

The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7001-As Thea gazed at Yiulia, an intrigued expression flickered across her beautiful face.

She was fascinated that despite Yiulia being a Path Emperor and manifesting a Soremsia, she appeared pretty naive and innocent. It seemed as if she hardly experienced the dangers of the world. Someone like her could not possibly be too bad.

As the two beautiful women stood at a stalemate, an explosion suddenly erupted from the Wuinfinite Formation beneath them, causing the void to tremble violently.

Yiulia stabilized herself and lowered her gaze to observe the situation only for her face to darken instantly. "You left him to face Emperor Qadeer's Light of Mustery and Wuifinite Formation alone. Do you truly care for him?"

"Do I have to answer?" Thea retorted.

Yiulia aimed her Sword Light straight at Thea's throat and asked, "You're ashamed to answer?"

Thea said calmly, "Deep down, you know the truth, yet you refuse to admit it.

You've never been able to face our relationship. In fact, you don't have the courage to even confront me."

Enraged, Yiulia pointed forward, sending the Sword Lights to dart past Thea's ears.

Feeling the whistling wind passing by her, Thea remained calm and did not even flinch.

At that moment, Yiulia seemed to have lost her dignity before Thea. 'This hateful woman! How does she always manage to have the upper hand against me? Is she just cunning, or am I too foolish?' Thea sighed and said, "If you really want to help him, then come with me, Lyla.

We'll return to the Great Historial Land and keep hope alive for his final revenge."

Yiulia's beautiful face twitched, but she remained silent.

Thea persuaded sincerely, "I know you want to fight alongside him. Don't you think I feel the same? But given the current situation, it's evident Emperor Qadeer is well-prepared. If we rush in there right now, not only will we fail to help James, but we'll become a distraction to him.

“He’s a man with pride. If he loses it in front of US, he’ll lose his willpower, and even his Three Treasures will be useless.”

Yuilia raised her head and took a deep breath. “Emperor Qadeer is indeed strong, but he’s not invulnerable. If you truly want to save him, come with me.”

After speaking, she turned around and disappeared abruptly.

Thea knew Yiulia still retained her memories and emotions of her existence as Lyla. She murmured, “It’s a risk worth taking. I’m betting on her wanting to save James.”

After that, Thea followed after Yiulia.

Meanwhile, James clashed with Emperor Qadeer in the formation. Dazzling lights burst out, crisscrossing in the void.

Neither of them could gain the upper hand, and the battle was at a standstill.

Suddenly, a terrifying purple-red light shot toward Emperor Qadeer from behind.

It transformed into a phantom spear and pierced through his golden body, causing a crackling sound.

Emperor Qadeer spat out a mouthful of blood and was knocked tens of thousands of light-years away.

Meanwhile, the spear transformed into Morgott, standing where Emperor Qadeer was just seconds ago. His red hair fluttered, and his body and hands were soaked with blood. His appearance resembled that of a devil who had risen from the underworld. 1
