

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7411

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7411-The 'handsome man' hiding behind the light orb flinched, appearing nervous.

'Did he catch on already? He was clearly calling me by that name! Is this disguise tool from the Waitara Path's soul spirit actually useless?' the 'man' pondered.

Meanwhile, James conjured a shiny cauldron before him, with a bright blue flame burning fiercely inside.

He produced a pestle and held it over the fire in different positions. "Should I roast it horizontally, vertically, or slightly slanted?

"We usually use charcoal fire to roast fish. I wonder if the meat would get burnt if I used the Flames of Samadhi instead.

"Oh, it should be fine! It's a divine and extraordinary fish, after all. It's big and meaty. I might even have to use up a few bottles of Chaos Absinthe to make sure it's properly roasted."

Yehria's face turned red with anger. 'That crazy bastard! Instead of thinking about how to deal with the Waitara Path's soul spirit and secure the rights to govern the Haleth Realm, he's trying to decide how to roast me instead! I won't let him off for this!' Yehria raged inwardly.

As her anger boiled over, Yehria stormed out of her hiding place.

"You're big and meaty! Your whole family is big and meaty! James Caden, you crazy bastard! You're an absolute... Huh?"

Yehria's outburst came to an abrupt halt as she saw that James was really holding a fish in his hand. It was a big, live koi fish flapping wildly against James' grip.

James lifted his head and gasped in mock surprise. "Oh my! You really came out yourself? You're being so cooperative."

Yehria clenched her teeth. "Why you..."

She understood everything now. Even though James knew it was her, he did not actually know where Yehria was hiding. He was just trying to provoke her by acting as though he was planning to roast fish. Yet, Yehria fell for his trick and exposed herself on impulse.

Yehria swiftly looked for another hiding place. However, a gigantic formation fell onto her and trapped her almost instantly. Everything around her spun quickly in the formation. Still disguised as the Waitara Path's soul spirit, shrieked in horror and stumbled backward.

Fwoosh!

ria Yehria was sent flying in the opposite direction as she bumped into the formation's barrier that had stopped abruptly. "James, you bastard!"

As she cursed aloud, Yehria released the Tai Chi Gas and eventually steadied herself in mid-air. However, the runes drawn all over the formation's barrier emitted beams of bright, purplish-gold light. The intersecting light beams formed countless squares inside James' formation, trapping Yehria in one of them.

"This... this is..." Yehria stuttered in fear, sensing an ominous feeling about the walls of light around her.

'Let's try roasting some fish now!'

James' laughter echoed through the air.

As soon as James said that, blazing fire and blue Galeat Winds filled the space within the square of light where Yehria was.

Aargh!" Yehria screamed hysterically flailing helplessly as her body was engulfed in flames.

Yehria's original form was a koi fish.

With her Water Element nature, she could suppress Fire Element attacks. Unfortunately, the fire surrounding her at the moment was produced by Hemera.

Yehria was no match for Hemera in her current state.

Just then, James appeared above one of the walls of light trapping Yehria.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7412-He produced a bottle of Chaos Absinthe and sat on top of the wall. Then, James sipped the liquor while he watched Yehria thrash about in the sea of flames.

"Hemera! Fennec! You need to make a bigger fire! Otherwise, it'll take forever to get the fish fully cooked!"

Shortly after James said that, the blue flames and Galeat Winds swirling around Yehria turned into an eerie shade of purplish gold.

“James, what do you want from me?” Yehria’s voice was strained and shaky as she endured harsher torture.

James took a gulp of Chaos Absinthe and said with a grin, “It seems roasting a fish can make it smarter and improve its memory!”

“You...” Yehria whimpered, “You just want to find out where the Waitara Path’s soul spirit is, right? I’ll tell you where he is! Just stop this, and I’ll tell you right away!”

James’ brows arched. “I think you should try to resist a bit more.”

“No... No! I’m going to be turned into ashes already! Stop this now! Otherwise, you’ll never know where the Waitara Path’s soul spirit is. You won’t be able to save the Dark Heavenly Path, and you’ll walk right into their trap!”

James clicked his tongue as he listened to Yehria’s loud wailing. He lifted his hand. In an instant, the blazing fire and Galeat Winds around Yehria disappeared.

As for Yehria, her disguise as the Waitara Path’s soul spirit had completely burned away. Her body was blackened with soot. The sight of Yehria shivering uncontrollably with dark smoke rising from her body was both amusing and saddening.

James curled his lips. “I have very little patience. I’m sure you know that all too well.”

Yehria stumbled to her feet and let out a weary sigh.

“You’re a smart man, James. You know how powerful Waitara is. So, you should probably put up a soundproof formation before interrogating me...”

“That won’t be necessary.” James smiled enigmatically. “Even if Waitara himself or the Caeloros Gods had found my formation, they wouldn’t be able to see or hear what was happening in here without my permission. Are you trying to buy time by saying that?”

As James slowly raised his hand, Yehria hurriedly shook her head.

“I’ll say it! I’ll tell you everything right now!”

Yehria sighed, “The Waitara Path’s soul spirit instructed me to disguise myself as him and lure you into the Origin of Evils and Dread District. That will give him the opportunity to seize control of the Haleth Realm.”

James responded, “Oh... Is that all?”

Yehria nodded vigorously. “I swear by my status as Tai Chi that I’m telling the truth!”

James asked flatly, "How did you, a Soma Daeclon Rank cultivator, manage to impersonate the Waitara an Path's soul spirit so perfectly? Moreover, you're a woman. How did you conceal your real voice, aura, and powers? Also, has your soul been sealed away? Why can't I examine your soul at all?"

Yehria flinched upon hearing those questions.

James lifted his hand. "Hit her with the Path Lightning!"

Gray clouds appeared above James' formation almost instantaneously Numerous Hadufen Lightning Bolts came shooting down from the "Aargh!"

Yehria writhed and screamed in pain as the lightning bolts struck her rapidly.

"I'll hand them over! I'll hand over everything..."

James gave a snort. As he dropped his hand, the lightning bolts disappeared altogether.

Yehria was twitching all over as traces of electricity traveled through her body.

She slumped onto the Xwem Chessboard. "Hurry up, then!" James bellowed.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7413-Yehria steadied her breathing and conjured three shiny energy balls before her.

Then, she cast the energy balls in James' direction. James found the answers to his questions after he scanned the energy balls with his Zen.

The Waitara Path's soul spirit had given Yehria three items: the Xaadcel Armor, the Lyonors Crown, and the Jeltjorum Shoes.

The Xaadcel Armor could be used to conceal the user's aura and keep their identity secret.

Even peerless cultivators like James would have difficulty seeing through the powers of the armor.

The Lyonors Crown, on the other hand, could reinforce the user's soul and modify their physical appearance however they liked.

It also had powers that prevented others from examining the user's soul, no matter what means they had.

The Jeltjorum Shoes were the real treasure among the three items. These shoes could help the user move as fast as the wind, greatly improving the user's battle skills and speed.

James never imagined that a mere soul spirit would possess so many powerful tools and treasures.

Considering the efficiency of these items as battle weapons, the three items before James were much more useful than the Nothingness Neon Pen, the Historial Pestle, and the Nothingness Chessboard. James examined the restrictions placed over those three items and found that each of them had a spirit hiding in it.

Just like what he did for the other treasures of Nothingness, James sent his Primordial Spirits into the three new treasures to eliminate the existing spirits and gain full ownership of the items.

James would soon face the Waitara Path's soul spirit, who possessed at least half of the powers the Waitara Path once had.

That made the Waitara Path's soul spirit a far more dangerous opponent than Xanthakos. Naturally, James had to take more precautionary measures. Yehria watched as James sat silently in the same spot without looking at her. She dropped her gaze and took out an ordinary-looking Path Cauldron. While the three treasures circled James slowly, Yehria lifted her head and scowled at him.

"Go to hell, you bastard!"

Yehria yelled furiously and cast the Path Cauldron in James' direction.

The Path Cauldron released an immense amount of bright Waltraud Power, which swiftly surrounded James' body.

James could be seen flailing around as he struggled to break free from the Waltraud Power trapping him. Soon enough, he started groaning in pain. Yehria burst out laughing.

"James Caden, you crazy, insolent fool! You think you're completely invincible in the Haleth Realm now? Did you honestly think you had everything and everyone in your net grasp? You say that I'm only a Soma Daéclon Rank cultivator? Even after I've met with the Waitara Path? Hahaha!"

Yehria laughed hysterically. "You've failed this time because of your ignorance and arrogance."

The Waitara Path has given me this Path Cauldron that can be used to transfer you to the Origin of Evils and Dread District. You can spend all your time missing your wife there!"

Suddenly, purple fire and violent Galeat Winds filled the space Yehria was in.

She let out a shrill, agonized cry instantly.

Meanwhile, Hemera and Fennec materialized in their human forms and shot toward the Path Cauldron, which was still releasing the Waltraud Power.

"Don't touch the cauldron!"

What sounded like James' voice halted Hemera and Fennec in their tracks.

James' main self of Path exited from his writhing body at that moment. He stepped on the mass of Waltraud Power and came closer to the Path Cauldron.

He could see a seemingly endless amount of Waltraud Power gushing out of the cauldron. There were also powerful, mysterious lights swirling inside the cauldron.

It was as if he was staring into the abyss as he looked at the cauldron. The sight evoked a sense of fear of the unknown.

'... The Origin of Evils and Dread District?' James' main self of Path pondered.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7414-'Is there really a place outside the Haleth Realm that none of us are aware of?' James' main self of Path wondered.

He pushed his palm forward and sent a blast of Hadufen Light into the Path Cauldron. However, his attack appeared to be absorbed instantly as it disappeared inside. "Hurry up! I can't hold on much longer."

The voice of James' Anonymous main self came from behind just then.

James' main self of Path took a deep breath and pushed both palms forward this time, blasting a steady flow of Hadufen Light into the cauldron.

Strangely, eerie sounds of people crying came from inside the cauldron not long after the light hit it.

Shortly afterward, the Path Cauldron leaning toward James was gradually pushed to an upright position. Finally, the Waltraud Power stopped flowing out of the cauldron.

As the Waltraud Power around him dissipated, James' Anonymous main self materialized next to the main self of Path.

Both of them frowned as they watched the mysterious Path Cauldron shrink in size.

"I heard sounds of people crying," James' main self of Path said.

"I heard it too." James' Anonymous main self narrowed his eyes. "Waitara has probably kept the souls of certain divine beings confined in this Path Cauldron."

"We should ask Frona about this." After saying that, the main self of Path fused with the Anonymous main self.

Meanwhile, Yehria was screaming and running around like a madwoman inside the small space she was trapped in.

As she tried to put out the fire on her body and break out from that space, the powers of the light beams around Yehria would just push her back inside.

James gave her a sideways glance, then took the mysterious Path Cauldron floating in mid-air and put it in his storage space.

"Hemera and Fennec, you can do whatever you want with that wench. It'll be enough as long as she still has a breath in her."

Then, James teleported and reappeared in one of the cubes formed by his formation. There was a flash of light as he separated himself into the two main selves again.

"Which of us should do it?" the Anonymous main self asked.

"I'll take on the Waitara Path's soul spirit," James' main self of Path reasoned. "I've absorbed almost seventy percent of Yefrenes' powers. Besides, I'm no good when it comes to acting."

The Anonymous main self put on the three treasures they had confiscated from Yehria right away.

As he did a twirl, the Anonymous main self assumed the appearance of the Waitara Path's soul spirit instantly.

"Alright, we'll go with the flow then," James' main self of Path nodded "However, what will you do if he asks you to return those three treasures and transform back to Yehria's appearance?"

The Anonymous main self scrunched his face.

"I should be able to handle the situation. However, it's quite humiliating to have to use Yehria's appearance. Why don't you do..."

Before he could finish, the main self of Path acted as if he did not hear him and got into a seated position.

"Hey! We are one, aren't we?" James' Anonymous main self grumbled. "You'd be humiliated if I suffered such humiliation, right?"

"Suffering humiliation is no big deal."

The main self of Path slowly closed his eyes. "The fact that we've been humiliated will be erased once we kill those who have humiliated us."

en.swhovels.net The Anonymous main self was rendered speechless by those remarks.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7415-"Hm? Why is it suddenly so quiet?" Inside a mysterious space, the Waitara Path's soul spirit was looking at a colorful energy ball in his hand. A small frown creased his forehead.

While leaning against the wall in a corner, Thea snickered.

"I bet you don't have the guts to go out and face my husband head-on."

The Waitara Path's soul spirit shot a glare at her. Then, he channeled some Waltraud Power into the colorful energy ball.

The energy ball glowed with a beautiful, sacred light briefly. Then, an image appeared in it.

From the energy ball, the Waitara Path's soul spirit could see someone who looked exactly like him standing in front of the eighty-one doors outside the Historial Palace. The person glanced left and right as if they were looking for something.

"Did it work?" the Waitara Path's soul spirit gasped. "Did she succeed in throwing James into the Origin of Evils and Dread District?"

"Waitara Path!" the Waitara Path's soul spirit shown in the image called aloud, "I did my part! Are we going to rule over the Haleth Realm now?"

The Waitara Path's soul spirit paused thoughtfully upon hearing those words.

Thea, who had been quietly observing what was happening, shot to her feet and stormed toward the Waitara Path's soul spirit.

“That crazy wench! She sent my husband to a place like that?!”

She grabbed the Waitara Path’s soul spirit by his collar and shook him forcefully.

“Waitara! Give me my husband back, you hypocrite! Even divine beings like us can’t survive in the Origin of Evils and Dread District. How could you...”

As he took in the anxious and furious expression on Thea’s face, the Waitara Path’s soul spirit grew more certain and laughed hysterically.

“You’re laughing at a time like this?” Thea threw a heavy punch at his abdomen.

The Waitara Path’s soul spirit was sent crashing into the wall. Still, he did not stop laughing.

“Ha! Who knew the almighty hero that had defeated the Xyloria gods and the Five Path Emperors would lose to Yehria from the Haleth Realm? I guess you can never tell what fate has in store for everyone.” Thea could see that the Waitara Path’s soul spirit was convinced his plan had worked.

Still, she maintained her expression and tightened her fists. “Waitara...”

“You should shut up now.” The Waitara Path’s soul spirit got to his feet and fixed Thea with a menacing glare.

“What a shame, Thea Callahan. We’ve crushed your one last hope. Your happy days are over now.”

He lifted his hand and grabbed at the air. A huge hand-shaped form materialized in front of Thea and seized her by the throat. Then, it carried Thea to where the Waitara Path’s soul spirit was.

“I’m warning you. Stop yelling at me as if you’re my master. You’re nothing more than a prisoner now. I can kill you whenever I feel like it.”

Thea’s face flushed red as the grip around her neck tightened. However, she did not try to fight back.

Thea did not mind suffering a little pain and hardship since she managed to convince the Waitara Path’s soul spirit his plans were going smoothly this way.

It would all be worthwhile if she could help James remove the final obstacle to achieving his dreams.

The Waitara Path’s soul spirit let out a snort and threw Thea aside.

Then, he turned around and dusted off his black robe with a smile on his face.

“It’s time. Someone must lead the people of the Haleth Realm. We should also put an end to this silly rebellion that has gone on for millions of entrapochs. In the end, I’m the one who will put everything in the Haleth Realm back to its rightful place.”

The Waitara Path’s soul spirit cast a blast of his powers in the direction of the cave entrance. His powers stopped mid-air and transformed into a mass of swirling black and white gases. “I’ll offer you a chance, Thea. You can mourn for your husband here. He’ll never be able to return to you again in this lifetime.”

Then, he dashed toward the mass of black and white gases.

Thea tried to follow the Waitara Path’s soul spirit into the mass of gases as well.

However, the black and white gases disappeared abruptly when Thea was just one step away from them. As she lost her balance, Thea let out a yelp and fell from the cliff...

Outside the Historial Palace, James, who had disguised himself as the Waitara Path’s soul spirit, stood in front of the last door and scanned his surroundings.

Unfortunately, he could not find where the real soul spirit was hiding even after activating his Chaos Yin-Yang Eyes.

Suddenly, he detected a dangerous aura coming from behind him.

James swiftly turned around and found a handsome gray-haired man standing behind him.

The man, who had the same exact appearance as him, curled his lips.

‘The Waitara Path’s soul spirit? How did he get here without being detected?’ James wondered. “Where’s James Caden?” the soul spirit asked.

James hurriedly bowed. “I’ve managed to trick him into entering the Path Cauldron, Mr. Waitara.”

While James was talking, the Waitara Path’s soul spirit scrutinized his face as though he was tryi.