

The Almighty Dragon General

Chapter 7132

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7132-At that moment, Thea, who had prepared herself to face her 82nd reincarnation, suddenly opened her beautiful eyes.

A purple-gold Sword Light spun rapidly in the void, unleashing a fierce wind.

Countless purple-gold sword lights filled the surroundings, and a hostile aura permeated the space.

The Wyrmscale Source shook violently. At the same time, the force imprisoned and suppressed the beings and plants, leaving them trembling and powerless in the face of death.

A proud and charming smile spread across Thea's blood-streaked face. She was stunningly beautiful and irresistibly captivating.

Marius and Taichu, also feeling this fear, looked up in horror.

"That's..." Marius was so shocked that he could not continue.

Taichu asked tremblingly, "Is that the Wuia Demon-Slayer Sword? It's only the third out of the latter six swords. Yet, how is it so powerful?"

Marius shook his head and said, "It's not just the sword. The wielder's strength plays a big part in its potency.

Taichu asked anxiously, "Could it be Lord Goyo is here? But isn't he busy dealing with Xanthakos' army?"

Marius squinted and responded, "Lord Goyo? If he had such strength, then Xanthakos is doomed."

Compared to the shock felt by Marius and Taichu, Gryphon's face twisted in anger.

His attack on Thea was neutralized, and he felt gravely offended that somebody dared to act so boldly in the Wyrmscale Source with him present.

"Who could it be? Who dared to act so arrogantly? Is it Emperor Tapia or the Waitara Path?"

"Damn it!"

With a roar, Gryphon flipped his hand, and a long sword darted out from his hand and shot toward the purple-gold Sword Light in the void.

Unfortunately, Gryphon's sixty-four swords' attacks only lasted momentarily before being swallowed by the purple-gold Sword Light, leaving no trace behind.

Gryphon fumed and grumbled, "It swallowed my Soulshatter Blade? Excellent, excellent! I haven't encountered such a formidable opponent in a long time."

After speaking, he transformed into a light beam and darted toward the purple gold Sword Light.

Boom!

With a resounding crash, the purple-gold Sword Light suddenly split into two and attacked Gryphon from both sides. A fierce battle between the two erupted in the void.

Marius' eyes widened in astonishment. "Why is Emperor Gryphon fighting a sword?"

Taichu took a deep breath and said, "That's no ordinary sword. It seems the Gryphon has completely lost his mind."

As they watched the battle unfold, Thea lost her strength and collapsed.

At that moment, a purple-gold beam flashed through the void, and a handsome man in a black robe materialized to catch her before she hit the ground.

"You're finally here, Honey." Nestled in the man's arms, Thea showed a revealed smile.

"Stay with me, Darling!" James pressed two fingers on her body. Suddenly, a brilliant purple-gold light emerged and surrounded her.

Thea smiled weakly at James and said, "I'm fine. I'm just a little tired and want to sleep." James embraced Thea tightly and said, "It's okay. You'll recover soon. I'm here."

"We won't ever be separated."

Thea said weakly, "That guy is really powerful. You have to be careful dealing with him. He isn't afraid of fighting against the Three Treasures. I'm guessing he is one of the legendary three Great Holiness."

James slowly raised his head, revealing his bloodshot eyes. He shouted, "No matter who he is, I'd have to kill him for injuring my wife."

Thea hurriedly shook her head and said, "No, no! Marius is an acquaintance of yours, and the Wyrmscale Source will benefit US. You can't just exterminate them."

Seeing Thea's anxious face, James took a deep breath. 'This silly woman is always thinking about me.' Under the purple-red and purple-gold lights, Thea's body began to heal rapidly.

Thea's head tilted, and she fainted in James' arms.

"Honey!" James looked down and called out anxiously.

His voice resounded throughout the Wyrmscale Source, causing the surroundings to tremble violently.

Gryphon, engaged in the two purple-golden Sword Lights, turned his head in astonishment.

Just as he was distracted, the two purple-gold Sword Lights struck him, and two huge bloody wounds appeared on his body.

"Get lost!"

Gryphon burst out with terrifying Spiritual Energy and immediately knocked away the two purple-gold Sword Lights.

As the Spiritual Energy permeated, the countless Sword Lights were shattered.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7133-Amidst the ceaseless explosions echoing in the void, the Divine Marius and Taichu had awe-stricken expressions. The other eight Spiritual Saints, who were hurled tens of thousands of light years away by the force of the blast, were also in disbelief.

Gryphon instantly shattered the purple-gold Sword Lights in a fury and materialized in the void above James and Thea. He looked down and said disdainfully, "Are you the Mortal Emperor, one of the Chosen Ones?"

Ignoring Gryphon, James calmly wiped the blood from Thea's lips.

Gryphon sneered, "Your wife claims you're the first in the Greater Realms to have integrated the Three Treasures and that you're the future ruler of the Haleth Realm."

James remained silent, tending to Thea.

Gryphon's laughter filled the void. "I've witnessed countless powerhouses, yet none match your audacity and ignorance. I'd like to see if you have the strength to match your attitude."

James cleaned the blood off Thea's face, sighed, and said, "We'll face life's trials and grow old together. Since you're exhausted, rest now, my love.

Leave the rest to me."

Thea lifted Thea, stood up, and closed his eyes. Suddenly, black and white dragons emerged and carried Thea into the void.

James stretched his hand, and a powerful Anonymous Gas wrapped around her body.

Gryphon's brows furrowed as he watched in confusion.

Marius also murmured doubtful, "What kind of power is that?"

Taichu replied, "It's unfamiliar to me. James has improved since we last saw him in the Gate of Mystery.

Marius closed his eyes and remarked, "James is furious. I've witnessed his wrath before. This may spell trouble for the Wyrmscale Source."

Taichu nodded, acknowledging the gravity of the situation.

With a resounding cry, James pointed two fingers into the void.

Instantaneously, a purple-gold gate materialized, emitting an expansive, Anonymous Gas.

James waved his hand, and Thea, carried by two dragons, vanished into the gate's radiant lights.

"What sorcery is this?" Taichu gasped, hand over mouth.

Marius' eyes widened in shock as he witnessed the gate's closure. "He can use that mysterious energy to open a spatial gate? Could this mean a sixth gate is about to appear?"

"A sixth gate?" Taichi's disbelief was palpable.

As the gate disappeared, James directed his gaze toward Gryphon, who hovered above.

"Was it you who harmed my wife?" James' voice was deceptively tranquil, laced with raging hostility.

Gryphon could not help but feel a shiver down his spine.

However, he calmed himself and replied, "She needs to be taught a lesson about stealing the Wyrmscale Token."

With a swift motion, James summoned two purple-gold Sword Lights and merged them into one.

Sensing the terrifying force, Gryphon tightened his fist. He realized the opponent he was about to face was unlike any he had ever encountered before.

The young man before him exuded an aura exceeding the four he took on just now by ten thousand times. Even Lord Goyo and Xanthakos seemed inferior in comparison.

Brandishing the purple-gold lightsaber, James ascended into the sky without warning, halting only when he reached Gryphon's level.

His eyes were ablaze, his hair fluttering with the wind, and his aura saturated with bloodlust. The powerful force he emitted caused the entire Forty-Ninth Heaven to tremble.

Observing this formidable display, Gryphon was nervous but refrained from immediate action.

Meanwhile, Marius and Taichu could not withstand the overwhelming force despite having cast all their Supernatural Powers.

Marius murmured while struggling against the powerful force, "James' strength is beyond measure."

He grabbed Taichu to help stabilize her and commented, "He has exceeded our expectations. He might really destroy the Wyrmscale Source."

Taichi said bitterly, it's your fault."

Marius countered, "I can't be held accountable. We've come to this point because of Gryphon..."

As James' murderous aura intensified, Gryphon fell into a furious rage.

Unable to endure the suppressive atmosphere any longer, Gryphon made a move. However, he found his robe torn apart and scattered into the void.

"How dare you?!!" Gryphon growled and charged at James.

However, James remained calmly in place. He held a Sword Light, waiting patiently within the chaos.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7134-“Phantom Massacre!” Gryphon shouted, then suddenly duplicated and surrounded James.

James was in the center, besieged by powerful phantoms. As he fought against their relentless attacks, flashes of Sword Lights, spectral palms, vibrant flames, and lightning painted in the sky.

Faced with the numerous Supernatural Powers, James stood calmly in place.

Nine purple-gold lotuses, forty-nine golden lotuses, and eighty-one jade lotus materialized and formed a three-layered formation to absorb the attacks.

Watching from the ruins, the great deities Marius and Taichu displayed expressions of utter astonishment.

They could hardly believe that James could remain so composed under the relentless onslaught of Gryphon.

Such power and skill had long surpassed the Path Emperors, reaching a state of transcendence. Even Xanthakos and Lord Goyo would likely be left in the dust.

After a while, Marius sighed and said sentimentally, “I never imagined that James would grow to such an extent.”

Taichi looked at him and asked, “Do you know him? What identity did you meet him as?”

Marius rolled his eyes and replied, “It has nothing to do with you.”

“You...” Taichi was rendered speechless.

Meanwhile, Gryphon was furious after seeing his phantoms being absorbed by the formation.

“Damn it! Wyrmscale Beings!” With another roar, the sky suddenly filled with red clouds and rolling thunder. Countless radiant planets descended like a downpour of meteors.

The mountains, rivers, plants, and beings emerged from the planets, charging toward James. They were instantly caught up in the formation but launched fierce attacks.

Under the relentless onslaughts, James’ Three Treasure Formation showed signs of collapsing.

Gryphon shouted arrogantly, “Your Three Treasures are nothing special. Do you think acquiring one of the Wuia Demon-Slayer Swords is enough to make you invincible? How foolish.

“Today, even if Xanthakos brought the Gate of Mystery or Lord Goyo shows up with the Wuia Demon-Slayer Sword’s first three swords, they will still have to bow before me.”

As Gryphon’s angry roar ended, countless plants surged towards James.

Boom! Boom! Boom!

Endless explosions erupted around James, sending shockwaves into his formation. He was surrounded by countless beasts, casting relentless elemental attacks on him.

Seeing James gradually engulfed within the onslaught, Gryphon laughed, “

Haha! What could I have expected from a mere mortal? No matter how high you climb, you’re bound by origin and fate no matter how high you climb. An ant will always be an ant.”

Amid his wild laughter, the chaos around James gradually subsided and revealed a calm space within the formation.

The Anonymous Gas around James quickly gathered and formed a young man with flowing red hair, emitting a war god’s aura.

He, both demonic and sacred, radiated divine and demonic light, exuding irresistible charm and supreme dominance.

He was James, standing proudly after enduring countless attacks from the Gryphon.

Gryphon’s laughter abruptly ceased, and his eyes widened in shock. “This...

how is this possible? Nobody can evade my Supernatural Powers, yet you...”

James said calmly, “Now that your performance is over, it’s my turn.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7135-Gryphon trembled and stepped back in horror. “This can’t be real. What kind of monster are you? Are you the Waitara Path’s Soremsia? Otherwise, it’s impossible...”

James lifted his hand and commanded, “Rise!”

The next moment, a black dragon emerged from his fingertip and transformed into a lightsaber with vibrant hues.

Gryphon was stunned by the lightsaber's mysterious and terrifying force. He exclaimed, "Impossible! It can't be the Wuia Demon-Slayer Sword! What the hell is it?"

"Descend!" James gently traced two fingers in the air.

The lightsaber spun rapidly, and more emerged from it to clash with the mountains, plants, and beings.

Consecutive explosions ensued, causing Gryphon to cough up blood until the lightsaber destroyed everything.

The chaos around James instantly subsided.

James and Gryphon appeared in the void again. However, a lightsaber hovered above Gryphon's head.

Gryphon's face was pale, his body battered and bloody.

Marius and Taichu observed from the ruins, gasping at the sight.

"Did Gryphon lose?" Taichu said with a trembling voice, "Unbelievable. I need to leave and go back home."

She turned around and started to flee the area. After taking a few steps, she quickly spun around and stared at Marius. "Why aren't you running? Do you want to die?"

Marius snapped back to reality and replied, "I...I can't leave. It isn't over yet M Taichu rushed over, grabbed him, and retorted, "What isn't over? You need to get out of here immediately! The Wyrmscale Source is doomed!"

Marius held her delicate hand firmly and said, "Husband and wife should be one. If it's death that awaits US, we shall face it together."

Taichu struggled to escape his grasp and shouted, "Go away! We were forcibly paired up and shouldn't have to be bound together. Even birds of the same forest will go their own ways when disasters strike."

Marius insisted, "Stay. If you leave, you'll die for sure. Look."

Taichu was about to argue but raised her head and spotted the lightsaber hovering less than half an inch above Gryphon's head.

She gasped, "Is he really going to kill Gryphon? He's one of the Haleth Realm's Great Holiness."

Marius suddenly knelt and tugged Taichu to follow his actions. "Master! It's me, the Gorger. Please spare his life."

Taichu, now kneeling beside him, looked at Marius as if he were a monster, shock written on her beautiful face.
