

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7291 - 7296

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7291-His comments left the Caeloros Gods at a loss for words.

The gray- haired elderly man snorted.

“Xristian, judging by your long-winded speech, you still insist on placing our hopes in James Caden?”

“Of course!”

Xristian jutted his chin up.

“I still believe that the tenth Leere Daoism isn’t a failure.”

“Hahaha!”

The man in the green robe laughed mockingly.

“Someone stubbornly refuses to admit the truth even at this point.”

They’re putting the entire Xanadu Realm at risk just to hold onto the Caeloros Supreme’s position and save face.How shameless!”

“Quintinus, I’ll be frank.”

Xristian pointed at the man.

“Those of you who wish to claim the Caeloros Supreme’s position will have to step over my dead body first.”

In an instant, he teleported and re-emerged before Quintinus Crandell, the man in the green robe.

Quintinus didn’t back away.

Instead, he balled his fists and took a fighting stance.

Meanwhile, the gray-haired elderly man and Yefrenes darted toward the pair, excited and ready to join the fight at any moment.

The other Caeloros Gods looked rather lost, standing still and staring at each other.

Just then, Frona slowly got to her feet.

The confrontation halted as soon as she moved.

Xristian and the others stopped releasing their auras and backed away from each other.

The other Caeloros Gods instinctively straightened up, waiting for Frona's command.

"Tec's true that I've obstinately ignored all other opinions and made that final decision during the tenth Leere Daoism," Frona said.

"My Soremsia has also helped James get to where he is today. I won't deny that..."

"Caeloros Supreme!"

Xristian stared at Frona with bulging eyes.

"James hasn't..."

"Enough."

Frona cut him off.

Her gaze drifted across the people before her.

"If my decision proves to be a failure, I will take full responsibility and step down from the Caeloros Supreme's position. We will have a more capable member hold the position instead."

Her voice hardened.

"However, it is a fact that none of the opposing sides in the Haleth Realm has gained the upper hand even until now."

Frona paused and scrutinized everyone's face.

No one showed any signs of objection except for Quintinus.

He was about to say something, but Yefrenes tugged his sleeve and stopped him.

Frona continued, "It's true that James is demonized now. However, he managed to imprison the Waitara Path's soul spirit before it happened."

What he did helped US a lot in delaying the Waitara Path's Soremsia's return and the onset of the Leere Tribulation.

“James is a strong-willed man. He also has help from Taiyi, Yasmina, and the Yin governor. I believe he will be able to eliminate his inner demon and return to the right path eventually.”

There was a moment's silence when Frona finished.

“I believe him too,” Xristian said firmly.

“You're in no position to say that!”

Quintinus shot him a glare.

Then, he bowed slightly to Frona.

“Caeloros Supreme, we are not saying this to disrespect you however the situation seems to be getting out of control.” If we don't do something now, we will all fall victim to the Leerg Tribulation! Must we place all our hopes on James Caden, a demonized man? Can't we choose another living being to support?”

Frona's eyes narrowed. “Do you perhaps have another candidate in mind, Caeloros God of Fate?” All eyes were on Quintinus at that moment.

Yefrenes quickly yanked his sleeve again before Quintinus could respond. Then, she stepped forward and met Frona's gaze.

“We don't have a better candidate, Caeloros Supreme still we need to try to resolve the issue. We know you believe in James. However, you need to give us a reason to believe in him again.” Everyone directed their gaze to Frona upon hearing Yefrenes' words. What Yefrenes had just said was what the rest of them were considering as well.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7292-Despite knowing that some of them had hidden agendas, Frona did not lose her temper.

Boom! On the other hand, Xristian stamped his feet, sending violent tremors through the Summit of Leere.

“The Caeloros Supreme's words are absolute! How dare you...”

“I give you my word,” Frona interrupted.

“I'm willing to put my position as the Caeloros Supreme at stake. I assure you that James will eliminate his inner demon and return to the right path.”

The Caeloros Gods wore expressions of bewilderment upon hearing those words.

Xristian tried to object, "Caeloros Supreme, this is..."

Frona signaled him to stop and looked at the others.

"Everyone, is that a good enough reason?"

Most of the Caeloros Gods exchanged glances but kept silent.

Meanwhile, Yefrenes cast a brief gaze at the gray-haired elderly man and Quintinus.

Then, she smiled at Frona.

"We have no more objections since you're even willing to make a promise like that, Caeloros Supreme. However, I think we need to set a time limit..."

"Two entrapochs."

Frona fixed her with an icy gaze.

"Is that much time fine with you, Yefrenes?"

Frona's answer must have been somewhat shorter than Yefrenes had expected. Her smile broadened after a short pause.

"Of course, Caeloros Supreme. We will give James Caden another two entrapochs then."

Yefrenes relaxed her lips and stopped smiling.

Then, she turned around and walked away.

The gray-haired elderly man and Quintinus looked at Frona and grinned contemptuously.

Then, the two of them strode off as well.

The remaining Caeloros Gods bowed deeply to Frona before leaving one after the other.

When they were left alone, Xristian stormed toward Frona.

"You know very well what they are after! Why did you fall for their trap? You put the Caeloros Supreme's position at stake and asked for only two entrapochs. Have you lost your mind?"

Frona turned around and sat down again.

"I haven't lost my mind. James is the one who's probably losing his mind."

"Why did you do that, then?"

Xristian was visibly agitated.

"Are you planning on letting that sly Yefrenes have the Caeloros Supreme's position..."

"Xristian, do you not trust James?"

Frona glanced over her shoulder at Xristian.

Xristian's brows twitched.

"Of...Of course, I trust him. However, having him eliminate his inner demon in two entrapochs is just too n "He might not be able to do it alone," Frona replied.

"However, the Yin governor, Taiyi, and Emperor Tapia, who have been sealed alongside James, can help him."

"That won't be enough," Xristian said anxiously.

"James is the strongest cultivator in all of Haleth Realm now..."

"what if I help him too?" Frona asked.

Xristian's eyes bulged in horror.

"Caeloros Supreme, what are you n Frona let out a soft sigh.

"Can you head outside and bring her in?"

Xristian opened his mouth but could not find the right words to say.

He knew what Frona's words meant.

Yet, he never thought someone like Frona would make such a shocking decision for James ' sake.

Most gods from the Xanadu Realm would not have the power or courage to enter the Haleth Realm.

Entering the Haleth Realm meant losing at least eighty percent of their cultivation and powers.

Even the invincible Caeloros Gods would become prey to the Haleth Realm's divine beings as soon as they showed up there in a weakened condition.

One would become nearly matchless if they devoured a god from the Xanadu Realm.

If a divine being managed to devour a Caeloros God, they would gain control of that particular Caeloros God's Daoisms, instantly possessing powers equivalent to that of the Supreme Path.

The Forty-Nine Daoisms were the foundations for the law and structure in the Haleth Realm.

There would be dire consequences if part of the Daoisms fell into the wrong hands.

Therefore, the gods and Caeloros Gods from the Xanadu Realm would normally send their Soremsia into the Haleth Realm.

They would never enter the Haleth Realm themselves, no matter how much they wanted to experience the fun on the other side.

Yet, the first person to declare they wanted to do it was none other than Frona, the leader of the Nine Caeloros Gods.

Xristian was shocked out of his wits.

"I guess even you won't listen to me now either."

Frona sighed as she watched Xristian stand there, unmoving.

"Alright. I'll do it myself..."

"No."

Xristian came to his senses and caught hold of Frona's arm.

"You can't do that. You might as well hand over the Caeloros Supreme's position to Yefrenes and the others if you did that..."

"What exactly did I do?" Frona asked.

"You haven't said it out loud, but I know what you're thinking."

Xristian's voice shook a little.

"Your Soremsia didn't return to you by exploding her body."

Visit to read full content.

“Why did you save my Soremsia, then?”

Frona asked this time, “Why didn’t you just let her die in the Xyrisia Gate?”

Xristian was caught completely off guard by that question.

“Instead, she took a huge risk by passing through the Xyrisia Gate. Its obvious that she wants to ask you to save James in the Haleth Realm. I won’t let you do that...” Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

“you should hurry and go to her now.”

Frona steered the conversation away.

“With her severe injuries, she won’t be able to climb to the Summit of Leere on her own.”

Xristian clenched his teeth.

Then, he turned around and teleported off.

A brief moment later, a person in a bloodied, disheveled state appeared in the distance and limped slowly toward Frona.

The person seemed to be suffering immense pain with every step they took. They were bleeding so much that a trail of blood was left behind them.

Still, Frona did not get up to help the injured person.

She remained in her seat, looking very much like a stone statue.

It was only when the person knelt before Frona that her brows twitched almost unnoticeably.

“Greetings to the Caeloros Supreme. Please save my master, Caeloros Supreme.”

With the way she was addressing Frona, Lesia had clearly mistaken her for another god.

“How impertinent, my Solm Primordial Spirit.”

Frona heaved a deep breath.

“Have you forgotten all your manners after spending all that time in the Haleth Realm?”

Lesia was momentarily stunned.

Then, she slammed her forehead against the floor.

She did it over and over again while chanting, "Please save my master Gaeloras Supfenhe! Please save my master, Caeloros Supreme! Please save my master, Caeloros Supreme!"

Lesia did not stop even when her forehead was bruised and cut.

Xristian, who was watching from afar, closed his eyes.

He could not stand the sight of Lesia in that pitiable state.

She and Frona were initially one.

Yet, they had very different opinions and stances now because of a living being from the Haleth Realm. If Xristian were faced with the same situation, he probably would be at a loss for what to do.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7293-There was an unreadable expression on Frona's face as she watched Lesia prostrate herself on the floor and plead desperately.

It was hard to tell whether she was feeling displeased or sorry for Lesia.

After some time, she finally lifted her hand.

A mass of black and white gases surrounded Lesia's form instantly.

In a matter of seconds, Lesia's injuries were completely healed.

The pain in her bruised, swollen forehead was miraculously gone as well.

Lesia paused and lifted her head.

"Caeloros Supreme..."

"Do you even remember who your real master is?"

Frona stared at her intently.

"It's me! James isn't your master! I am!"

"You're my main self. He's my master."

Lesia replied in a low voice, "I am your Soremsia and his second body. You and I are the same. That makes you a part of him too."

"Nonsense!"

Frona shot Lesia a glare.

"If you were his second body, why didn't you fulfill your responsibilities?"

Lesia fell silent.

"I get it. You don't think he should be in charge of governing the Haleth Realm as well."

Frona closed her eyes.

"He's an honest, respectable, and free-spirited man," Lesia explained.

"He does not want to be put under the constraints of the Path and Daoisms."

Frona snapped, "Yet, you chose him for all of us!"

"I am completely at fault."

Lesia drew a long breath.

"That is why I am doing everything I can to make up for it."

Frona responded, "Yet, your attempt to fix everything is the very reason why he has been overwhelmed by his inner demon."

Lesia seemed extremely guilt-ridden as she lowered her head silently.

Frona let out a deep sigh and closed her eyes.

She had just confirmed that the Soremsia formed from her Solm Primordial Spirit had very different thoughts and opinions from hers.

She, the main self, could no longer fully control her Soremsia, who possessed her own consciousness now.

Frona could not help but wonder if James truly had so much charm and charisma to win over her Soremsia.

After a few moments' consideration, Frona raised her hand and conjured a tower glowing with black and white lights on her palm.

Xristian rushed over as soon as he spotted the tower.

“Caeloros Supreme, that’s your Natal Tower! What are you trying to do with it?”

“What I am about to say will remain only between the three of us.”

Frona had a determined look in her eyes.

“Firstly, I will enter my Natal Tower. The tower will be in her possession.”

Frona pointed to Lesia.

“Secondly…”

She looked at Xristian.

“If you sincerely support me, then help her pass through the Xyrisia Gate safely to return to the Haleth Realm.”

“Thirdly, it’s about Yefrenes and the other Caeloros Gods. They will surely try to seize the Caeloros Supreme’s position once I’m gone.

“You are to stay out of their fights and conflicts. Protect the Xyrisia Gate. If the task gets too overwhelming, you may retreat to the Jawdat Region and wait for our news there.

“Fourthly, I will take the Caeloros Supreme Scepter with me.

“Even if someone claims to be the new Caeloros Supreme, they won’t be able to amend the Haleth Realm’s Daoisms.

So, you won’t have to worry about something like that happening.”

Xristian’s eyes widened.

“Caeloros Supreme…”

“You are my supporter. At the same time, you were James’ teacher.”

Frona continued, “He succeeded in making the Great Historial Land that you left behind for him independent of Zymurgy.

“James also managed to implement his Daoisms and principles there. There’s no way you’ll stand by and do nothing when he’s driven into a corner.”

Xristian felt extremely torn as he listened to Frona’s words.

“There’s not much time left,” Frona said in a steely voice.

“James is the key to resolving the Leere Tribulation.

“By keeping him alive, we will be able to preserve the Haleth Realm and the Xanadu Realm. The Xanadu Realm’s presence is crucial in preventing the Five Shadowborns’ invasion.”

Frona looked Xristian in the eye.

“I’m not doing this just to rescue James. Instead, I’m doing it to save our Path. I think it’s totally worth it to sacrifice my position as the Caeloros Supreme if I can achieve that.”

Tears streamed down Xristian’s face.

“Can you really save James by being there physically?”

“we won’t know until we try.” Frona smiled faintly.

“Don’t forget about the things I’ve just told you. I’ll see you again soon.”

Frona transformed into a mass of black and white gases right away.

The mass of gas flowed swiftly into the Natal Tower and disappeared from everyone’s sight.

“Caeloros Supreme!” Xristian called out instinctively.

Meanwhile, the glowing tower floated toward Lesia and rested on her palm.

Lesia got to her feet.

Xristian trudged toward Lesia and stopped before her.

“Tell James that our Caeloros Supreme has given up her position to save him.”

Lesia bit her lip and bowed deeply.

“Thank you, Caeloros God of Reincarnation.”

Xristian lifted his hand and conjured two shiny energy balls before Lesia.

“You can find items for your sustenance and protection at the Haleth Realm in these energy balls.

“Remember. You must protect the Caeloros Supreme I

Visit to read full content.

Lesia nodded and put the energy balls in her storage space.

“Also...”

Xristian conjured a glowing talisman this time.

“If James tries to harm the Caeloros Supreme, seal him with this immediately.”

Lesia paused and looked at Xristian.

“Take it.”

Xristian’s expression hardened.

“You need it as a countermeasure.”

“I won’t need it,” Lesia answered firmly.

“I trust my master just as much as I trust my main self.”

“Even if James won’t do that, what about the divine beings around him?”

Xristian asked.

After a moment’s consideration, Lesia took the talisman.

Then, Xristian took her and shot toward the Xyrisia Gate.

He performed several signature skills and formed a Path Gaudion made up of black and white gases around Lesia.

After that, he cast the cauldron in the Xyrisia Gate’s direction.

As he stared at the Xyrisia Gate, Xristian let out a deep sigh.

“James, you are both cursed with difficult tribulations and blessed with good luck.

You are the first person ever to make our Caeloros Supreme take such a huge risk for someone else.

“I hope you won’t let us down.”

Xristian channeled a tremendous amount of black and white gases toward the Xyrísia Gate the next instant. Visit

Visit to read full content.

In a flash, a mysterious space containing trillions of universes filled up the entire Xyrisia Gate.

Even Xristian was trapped within the space.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7294-This is bad! Master is beating Morgott and Yianni to a pulp! They're going to die if we don't save them!"

Marius stumbled out of a beam of light that had landed inside the Anonymous Space.

He shouted anxiously, as if he had just escaped a catastrophe.

The divine beings and superior cultivators huddled together turned their eyes to Marius.

Strangely, no one said anything.

It wasn't that they intended to ignore their comrades in distress; they had genuinely run out of ideas and options.

For days, all of them, men and women alike, had been brutally beaten by the crazed James countless times.

Most were severely wounded since James didn't hold back at all.

For instance, Hankin had lost an arm that had yet to grow back.

At the moment, he was treating a wound inflicted by James when the latter cut off his ear with the Wuia Demon-Slayer Sword.

Yiulia's hair had been pulled out.

Her clothes were tattered, and her face was disfigured by severe swelling and bruises.

Her body was also covered in multiple bloody wounds.

Thea was the only one who hadn't suffered any injuries.

It was as if she was the cure to James' condition.

No matter how angry and violent James became, he never laid a finger on Thea.

Shockingly, he would even let Thea beat him up.

Therefore, the others saw Thea as their savior.

If she weren't here, these divine beings and top cultivators would never have survived James' attacks in the first place.

"Thea, should we save them?"

Marius looked at Thea since the others remained silent.

"Nope!"

Thea narrowed her eyes.

"I told them not to rile him up. Yet, they thought they could handle him. It's clear now who's stronger."

Marius was rendered speechless by her words.

Meanwhile, the others exchanged furtive glances and noticed the awkward looks on each other's faces.

They couldn't help but feel a little embarrassed upon hearing those remarks.

It was because they noticed how their cultivation and powers would improve each time they got beaten by James and healed their injuries.

That was why they kept challenging James, despite always losing pathetically.

Just then, the sounds of two people screaming frantically echoed through the space.

What seemed like two balls of fire came flying from a distance and crashed onto the ground behind Thea's group, kicking up thick clouds of dust.

"ack!" yiulia scrunched her nose as she tried to brush off the dust on her face.

"They're kicking up too much of a ruckus!"

"Cough!"

Hankin cleared his throat.

"Yianni! Morgott! Are you alright?"

Unfortunately, there was no response.

When the dust settled, they could see two huge craters where the balls had landed.

Visit to read full content.

Yet, that was all they could see from where they stood.

At that moment, a beam of reddish-gold light flashed before everyone's eyes.

James appeared the next instant.

"Who's next?"

Marius, Hankin, and Yiulia flinched at the threatening voice.

While they maintained calm looks on their faces, Taiviang Vasimina Were inwardly nervous too. Visit

Visit to read full content.

Thea slowly got to her feet and cast a blast at James, who was levitating mid air.

Boom! James appeared completely unharmed, despite taking the hit directly.

"James Caden, you're being too much!"

Thea snorted and teleported toward him.

She re-emerged in front of James and started throwing powerful punches at him nonstop. Still, James stood there, looking completely unfazed.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7295-Soon enough, Thea started to feel a bit exhausted.

She stopped punching and lifted her foot to kick at James.

However, she was sent flying away by the reddish-gold light emanating from James' body, which glowed brighter just in time.

"James Caden, how dare you hit your wife! Just you wait!"

Thea yelled furiously.

Meanwhile, James shrugged with an innocent look in his eyes.

He then landed on the ground with a loud thud.

Huge cracks appeared on the surface as violent tremors shook the space.

Despite all the commotion, Marius and the others, who had their backs to James, dared not turn around.

Most of them subconsciously held their breath in fear.

As they sensed James approaching slowly, everyone felt as though it was the end for them.

Being picked by the crazed James meant suffering another round of violent beating.

"I just got hit. My injuries aren't healed yet,"

Yiulia said nervously as James walked past her.

"Me...Me too!"

Marius looked away.

"I'm still vomiting blood."

"Don't pick me," Harper shook her head vigorously.

"I can sleep with you, but I can't take the beating."

When James stopped before Taiyi and Yasmina, the two Xyloria gods swiftly lifted their hands and pointed at each other.

"She can endure your beating longer!"

"She endures it better than I do!"

James was about to swing his fist at the pair when two heads popped up from the craters almost simultaneously.

It was impossible to tell who was who since both men were covered in blood and dust.

With their disheveled hair, they looked like zombies that had just crawled out of their graves.

"Woah! That was nice! Even the demonic energy that was stuck in my body for ages was completely expelled."

"I achieved new enlightenment again. There's still space for improvement for the Zenthur Rank. I..."

Before they could finish, James had teleported and reappeared next to the craters.

Yianni and Morgott lifted their gazes and spotted James.

They could see almost too vividly the bloodlust in James' red eyes.

Both of them screamed fearfully.

Before James could do anything to them, the two 'zombies' loosened their grip and fell back into the craters again.

"James!"

James was about to go down the craters after Morgott and Yianni, but Thea's voice halted him in his tracks.

He furrowed his brows.

"It's been almost two entrapochs."

Thea bellowed, "We've risked our lives and let you vent your anger on us for so long. Your inner demon should have been somewhat weakened by now. So, stop acting as if you still need to do this!"

James straightened his back and turned to face Thea, confusion in his eyes.

"If you don't want to die, you need to head to the Gate of Anonymous and challenge the Waitara Path's soul spirit as soon as possible."

Thea walked up to him.

"The Waitara Path's soul spirit is your biggest opponent. You can beat him up however you like."

James' blood-red eyes burned with excitement upon hearing her words.

"You should head there right away, Master!"

Marius teleported and re-emerged next to Thea.

"The Waitara Path's soul spirit is your greatest enemy. That vilelola man is thousands of times stronger than us combined." I

"He even wants to kill your wife,"

Harper joined in.

“He plans to get rid of your kids and destroy everything you’ve built!”

James’ eyes seemed to grow redder as he listened to those words.

“You’re the true lord of the Haleth Realm,” Yiulia stared at him intensely.

“All of us support you. Open the Gate of Anonymous and fight!”

James threw back his head and let out a deep growl.

A tremendous amount of reddish-gold light shone from his body and sent those around him flying away.

Then, James raised his hand and conjured the Gate of Anonymous.

As the gate flew open, he transformed into a beam of reddish-gold sword light and shot into the gate.

Thea and the others steadied themselves and quickly followed James into the Gate of Anonymous before it closed.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7296-Inside the Gate of Anonymous, Waitara Path’s soul spirit could be seen near the bottom of a picturesque waterfall.

He sat with his legs crossed, a thin layer of Waltraud Power enveloping his body.

Despite Marci sacrificing herself by exploding her body, Waitara Path’s soul spirit managed to complete half of the fusion process just in time.

Currently, he possessed at least thirty percent of the full powers Waitara Path once had.

His powers had even exceeded those of some Path Emperors.

However, this was far from enough for Waitara Path’s soul spirit.

He sent his Primordial Spirit out of his body to search for beings he could devour and incorporate into himself.

Consequently, his main body was in an inert, unconscious state.

Waitara Path’s soul spirit surmised that James would be held back by his inner demon and could not show up for their battle as promised.

He believed he no longer needed to be wary of James, who had been a great threat to his plans since James would soon breach their soul contract.

Unbeknownst to him, a beam of reddish-gold light landed inside the Gate of Anonymous' space, causing the entire place to shake violently.

A few seconds later, James stepped out of the beam of red light.

He knitted his brows when he spotted the dormant Waitara Path's soul spirit.

"What's with this thing? Why does he look exactly like me?"

James muttered to himself as he treaded slowly around Waitara Path's soul spirit.

Suddenly, James threw a punch at the soul spirit's back.

Boom! Waitara Path's soul spirit was hurled into the nearby river, causing huge splashes of water.

Thea's group had just caught up with James when they witnessed what had happened.

They stood on the other side of the river, watching with their jaws dropped.

It seemed quite unreal to them that the invincible Waitara Path's soul spirit would fail to defend himself from the demonized James' attack.

Furthermore, the soul spirit did not say anything or try to fight back after being thrown into the river.

"Something's off."

A deep frown drew Yiulia's brows together.

"The soul spirit's Primordial Spirit is not here."

"You're probably right."

Marius agreed, "The Gate of Anonymous is powerful enough to keep his body trapped here but not his Primordial Spirit."

"That makes things better for us."

Thea crossed her arms and smiled mischievously.

Harper's eyes twinkled.

"I see! What are we waiting for, then? Let's get started!"

She transformed into a ball of light and shot into the river at once.

Yiulia, Marius, and Hankin followed suit.

On the other hand, Thea teleported and reappeared next to James.

“you said he was the strongest.”

James began, “He didn’t fight back, though.”

Thea gave him a sidelong glance.

“Do you honestly not remember anything after becoming demonized?”

James turned his eyes to Thea.

“I remember you. You’re my wife.”

“Good!”

Thea puffed up her chest.

“In that case, shouldn’t you listen to me, your wife?”

James paused briefly and nodded.

Thea smirked.

Visit to read full content.

Surprisingly, James followed Thea’s instructions and stood there obediently.

Just then, a figure shot out of the river and came flying in James and Thea’s direction.

“James, watch closely!”

“We need to play a little soccer game first to make him fight back. Stand here and don’t move. Otherwise, I’ll be very angry.”

Thea called aloud and darted forward.\

She did a small spin and gave the figure a heavy kick sending him another direction at incredible speed.

Visit to read full content.

Meanwhile, several figures had shot out of the river, traveling in different directions in the air.

These people started kicking and passing around Waltara Paths squil spirE whe was the first figure to come out of the water and whose Primordial Spirit was missing, as if he were a ball.

James was intrigued as he watched the others have fun passing the ‘ ball’ around.

“Do you get it?” Thea asked.