

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7361

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7361-Yefrenes took a deep breath, turned around slowly to face James, and said, "Since the cat's already out of the bag, there's no need to hide it anymore.

Do you have Frona with you, James?" James took a sip of his wine and asked with a smile, "So what if I do?" Yefrenes said firmly, "Please hand her over.

She's the Caeloros Supreme, the backbone of the Destiny Sect.

Without her, the Xanadu and Haleth Realms will face catastrophes.

"The Haleth Realm's divine beings don't know a lot of things.

In fact, it's best they don't ever discover the truth.

Otherwise, the Haleth Realm will never be at peace." "This again? Since you want to be ambiguous and play tricks with me, I might as well teach you a lesson.' James pondered for a moment, then asked, "I heard that devouring the Caeloros Supreme would increase my strength significantly and allow me to become invincible in the Haleth Realm." Amos exclaimed, "You devoured her?!

You..." Yefrenes glared at him, silencing him.

Then, she turned to James and said, "With your current strength, you're already considered a formidable existence in the Haleth Realm.

What you're lacking is the baptism of the Forty-Nine Daoisms." Pointing at the Historial Palace behind her, she elaborated, "The forty-nine cauldrons and remaining five treasures are in there.

You're only one step away from becoming the Supreme Path and gaining control over the Haleth Realm.

"Hand her over to US, and you'll be able to become the Haleth Realm's ruler without having to devour her." James sneered, "Don't lie to me! I might not be the brightest, but I am no fool! As Caeloros Gods of Nothingness, you should know about the Leere Tribulation, right?" Yefrenes, Amos, and Quintinus were taken aback.

Suddenly, Quintus shouted, "What is it that you want, Emperor Caden? You should be more direct with the Caeloros Gods of Nothingness.

They'll surely satisfy your demands." Yefrenes, Quintinus, and Amos glared at him furiously.

Evidently, his statement was only beneficial to James.

Quintus quickly shrank back, shutting up under their hostile gazes.

James pointed at Quintus and chuckled, "Of course, it's the Haleth Realm's divine being that's the most sensible.

He understands that there are rules in our realm.

"Since everyone here is of high status, you should all understand that nobody acts without benefit.

Let's stop beating around the bush and be frank with each other though Yefrenesi was furious, she endured it and nodded in agreement.

"As long as you return the Caeloros Supreme to US, I'll allow negotiation James pointed at yefrenes and said with a smile, "That's the way! Then fight over the Waut Palace is supposed to be between the Haleth Realm's beings. However, now that three Caeloros Gods of Nothingness are here you should uphold justice for US." Yefrenes frowned. You want US to resolve the Leere Tribulation for you? You should know that's not possible.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7362-James laughed, "That would be too much to ask of you three.

I wouldn't count on it.

I mentioned there were four forces within the Wuia Palace—mine, yours, and the other two..." Quintus quickly caught on.

He turned to Yefrenes and said, "He wants our help to deal with Xanthakos and the Waitara Path's soul spirit..." "How about you shut up?" Yefrenes interrupted him with a cold glare, then turned to James.

"Your request isn't an easy one." James shrugged.

"Then there's no deal.

Well, coincidentally, I've just successfully built this formation and need a few powerful opponents to test it out.

How about helping me with that? "However, I'm only giving one chance.

You'll win big time if you succeed, but if you fail, don't even think about ever returning to the Xanadu Realm as Caeloros Gods of Nothingness.

You three will have to stay here.” James’ words were a blatant threat to them.

Yefrenes’ anger boiled over as she saw James’ smug expression.

He cunningly schemed to use them to deal with his opponents and pave the way for him to seize the Wuia Palace.

By doing so, he could reserve his strength in fighting against her.

It was a perfect plan of using others to do his dirty work.

She turned to Quintinus, silently cursing him.

“Wasn’t this idiot so eager to use force just now? Why isn’t he saying anything now? Was one slap enough to tame him?” Amos stood up and whispered, “We can’t trust him so easily, Your Divinity.

We should at least get him to reveal Frona and show US the Caeloros Supreme Scepter to prove he has them.” Yefrenes frowned.

“Do you mean to agree to his condition?” Amos nodded gently.

“It would be worth helping him kill Xanthakos and the Waitara Path’s soul spirit if he really does have them.

His sincerity about the deal is most important.” Yefrenes’ brows were almost knotted together.

‘His sincerity? Does this sly guy have any sincerity? He’s clearly trying to play us.” QuinUnus should at James Hey since you’ve already put forward a condition, you should shewus that you hayelwhat we want.” James smiled indifferently and waved his hand. A black-and-white light flashed, revealing Frona holding a glowing scepter. Quintinus exclaimed, “It’s Frona! That’s the Caeloros Supreme scepter in her hand Amos echoed, “That’s indeed the Caeloros Supreme.

He didn’t lie.” Yefrenes cursed them in her mind but nodded agreeingly at the statements.

“Since the Chosen One has shown such sincerity, and my two companions have shown a willingness to help you j shall agree to your condition.” She turned to Quintinus and Amos, then instructed, “Since you two agreed to his condition, the task of finding Xanthakos and the Waitara Path’s soul spirit will be yours. Go on.”

Quintinus and Amos were dumbfounded, realizing Yefrenes had shoved the responsibility onto them.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7363-Yefrenes stared at them.

“What? Aren’t you two desperate to save the Caeloros Supreme?” Quintinus and Amos’ lips tightened into thin lines.

They berated Yefrenes for her despicable ways in their hearts.

However, they still responded agreeably, then transformed into air masses and left.

After they were gone, Yefrenes turned to James with a knowing smile.

“Your strategy worked, James.

However, I’m not a fool like them.

The Frona you just showed US had no signs of life.

Though the Caeloros Supreme Scepter looked genuine, I couldn’t sense any Daoism within it.

It was definitely fake.” James smiled calmly and asked, “Why did you agree to the deal if you noticed?” “Because I wanted to talk to you alone.” After responding, Yefrenes raised her hand and sealed Quintus.

Then, she released black-and-white energy and sealed everything in the area, including the Historial Palace.

James was startled by Yefrenes’ powerful and swift sealing technique, amazed that she was still terrifyingly strong despite having her strength halved.

Yefrenes said with a smile, “I know what’s on your mind.

You thought by sending Quintinus and Amos away, you could manipulate me to your will.

You must’ve forgotten that among the Caeloros Gods of Nothingness, I’m only second to Frona.

In terms of strength and wisdom, I’m far superior to Quintinus and Amos.

“Though I only have half of my strength now, your chance of victory isn’t guaranteed.

Whatever advantage you have, I have as well.

However, what you lack, I also have.” Yefrenes slowly placed her hands behind her back and said, still smiling, “Your formation is indeed powerful.

It should be enough to handle Quintinus and Amos.

Unfortunately, you seem to have forgotten that one of the treasures used to cast this formation originates from my Daoism.” After speaking, she stretched out her arm and unleashed a potent Nothingness Aura at the formation beneath James, causing it to buzz.

The Xwem Chessboard, used as the foundation for the 80 halls, trembled violently, then began to shrink.

James’ face was filled with shock.

He had not expected the Xxwem Chessboard to still obey Yefrenes’ orders, even though he had seized control over it.

When the Xwem Chessboard was reduced to half its size, Yefrenes halted the process and asked, smiling, “Do you still think you can defeat me, James?” James squinted, feeling an unprecedented sense of crisis.

Yefrenes sighed and said, “Alright, that’s enough.

Let’s talk.

Like I said before, you should hand over Frona and the Caeloros Supreme Scepter to me.

Then, we won’t have a direct conflict of interest.

“We can even join forces.

You’ll have control over the Haleth Realm, and I’ll have control over the Xanadu Realm.

It’s a win-win situation.

I can even grant you the privilege to freely pass through the Xyrisia Gate.

“I won’t interfere with the Haleth Realm’s affairs and will allow you to have the final say.” After listening to Yefrenes’ proposal, James finally understood what a balanced approach of kindness and authority was like.

With a thought, he restored the Xwem Chessboard to its original size.

Then, he said, “Frona is my second body.

I can’t hand her over to you and allow her to suffer.

As for the Caeloros Supreme Scepter..." Yefrenes said firmly, "I want both.

You don't have a choice." James smiled wickedly and asked, "So you think you have me cornered?" Yefrenes admitted bluntly, "Yes.

I am giving you a chance, so I hope you cherish it." James smiled.

"Is this a threat?" Yefrenes said coldly, "I respect you, James.

In fact, I am quite interested in you.

In terms of strength, I'm on par with Frona.

In terms of appearance, I'm not inferior either.

I'm even more beautiful than your wife, Thea.

"I'm no less than you in power, status, and wisdom.

We would make a perfect match.

Powerful restrictions and barriers were activated triggering waltraud power and blinding lights to fill the space.

'James, you liar!' Yefrenes roared, bursting with dazzling Nothingness Aura.

James laughed, "I admit, you are quite clever.

However, it's also your biggest weakness.

How are you so gullible?'

I value your talent and hope you're sensible enough to understand the situation." Seeing her arrogant and triumphant expression James took a deep breath and said, "It seems you've already foreseen this.

outcome." Yefrenes laughed, "Don't forget, I'm a Caeloros God of Nothingness. Nothing can escape my grasp." James sighed and nodded.

"Then I have no choice." A burst of Hadufen Light suddenly flashed in James' palm then materialized into a black-and-white scepter. "Catch, Caeloros God of Garuda" As soon as he finished speaking, the scepter flew toward Yefrenes. Yefrenes, complacent about her victory, reached out to catch the scepter.

However, she found that her hand had grasped nothing. “How dare you...” Before she could finish, a huge formation descended from the sky, trapping her within. The formation instantly filled with rumbling lightning and howling winds.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7364-James waved his hand, and the formation that had trapped Yefrenes began to rotate.

The dense spells James had inscribed with the Nothingness Neon Pen released dazzling black and white light, forming a massive and intricate net.

Anticipating that Yefrenes might control the Xwem Chessboard, James used the Wuia Palace’s 80 halls as the formation’s new foundation.

Using the Historial Pestle, he activated the new formation and amplified the power of the Xwem Chessboard.

After being trapped within a section of the formation, Yefrenes was furious, resulting in her being caught off guard by the attacks.

She was struck a few times by lightning and Waltraud Power and was severely injured.

However, as the light surrounded her, talismans emitting intersecting lights and a dense gray cloud above her head faced constant attacks on her Caeloros Shield.

The black and white purple -gold lights manifested the word ‘path’ and rotated around her, unleashing constant attacks.

Each hit was faster and more brutal than the last.

Additionally, two spiritual beings appeared within the formation, making it more difficult for her.

One, radiant with red light, unleashed flames that threatened to consume everything in their path.

The other, a whistling blue Galeat Wind, doubled the flames’ power, making their attacks nearly impossible to defend against.

Even as a Caeloros God, Yefrenes found herself at a loss against such relentless attacks.

Just as she prepared to counterattack, a black and white pen descended from the thick gray cloud above her, speeding towards her with terrifying velocity.

“Argh!” Yefrenes dodged sideways, but the pen grazed her, creating a powerful gust that tore her clothes.

Ignoring her exposed state, she retreated to a corner of the column, only to be bounced back by a mysterious force from the wall.

Immediately afterward, the pen pierced her body with a swift thrust.

Yefrenes groaned as she fell to the ground and was engulfed by rising flames.

She screamed miserably, and then a fiery body soared into the sky, only to be blown away by a violent Galeat Wind.

The relentless barrage of attacks left Yefrenes completely disoriented.

She had never imagined that the formation she had looked down upon would possess the power to stand against a Caeloros God.

She was puzzled by how a Historial being from the Haleth Realm could use his Supernatural Powers and strength so effectively through a formation.

Ultimately, she concluded it was only possible if Frona was the real mastermind.

She had used James to set up a trap to lure her, Quintinus, and Amos into the Haleth Realm to eradicate them.

Frona had to have given him the formation.

It was the only reasonable explanation as to why she, the second ranked Would fall into such a dire situation. “Die!” Yefrenes shouted, her fury driving her to unleash a flurry of palm attacks.

A vast stream of Nothingness Aura transformed into palms and swept through the column, causing a loud explosion.

To Yefrenes’ shock, after she had shattered the column walls another layer that contained terrifying formations and restrictions was outside.

They quickly surrounded her, trapping her once again.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7365-“Frona, you despicable bitch!” Yefrenes roared desperately, channeling all her energy to fend off the onslaught of attacks.

Meanwhile, James sat cross-legged at the highest point of the formation, calm and composed.

His 49 Primordial Spirits constantly cast and controlled the Supernatural Powers within the formation, launching unrelenting assaults on Yefrenes.

James refrained from engaging in close combat for several reasons.

First, he wanted to test the full power of the new formation to see if it could withstand the full force of a Caeloros God of Nothingness.

Second, he aimed to gauge Yefrenes' current strength after being halved.

Third, he intended to delay time.

He knew that the longer the three Caeloros Gods of Nothingness remained in the Haleth Realm, the weaker they would become.

Hence, it made no sense to confront them at their peak strength.

By trapping Yefrenes long enough, her power would gradually diminish, giving him the upper hand.

By then, her fate would be in his hands.

At the top of the Historial Palace, Zbynek and Lilibeth were anxious.

They could see the massive formation spinning rapidly from outside but could not see the battle inside.

Zbynek asked, "Do you think James will win, Lilibeth?" Lilibeth took a deep breath.

"It'll be tough.

Though he got the other two Caeloros Gods of Nothingness to leave, Yefrenes is still as powerful as Frona.

Even at only fifty percent strength, a divine being from the Haleth Realm can't possibly stand against her." Zbynek frowned.

"So we can only watch and do nothing? I must remind you that though we're not from the Haleth Realm, we're tightly connected to its fate.

We're doomed if the Caeloros God of Garuda gains control over James." Lilibeth closed her eyes.

She was well aware of their circumstances, but breaking a seal cast by a Caeloros God of Nothingness was no easy task.

“We can’t wait any longer.

Even if we can’t escape, we can at least channel power into James’ formation.

It’s better than waiting for death,” Zbynek said anxiously and punched the seal.

However, his Waltraud Power rebounded, causing him to suffer a backlash.

Injured by the force, he spat out blood.

Lilibeth advised, “Don’t be reckless.

James holds four Treasures of Nothingness.

We can activate the four Path Cauldrons and break through the seal Zbynek was Overjoyed. The content is on En.novelxo.com! Read the latest chapter there!

“This is bad! James lost control over the formation.” “Quick! activate the path Cauldeons and break the seal.”

As they prepared to retreat to the Historial palace aloud rumble, m resounded outside the Seal. The new formation spun rapidly throughout the void, seemingly out of control.

zbynek and Lilibeth hurriedly returned to the Historial Palace.