

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7377

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7377—Quintinus seethed with rage after a moment of disbelief. “Are you trying to rebel, Quintus?”

“Please allow them to reconcile.” Quintus stood defiantly, no longer submissive.

Instead, he had a determined look, prepared to face death. Quintinus sneered, “Ha! You’re a nobody. How dare you speak in my presence? Have I been too kind to you? Leave now if you’re sensible.” He attempted to retrieve his whip, but Quintus held it firmly and resolutely, ready to meet whatever fate awaited him.

Quintinus’ cheeks twitched with anger. “Very well. Since you wish to die with them, I’ll gladly oblige.”

With a swift motion, he slashed out his right hand, and Caeloros Lights mixed with Nothingness Aura gathered to form a massive green dragon.

The dragon hurtled toward Quintus, but he remained firmly in place. A dazzling amethyst-gold light emerged from his body and met the dragon head-on.

Boom!

The shockwaves from their clash swept the area, rattling even Taiyi, Yasmina, Harper, Yianni, and Marius.

They would have been blasted away by the overwhelming force if not for Quintinus’ Xyloria Treasure trapping them in place.

While they were startled by the force, they were even more disbelieving to have witnessed Quintus boldly take an attack from a Caeloros God. They were curious when he had grown so strong.

In the void, the dragon and amethyst-gold light were in a deadlock, neither yielding an inch.

Quintinus was boiling with anger. “You treacherous cur! We granted you power not to turn against us! How dare you repay kindness with betrayal?!!”

Quintus lifted his head and laughed, “Ungrateful? Didn’t you empower me to use me against James?”

“However, you overlooked the fact that I’m also a being of the Haleth Realm. On top of that, I was part of the first batch to rebel against the Waitara Path.

“Quentyn and I have stayed hidden for ages, awaiting the chance to overturn this unjust order and grant equal footing to all of the Haleth Realm’s beings.”

Quintus’ gaze sharpened as he said proudly, “We could not enact this grand change alone, but fortunately, our realm is blessed with talent. Amongst them, James has become our greatest hope.

“To go against him is betraying my aspirations and dreams.”

Quintinus glared at him. “You insolent being!”

He snatched his whip and thrust his palm forward, launching another attack.

Boom!

Before Quintus could evade, the attack struck him down from the sky.

Mordecai and Dillon, who had finally held hands, exchanged a resolute look.

“James is our last hope!”

“Indeed. I’ll sacrifice anything for him!”

The two let out a roar before charging at Quintinus with all their strength, detonating in a massive explosion.

The blast scattered blood and flesh, enveloping Quintinus in a crimson mist that filled the air.

Thank you Gerrit and Christina for donating me.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7378-With a scream, Quintinus was enveloped by the explosion. His Caeloros Lights flared up, shining through the blood and flesh. The self-destruction of Mordecai and Dillon severely injured him. His body was riddled with holes and greatly weakened. He coughed up a few mouthfuls of blood, then lifted his head furiously.

“You bunch of ants shouldn’t pretend to be heroic in front of me. I’ll fulfill your death wishes.”

He spread his hands and summoned nine divine knives around him. They circled him, emanating a soul-chilling aura.

Swoosh!

One of the divine knives shot straight at Quintus but was deflected by the amethyst-gold light around his body. Quintus soared into the sky, his messy hair framing his fierce determination as he shielded Harper, Taiyi, and Yasmina. He cast a dazzling light barrier to protect them.

Quintinus roared, “Your strength has improved significantly. Alright, I’ll start with you.”

His nine divine knives shot forward, attacking the light barrier.

Boom! Boom! Boom!

Quintus managed to block the assault with his power, but he was gravely wounded in the process, blood spraying everywhere.

Puff!

Quintus spat out a mouthful of blood, then raised his head and shouted. “James treated you like family when all other divine beings shunned you. He gave you a new life. Will you stand by idly as his friends fall into enemy hands and be used to threaten him?”

His roar echoed through the void, causing everyone to tremble in shock.

Quintinus suddenly laughed. “You must have gone insane from my beating.

Who do you think will save you... argh!!!” Before he finished speaking, a purple-red light flashed behind him. The next second, he was knocked to the ground by a kick.

The purple-red light then swept up the nine divine knives. In a flash, the light transformed into a handsome man with a burly build and straight red hair.

Taiyi, Yasmina, Yianni, and Marius were stunned to see the man. Even Harper who was still being tormented inside the jar, widen her beautiful eyes in disbelief.

“Morgott?!!”

Flicking his long red hair, Morgott turned to Harper and asked, “I was quite dashing, wasn’t I?”

After a brief shock, Harper spat at him.

Morgott was irritated but did not bicker with her. Instead, he grabbed Quintus' collar and dragged him closer.

"Why the hell did you expose me? I was hiding perfectly, but you had to yell for me. Don't you feel bad?"

UMS Quintus took a deep breath and said smilingly, "I was betting on how genuine your friendship with James was. I believed you would step in to help him."

Morgott scratched his head and said frustratedly, "James might still be mad at me. Since he doesn't want to bother with me, I won't with him either."

Then, he looked at Harper and said mischievously, "However, there is someone here I like. Whoever touches her will have to deal with me."

Thank you Gerrit and Christina for donating me.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7379-Pushing Quintus away, Morgott erupted with a terrifying aura and shouted, "Hey Quintinus! Do you remember me, scum?"

Quintinus, who had just risen from the ground, glared into the void. However, when he saw Morgott's face, his anger instantly turned to fear. "Ni...Nihilos?"

You..."

He looked away in panic, rubbing his eyes as if he had seen something impossible. However, when he fixed his eyes back on Morgott, he confirmed his worst fears.

The next second, Morgott's demonic spear pierced through the sky. Terrified, Quintinus transformed into a light beam and fled.

With a bang, the demonic spear pierced the spot where Quintinus had just stood moments ago. Having missed its target, it quivered and emitted a sharp buzzing sound.

The entire scene fell eerily quiet, the breeze's whisper clearly audible.

Taiji, Yasmina, Yianni, and Marius were all stunned by the sudden turn of events.

Quintinus, who had tormented and humiliated them, had fled the moment Morgott arrived. Could Morgott's strength be so terrifying that even a Caeloros God of Nothingness was afraid? However, Morgott's aura seemed similar to that of Quintus.

“He...he fled just like that?” Quintus asked, his face a mask of shock.

Morgott said arrogantly, “I showed up. Of course, he would run. He would’ve been scared to death just by hearing my voice or feeling my presence if this were in the past.”

“Sigh. It’s been too long since I’ve last appeared in the Xanadu Realm’s Void World. These fools have grown arrogant.”

Quintus was dumbfounded by Morgott’s words. His initial plan was to have Morgott hold off Quintinus until James arrived. He thought would be their only chance.

velike Unexpectedly, Morgott easily scared away their opponent with just a few words before James could even make an appearance.

Morgott turned to everyone who was trapped and said, “You don’t have to wait for James. Since I’m already here, it’s clear he isn’t going to show up. Now, you all have to follow my command.”

Harper spat, “Make yourself clear, demon!”

Morgott sighed. “Isn’t it clear enough? He would’ve shown up bet now if he wanted to. That schemer deliberately forced me to make a choice.”

Everyone was stunned by his revelation.

“Alright, enough talk. With your brains, it’d be impossible to understand.”

Morgott flew in front of Harper and said, “Oh? He stripped you and imprisoned you inside a jar? Tsk! He is truly abominable.”

Suddenly, he roared into the void, “How dare you lay hands on my woman? Just you wait. I’ll turn you into a spittoon or chamber pot!”

His declaration echoed throughout the void, reverberating in everyone’s ears.

Morgott approached Harper again and said mischievously, “I’ll let you out if you praise me a little.”

Thank you Gerrit and Christina for donating me.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7380-Harper stared at Morgott indifferently, refusing to speak.

Morgott whispered, “Come on! Just a little to make me look good! You’re one of the main reasons I chose to show up. Otherwise, I would’ve been able to devour a Caeloros God of Nothingness!" Harper closed her eyes sorrowfully. Her usual charm and unrestrained attitude had vanished. At that moment, she was no longer her cheeky and playful self.

Morgott looked at her worriedly. "You..."

Harper said sadly, "My masters sacrificed themselves to prevent me from further humiliation."

Morgott was startled by her words.

Quintus sighed and said, "Mordecai and Dillon performed a very unexpected act of great sacrifice."

Morgott frowned and asked, "Are you blaming me for not acting sooner?"

Harper opened her eyes and said firmly, "I vow to be the slave of whoever captures the Caeloros God of Firmament, Quintinus. I will obey every command and repay the kindness with my life. I want to honor my masters' sacrifices for me."

Her words left Morgott, Quintus, Taiyi, Yasmina, Marius, and Yianni in shock.

Such a solemn oath represented a top-level hunting order. She was using her entire future as a reward to hunt down a Caeloros God of Nothingness. It was an unprecedented act that had never happened before.

Morgott asked, "Are you serious?"

A soul flag emerged from her body and was erected by a pillar of light. Her oath was clearly displayed on the flag, each word formed with a little of her soul.

Morgott soared into the sky without hesitation and grabbed the flag as if afraid someone else would claim it before him. "I'll accept it. I will change my name if I fail to capture Quintinus!"

After retrieving the flag, he turned into a purple-red light and freed Harper from the jar.

Then, he rushed over to the light cage to release Taiyi and Yasmina. He also freed Yianni and Marius from their traps.

After being freed, the group raised their heads and looked at Morgott in awe.

At that moment, Morgott sat cross-legged in the sky. He was surrounded by four treasures-a cauldron, a golden ring, a bizarre black-and-white tower, and a colorful knife.

As they rotated around him, vast amounts of Nothingness Aura and Innate Energy poured into Morgott causing his red hair to fly and his purple-red light to flourish. His aura grew increasingly powerful and terrifying, making even Taiyi and Yasmina tremble.

Yianni asked, "Is this the same Morgott I know? Why does he seem different?"

Taiyi took a deep breath and explained, "He's no longer Morgott. He is Nihilos!"

Marius asked puzzledly, "Nihilos? What is that?"

Yasmina explained, "Nihilos is not bound by any rules of Daoism. He is the most terrifying killer of the Xanadu Realm and also the most evil Xyloria god. He used to be an existence that made all Caelgros Gods of Nothingness tremble in fear

Thank you Gerrit and Christina for donating me.