned a blind eye?"

James replied, "Continue to read the inscriptions. There'll be answers."

Lesia fell silent suddenly.

At that moment, Morgott cautiously asked, "James, you're not seriously planning to hand this woman over to that ugly freak, are you?"

James opened his eyes and glanced at him. He asked, "Are you falling in love with her?"

"Nope," Morgott replied with some guilt. "I just feel that such a top-notch woman, even if she's just a fish, shouldn't fall into the hands of those freaks in the unorthodox factions and sects.

“You have so many brothers under you who are still bachelors. Even if you’re afraid of betraying your wife by taking her as a concubine, you should think about your brothers...”

“Just say you want her.” James interrupted him impatiently. “However, I have to remind you, you really can’t handle her with your intelligence.”

Morgott lapsed into silence.

“It’s me who instructed you to let her escape from the Great Historial Land,”

James said. “However, do you think you can control her after you came to Zymurgy with her?”

This left Morgott with no words to say.

“You’re being manipulated by her,” James sighed. “If she didn’t want to use you, you probably wouldn’t even have the opportunity to merge most of your spirits.”

Morgott remained silent.

James patted his shoulder and said with earnestness, “Morgott, let me remind you, everyone likes pretty women, but you have to consider whether you can handle them.

“Don’t think that she’ll settle down by giving her to you and making you dual – cultivation partners. Even if you have a litter of demon fish with her, you’ll only be used by her in the end.

“At that moment, with her animosity towards US, it’s uncertain whether our brotherhood can even endure, let alone if we’ll become enemies.”

Morgott nodded lightly after listening to James’ words. “James, I’ll heed your advice, but my mind and spirit...”

“I think you can try to get along with her.” James suddenly changed the subject.

He smiled and said, “Perhaps your sincerity and straightforwardness can truly influence her?”

Morgott’s eyes lit up. “Is that possible?”

“I understand now!” Suddenly, Lesia’s voice echoed in James’ mind.

James did not respond immediately. Instead, he waved his hand and sent Morgott straight into the Quell Divine Light where Yehria was. “Do you think you can outsmart me with such a simple trick?”

James chuckled and shook his head, then replied to Lesia, "Go ahead."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6927-Tai Chi is quite the crafty one." Lesia chuckled. "I never imagined she had already hidden the secret before this.

"With her status, it's usually hard for her to get a chance to reach the Forty-Ninth Heaven. She opened the path to the Mortal Dimension through the Forty-Ninth Heaven by taking advantage of the opportunity at the previous banquet.

"What's even more surprising is her relationship with her dad, Emperor Qadeer.

It's quite intriguing."

"That's the key," James said. "This also clears up one of my doubts. Why didn't her dad intervene even when she was beaten like that."

"He did want to intervene, but he's afraid that Zymurgy will know this secret," Lesia said with a smile. "He's even more afraid that Yehria will publicly announce the matter of his illegitimate daughter.

"This is because Emperor Qadeer has grander ambitions. The Five Path Emperors aren't all on the same page, especially the one who never shows his face, the leader of the emperors. That's the true presence he fears."

James nodded. "With such important information in hand, what do you think we should do?"

Lesia hesitated for a moment, then asked, "Master, I still don't get what your goals are. Could you share them?"

James took a deep breath and said calmly, "The living beings of the myriad realms are currently re-cultivating and integrating themselves. It will take a long time for their strength to accumulate.

"So, we must uphold our foundation. Whether it's the unorthodox factions and sects released by Yehria or the forces from Zymurgy above the Forty Heaven, they must not disrupt the myriad realms."

"Well, that's easy," Lesia said. "We can let them fight each other. Once they're engaged in battle, we can take advantage and grow stronger.

"When they're both weakened, and our strength has reached a level where we can contend with them, that's when we'll engage in our final battle.

“More importantly, you can use this chaos to your advantage, utilize the passage opened by Tai Chi to sneak into the Forty-Ninth Heaven, find the remaining few beads, and truly achieve the Five Spirits Integration.

“With strong power, one can speak with authority and truly thwart all conspiracies and schemes.”

Listening to this, James smiled inwardly. Lesia truly lived up to being a human Frona in Haleth Realm. She was exceptionally clever. In fact, he was also torn about whether to tell Lesia about seeing Frona, to help her awaken her sealed memories more quickly. After careful consideration, he felt it was not the right time. Lesia was adorable as she was now, not like the lofty Frona, always preaching and advocating.

After a moment of contemplation, James and Lesia exchanged words and finally came up with a bold plan. They had to infiltrate the enemy's ranks to achieve the plan of letting the enemies fight with each other while the myriad realms watched from the sidelines. The Forty-Ninth Heaven was heavily guarded, making it impossible for them to penetrate deeply. Even if they did, they were likely to be discovered by those old folks. So, it was not feasible. The only way was to leverage the relationship between Yehria and the unorthodox factions and sects, infiltrate them, and prompt them to attack the Forty-Ninth Heaven.

Given their hatred towards Zymurgy, this was not difficult. The challenge lay in how to achieve this goal and in what capacity.

“Tai Chi is definitely beyond control,” Lesia sighed. “No matter what, she's still Tai Chi. Any curse or attempt to control her is futile. How about this, Master?”

You manifest as Tai Chi, then take Morgott to infiltrate the unorthodox factions and sects.”

Upon hearing this, James almost stumbled.

“While the dead fish may be just a fish, she's still a female fish. If I were to manifest as her, wouldn't I need to find a female?” James paused. Then, an idea suddenly popped into his head. “Lesia, I think you're perfect for this. You can impersonate Yehria, and Morgott can inhabit my body. In this way, we can enhance our strength without being detected.”

At this suggestion, Lesia protested, “I refuse! I don't want to become her. She's much uglier than me.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6928-James' voice turned stern. “You're my second body. Are you trying to defy my orders?”

Lesia fell silent.

"It's the first time I've uttered the word 'command' since we've known each other," James said solemnly. "Lesia, you'll just have to reluctantly accept it. This is for you to impersonate, not to become her. You're much prettier than her."

Lesia stayed silent, still not agreeing.

Just then, Morgott's scream echoed from the void. James looked up to see Morgott transformed into a purplish-red light and crashing down to the ground, his body covered in wounds. It was bloodied and gruesome.

"What happened to you?" James asked.

"She bit me," Morgott complained and seethed with anger. "That bitch must be a crocodile or a shark."

James rolled his eyes. "I mean, what did you do to her?"

Morgott hesitated, then awkwardly lowered his head.

"Morgott, you shameless scoundrel!" Yehria's furious curses echoed from the void.

Immediately after, she too manifested into a black and white light and landed abruptly. Seeing her disheveled appearance, James seemed to understand something.

"Can you two restrain yourselves a bit? I'm right here, and you're blatantly cultivating in front of me. What about your dignity?"

"Who's cultivating with him?" Yehria retorted. "This shameless bastard actually tried to force-"

"It was you who seduced me!" Morgott immediately retorted. "You asked me to take you away and escape James' control immediately-"

"You..." Yehria said.

"Isn't it?" Morgott asked fiercely. "James is right. Women as cunning and scheming as you are not to be taken, no matter how charming and beautiful.

Beauty can be a curse."

Yehria clenched her fists and glared at Morgott. Then, she turned to yell at James. "James Caden, you despicable bastard! So, all of this was orchestrated by you..."

“Enough!” James waved his hand to interrupt their argument, i’ll find you a place if you want to flirt.”

As he spoke, James waved his hand, and Yehria and Morgott were immediately recalled. Then, James slowly stood up and transmitted his voice to Lesia.

‘That’s settled then. Let’s head back to Ms. Silver’s place. She should also have some news by now.”

With that, he instantly turned into a streak of Sword Light and disappeared on the spot.

Just then, a golden fox from a nearby technical school witnessed everything behind a mountain not far away. It squinted its eyes, hesitated for a moment, then immediately vanished.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6929-As James returned to the Taishi Grand Temple, he was full of puzzlement, looking at Quince lying motionless in the void. Silver, as the Primal Spirit, seemed to be motionless as well. The place was unusually quiet.

“It seems Silver messed up.” Lesia transmitted her voice.

James sighed lightly, “She has stayed here for too long. Perhaps she hasn’t fully grasped the dangers of the current state of Zymurgy.”

At that moment, Silver spoke with an ethereal voice. “You’re back. Take the stuff and get rid of this stubborn thing. You can deal with him however you want!”

As the words fell, several energy balls containing divine objects reappeared in front of James with a flash of colorful light. These were all exactly the ones he had not taken earlier. James shrugged and stepped on Quince’s massive body through the void. He stepped all the way from the sole of his foot to finally sitting on Quince’s nose.

“You really know how to act all high and mighty, even Ms. Silver, who’s usually so easygoing, got irritated by you. Shows how close to death you are.”

With that, he raised the Jozo Sword and plunged it directly into Quince’s right eye. In an instant, blood gushed out wildly, and Quince’s eyeball burst.

Immediately after, he woke up in pain. Just as a heart-wrenching scream came out, James’ Sword Light flashed, and the huge head was immediately chopped off.

Quince's body split apart. In the moment James stepped down, the head exploded with a bang, blood splattering and bones flying everywhere.

Seeing such a horrifying and bloody scene, Silver suddenly trembled with a roll of divine light.

"Where did you go?" James muttered to himself. Then, he took another step and appeared on Quince's remains.

The Jozo Sword in his hand was like cutting tofu, cutting Quince's massive remains in half. Blood surged, and internal organs flew everywhere.

"James, that's enough!" Silver shouted angrily. She was unable to bear to watch anymore.

James, who had plunged into Quince's body, took a while before pulling out a shining pearl. However, this turned himself into a bloody mess in the process.

"I've finally found it!"

"W-What is that?" Silver asked in astonishment.

"It's the Ythril Pill." James explained, "From what I understand, the unorthodox factions and sects focus on pill cultivation base. They gather the essences to divide cultivation bases.

"From low to high, there are Blaze Vigor Pill, Jovianth Pill, Zyress Pill, Luminex Pill, Xyrona Pill, Sylvaris Pill, Ythril Pill, and Xyrisol Pill. The merge of energy and the nine major realms, each realm divided into one to nine grades."

As James gazed at the Ythril Pill shimmering with a myriad of colorful lights in his hand, he elaborated, 'Their energy fusion surpasses even our Daeclon Mahayana Rank, with the Xyrisol Pill standing on par with it. Yet, the Ythril Pill ascends even beyond the Soma Daeclon Rank.'

Silver gasped in cold air after hearing this. She never expected that the unorthodox factions and sects were not only independent of the Path.

They even had their own complete cultivation system. What surprised her even more was James, who could grasp all of this in such a short time.

"With the Ythril Pill, my wife can enter the Soma Daeclon Rank in a very short time." James played with the pill in his hand. 'This will increase her cultivation base by at least two million entrapochs.'

Silver asked, "With such a treasure, why don't you use it?"

"I have already achieved the Three Treasures Integration," James replied calmly. "Besides, this thing is most useful when given to my wife because she is the master of Hokuwn."

This left Silver speechless.

After reclaiming Quince's Ythril Pill, James spread out his hands, and a hot-blooded crimson flame rose, turning into countless fire lotuses, incinerating Quince's corpse into ashes.

In the next instant, he propelled the pill towards Silver. "Ms. Silver, I must ask you to deliver this to my wife. I still have matters to attend to in Zymurgy, and you can enter the Great Historial Land by yourself. I've granted you the qualification."

The Ythril Pill flew towards the colorful light and disappeared without a trace.

It was not until this moment that Silver suddenly laughed lightly. "Morgott, how is it?"

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6930-At the mention of it, the soul consciousness of Morgott, floating within an energy ball in the void, grimaced as it stood up. "Is James' Three Treasures Integration truly so formidable?"

"Oh?" James looked at the soul consciousness of Morgott. "He woke up?"

"I refuse to accept it." The soul consciousness of Morgott clenched its fist. "Let me merge, let me be unsealed again. I want to fight you with all my strength. If your Three Treasures Integration is truly that powerful and can defeat me at my peak, I'm willing to serve you forever, but if not, I will never acknowledge you..."

"Don't get fresh!" Silver interrupted it. "Morgott, we made a bet earlier. Do you dare to renege?"

"Shut up, Silver Thomson!" Morgott's soul consciousness pointed abruptly to the void. "If it weren't for Emperor Qadeer's deceit, do you think you could have sealed me?"

"You..." Silver said.

"Ms. Silver." James interrupted Silver. He wielded the Jozo Sword in his hand and sneered. "Since he refuses to accept it, let's just kill him. It'll be an extra gift for my wife."

Silver was momentarily stunned at these words. Meanwhile, Morgott's soul consciousness turned pale with fright as he saw James appear before him with the Jozo Sword. He remembered the scene of James dismembering Quince just now. Despite his bloody, ruthless demeanor and his intense aura, he could not help but shiver in fear and panic.

“W-What are you going to do? I mean, let me merge all my spirits and confront you with my strongest power. You can’t...”

“Where do you get the nerve?” James forcefully interrupted him. “Just a strand of spirit, and you dare to entertain such delusions. Honestly, I don’t like you at all compared to your other spirit. More importantly, you might corrupt him. I feel it’s necessary to eliminate you to prevent future troubles.”

As James was about to make his move, Morgott’s soul consciousness hastily waved his hands. “No. 1-1 didn’t mean it that way. I was just joking with you...”

Ah...”

Before he could finish speaking, James struck him with a sword, sending him flying. Then, he was rebounded by the energy ball and struck out again. James’ movements were like playing golf, seamlessly flowing. This left Silver, who had never shown herself before, speechless for a moment.

“Ms. Silver, killing Quince won’t be discovered by her master, will it?” James asked as he continued to strike the tumbling energy ball containing the Demonic Spirit.

Silver was taken aback for a moment. Then, she asked solemnly, “There’s a hidden meaning behind your question.”

James struck Morgott’s soul consciousness flying again with a sword. He smiled and said, “I don’t want this matter to be discovered because it concerns my upcoming plans.” “What about him?” Silver asked. “Do you not plan to take him away either?”

James grabbed the rebounding Demonic Spirit. “This guy is a nuisance and needs further testing.”

Silver nodded understandingly. “Okay, leave it to me.”

With a flash of colorful light, the energy ball containing the Demonic Spirit was immediately retrieved. The next moment, the colorful light covering the area disappeared as the Taishi Grand Temple shook violently. The scene before James rapidly changed, finally manifesting into a desolate giant temple.

In the temple, there was nothing else apart from a shining purple-golden tablet belonging to Silver.

A thunderous voice came from behind James. "The Chosen One is indeed formidable. You were able to relocate even the Primal Spirit. You are truly the favored child of the Greater Realms and a talent in the eyes of the supreme beings. However, your talent lies between our acknowledgment and denial."

Hearing this, James did not turn around, but his expression darkened. The terrifying aura behind him made him feel that this powerhouse was a powerful opponent, surpassing any he had faced before.