

The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7211-In the Goyoan Temple of the Forty-Ninth Heaven, under the lead of Taichu and the Three Path Emperors, they arrived outside James' temple.

Suddenly, everyone stopped in their tracks.

On the way, Goyo was silent. He didn't say anything. Due to that, their uneasiness grew.

No one knew how powerful James was now, what he wanted to do, why he gathered several powerhouses, or what did he want to take.

"What's wrong?" Goyo looked at them and asked, confused.

"Lord Goyo!" Stavros frowned. "Don't you think the Goyoan Temple is a bit too quiet?"

Cosimeon quickly nodded. "The atmosphere is different. It feels eerie."

Goyo had a strange smile. 'The place has just been wiped out. The souls of countless Alcide beings haven't dispersed entirely. What kind of atmosphere do you want?"

At that, Stavros and Cosimeon exchanged glances. Both of them shuddered.

Right then, a man's angry roar came from inside. "Hey, what is that?"

Upon hearing that, everyone outside was taken aback.

"It's a rocket launcher." A woman's voice sounded from inside. "It can make anything explode."

The man shouted again, "I can tolerate pistols, anti-aircraft guns, assault guns, tank guns, and cannons, but in this world, how can you use the rocket launcher?"

You've gotten rid of all my chess pieces. Are you trying to rule the world?"

"Didn't I leave one piece for you?"

"It's only a knight. You think too highly of me. Who plays chess like that?"

"Are you not going to play? Let's flip the table. Anyway, I'm not interested in playing either."

“Let’s all not play!”

Then, Goyo, Taichu, and the three Path Emperors heard a crash.

After that, several chess pieces flew out. They broke through the divine beings’ defense and bruised Stavros’ and Cosimeon’s foreheads.

Holding their foreheads, the two were bewildered. Yiulia and Taichu exchanged glances. Their faces turned pale due to fear.

Only Goyo sighed. “Everyone, since we’re already here, we need to face it head-on!”

Then, he stepped into the hall first.

Taichu shrugged before entering the hall.

When they entered the hall, they realized that the chess pieces were all on the ground. On Goyo’s initial seat, a handsome man and a beautiful woman were glaring at each other. In the middle of them was a flipped chessboard that exuded amethyst-gold light.

The couple was James and Thea.

Thea said, “You’re shameless.”

“You broke the rules first,” responded James.

Thea continued, “You’re committing domestic violence.”

James answered, “I flipped the chessboard, not you.”

“You raised your voice at me.” Thea was furious.

Then, James’ aura became weaker. He was speechless.

At this moment, Goyo extended his hand awkwardly. “The guests have arrived.”

James and Thea turned to glare at him simultaneously.

Facing their sharp gazes, Goyo couldn’t help but cower. He hurriedly averted his gaze.

Clearing his throat, James looked at Taichu and the Three Path Emperors.

Immediately, his expression changed.

“You’re here. Please forgive me for not welcoming you properly.”

