

The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7226-‘Was she waiting for Emperor Qadeer to find Wuia Palace and seize the Path Designation Bead, or did she have other plans?’ While James hesitated, Thea hurried into the main hall with Emperor Zdravko and Lord Goyo.

To James’ astonishment, his beloved wife entered and immediately glared at him.

Then, she slightly turned her body. “Hurry up and come in! What are you waiting for?”

The next moment, Harper, Yianni, and Morgott entered the main hall, each dragging two bloody figures like chastened kindergarten children. With a series of dull thuds, the figures were thrown to the ground, hanging their heads in dejection.

“Look at what you’ve done to them,” Thea scolded publicly. “We agreed to spar, not to injure them carelessly.”

“We didn’t hurt them.” Morgott quickly raised his head. ‘Thea, we were just playing with them.’

“Playing?” Thea pointed at Morgott. “You ate two path kings. Hand over their souls!”

Morgott extended his hand reluctantly and released two glowing souls which flew to Thea.

Thea sighed lightly and then handed the souls to Lord Goyo.

Lord Goyo’s face twitched, and he was on the verge of anger. He hesitated to accept them. He had thought James would show him some respect and would not go so far as to harm his path kings and war saints. However, seeing the situation outside, it became clear that James’ companions were not sparring.

They were humiliating and tormenting them. Especially the terrifying Morgott, who had brutally devoured two female path kings. This was an act of extreme savagery. Had it not been for the Yin governor's intervention, none of his path kings and war saints would have survived.

"Lord Goyo." The Yin governor fixed her gaze on him. "I am also an Alcide being, but our attitude towards the living beings needs to change. Look at the current situation."

Biting his molars, Lord Goyo took a deep breath before slowly reaching out to accept the two souls Thea handed over.

"As long as their souls remain, they can quickly restore their physical and Golden Body," Thea reassured Lord Goyo. "However, you should also restrain your disciples, otherwise, such incidents will happen again." Lord Goyo nodded heavily. He thanked Thea and then slowly made his way to the jade platform. Gone was the former majesty and inherent authority. He now seemed like a fallen figure who had lost all dignity and respect. His condition symbolized the fate awaiting the high-and-mighty Alcide beings of Zymurgy.

They will face losing everything.

They had enjoyed their superiority for so long that they forgot who they were and overlooked their opponents' rapid growth. When they finally awakened to reality, it was already too late.

Thea then glanced at Emperor Zdravko and proceeded to the jade platform.

Emperor Zdravko said, "Emperor Caden, this time we have achieved peace through battle. We captured three Holinesses, seven Emperors, and eight hundred billion of divine army from Emperor Qadeer's forces. We have completed the mission successfully."

Hearing this, James immediately stood up. "Thank you, Emperor Zdravko."

"But." Emperor Zdravko quickly raised her head. "Emperor Marvel of Emperor Qadeer's faction has led a small divine army to escape into Taiyi Daonus Realm. We wanted to pursue them but were blocked by the army in Taiyi Daonus Realm. To avoid conflict, we chose to retreat."

"Taiyi?" James frowned. "So, she has finally intervened?"

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7227-"Taiyi was originally the supporter of Emperor Qadeer," Lord Goyo said coldly.

“Without her protection, we Path Emperors would have torn him to pieces long ago. How could we have allowed him to wreak havoc across the Greater Realms and flaunt his power in the Forty-Ninth Heavens?”

Lord Goyo’s words immediately resonated with the crowd.

Emperor Stavros furrowed his brows. ‘Tai Chi ranked first. Second is Taiyi. Third, Lord Goyo. Fourth, Emperor Tapia. Fifth, Xyloria Taichu. Sixth, Yaretzi. Seventh, time. Eighth, virtue. Ninth, space. Tenth are fate, directions, and fortune.

“According to the ranking of the top-tier powerhouses in Haleth Realm, Emperor Qadeer couldn’t even make it into the top fifty. It was only because he married well that he managed to rise quickly and become one of the Seven Lords of the Greater Realms.”

‘That’s right.” Emperor Cosimeon sighed. “Even with hundreds of millions of entrapochs of cultivation, we can’t compare to his sweet talk. He relied on connections to gain the position of Path Emperor, making US true Path Emperors feel ashamed.”

James squinted slightly. “I know Tai Chi ranked first, second is Taiyi, and then Lord Goyo. What about the rest?”

The gods exchanged glances before Emperor Stavros explained.

‘The fourth refers to Emperor Tapia, creator of the Wyrmscale Source. The fifth is Xyloria Taichu, who fashioned the Forty-Ninth Heaven, while the sixth is Yaretzi, originator of sound in Haleth Realm. The seventh, eighth, and ninth signify the gods responsible for time, virtue, and space. They are Mackenzie Zelda, the God of Time, Yelizaveta Zenobia, the God of Virtue, and Maurice Garret, the God of space.

‘The tenth refers to three gods credited with creating fate, directions, and fortune. They are Luka Stan, the God of Fate, Joelle Xayden, the God of Directions, and Yoko Quetzal, the God of Fortune.”

After hearing this, James could not help but gasp. This explanation solved a long-standing puzzle for him. Haleth Realm must have had its origin amidst all its diversity. Now, the living beings, Zymurgy, sound, time, virtue, space, fate, and fortune were all accounted for. With all of these, Haleth Realm could evolve into its vibrant state.

From the nothingness of Taiyi and Taichu, through the integration spanning nothingness and existence by Taishi, to the solidification of existence by Tirta, and subsequently, the birth of the Yin and Yang governors by Xyloria Tai Chi, heaven and earth began. Following this, countless living beings were born, leading to the gradual formation of myriad realms.

Seeing James' enlightened expression, Emperor Stavros felt a slight sense of satisfaction, as if asserting that no matter how formidable James' cultivation might be, he was still a newcomer on the path of cultivation. Compared to Emperor Stavros' extensive knowledge, James still had a long way to go.

At this moment, Taichu suddenly spoke. "We should emphasize Yaretzi. Without her, sound wouldn't exist in the myriad realms, making conversation impossible and the Voice of Wydralith would not exist."

James slowly said, 'The founder of sound deserves the highest praise. She should be venerated by the myriad realms. Without her, we would be reduced to communicating through writing and gestures. It would be worse than being deaf and mute.'

These words made all the gods laugh heartily, easing the tense atmosphere.

After a while, Taichu smiled and said, "In reality, ranking Yaretzi sixth underestimates her power and status. She should be above me, perhaps even above Emperor Tapia."

She looked at the gods. "Think about it, we can do without Zymurgy and the Wyrmscale Source, but we can't do without sound.

'The biggest difference between Haleth Realm and Xanadu Realm is the creation of form and sound. In this regard, Yaretzi's contribution to Haleth Realm cannot be overstated.'

"Enough," Lord Goyo said firmly. "If you all can't say it, I will. With Yaretzi's abilities, she deserves to be among the top three of the Greater Realms. I am merely famous in name only."

These words stunned the gods. Lord Goyo had learned humility. It seemed that he had lost his past arrogance after being beaten by James.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7228-I am speaking the truth.” Lord Goyo sighed. “After Waitara Path created Haleth Realm and shaped humanoid path spirits, he established the Fiftieth Daoism on the foundation of the Forty-Nine Daoisms, holding the highest rank.

“Taiyi was derived from Waitara Path. She is the foremost god of Haleth Realm and the leader of all gods. Her position as second in rank is a natural consequence.

“For me, I have contributed nothing to the Greater Realms even though I am an offshoot of Waitara Path. Instead, I entrusted the realms to treacherous gods, leading to the devastation of countless divine beings. My sins are unforgivable.”

Seeing that no one responded, he continued. “So, Yaretzi being ranked third is beyond dispute.”

“You’re being modest,” James said with a smile. “You manage the affairs of the Greater Realms for Waitara Path, acting as his representative. It’s akin to being a prime minister in human terms. This is a position of great power and influence.”

His words were teasing, which irritated Lord Goyo.

With a sinister laugh, Lord Goyo said, “James, do you know the origins and past lives of Yaretzi?”

James replied, “I’m all ears!”

Feeling he had regained some dignity, Lord Goyo smiled slightly. “Yaretzi was born from the Gas of Taiyi after Taichu, as a spirit nurtured in human form. She is the only daughter born from the Gas of Taiyi.”

James exclaimed in surprise, “So, she was conceived without a man and gave birth to Yaretzi.”

Lord Goyo was taken aback by this statement, while the other gods looked at each other in awkward silence.

“Did I say something wrong?” James frowned.

“No, you’re right!” Thea’s voice transmitted to James, sounding annoyed. “Unlike you, who thinks about making babies all the time, Alcide beings can reproduce without males.”

James was stunned and looked up at Thea, only to receive a significant eye - roll from her.

After clearing his throat, Emperor Stavros took over the conversation. “Emperor Caden is correct. At least in your terms, it was indeed a conception without a male.”

James scoffed, “What’s the big deal? Haven’t any of you gotten married or found partners?”

He pointed at Taichu and said, “Ms. Taichu, aren’t you and Febby…”

“Emperor Caden.” Taichu was blushing. “We are discussing serious matters.”

James spread his hands, looking innocent. To him, love and relationships were natural topics. They had taken human forms and adopted human emotions, yet they acted as if such topics were taboo. It seemed hypocritical.

After a moment of awkward silence, Thea looked at Lord Goyo. “Yaretzi is also Emperor Qadeer’s wife, right?”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7229-As soon as these words were spoken, James immediately looked at Lord Goyo.

“Emperor Qadeer managed to marry Taiyi’s daughter?” Morgott suddenly spoke.

“How can someone of his caliber dare to defile the creator of sound?”

Lord Goyo sighed softly and stood up with a smile. “Yes, it’s Emperor Qadeer who married Taiyi’s daughter, Yaretzi Yolande.

“Because of this, the Alcide beings developed extreme hatred and disgust towards him and his entire race, leading to the current irreconcilable situation.”

He constantly defended the Alcide beings, insisting they had reasons for oppressing the living beings. However, it seemed petty that they held such a grudge over a single living being stealing their love.

At this moment, Emperor Stavros also stood up and said, "Emperor Qadeer indeed has skills, managing to marry Yaretzi, but he achieved this through sweet talk and deceit.

"Riding on Yaretzi's status and using Taiyi as his mother-in-law, he, a mere living being, was admitted under Waitara Path and climbed the ranks effortlessly."

Hearing this, James returned to the main seat on the jade platform. "I understand your point. Taiyi supports Emperor Qadeer because of their relationship as in laws. As far as I know, Emperor Qadeer has an illegitimate daughter, who later openly became the second Tai Chi, named Yehria Yrjo. Do Yaretzi and Taiyi know about this?"

"Of course they do!" Emperor Cosimeon scoffed. "Who in the Greater Realms doesn't?"

"But Waitara Path has already disappeared, and Emperor Qadeer has emerged as the de facto ruler of the Greater Realms, wielding the Gate of Mystery.

Second only to Lord Goyo, who can challenge him now?"

"Not even Taiyi?" James looked at Emperor Cosimeon.

"She should be able to," Taichu interjected. "However, she has never pursued it for some reason."

Hearing this, James fell silent, wondering why Taiyi held back when her power and status could effortlessly crush Emperor Qadeer. The more he thought about Taiyi, the more curious and intrigued he became.

Thea asked, "What if Taiyi knew Emperor Qadeer killed her daughter?"

These words shocked everyone. They stood up one by one, showing expressions of extreme surprise.

"Emperor Qadeer killed Yaretzi? How is that possible?" Emperor Stavros exclaimed.

“That’s impossible!” Emperor Cosimeon shook his head urgently. “Emperor Qadeer couldn’t be a match for Yaretzi even if he gained some of Waitara Path’s inheritance and power.”

“Would he dare to do that?” Taichu also questioned with doubt.

Lord Goyo furrowed his brows and remained silent.

“Darling.” James looked at Thea. “Where did you get this information?”

“Youcef,” Thea replied solemnly. “He should be the only son of Emperor Qadeer and Yaretzi, but I saw Emperor Qadeer trying to destroy both his and his mother’s souls.

“Although he never mentioned his mother’s identity, based on what you’ve said, the mother he defended with his life must be Yaretzi.” Lord Goyo turned around, his eyes widening. “That’s right. Emperor Qadeer and Yaretzi have a son, Youcef Maevik, one of the five Chosen Ones of the Greater Realms.

“I always wondered why Emperor Qadeer’s powerful subordinates emerged, yet his extraordinarily talented son was missing. Now it makes sense.”

“How could this be?” Emperor Stavros’ face changed dramatically. “We didn’t even know Emperor Qadeer killed Yaretzi?”

Taichu crossed her arms and muttered, “It’s been six hundred thousand entrapochs since we last visited Yaretzi.”

“We haven’t seen her for almost three hundred thousand entrapochs,” Emperor Cosimeon added.

“This is devastating news,” Lord Goyo said. Then, he looked at James. “James, how do you plan to use this information?”

Hearing this, all the gods turned to James, waiting for his decision.

James slowly took out a jar of Chaos Absinthe and took a big gulp.

Then he squinted and said, “Everyone, do any of you have the ability to challenge Taiyi?”

These words startled everyone. They had never even dared to consider such a thing.

Taiyi was the first god derived from the Waitara Path. She was the head of all gods in the Greater Realms. Her terrifying strength alone was unimaginable.

James glanced at the gods. “Have any of you ever fought her?”

“Are you joking?” Lord Goyo took a deep breath. “That’s Taiyi, the head of all gods. Even we, the Five Path Emperors, have to bow to her. Who dares to challenge her?”

James smirked and then looked at Morgott.

“How about you, Morgott?”

Morgott raised his head quickly. “James, you’re deliberately trying to embarrass me.”

“Cut the crap! Have you?” James asked impatiently.

Morgott rolled his eyes at James and muttered, “I’ve been tricked by Emperor Qadeer. How could I have had a chance to meet Taiyi?”

This was his grievance, but it implied that he could not even handle a Path Emperor, let alone someone as terrifying as Taiyi.

Standing up slowly, James revealed a strange smile. “If none of you have faced her, then let’s test her true strength.” He raised his voice and shouted, “Everyone, our next mission is to attack Taiyi Daonus Realm.

Fight with utmost ferocity and compel Taiyi to reveal herself!”

These words shocked everyone present, and they looked at James as if he was crazy.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7230-Challenging Taiyi is simply madness! Since the formation of the Greater Realms, no one has dared to challenge her. Even during the reign of Waitara Path, she was revered with great respect.

This reverence stems not only from her supremely lofty status but also from her elusive nature. She rarely appears in Haleth Realm, to the extent that even the Five Path Emperors find it difficult to meet her face-to-face.

Moreover, Taiyi's disciples are numerous and formidable, with hidden strengths that are unfathomable. She seldom interferes in the affairs of the Forty-Ninth Heaven and remains a mystery to the outside world.

However, when the Forty-Ninth Heaven faced a sudden rise of unorthodox factions and sects, one hundred and eight powerhouses emerged whose strength overshadowed that of all other gods. Even the subsequent Five Path Emperors were not their match.

Waitara Path was furious but constrained by status from intervening directly, so he let Taiyi to resolve the matter.

Taiyi herself did not appear. Instead, she dispatched her three disciples who swiftly slew all one hundred and eight transcendental powerhouses of the unorthodox factions and sects. Afterward, these three disciples declined any rewards and never revealed their true identities. They returned quietly to Taiyi Daonus Realm.

This battle further cemented Taiyi's sect as unparalleled in prestige across the Greater Realms and Haleth Realm. This also enhanced her aura of mystery.

Later, various forces in Haleth Realm began to stir when Waitara Path abruptly withdrew. Taiyi's sect once again intervened in the affairs of the realm.

Under her command, nine top-tier Ythralis Path Saints emerged, not only to deter the eight Daonus Realms of the Forty-Ninth Heaven but also to guard the Xyrisia Gate.

Simultaneously, she deployed thirty thousand top-tier powerhouses to monitor and maintain order over demons, monsters, heretics, evil creatures, unorthodox factions, sects, and even the temples of various realms in Haleth Realm. This ensured a smooth transition in Haleth Realm after Waitara Path's departure, faithfully executing the Daoism of Waitara Path.

She was truly the core of the Greater Realms, the stabilizing force of the entire Haleth Realm. In the words of several Path Emperors, as long as it adhered to the Waitara Daoism, Taiyi cared little for the struggles of the Greater Realms, where life and death battled endlessly. It did not matter who would be the second Waitara Path.

However, anyone daring to subvert the laws and principles of Waitara Daoism would face her swift and decisive intervention. They would be eradicated without hesitation.

Having gleaned all the information about Taiyi from Taichu and several Path Emperors, James narrowed his eyes into slits. He became silent.

Initially, he had thought the strongest in the Greater Realms were nothing more than the Five Path Emperors. Later, he discovered that even the Path Emperors were mere playthings in the hands of Emperor Qadeer. Then, he had considered Emperor Qadeer to be his true formidable opponent.

However, he felt Emperor Qadeer was just second best upon hearing about Taiyi.

Thinking to himself, James spoke up, "So, according to what you're saying, even if Emperor Qadeer seizes the Wuia Palace and obtains the Path Designation Bead, he can only rule the Greater Realms under the Waitara Daoism?"

Upon hearing this, Taichu and the path emperors exchanged glances before nodding in agreement.

At that moment, James heard Lesia's voice in his mind, "Master, they know.

Emperor Qadeer knows too. Given Emperor Qadeer's nature and ambitions, knowing the imminent catastrophe, why would he insist on doing this? Is he that foolish?"

At these words, James furrowed his brow tightly.

There was only one explanation for this, Emperor Qadeer intended to first seize the Wuia Palace and obtain the Path Designation Bead, accumulate the power of Waitara Path, and then come face-to-face with Taiyi to determine the ultimate victor.