

The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7071-Yianni, Lesia, Morgott, and Hankin exchanged glances, seemingly having something to say. However, they held their tongues.

James asked suspiciously. "What's wrong? Don't you know where she is?"

Yianni finally broke the silence and answered, "The Gate of Mystery is the source of the world, divided into the Tohmuna and Delmuna. I was imprisoned in the Tohmuna. I attacked the Gate of Tohmuna with my powers for eons. I only managed to escape after achieving the unity of Primordial Spirits.

"Harper is a woman who practices Historial Power, which uses energy as its foundation. Although she is stronger than me, she can't break through the Gate of Delmuna alone." "Tohmuna, Delmuna," James murmured, narrowing his eyes. After a while, he asked, "Is it located within this space?"

Yianni nodded and replied, "Yeah. But I don't know the exact location. Both of them only have one entry point. With how vast the Gate of Mystery is..." Before he could finish, James suddenly spread his hands, and countless dazzling Sword Lights permeated the area.

With a whooshing sound, the Sword Lights tore through the Gate of Mystery space. The ground shook, and the wind howled.

Even the Historial Helmnor Formation's space was not spared. The Sword Lights struck the Twelve God-Kings, Eighteen Emperors, and Dorvus. After their golden bodies were pierced, they spat out blood.

Lesia, Yianni, and Morgott were startled by the display. On the other hand, Hankin lightly twisted his beard, smiled, and nodded approvingly.

At that moment, in the Forty-Nine Heavens Punishment Hall, Youcef, battered and bruised from being whipped, sat cross-legged on a futon, tending to his injuries.

Suddenly, a flash of black light flickered, and Xanthakos appeared before him.

Xanthakos glared at Youcef furiously and growled, "You rebellious son! You conspired with outsiders against me. Are you still my son? Do you even consider me your father?"

Youcef's eyes remained shut, not responding to his outburst.

Xanthakos questioned, "Tell me! Where are Hankin, Dorvus, the Twelve Heavenly Kings, the Eighteen Emperors, and the Marauder Army? Did James already kill them?"

Hankin remained silent, unwilling to answer.

Xanthakos clenched his fists and said, "Very well. Since James wants me to listen to your conditions before he leaves the Gate of Mystery, I'll do as you wish."

Suddenly, Xanthakos waved his hand, and a Soul Energy Ball glowing with gilded light floated into the void.

Hankin immediately opened his eyes and looked at the floating Soul Energy Ball. "Mother..."

Xanthakos gritted his teeth and said, "Don't you want her resurrected? Well, today, I'll make you watch as her soul is torn apart. She won't ever have the chance to reincarnate. This is the price you have to pay for betraying me."

Hankin shouted anxiously, "No, don't..."

Xanthakos ignored his pleas and swung his hand at the Soul Energy Ball.

Hankin quickly transformed into a light ray and blocked the attack.

Xanthakos roared, "You dare to stop me? Do you have a death wish?"

He instantly followed up with another attack, launching a phantom palm toward Youcef.

Boom!

With a loud crash, Hankin was knocked away, breaking over a dozen pillars before hitting a wall and falling to the ground. He spat out a mouthful of blood but still held the Soul Energy Ball tightly in his arms, determined to protect it.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7072-Xanthakos roared furiously, "You rebellious son! Since you're so stubborn, I'll seal you and your damn mother away for eternity. That should prevent you from causing anymore trouble for me!"

He flipped his hand and prepared to cast a sealing spell. However, he felt a sudden sharp pain in his heart. His entire body trembled violently, and his face contorted in agony.

Youcef looked at him puzzledly.

Xanthakos then started shaking uncontrollably, and Nothingness Dead Energy burst from his body, causing him to scream in pain.

Instantly, the Nothingness Dead Energy enveloped the entire Punishment Hall, swallowing Youcef as well.

At that moment, outside the Punishment Hall, a beam of multicolored light rapidly shot in, transforming into a beautiful figure who appeared beside Youcef.

Without a word, she helped the seriously injured Youcef up. "Come with me!"

"No!" Youcef rejected Thea, staring intently at Xanthakos, who was screaming in pain. "James is acting up again and is being even more brutal this time."

Thea followed Youcef's gaze and saw Xanthakos trembling on the spot. His body twisted and deformed as the Nothingness Dead Energy poured out from him. It looked as if he were trapped in endless purgatory, suffering immensely.

Soon, colorful lights flew out of Xanthakos' body and floated in the void, creating a stark contrast with the surrounding Nothingness Dead Energy. "Is that the Gate of Mystery's Path Cauldron?" Thea asked while supporting Youcef.

Youcef nodded and replied, "Yeah. It's where his Primordial Spirit resides."

Thea snorted. "Ha! It's spinning rapidly. Is my husband really up to something in the Gate of Mystery?"

As she spoke, a hole suddenly appeared on the side of the Gate of Mystery's Path Cauldron.

Countless purple-gold Sword Lights burst out from the cauldron, flying toward a corner of the Punishment Hall. The next moment, a large hole appeared on a wall.

Thea's eyes widened in shock, and exclaimed, "Woah! Those are some scary Sword lights."

Youcef gasped and said, "The Path Cauldron was pierced. The situation within the Gate of Mystery must be terrifying. I'm afraid Dorvus, the Eighteen Emperors, and Twelve God-Kings might have already fallen."

Xanthakos growled in pain as more Nothingness Dead Energy leaked from his body.

The next moment, another wave of Sword Lights burst out from the Path Cauldron and shot out in different directions.

Thea, who was supporting Youcef, quickly reached out and cast a barrier.

However, the purple-gold Sword instantly shattered it.

“Dodge!” Thea exclaimed, pulling Youcef to evade as countless sword lights swept past their previous position, bringing a terrifying gust of wind.

Having narrowly escaped disaster, excitement, and shock were evident on Thea’s beautiful face. “Is this really my husband’s doing? Is he really this powerful now?”

Youcef nodded and said helplessly, if he decides to leave the Gate of Mystery, hardly anyone in the Forty-Ninth Heaven could rival him.”

Thea asked impatiently, “Then what are we waiting for? Let’s just leave and let my husband deal with your father?”

Youcef thought for a while and asked, “Why does that sound a bit weird?”

Thea retorted, “What is? He is trying to seal you and your mother away! Do you still think of him as your father?”

Thea supported Youcef up to his feet. Then, they immediately transformed into light beams and left the scene.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7073-Though Xanthakos was screaming in agony, Thea and Youcef’s actions were under his control. In addition to cursing Youcef as a rebellious son, he developed an extreme hatred for Thea. However, there was nothing much he could do.

He was in a dire situation. He could either surrender the Gate of Mystery to James or hold onto it and endure James’ relentless torture.

While desperately enduring the agonizing pain, a purple-gold light emerged, and James’ Primordial Spirit materialized in the Nothingness Dead Energy. James stood calmly, hands behind his back, watching the twisted, suffering Xanthakos with a victorious expression.

“J-James,” Xanthakos stammered, “What do you want? Didn’t we have an agreement?

Aren’t you afraid of the soul contract’s backlash?” James replied coldly, “Who said I broke the soul contract? Stop talking nonsense and open the door to the Gate of Delmuna. I’ll forgive you if you comply.”

Xanthakos' pupils trembled at his words. 'You want to pass through the Gate of Delmuna? You're...'

James said impatiently. "Don't get so worked up. I just want to see an old friend.

Of course, you can refuse, but then I'll have to search for it within the Gate of Mystery. With my power, finding the Gate of Delmuna won't be hard, but you will have to endure more pain and torture."

Xanthakos roared, panicking. "No, don't! I'll do it! Don't you want to save Harper? I'll let her go. But you must promise me that after rescuing Harper, you'll leave the Gate of Mystery immediately..."

James interrupted, "What's the rush? There are still many interesting things in the Gate of Mystery that I haven't explored yet. Besides, our soul contract isn't over yet. You need to let me think it over. Don't you want to cooperate with me?"

Xanthakos shuddered and hesitated. He put himself at a disadvantage, and there was little he could do to change the situation.

On the one hand, he wanted to use James to defeat Lord Goyo, seize control of the Forty-Ninth Heaven, and obtain the Path Designation Bead to control the Greater Realms. By then, even if James or the Waitara Path returned, he would be strong enough to fight them.

On the other hand, James' chaos within the Gate of Mystery was unbearable.

Xanthakos knew well that, with his personality and hatred for him, cooperation was impossible.

However, the soul contract put him in an inescapable situation, which felt like an eternity.

He had his considerations and thoughts. With James' current strength, he was a transcendent force capable of dominating the Greater Realms. Even if Xanthakos used all his power, he might fail.

Moreover, James was accompanied by Morgott, the Soremsia of a Nothingness Gods, and Yianni, whose power surpassed the source of all spirits.

Such a force could determine the outcome of the Forty-Ninth Heavens. Even if they did not cooperate with him, he could not let them ally with Lord Goyo.

Otherwise, he would be in a terrible situation.

For this reason, three epochs would not make much difference in the grand scheme.

Appeasement was now essential. Even if it meant enduring humiliation, he had to get through it.

Once the three epochs were over, without the constraints of the soul contract, he could regain control of the Gate of Mystery. At that time, no matter how strong James was, he could only be trapped within the Gate of Mystery.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7074-Enduring great pain, Xanthakos pondered deeply before sighing. "Alright, James, you've convinced me. I'll release Harper, but you need to stop causing trouble." James asked playfully, "Who's causing trouble, me or you?" "We agreed you'd give me time to think. So why did you send the Twelve God-Kings, the Eighteen Emperors, and the Marauder Army? Were you planning to use this as a chance to kill me and eliminate future problems?"

Xanthakos waved his hand and hurriedly explained, "No, absolutely not! I just wanted them to keep an eye on you to make sure you don't cause chaos in there. My old bones can't handle it.

"Besides, I've treated your wife like royalty, providing her with the best delicacies and service.

'You're stirring up a lot of chaos in the Gate of Mystery, which is torturing me.

Meanwhile, your wife is disrupting my palace's peace. Both of you are putting me through agony. Do you really think this is the best approach?

"Remember, we're going to be in-laws. Destroying our relationship now will harm our future cooperation."

James raised an eyebrow. "Oh, so you have my wife and are using her to threaten me?"

Xanthakos looked exasperated at his words. "Who dares to threaten you? My only wish is for you two to stop tormenting me.

"The Wuia Integration Gathering is approaching. I will be standing in the forefront to help you two fend off Lord Goyo. They are devout followers of the Waitara Path and wish for his return. Weakening my strength now will only work in their favor."

His words were filled with righteousness, leaving little room for argument.

James shrugged. "Fine, but let Harper go first. We can tackle other issues later."

As soon as he finished speaking, he transformed into a light beam and reentered the floating Path Cauldron.

The springing Path Cauldron, which was full of holes, slowed down and stabilized. As soon as the pain tormenting Xanthakos vanished, he collapsed to the ground and gasped for breath.

Suddenly, a shout came from outside the palace.

“What’s wrong, Your Majesty?” A figure rushed in, but Xanthakos immediately raised his hand and knocked him away.

Xanthakos roared, “Get out! Anyone who approaches will be killed!”

The disciples outside the temple retreated in fear.

Catching his breath, Xanthakos looked up at the now-riddled Gate of Mystery’s Path Cauldron.

“James, I’ll let you be arrogant for a while. When three epochs have passed, I’ll seal you away in the Gate of Mystery.

“After I control the Wuia Palace, obtain the Path Designation Bead, and seize the Greater Realms, I’ll cut you into pieces and reduce you to ashes.

“You care about the Yin governor the most, right? She’s indeed a beautiful woman. When the time comes, I’ll make sure you witness her defiled by thousands and make you suffer!”

Xanthakos pointed at the Path Cauldron floating in the void. “Gate of Delmuna, open!”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7075-Within the Gate of Mystery, a dazzling flash of light appeared, opening a radiant gate beneath the lotus where James and his companions stood.

James, Lesia, Morgott, and Yianni looked down to see millions of dazzling lights shining within the gate. The sight was sacred and imposing, exuding an aura of immense power.

Lesia exclaimed. “Delmuna Power! My Lord, that is the Gate of Delmuna.”

Yianni gasped and exclaimed, “I never expected Xanthakos to actually move the Gate of Delmuna beneath James’ lotus. No wonder we couldn’t locate it even after James tore through the space here. He’s incredibly cunning.”

James asked, "Can the Gate of Delmuna be set to move freely?"

Yianni nodded. "Absolutely. The Gate of Mystery is the source of the world.

Xanthakos controls the Tohmuna and Delmuna Gates, which is why he acts so brazenly."

"Shall we give it a try?" Morgott asked James eagerly.

James and the others appeared before the dazzling light gate.

Just as Morgott was about to rush in, James stopped him.

Morgott said hastily. "That's the Gate of Delmuna. Whoever controls it becomes the master of Greater Realms!"

Lesia knocked Morgott on the head and reprimanded, "Are you stupid?

Master's main interest is the Gate of Mystery, which naturally includes the source of the world. Why should I care about a mere Gate of Delmuna?"

Morgott grumbled and fell silent.

Suddenly, a giggling girl's laughter emanated from the light gate. Her voice was filled with charm and allure.

Yianni, Morgott, and Hankin, who were already considered exceptional powerhouses in the Greater Realms, also could not help but be mesmerized.

James frowned, and with a wave of his hand, a transparent air barrier formed in front of him.

Yianni, Morgott, and Hankin, who had been entranced, snapped back to their senses, looking terrified.

"Is that her?" James asked with his hands behind his back.

Yianni took a deep breath. "Yes, I didn't expect her enchantment technique to have reached such great heights. What a disaster!"

Lesia shouted, "Stop laughing, and show yourself! Now is not the time for you to flaunt your charms. It's your only chance. Otherwise, you'll end up dead."

The charming woman's voice came from within the light gate and said, "Ha!

How shameless, Xanthakos. To deceive me into becoming your cultivation partner, you've resorted to such despicable methods?

"You know my relationship with Frona, but you dare to pretend to be her. You're truly shameless! If you have the guts, why don't you show up as my lover as well?"

James turned his head puzzledly and asked, "Who's her lover?"

Morgott and Hankin exchanged glances. Then, they followed Lesia's mischievous gaze and noticed Yianni's cheeks turning red.

Lesia chuckled, "Don't be shy. She's calling you."

Yianni rolled her eyes and retorted, "Get lost."

Under James' curious gaze, he shouted, "A beautiful enchantress who stands above all worlds, wielding Historial Power, that stands tall. Even Marciais Power cannot defeat her mesmerizing smile."

James's eyes widened, and he almost dropped his jaw in shock. 'What the hell?

Is this some kind of flattery poem? A beautiful enchantress? How ridiculous