

The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7386-James raised his eyebrows.

“What kind of bet?”

Xanthakos smiled coldly.

“Let’s bet on the group of friends you trust.

It’ll be my defeat if they manage to hold off the Caeloros God of Firmament, Quintinus, and come to reinforce you.

You’ll lose if Quintinus captures them and brings them back as hostages.”

Looking at Xanthakos’ confident look, James smiled and nodded.

“What’s on the line?”

Xanthakos smiled.

“It’s very simple. The winner gets what he wants. I’ll hand this traitor back to you and allow you to do as you please with her. You could even play with her all you want.”

Pointing at Yiulia, he laughed.

“Don’t worry. I haven’t used her yet. I wanted to give her to Quintinus, so she’s still in good condition!” James shook his head.

“That won’t be enough. I want Light Thea as well.”

Xanthakos laughed.

“You’re a faithful man, I give you that. Alright, I’ll give them back to you if I lose. However, if I win...”

He stared at James maliciously, not rushing to finish his sentence.

James blurted, “You can have Frona and the Caeloros Supreme Scepter.”

Xanthakos stood up excitedly.

“Good! You’re sensible! You’re the epitome of righteousness and love!”

After speaking, Xanthakos shot a black-and-white light at James.

A soul contract beaming with light immediately emerged in the void.

Yiulia shook her head and shouted anxiously, “Ahh...ahh!!!”

Unable to enunciate any words, she rushed over to try and stop him from signing the contract.

However, Xanthakos released a ray of light and imprisoned her.

James looked at the contract and immediately signed it with his soul sigil.

The soul contract emitted a burst of light and then burned into ashes, signifying that it had taken effect immediately.

Xanthakos laughed triumphantly as if he had achieved what he had always dreamed of.

He was overjoyed that he could so easily trick James into his scheme.

Since he had cultivated the Triple Nothingness Martial Technique, he was no longer bound by soul contracts.

Even if Quintinus were to fail, he could go against his word and kill James with force.

James, however, was in a bad situation.

He lacked a Supernatural Power that allowed him to break his soul contract, meaning he would die if he failed to fulfill the contract's terms.

Once James perished, Xanthakos could still Claim Frona and the Caeloros Supreme Scepter. He would achieve his goal without having to do anything. Either way he would be the ultimate winner. James looked at Yiulia, who was despairing, with a smile. He sat down again and leisurely sipped his wine. Shortly after, a black-and-white light flashed behind Amos and Yiulia. Seeing Quintinus, Xanthakos rushed over with anticipation. “How did it go? Did you succeed?”

“We can't stay any longer.”

Xanthakos was stunned by his words.

Even Amos, who had been calm and composed, could not help but stare at him puzzledly.

Quintinus frowned and urged, “Are you leaving or not? I won't wait if you want to stay but don't blame me for not being a loyal friend.”

Quintinus shoved the excited Xanthakos away looked at Amos and said We have to return to the Xanadu Realm as soon as possible.

Thank you Gerrit and Christina for donating me.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7387-Before Amos could speak, Xanthakos pounced on Quintinus and grabbed him.

“What are you talking about? Why are you going back to the Xanadu Realm? Did you catch Taiyi and the others?”

Quintinus glared at him coldly and shoved him away again.

“Have we been too generous with you, Xanthakos? Who are you to intervene in our affairs?”

Xanthakos’ brows furrowed, taken aback by the situation.

Amos suddenly appeared in front of Quintinus and asked, “What’s wrong with you? Didn’t we already plan everything out? Everything is going smoothly, so why do you want to return to the Xanadu Realm? Do you not want Frona and the Caeloros Supreme Scepter anymore?”

With a horrified expression, Quintinus responded, “I can’t be bothered about that now! We’ve run into a disaster! We might not be able to return and will be devoured if we drag this out any longer!” Amos’ eyes widened in shock. “What do you mean? Be more specific!”

“He’s here! He’s back! I saw him with my own eyes!” Quintinus trembled as if he had seen a ghost, his face full of horror.

Amos frowned in confusion.

Meanwhile, James sat sipping his wine carefreely, a smirk forming on his handsome face. He was like a bystander watching a play as if it had nothing to do with him.

Xanthakos grabbed Quintinus angrily and asked, “Speak properly! Who’s here? In the Haleth Realm, who could possibly make a Caeloros God of Nothingness so scared?” Quintinus pushed him away once more. “You’re but an ant of the Haleth Realm! You know nothing!”

“Now that he’s back, not only will the Haleth Realm be in turmoil, but even the Xanadu Realm will be washed with blood! It’s a catastrophe more devastating than the Leere Tribulation!”

He turned to Amos panickedly and said, "We can't wait any longer! We must return to the Void World and warn the others to prepare for a fierce battle!"

Amos trembled, and his face paled as he realized who Quintinus was referring to. After thinking for a while, he grabbed Quintinus' wrist and said, "Let's go! We must leave now."

Just when they were about to flee, a creepy and sinister laugh suddenly resounded in the void.

"Do you think this is your playground? You think you can come and go as you please?"

Amos and Quintinus were frightened out of their wits. They quickly transformed into light beams and darted into the distance.

Xanthakos expression changed drastically at the turn of events. He shouted furiously, "You can't just leave like this! What exactly are you so afraid of? Didn't James already drive Yefrenes away?"

Unfortunately, there was nobody to answer his question.

Amos and Quintinus were frantically running for their lives and had no time to bother with him.

After a long silence, Xanthakos turned around and glared at James.

"You're the one who did all this, right? What kind of trick did you play?"

James shrugged innocently and said with a smile, "I think you lost our bet, right?"

Thank you Gerrit and Christina for donating me.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7388-Xanthakos was momentarily stunned. The next moment, he rushed at James with a crazed expression. "What kind of sorcery or tricks did you use to scare them away? It's impossible for you to have such capabilities. Not even Frona would be able to cause them to panic like that."

Faced with his outburst, James laughed mockingly.

Xanthakos roared, "It can't be true. How could two Caeloros Gods of Nothingness be scared away by a kid from the Haleth Realm? Even if the Waitara Path had returned, they would not have acted so dramatically.

"As Caeloros Gods of Nothingness, they're fearless. Those two must have been illusions."

He took two steps backward and pointed at James.

“That Quintinus just now must have been fake. You did it to trick Amos and lure him away. Do you think I’m afraid of you, James? Do you think I can’t kill you without their help?

“I’ve already mastered the Triple Nothingness Martial Technique and am invincible in the Haleth Realm. Even if you have integrated the Three Treasures and Five Spirits, you aren’t a match for me.” James cast him a casual glance, then continued to calmly drink his wine.

Yiulia, who was imprisoned, stared at James in shock. She could not believe that James managed to scare the Caeloros Gods of Nothingness away and then anger Xanthakos to the point of near madness. She pondered how he pulled it off.

Suddenly, a few flashes of light appeared behind Xanthakos and Yiulia.

The next moment, Morgott and James’ other comrades appeared. They immediately surrounded the place.

“What about if we’re included?” Morgott taunted, playing with his demonic spear.

Xanthakos turned to Morgott and the others who had appeared with a shocked expression.

“You...you all made it out unscathed. It seems that you’re really lucky.”

James said smilingly, “I said you lost the bet, Xanthakos. What now?”

“It’s fake. It must be an illusion.” Xanthakos shot out two light rays at James’ comrades.

Morgott spun his demonic spear, and a purple-red light instantly spread to block the attacks.

“No! This can’t be real!” Xanthakos could not accept the reality.

Just as he was about to launch another attack, a jar of Chaos Absinthe struck his back. He fell to the ground with a loud thud, creating a bottomless pit.

James sighed. “His lack of intelligence is worrying.”

With the wave of a hand, James gray clouds that with lightning and sealed epit in the ground. Then, he slowly stood up and looked at Morgott.

Morgott was also staring directly at him, causing the atmosphere to become tense.

Taiyi and the others behind Morgott exchanged worried glances.

After a while, Morgott broke the silence. "You didn't bring me along, so I came in myself."

His face was full of pride at his achievement.

James retorted, "You're just a shadow that likes following us."

Morgott's smug expression instantly vanished, replaced with anger, n you as a friend, but you..."

Thank you Gerrit and Christina for donating me.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7389-James interrupted Morgott with a smile. "How could I not think of you as a friend? I wanted you to guard the entrance, but you didn't do your job well. I'm really disappointed."

Morgott stared at James and said, "Are you saying you left me outside to hold off the Waitara Path's soul spirit?"

James said disappointedly, "It's a pity that you didn't do what I needed you to. Instead, you just followed the others around. However, it's on me for overestimating you. I should've known you wouldn't have been able to understand."

Morgott felt like a thunderbolt had struck him.

Harper suddenly said, "I was wondering why you didn't bring Morgott with us. So you had other intentions?"

Yianni shook his head. "It's unfortunate he didn't get it and allowed the Waitara Path's soul spirit to enter the Wuia Palace. It's going to be much more chaotic in here."

Marius looked at Morgott and said, "You caused trouble again, Morgott! You disrupted master's plan!"

Morgott, who had been silently listening to their scolding, raised his head. "Why didn't you just tell me clearly? Why did you have to beat around the bush..."

James retorted, "Would you have agreed if I told you?"

Morgott pointed at Harper and said, "I would have agreed if you left her outside with me!"

Harper glared at Morgott. "Why are you dragging me into this?"

Morgott shrank back and looked at James. “Although I didn’t understand your intentions and allowed the Waitara Path’s soul spirit into the Wuia Palace, I still scared away the two Caelor.

Gods of Nothingness. Isn’t that a great achievement?”

Everyone was suddenly at a loss for words. Thinking back, they realized they would have been in grave danger if not for Morgott. Not only would they have suffered great humiliation, but they would also have been tormented endlessly by Quintinus.

Morgott did indeed contribute significantly and saved them from the situation.

James looked at Morgott, who was pouting, and smiled. “I would not consider you a friend anymore if not for these events.”

“That means you consider me a friend now? Even though I’m Nihilos, who can’t create my own Daoism, you’re still willing to be my friend?” Morgott laughed happily.

He hugged Harper and said pitifully, “Did you hear that? James considers me a friend!”

Harper pushed him away and said disdainfully, “Yeah, yeah. Stop trying to have physical contact with me. You’re supposed to capture that bastard who ran away for my oath to take effect.”

Morgott immediately smiled confidently. “Don’t worry! With James here, they won’t be able to run away. Not only will I capture him, but also gift you the other one as a token of our love.”

Everyone burst out laughing at his declaration.

Suddenly, Xanthakos emerged from the bottomless pit that was sealed by James’ gray clouds.

“So you used Morgott to scare them away. I was wondering what capabilities you had. Turns out, it was just a bluff.” A loud explosion erupted as he broke through the thick gray cloud. His body emitted a terrifying Nothingness Dead Energy, causing the surroundings to tremble violently.

Thank you Gerrit and Christina for donating me.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7390-Amidst the quakes, James’ comrades instantly leaped into the air, surrounding Xanthakos and activating their strongest defensive skills.

Xanthakos laughed. “Haha! Do you ants think you can stand against me? You’re overestimating your abilities.”

He flipped his hand, and a black-and-white gas spread out, gradually manifesting seven koi fish. They swam through the air, aiming for Morgott, Taiyi, Yasmina, Quintus, Marius, Harper, and Yianni. When they were just inches away from their targets, they transformed into phantom figures and unleashed various attacks.

Bang! Bang! Bang!

Swoosh! Swoosh! Swoosh!

James’ comrades were faced with an onslaught of Sword Lights.

Marius, Harper, and Yianni, who were weaker, had their Divine Light Shields shattered after the first wave of attacks. They were engulfed by the Nothingness Dead Energy and engaged in fierce battles within it. Even Taiyi and Yasmina could only protect themselves with their Divine Light Shields and defend themselves while retreating. However, their shields gradually cracked and showed signs of shattering soon. Morgott, who had devoured four of Quintinus’ treasures of Nothingness, was much stronger. With just his demonic spear, he resisted the first wave of attacks. Then, with his bizarre skills, he made his way to Harper.

Quintus, on the other hand, was not so lucky. He was the first to be swallowed into the Nothingness Dead Energy, and there had been no news from him.

Meanwhile, James stood in place and watched everything calmly.

Xanthakos’ strength had exceeded his expectations. He had only cast one skill, but Morgott and the others were already struggling to resist. The Triple Nothingness Martial Technique was indeed terrifying.

Boom!

Boom!

Taiyi and Yasmina successfully destroyed the phantom figures that had attacked them. When they reappeared in sight, their bodies were covered with wounds, and blood was dripping from their lips.

Despite defeating their opponents, they did not leave the battlefield. Instead, they rushed into the Nothingness Dead Energy to save Marius and Yianni.

With Morgott’s help, Harper also successfully eliminated two phantom figures and rushed out of the Nothingness Dead Energy. She was disheveled, her body covered in blood as if she were a demon crawling out of hell.

Soon enough, Marius and Yianni also defeated their opponents with Taiyi and Yasmina's help. Then, they left the Nothingness Dead Energy as well. Looking at the nearly exhausted group, Xanthakos laughed. "Ants, ants! You can barely take one move from me yet still think of opposing me?"

"I'll offer you the chance to live. As long as you swear allegiance to me, become my slaves, and stand against James, I will... huh?"

Seeing the black-and-white air mass being swallowed by two mysterious forces, Xanthakos was too stunned to continue.

Boom!

The two mysterious forces suddenly clashed with each other, revealing Quintus and Morgott at a standstill.

Morgott shouted, "Why are you trying to take what's mine? Look at the way you eat. Can't you watch your etiquette? We're both James friends and are civilized entities Please don't embarrass James, alright?" , to FindNovel.net Quintus was dumbfounded after being scolded. He turned to James with a wronged expression akin to a child whose lollipop had been stolen from him.

Thank you Gerrit and Christina for donating me.