

The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7136-James frowned upon hearing Marius' plea.

Gryphon, on the other hand, smiled at James. "You're very powerful, young man. I underestimated you. However, I doubt you can kill me." James commanded coldly, "Kneel."

Gryphon could not believe his ears.

James threaded two fingers in the void, and the lightsaber hovering above Gryphon's head descended and emitted an intense force, causing Gryphon's knees to bend.

Gryphon chucked wildly and slowly straightened his legs, forcefully resisting the oppressive force.

James roared, "Kneel!"

The lightsaber emitted an even more potent force. Gryphon slammed to the ground but showed no signs of surrender and attempted to stand again.

Seeing that James was not about to stop, Marius shouted, "Don't do it, Master!"

He is the Wyrmscale Source's progenitor. If he dies, it'll be over for us..." James ignored his pleas and waved his hand in the air again. The lightsaber pierced through Gryphon's body, causing blood to splatter.

Under James' command, the lightsaber continued to penetrate deeper into Gryphon's body.

Despite the excruciating pain, Gryphon gritted his teeth and refused to make a sound.

Though trapped and unable to resist, Gryphon wanted to maintain his dignity as one of the Great Holiness.

Swoosh!

Another sword pierced through his body, causing Spiritual Energy to burst out.

His flesh gradually vanished, revealing a terrifying skeleton.

Marius pleaded desperately, "Please heed my advice, Master! If the Wyrmscale Source is destroyed, Xanthakos and Goyo will be the biggest winners. Your plan to reach the Forty-Ninth Heaven will also be ruined.” Seeing Marius’s desperation, Taichu, who was also kneeling, raised her head.

“James, you are the Mortal Emperor. If not for yourself, think of the Greater Realms’ living beings.”

“Emperor Gryphon is the Wyrmscale Source’s progenitor. If you kill him, everything in the Greater Realms will cease to exist.

“The Health Realm will lose everything, and the Greater Realms’ beings will also perish. Can you bear to let such disaster take place?”

Hearing Taichu’s words, James finally ceased his attack on Gryphon’s remaining skeleton. Although he did not fully understand Gryphon’s identity, he still had to consider the well-being of the Greater Realms’ beings. After all, his family, friends, and many other lives could be affected.

While it was inevitable for lives to be lost, destroying the Greater Realms would be a grave sin he could not bear.

Despite James’ fury, his reason prevailed.

Marius raised his head and said, “You’ve destroyed half of his cultivation base, Master. He can no longer pose a threat to you.

“Besides, your wife was only injured. She isn’t dead. If she were conscious, she would have stopped you as well.”

James put his hands behind his back, raised his head, and took a deep breath.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7137-“You’re right. With how kind Thea is, she’d ask me to stop,” James agreed, then waved his arm, and a mysterious force shot out to open the Gate of Anonymous.

Two giant dragons emerged from it, wrapped around Gryphon’s skeleton, and dragged it into the gate. Shortly after, they collectively disappeared.

James was not showing mercy but simply felt the time to kill him had not come.

He appeared before Marius and Taichi, squinted and asked, “Gorger?

Marius nodded and answered, “Yes, Master...”

James interrupted, “Is it your Soremsia or your true form?”

Marius smiled bitterly and said, "Wyrmscale Beings don't have Soremsias. I merely went down there to train myself."

James reached out and helped Marius up from the ground. He was relieved that Gorger was not a Soremsia but the same entity that had evolved.

He felt a stronger connection than when he discovered Xanthakos was Emperor Jabari and Franciscus. His emotions were incomparable at the moment.

Marius hurriedly pointed to Taichu and introduced, "Master, this is my wife N Taichu immediately interrupted, "Who's your wife? From now on, you'll only be concerned with your master. There's no need for me anymore."

Marius was rendered speechless.

James looked at her and called out, "Ms. Taichu?"

Taichu's beautiful eyes filled with surprise as she asked, "Do you know me?"

A...Are you going to turn me into a skeleton too? If so, then just kill me instead."

James was at a loss for words.

Marius pulled Taichu up and said, "What are you talking about? Didn't you hear his respect for you?"

Taichu's face immediately lit up. "I didn't expect you to have such great manners." She glared at Marius and said, "Your master treats me as a respected senior, yet you want to be my husband. You're so shameless. I'm out of your league."

Marius stuttered, "Huh, what..."

Before he could finish, James turned around coldly.

Taichu and Marius were about to argue but sensed his hostile aura. They immediately followed his gaze and spotted the eight Spiritual Saints in the distance. They were kneeling in the void, trembling and sobbing in fear.

Taichu grasped the situation and immediately sneered, "They are quite powerful.

Thea attempted to command them with the Wyrmscale Token, but they refused to obey. They even disregarded Marius' authority. They..."

"Hush!" Marius quickly covered Taichu's mouth, then smiled awkwardly at James. "They're just a bit unruly, Master. It's nothing..."

Before Marius could finish, James reached out and beckoned them to come closer.

Marius immediately tensed up, afraid of what was to come. The eight Spiritual Saints were so terrified they frantically bowed their heads to the ground.

Identity, status, and seniority are meaningless in the face of overwhelming power. With strength, one can control everything.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7138-Taichu whispered to Marius, "Why aren't they coming over? Do they want to die?" Marius knew how bad the situation was, but before he could say anything, James unleashed a lightsaber and pierced the body of one of the Spiritual Saints.

Boom!

The Spiritual Saint exploded, and his flesh and blood splattered everywhere.

The other spiritual Saints watched the gruesome scene in fear.

Marius shouted, "He asked you to come over! Do you all want to die?"

Terrified, the seven remaining Spiritual Saints rushed over through blood rain.

"Please spare us! We were ignorant and blind to not recognize your power."

"We made a mistake! We acknowledge your strength."

"I am willing to serve you and follow your orders without hesitation."

"We were fools. Please spare our lives! We'll serve you faithfully from now onward."

The Spiritual Saints knelt and bowed, begging James for mercy.

Their previous arrogance and sense of superiority were completely gone. Now, they were acting like the ants they had once scorned.

Marius quickly called out, "Master..."

James interrupted, "Where's the Wyrmscale Token?"

The Spiritual Saints looked at each other, bewildered.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7139-Taichu, on the other hand, laughed out loud. "I pity you to be in charge of these fools. They are the Wyrmscale Source's Spiritual Saints. Yet, they are so spineless. Even so, you still want to protect them?"

Upon hearing her ridicule, Marius covered his eyes.

James, on the other hand, calmly split the Wyrmscale Token into two halves.

A dazzling light immediately burst from it, causing the entire place to shake. The wails from Wyrmscale Beings resounded around them.

The Spiritual Saints ceased their attacks on Aether and turned to James in fear.

Marius looked at him in shock and asked, "Why did you destroy the Wyrmscale Token, Master? Emperor Tapia refined it with spiritual essence, holding supreme status in the Wyrmscale Source."

James squinted and asked, "If it is that important, how are there subordinates that refuse its command? It's truly eye-opening."

After speaking, he lifted a broken half and crushed it into ashes.

The Wyrmscale Source's ruins trembled violently and collapsed once again.

Marius, Emperor Zdravko, Taichu, and the surviving spiritual Saints were stunned with fear as they witnessed the scene. They realized that the Wyrmscale Source was on the verge of utter destruction.

James did not stop, lifted the token's other half, and repeated his action.

The Wyrmscale Source's void suddenly split open. The next moment, lightning flashes and flames seeped through the gaps.

The Wyrmscale Beings were horrified by the sight.

Marius shouted, "No, no! You can't destroy the Wyrmscale Source, Master!"

James said solemnly, "You hurt my wife. It's a crime that warrants extermination.

If not for the Wyrmscale Source's importance, I would've destroyed everything."

After speaking, James spread his hand, and Anonymous Gas permeated throughout the Wyrmscale Source.

Under the Anonymous Gas' influence, the vicious flames and lightning's advancements were instantly halted.

Witnessing James' terrifying strength, everyone was aghast.

The remaining spiritual Saints froze in horror.

"Out of the abyss rises the Haleth Realm, from which countless beings are born.

These beings evolve into all life forms, and all life exists within the essence of cultivation.

'The essence of cultivation is nameless. What is nameless is everlasting. The everlasting returns to the void. The true self dwells in the Zenthur.'" As James' words echoed throughout the Wrymscale Source, the surroundings began to collapse again.

Numerous explosions occurred throughout the Wrymscale Source, killing the living beings and destroying the surroundings.

The Spiritual Saints were not spared either. Their bodies began to disintegrate, and their souls scattered. However, the Anonymous Gas instantly surrounded them, leaving them powerless to flee.

Taichu and Emperor Zdravko gasped in unison. "Did he just destroy the Wrymscale Source?"

"How is this possible?" Emperor Zdravko covered her mouth in shock, looking at James in disbelief.

At that moment, James was already different from when she met him while still in her Soremsia form.

In the past, James was admired for his charm, infatuation, perseverance, and determination. Now, he was like an emperor-domineering, decisive, and someone to be revered and worshipped.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7140-"Ja... I mean, Your Holiness," Taichu looked at James and said, "Do you not know how grave of a disaster the Greater Realms will face after the Wrymscale Source is destroyed?"

Her interrogative stance immediately dissipated, and her attitude shifted to that of a little girl tentatively asking questions.

“L.I’m just worried about the Greater Realms’ living beings. After all, you’re their lord now. I...”

Before she could finish, a massive explosion occurred in the void. A spiritual rain ensued and covered the Wrymscale Source’s lands. Those that were showered by it instantly felt refreshed and energetic.

“Huh?” Taichu raised her head and faced the rain, gently spinning around on the spot.

Emperor Zdravko also instantly felt an increase in her strength and soul. It felt as if they were purified and blessed by the spiritual rain.

Simultaneously, the surrounding terrain began to restore to its original state.

The Spiritual Saint’s Primordial Spirits were also revived and emerged from the Anonymous Gas. They bathed in the spiritual rain, and their cultivation bases improved rapidly.

Everything that was destroyed returned to normal, and those killed were resurrected. In just that short moment, the Wrymscale Source regained its vitality and was even more prosperous.

Taichu and Zdravko stopped spinning in the rain and were in awe at the changes happening before their eyes.

Suddenly, Marius, who was surrounded by a massive mass of gas, suddenly revealed himself.

He was ecstatic after discovering his cultivation had improved by leaps and bounds.

“I’ve been reborn!”

Taichu rolled her eyes and said, “He’s insane and is beyond saving.”

After mocking him, she turned to James and said happily, “Since he has been reborn, does that mean my arranged marriage with him is void? I don’t have to be his wife anymore, right?”

James looked at her and said, “I can only let him be reborn, but I can’t change the fate of his marriage.”

Taichu’s beautiful smile instantly vanished at his reply.

“My darling, I’m here!” Marius rushed over and pounced at Taichu, causing them to fall.

Taichu cursed, "What is wrong with you? There are so many people here! You're so shameless!"

Emperor Zdravko instantly turned around. She secretly cast a glance at James, then hurriedly lowered her flushed face.

At that moment, the seven Spiritual Saints emerged from the Anonymous Gas in the void. Sensing their strength and cultivation enhancements, they were completely dumbfounded.

After noticing the restored surroundings, they were overjoyed and instantly fell to their knees, showing their reverence for James.

"Thank you for the grace of rebirth, Your Holiness! I am willing to become your disciple and follow your lead."

After Seraphine's declaration, the other Spiritual Saints also made vows one after another.

James looked at them, took a deep breath, and said, "You all deserved to die.

However, I allowed you to be reborn for the sake of the Greater Realms.

"You're the Wrymscale Source's Spiritual Saints and should perform your duties well. If you violate them again, you will be obliterated."

While speaking, James waved his hand, and a mysterious gas surrounded the Spiritual Saints.

The next moment, a purple-gold lightsaber mark appeared on their foreheads.

They trembled as a powerful force coursed through their bodies. Shortly after, they kowtowed to him again.

"Thank you, Your Holiness."

Emperor Zdravko was completely stunned by the sight. She suddenly realized that James did not shatter the Wrymscale Token out of spite to destroy the Wrymscale Source. Instead, he wanted the place to undergo a complete rebirth according to his Anonymous Daoism. By doing so, the Wrymscale source would no longer be under Emperor Tapia's control, and he could become the true master.

She was startled he could reform a place and take over using his own Daoism.

That was something only the Waitara Path could do.

Looking back, James was already an exceptional powerhouse when he entered the Timaeus Sect. All the following events made people admire and look up to him, but he was completely beyond their reach.

Now that she had the opportunity to meet him again, she still could not stand at the same level as him despite being a Path Emperor.

Marius appeared before James and bowed respectfully. "Your Holiness."

James said solemnly, "Remember, from now on, the Wyrmscale Source is no longer under Emperor Tapia. From now on, you have an Emperor and Empress.

The Wyrmscale Source will be under the Jademora Empire.

Everyone was startled by James' declaration. 'Empress?' Marius immediately asked, "Master, by Empress, do you mean Ms. Thea?"

James looked at Marius and said, "Don't call me that. To me, Febby was always adorable, not a pervert that publicly shows his lust."

Marius instantly knelt to the ground and explained, "When I went to the mortal realm, it was an accident that I became a female. I swear, I'm a man! Otherwise, I would have fallen in love with you."

For some reason , James felt slightly enraged by his words.

Taichu burst into laughter. "Well, love is love!"

James and Marius said simultaneously, "Get lost!"

Then, Taichu grumbled with a look of dissatisfaction.

Turning around, James scanned the brand-new Wyrmscale Source.

"Come here. It's time for serious talk."

The Spiritual Saints instantly gathered around James.