

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6992

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6992-While James was momentarily stunned, Xanthakos swiftly blew out a stream of gas from his mouth.

In an instant, a tremendous amount of Innate Energy enclosed James' sword form, trapping him in.

"Hahaha!" Xanthakos laughed heartily. "Is this how you greet an old friend, James? Don't you think you were a little too rough?"

James assumed the human form. He had a look of bewilderment on his face.

"You're Emperor Jabari of the Celestial Abode?"

'The Celestial Abode!' A reminiscent smile hung on Xanthakos' face. "We shared a close friendship and great memories back then. However, that was just the beginning of it all."

Xanthakos lifted his hand. There was a flash of colorful lights as a beautiful lady materialized next to him.

"Sophie!" James' eyes bulged.

Without a pause, Xanthakos raised his other hand and conjured another person next to him.

"Henrik!" James exclaimed, "You... You were all Xanthakos' subordinates?"

"We are your friends as well," Sophie answered.

"How have you been, James?" Henrik beamed a wide grin at him. "I never thought we would one day meet under such conditions."

'No, it can't be... This must be an illusion.' James muttered inwardly. He could not believe what he was seeing.

The Emperor Jabari he knew was now Xanthakos, one of the Forty-Ninth Heaven's Five Path Emperors.

Seeing Sophie and Henrik instantly reminded James of his days at the Celestial Abode.

James had the Chaos Yin-Yang Eyes. He could see through any illusionary tricks and detect the slightest difference in people.

Therefore, he could tell what he was looking at was all true.

Xanthakos was previously Emperor Jabari. In addition, Sophie and Henrik truly existed.

Suddenly, three vicious blasts of energy came shooting in Xanthakos' direction.

To James' surprise, Xanthakos simply stood there and took the hits. The blasts left three new bloody, hideous holes in Xanthakos' Ultimate Golden Body.

"You... Huh?!" James seemed confused. "What is going on?"

Xanthakos smiled warmly at James nevertheless.

"As I said, the Celestial Abode was just the place where our friendship began.

Let me show you how we met afterward."

Xanthakos' face began to warp. A few seconds later, a handsome and shockingly familiar face was revealed.

James was completely shell-shocked.

"Mister... Mr. Franciscus..."

Xanthakos, who looked exactly like Franciscus at the moment, let out a cheerful laugh.

"You encountered this face at the Zephyria World not long after you got to the Genesis World. This was how we started our second friendship."

James' anger boiled over at that point. He lifted his hand and pushed his palm forward forcefully.

Countless palm-shaped forms materialized in the air and came down quickly, aiming at Xanthakos.

Meanwhile, Xanthakos held his hand up and conjured numerous Curse Inscriptions to form a gigantic light shield.

Tens of millions of high-level evil spirits came out of the shield and rushed toward the palm-shaped forms immediately.

James had an intense look in his eyes as he watched the evil spirits crush his attacks one after another.

He never imagined Xanthakos could unleash one of Franciscus' best signature skills.

Moreover, it was a skill James had never seen before, yet he could sense Franciscus' finest curse from it.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6993-On the other hand, Morgott, Thea, and Lesia had cast another round of attack at Xanthakos.

However, Xanthakos easily deflected those attacks by using his evil spirits.

James' brows twitched. After a short pause, he transmitted his voice to the others. "Stop attacking. I want to have a word with him."

His words left Morgott and the others flabbergasted. Moreover, they could not see what was happening near the Gate of Mystery from where they were.

James fixed his gaze on Xanthakos, who had Franciscus' face.

"Mr. Franciscus died a long time ago, and it was Yehria, your illegitimate daughter, who caused his death. Did you think I would believe your words now?"

"It doesn't matter if you don't." Xanthakos smiled softly.

"You've achieved the Daeclon Mahayana Rank and Three Treasures Integration. Moreover, you've mastered Yianni's signature skill, the Chaos Yin□Yang Eyes, and surpassed his mastery of the skill.

"You know better than anyone if the face I have now is real or just an illusion."

Although Xanthakos' words shocked him deeply, James managed to maintain a calm expression.

"James, you and I have never been enemies."

Xanthakos went on saying, "Whether it was when I was Emperor Jabari or Franciscus Yuelan, I was your friend, and sometimes your teacher."

At that very moment, two clones formed and separated from Xanthakos' body.

They were two elderly cultivators, who stood unmoving beside him.

James felt as though his head was spinning when he spotted the elderly cultivators. One was in a white robe while the other donned a black robe.

He had met the pair of cultivators previously at the bottom of Aquasoul found on the Forladtt Land's third layer.

These two mysterious cultivators who were spirits back then built James' Golden Bones by using the Marciais Power and Historial Power.

Another two clones separated from Xanthakos' body and assumed the appearance of two other elderly cultivators.

"They..." James said in a shaky voice, "They are the cultivators who have helped me build my Ultimate Golden Body on the Forladdt Land's fourth level?"

"You remembered well." Xanthakos' smile broadened. 'That's right. They are all me.

"Emperor Jabari and Franciscus were formed from my Soremsia, which existed in the living beings' realm.

"On the other hand, these four spirits were formed from my clones."

James was in a state of shock. He had a dawning realization as he looked at all those familiar faces, whose existences were irrefutably real.

All this time, he had been manipulated like a puppet with strings. Yet, James had not a single clue of what was happening to him.

"Part of the reasons for how you've become who you are today comes from yourself."

Xanthakos continued, "At the same time, I played a part in planning out the path you needed to take."

"You did what?" James furrowed his brows.

"I should explain starting from the part with Emperor Jabari." Xanthakos sighed.

"After all, your wife, the Yin governor's fate was somehow connected to him."

James waited silently for him to continue.

"When I created Emperor Jabari from my Soremsia, Yukia, one of the Yin governor's reincarnations, had given me some advice.

'That was the very reason that brought about the Yin governor's fate of being separated into two.'" Xanthakos lifted his head and drew a long breath.

"With that being said, it was actually because of a grave mistake that I had committed which led to the Yin governor's terrible fate."

"By mistake, you mean Yehria?" James' eyes narrowed.

"Yes." Xanthakos nodded. 'The rumors were true. Yehria is my illegitimate child.

However, her conception was an accident. It had to do with the evil thoughts in me."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6994-James snickered, "Please, carry on with your story." "She was born a fish of malevolence." Xanthakos said regretfully, "I thought she might change if I just sent her to Tirta. I never imagined she would betray the Tirta Sect and take the Xyloria Tai Chi Pearl for herself.

"She even managed to get through thousands of tribulations and become the Heloria Tai Chi.

"It was also at that point she and the Yin governor started to bear grudges against each other."

James narrowed his eyes. He had heard about the conflicts and bad blood between Yehria and Thea before this.

Xanthakos' description of those incidents that came afterward pretty much matched what James already knew.

Yehria was aware that the Yin governor, the last Alcide being, was immortal. The only thing she could do was to force the Yin governor into being reincarnated.

Therefore, she used every means she could find as Tai Chi and made Thea go through eighty reincarnations.

According to Xanthakos, the Yin governor would really perish if she were to be reincarnated more than eighty-one times.

On the other hand, Yehria would absorb and gain all of the Yin governor's powers. She would become a threat to Xanthakos, who was one of the Forty-Ninth Heaven's Five Path Emperors.

He claimed to have done it for self-preservation and for the sake of maintaining peace across all realms. Also, he wanted to locate the Waitara Path's Soremsia.

Eventually, Xanthakos made his move when Thea experienced her eightieth reincarnation.

At first, he formed Emperor Jabari from his Soremsia and waited for Yukia, Thea's reincarnation, to appear.

After meeting Thea, Xanthakos continued to search for her afterward.

Yehria was extremely displeased with that. It got to the point where she became determined to eliminate the Yin governor for good.

Under those circumstances, Xanthakos had no choice but to summon back his Soremsia with Emperor Jabari's identity.

Instead, he decided to transform his Soremsia into the more powerful Lord of the Dark World, Franciscus Yuelan.

Xanthakos invaded the Tai Chi World using Franciscus' identity and coerced Yehria into handing over full ownership of the Dark World.

Then, he appointed the Yin governor to be the Dark World's Heavenly Path.

Xanthakos explained that these arrangements would help him a lot in keeping things under control. Also, he was trying to prevent Thea's 81 st reincarnation from happening.

With Franciscus' status as the Lord of the Dark World, Xanthakos then split Thea into two, forming Dark Thea and Light Thea.

By doing that, the Yin governor would be no more. Yehria would not be able to execute her plans of exterminating the Yin governor as well.

As for what transpired afterward, James was aware of most of the details.

After settling the issue, Xanthakos staged Franciscus' passing and summoned back his Soremsia.

At the same time, he helped James gain a better edge in the Genesis World through James' encounters in the Zephyria World.

The rest was history.

After a short while, James asked, "Why did it have to be me?"

"You're connected to the Yin governor." Xanthakos smiled. "Also, you're connected to a bigger, more severe tribulation."

James said expressionlessly, "Do you mean the Leere Tribulation?"

Xanthakos' eyes narrowed. "You... You know about it too?"

James chuckled and raised his hand. There was a flash of Wama Divine Light as Lesia materialized next to him.

As soon as he saw Lesia, Xanthakos shot to his feet. He was caught completely offguard.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6995-"Surprise, surprise!" Lesia announced.

James curled his lips as he took in the shocked expression on Xanthakos' face.

"Do you still want to keep up with the act?"

Beside him, Lesia smiled enigmatically as well.

"You!" Xanthakos glared at Lesia. "Alas, you decided to complicate things!

There I was thinking you'd be smarter than this!"

Lesia replied flatly, "On the other hand, it was exactly because you were so clever that you were blinded by greed."

Xanthakos threw his head back and laughed scornfully upon hearing her words.

As the cynical smile on his face disappeared, Xanthakos stopped laughing and asked, "Frona, didn't those incidents happen just as I told James earlier?"

"Without my help, could a mere human like him ever be able to amount to what he is now?"

Lesia sighed and looked at James. "Do you believe the things he said?"

James shrugged. "He was telling the truth. I didn't detect any signs of illusion during our conversation. So, I think his statement isn't false."

"His statement is not false." Lesia nodded. "However, it is still highly questionable."

"I see," James responded enthusiastically.

On the contrary, Xanthakos' face hardened. "Whether it was as Emperor Jabari or Franciscus Yuelan, this guy did help you with many things."

Lesia went on to explain, "However, his true intentions are to prepare you so that he can use you to achieve his goals."

Lesia's gaze fell on James again. "In other words, you are just one of his pawns.

"Everything he did so far was to create the impression that you might be the late Waitara Path's Soremsia.

"Your status as a Chosen One was the result of his constant effort in making the divine beings become convinced that you might be the Waitara Path's reincarnation.

"When the time comes, he can reveal all the things he has done for you and claim to be your benefactor. Moreover, he knows that the Yin governor is your biggest weakness.

“With all those factors combined, he could then pressure you into helping him reign over all worlds for as long as he wanted.”

‘That’s a brilliant plan.’ James gave an approving nod. “How come he changed his plans later on, though? Why instruct Yehria to disrupt my plans time and time again?”

Then, James cast a meaningful glance at Xanthakos.

Xanthakos was having a hard time controlling his expression after being exposed by Lesia. He appeared furious and flustered. ‘There were changes to his plans because of my appearance.’

Lesia gave Xanthakos a sidelong glance. “Of course, Yehria’s arrogance and recklessness have also ruined some of his plans. Remember the Forladtt Land?

That place was the last of the fortunes intended for you in his attempt to control you.

“However, he didn’t expect that you would actually succeed in gaining control of Emperor Yarden’s Yonderverse Tower and becoming the lord of the Forladtt Land.

“Even Xanthakos was shocked by these occurrences. He could not tell if you were just a nobody or truly the Waitara Path’s reincarnation. If you happened to be the real deal, he would be doomed.”

All of it made sense to James now after listening to Lesia’s explanation.

Back at the Forladtt Land’s fourth level, the pair of mysterious cultivators gave him the Yonderverse Tower before they left.

After that, James used the Yonderverse Tower’s powers during his first battle with the Yang governor, who was already a Xaeclon Rank cultivator.

It infuriated Yehria when James defeated the Yang governor by wielding the Forladtt Land’s mysterious power.

Since then, it had been rough for James no matter what he was doing. There were even multiple times when his life was in jeopardy.

It turned out all the hardships he went through were a form of test and oppression from Xanthakos, who had grown suspicious of him.

“Frona!” Xanthakos yelled furiously, “In the eyes of the Caeloros Gods, do you all only see those from the Haleth Realm as cunning and manipulative beings?

“Have you forgotten? After the Waitara Path succeeded in mastering the human form, I was the first living being to become a follower of the Supreme Path!

“After the cultivation ranks were set, I was also the first living being to achieve the Daeclon Mahayana Rank! Moreover, I’ve contributed the most to the founding of Zymurgy!

“When the unorthodox sects and factions refused to obey the Supreme Path’s teachings, I led eighty-one superior living being cultivators, defeated those men, and sealed them up.

“Morgott tried to conquer Zymurgy and challenged the Waitara Path’s authority. I was the one who defeated him and removed a great threat to our peace!” The veins on Xanthakos’ forehead popped. He fumed, “Yet, what did I get in return for my loyalty? I was an object of scorn and ridicule to the Alcide beings. I wasn’t allowed to rise higher in position despite everything I did.

“No matter how talented and loyal I was to the Supreme Path, I was always below those Alcide beings! How is that fair? Is that how the Dernaturae should be?”

Lesia smirked. “After experiencing all that unfair treatment, you released your frustration by repeating what they did to you to the other living beings instead?

Is that fair, though?”

“I did all those things for his sake!” Xanthakos pointed to James. “I was only trying to help him rise to the position of the Supreme Path!”

“No. You did those things for your own benefit,” Lesia responded calmly, “It’s because you know what kind of consequences you and your men will be facing once the Waitara Path’s reincarnated Soremsia returns here.”

Xanthakos was once again enraged at Lesia’s impertinence. “Are you and the other Caeloros Gods really that upright and benevolent?! Didn’t the Waitara Path leave because the Nine Caeloros Gods made changes to his teachings?

“If he had been around, we, the Five Path Emperors, wouldn’t have been able to do anything in the first place!”

Xanthakos bellowed, “It was all your fault! The Caeloros Gods are the ones responsible for everything that has happened!”

Lesia grinned mysteriously.

On the other hand, James narrowed his eyes. He had heard of a narration similar to what Xanthakos just shared from Lesia and Emperor Yarden previously.

It was back when he got to the Void World with the help of the Taishi Divine Light.

Sadly, James still had many questions swirling in his head even after listening to Xanthakos' arguments.
