

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7441

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7441-Many things did not need to be said aloud. A single action or gaze was enough to make everything clear. With this in mind, James took another large gulp of wine. Then, he asked, "What did you just say? I need to set rules and establish a hierarchy for the Haleth Realm?"

"Isn't that necessary?" Morgott looked at James puzzled.

James shook his head and chuckled, "Rules are essential, but they're not for the Haleth Realm. They are meant to restrain the deities. The hierarchy is also crucial to promote, reward, and punish them." Morgott looked at James as if he were insane and asked, "And what about the Greater Realms' living beings?"

Don't you need to oversee them too? Without rules, won't there be complete chaos?" James laughed. "They haven't accepted me as the Supreme Path, so why should they submit to me? What right do I have to decide their fate?"

Morgott gasped and asked, "Then, what's the point of becoming the Supreme Path? How will the Greater Realms' living beings live with order?"

James spread his arms, and two glowing cauldrons appeared before him. "The left one represents cause, and the right one represents effect. The Cause Cauldron records the actions and words of living beings, while the Effect Cauldron determines their life, death, fortune, and misfortune. This is not influenced by the will of any god, nor does it shift according to my preferences.

"I will bestow the power of the Cause Cauldron and the Effect Cauldron upon the Haleth Realm. Whether god or mortal, everyone will be able to see their causes and effects at all times, thus allowing them to make amends and determine their fate through their words and actions."

Morgott took a deep breath.

James' way of ruling the Haleth Realm differed from the Waitara Path. The latter feared losing control and power. Meanwhile, the former who had become invincible, still wanted to let everyone determine their own fates. Hissity and vision set him apart, making him a respectable ruler.

After pondering for a while, Morgott gave James a thumbs up and praised, "I made the right decision to become friends with you. However, I must remind you to be cautious with who you choose as deities. It would be a catastrophe for the Greater Realms if you were to appoint even one wrong person.

“These deities will represent you. If anything goes wrong, the Greater Realms’ living beings will not only hate them but will also blame you.”

James raised his head at the reminder. Morgott hit the nail on the head with his biggest conner. It was why he had decided to start with the Forty-Ninth Heaven instead of the Greater Realms, which he was most familiar with.

Morgott stood up and said with a smile, “Alright. After becoming the Supreme Rath, you came to see me first and appointed my wife as the Haleth Realm’s first deity. That’s more than enough to show how much we mean to you.

We’ll stay here and guard the Historia Palace. With us here, no demon or monster can pass through Xyrisia Gate to cause trouble in the Haleth Realm.”

After speaking, Morgott picked up his jar of Chaos Absinthe. Then, he quickly turned into a beam of light, left the formation, and entered the Historia Palace.

Go on and do what you need to do.

James finished his Chaos Absinthe in a gulp, then also disappeared with a wave of his hand.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7442-James returned to the mysterious space after a flash of divine light.

Frona tilted her head, looking at him with interest.

“The first deity of the Haleth Realm wasn’t given to your wife, children, or closest friend, but to Harper?”

James met her gaze and asked, “Do you have any objections?”

Frona shook her head and replied, “No. It’s a stopgap measure, but it will become a huge problem in the future.” James said solemnly, “You’re wrong. I am not wary of my close friends and don’t need to scheme against them.” Frona said with a smile, “Is that so? Then who are you keeping the five Treasures of Nothingness for?”

James frowned, annoyed at Frona’s ability to see through his thoughts.

However, he was helpless against her.

Frona stared at him and said, “Every deity will have their own opportunity and fortune. True strength can’t be achieved by grace. Moreover, you still haven’t made a decision about your wife.”

James' face darkened. "I appreciate your help, Your Divinity. I can return the Caeloros Supreme Scepter to you and send you back to the Xanadu Realm."

"Are you chasing me away?" Frona frowned.

James said helplessly, "That's not what I meant. I...." Frona laughed and exposed him. "You're not happy that I've seen through your thoughts? I'm sorry. I forgot to tell you. Although I'm no longer your Cultivation Heart, I still have a spiritual connection with you. Don't worry. From now on, I'll be your shadow and won't speak in front of others."

James wanted to scream in frustration. Having such a beautiful and charming person around would only spell trouble for him. On top of that, she knew exactly what was on his mind. The thought of it was simply torturous.

Suddenly, James asked, "Are you afraid I can't defeat the Waitara Path's Soremsia and resolve the Leere Tribulation? Is that why you want to stay by my side?"

Frona clarified, "I'm not trying to supervise you but to provide help. You would have stood a chance against the Waitara Path's Soremsia if his soul spirit had not reincarnated. Unfortunately..."

James interrupted, "Wait. Has the Waitara Path's soul spirit been reincarnated?"

When?"

Frona did not respond. Instead, she used his Supreme Path Power to project a scene in the void.

James expressed disbelief after watching Thea kill the Waitara Path's soul spirit.

"She's already strong enough to kill the Waitara Path's soul spirit?"

Excited, James raised his head and asked, "So my wife has already escaped the Waitara Path's soul spirit and is free?"

Frona stared at James, exasperated. "How are you so clueless when it comes to your wife? She just caused a huge disaster. She killed the Waitara Path's soul spirit, significantly increasing the power of the Leere Tribulation. The challenges you will face..."

James interrupted, "So what? What's done is done. Am I supposed to scold her, beat her, or imprison her?"

"You..." Frona was at a loss for words.

James said firmly, "My wife and I are one, connected spiritually. We share honor and disgrace. She was in a critical situation and had to resort to desperate measures. I would've done the same."

With his hands behind his back, James looked at Frona. "Isn't it just the reincarnation of the Waitara Path's soul spirit? It's not that big of a deal. Since he could create the Leere Tribulation, I can find a way to break it. In fact, I can even make sure he has no chance to start it."

Frona said amusedly, "You're indeed a fool blinded by love. Such confidence and arrogance..." James squinted, pointed at her, and said, "I've been thinking about something for a while. Since we already know the Waitara Path's Soremsia will return, why are we not waiting for his return to start the Leere Tribulation? Why don't we take the initiative to find and get rid of him in advance? Where my enemy can go, I can as well!"

Frona was baffled by James arrogance and confidence. "That's true. What are the Leere Tribulation and Waitara Path's Soremsia when James can go against fate and modify the Daoisms? What exactly is there to fear?"

The Xyloria gods and the Caeloros Gods of Nothingness firmly believed in fate and that tribulations weren't predetermined and could not be interfered with by divine power. However, James' words shattered their beliefs. He wanted to intervene in a predetermined tribulation with his own strength.

Staring at James, Frona took a deep breath. Suddenly, flames emerged from beneath her feet and completely engulfed her.

James asked anxiously, "What are you doing?"

Frona replied, "The Haleth Realm's Supreme Path has ambitions and visions beyond my imagination. I am convinced and willing to transform into your Cultivation Heart again and help you realize this great cause."

A blinding light flashed from her body, transforming her into a Cultivation Heart.

The five Treasures of Nothingness surrounded it, circling rapidly. Then, they entered James' body.

James trembled, then showed a shocked expression. "A Cultivation Heart again? Has she gone mad?"

'Woah, woah! The Caeloros Supreme has become the Cultivation Heart.

The limitless body is in its original state. The Haleth Realm has been blessed.” A voice suddenly resounded in the void. The next moment, two shadowy figures appeared in the void.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7443-James frowned as two dazzling lights flashed before him, revealing two mysterious old men, one in black and the other in white.

The old man in the black robe had white hair, a long white beard, kind eyes, and an aura of serenity. Meanwhile, the other old man in the white robe had black hair, sword-like eyebrows, a fierce gaze, and an intimidating presence.

The two old men bowed in unison and said respectfully, “It’s a pleasure to meet you, Supreme Path.”

James, puzzled, asked, “Who might you two be?”

The old man in the black robe said solemnly, “And I am the Taoist Right Saint Envoy, Karis Mauton.”

James was still perplexed but quickly discovered their origins from Frona’s memories.

Although the Destiny Sect was relatively simple, it had a clear hierarchical system. Their leader was naturally Frona, who held the Caeloros Supreme Scepter. Additionally, she was the leader of the Caeloros Gods of Nothingness and had great authority in the Xanadu Realm. Below her were the other Caeloros Gods of Nothingness, who held ministry positions.

Meanwhile, the Left and Right Envoys, as well as Path Protectors, originated from the Forty-Nine Daoisms. Though their status was beneath the Caeloros Gods of Nothingness, they were still superior to Xyloria gods like Taiyi and Yasmina.

The four were to serve at Frona’s side, but due to the Waitara Path’s rebellion, they were sent to the Haleth Realm to protect the Daoisms.

The Left and Right Envoys had gone missing for a long time. Now that the Path Protectors have perished in the battle against the Waitara Path’s soul spirit, they were the only two left.

After understanding their origin, James looked at them and asked, “What can I do for you two?”

Startled, James asked, "What are you two doing?"

"Not only are you the Haleth Realm's Supreme Path, but the Caeloros Supreme has become your Cultivation Heart. Naturally, that makes you the Destiny Sect's Caeloros Supreme. As the sect's envoys, we're naturally under your command."

"That's right!" Karis agreed, his tone full of respect.

James had just comprehended the Forty-Nine Daoisms and become the Realm's Supreme Path. Now that he was suddenly called the Caeloros Supreme, he was baffled.

However, Frona's memories confirmed everything was true.

After taking a deep breath, James looked at them and said, "You two hold high status and shouldn't be on your knees. Please stand while you speak."

Walen and Karis exchanged looks, then stood up respectfully.

James scanned the surroundings and asked, "You two must be knowledgeable seniors. Could you give me some suggestions on how to clean up the Haleth Realm's current mess?"

Walen and Karis looked at each other again, pondering deeply.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7444-Yasmina's gaze shifted from Taiyi to James. She then said, "It's true. I'm not quitting yet. I haven't had enough fun. Moreover, I got to meet such an interesting master like James. I'll do whatever it takes to be appointed as a deity."

James burst into laughter.

Taiyo took a deep breath and said, "I see how it is! Since you want to have fun, how can I miss out? We'll lead our own Daonus Realm and see who can produce more powerhouses after a hundred entrapochs!"

Yasmina replied arrogantly, "Sure. How could I lose to you?"

"You!" Taiyi was livid.

Seeing that the argument was about to intensify, James intervened with a smile.

“Alright, that’s enough. With your talents, it would be a waste to let you only lead Daonus Realms.

“Let’s do this instead. Both of you will be conferred as Daoism Goddesses of the Haleth Realm. Taiyi is given the title of Supreme Empress of Tribulation and Blessings, a first-ranked deity in charge of the Daoism of Tribulation and Blessings. You are granted the Temple of Tribulation and Blessing east of the Supreme Dojo.

“Yasmina will oversee the Daoism of Good and Evil. You will be conferred as the Supreme Empress of Good and Evil, also a first-ranked deity. The Temple of Good and Evil, located west of the Supreme Dojo, is under your control now.”

Taiyi and Yasmina widened their beautiful eyes in surprise and were speechless.

It stands to reason that, with their previous identities, they were already among the most transcendent existences in the Haleth Realm, and nothing could move them. However, James allowed them to control one of the Nine Major Daoisms.

It was a great honor, better than having an empty status without power.

“What’s wrong? Is it not to your satisfaction?” James asked doubtfully after the long silence.

Taiyi and Yasmina looked at each other and immediately knelt.

“Thank you, Supreme Path!”

James waved his hand, and two colorful Supreme Path Sources enveloped them. They slowly rose into the air, surrounded by 49 Daoism Lights, which instantly enhanced their strengths as if giving them new life.

The next moment, they appeared adorned in purple and gold robes with exquisite jade belts on their waists. On their heads, they had tassel crowns.

Their status, strength, appearance, and aura had improved significantly in the blink of an eye. Every move they made carried elegance and divinity. Next, James shot out two more Supreme Path Sources with numerous energy balls.

At the same time, two cauldrons flew over and rotated before them. “Choose one. You only have one chance and can’t regret it later.”

After that, James looked at Wesley, Silver, Mordecai, and Dillon. “Your turn.”

The four looked at each other, too baffled to speak.

James said, "I'll give you titles as I see fit if you have no opinions. You four made great contributions to helping me acquire the Haleth Realm. Since we did it together, I refuse to suffer alone to clean up this mess."

Then, he cast four Supreme Path Sources to lift them into the void without waiting for them to speak.

"Wesley, the former Law of Paths. You're upright and incorruptible. You have gained an excellent reputation in the Hateth Realm with your righteousness. I declare you the Supreme Emperor of Life and Death, a first-ranked deity. You will be in charge of the Daoism of Life and Death and are bestowed the Temple of Life and Death south of the Supreme Dojo.

"Taichu, the origin of Zymurgy. You're generous and benevolent, admired by all of Zymurgy. You shall be the Supreme Empress of Space, a first ranked deity in charge of the Daoism of Space. The Temple of Space in the north of the Supreme Dojo has been granted to you."

"Mordecai, Dillon. You two were not initially supposed to serve the Supreme Path. However, you have proven pare, credible, and capable of enduring hardships without forgetting your original intentions. I will grant you each a Daonus Realm as a base for preaching your Daoism. From now on, the Supreme Path shall officially recognize your Daoism.

"Mordecai is conferred as the Haleth Realm's Supreme God of Wisdom, and Dillon as the Supreme God of Strength. Both of you are second-ranked deities.

"The Supreme God of Wisdom is granted the former Goyo and Yiulia Daonus Realms, renamed the Temple of Wisdom.

"The Supreme God of Strength is granted the former Stavros and Xanthakos Daonus Realms, renamed the Temple of Strength."Walen clasped his hands and bowed. "You should establish a cultivation sanctuary and temple, then choose a core for the Haleth Realm."

Karis bowed and agreed, "That's right. You need a temple to have a place to appoint deities to rule over the Forty-Ninth Heaven, Zymurgy, and the Greater Realms."

James put his hands behind his back, showing a thoughtful expression.

He considered using the Wuia Palace as his cultivation sanctuary. After seizing the four Treasures of Nothingness, he acquired the palace. All he had to do was change its name, which was a simple task. His biggest challenge was appointing new deities.

James had countless friends and comrades who had accompanied him through life and death, and he naturally knew a lot about their character, temperament, and abilities.

However, he had been separated from them for countless years since he left for Zymurgy.

As long as they are human, they will change, especially during the ups and downs of the Haleth Realm, where the human heart was the most difficult to understand.

It was not that he had no faith in them, but appointing deities was related to the fate of the Haleth Realm and Greater Realms' living beings. He could not afford to make emotional choices. Otherwise, he might repeat the Waitara Path's mistakes.

James felt a heavy responsibility. His every word and action could influence the entire Haleth Realm, making him more cautious.

After thinking for a while, James asked Frona, "Are you just going to be my Cultivation Heart and not do anything? Help me come up with some ideas."

Frona's voice rang in his mind. "What you're thinking is right. You must be cautious when appointing new deities. However, it's best to make arrangements starting from the Forty-Ninth Heaven. After all, this is the source of the Greater Realm and your actual base."

With her assurance, James no longer hesitated. He summoned the Destiny Ousia of a few close friends, including Taiyi, Yasmina, Marius, Yianni, Quintus, and Biefren. The deceased Wesley, Silver, Hankin, Mordecai, Dillon, Zbynek, and Lilibeth were also included.

After checking their Destiny Ousia, James knew everything about them.

Next, he used his Supreme Path Power to revive Wesley, Silver, Zbynek, and Lilibeth.

The four reappeared with a flash of purple-gold light, full of vitality. They examined their bodies, disbelief etched on their faces.

Then, James summoned Taiyi and Yasmina from his space.

Everyone gathered in front of James, forming a semicircle in the void.

After a while, Wesley said excitedly, "Ultimately, you still became the Supreme Path! The hard work was worth it! Haha!"

James rolled his eyes and said, dissatisfied, "You put me in a tough spot. I have a problem and need your opinions. Everyone has to pitch in."

The group looked at each other and laughed excitedly.

James focused on two beautiful women and said, "Let's start with our honorable seniors, Taiyi and Yasmina. You two are Alcide beings and have statuses close to the Supreme Path. Now that the Haleth Realm is changing, you two should do something to bless all-living beings."

Taiyi looked at Yasmina and sighed.

"We're just outdated gods who gave rise to the Haleth Realm. Our duties have been completed. Logically, we should be behind the scenes now ..."

Yasmina interrupted her, "You can work behind the scenes if you want, but shouldn't you give up your human form and consciousness net then return to being Nothingness Aura? You'll have to be without desires and emotions."

Taiyi was rendered speechless.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7445-Yasmina's gaze shifted from Taiyi to James. She then said, "It's true. I'm not quitting yet. I haven't had enough fun. Moreover, I got to meet such an interesting master like James. I'll do whatever it takes to be appointed as a deity."

James burst into laughter.

Wesley, the former Law of Paths.

"The Supreme God of Strength is granted the former Stavros and Xanthakos Daonus Realms, renamed the Temple of Strength."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7446-After James' majestic voice resonated, four additional Supreme Path Sources descended upon the four deities, bestowing them with divine power.

Wesley received a black and white Dao robe, a vitality belt, and the Life and Death Cauldron. Silver was granted a colorful robe, a space belt, and the Space Cauldron. Meanwhile, Mordecai and Dillon each gained control over the divine tower of their respective Daonus Realms.

Countless energy balls hovered around them, offering an array of treasures to choose from. Wesley and Silver eagerly examined the treasures, enthusiastically discussing their choices.

However, Mordecai and Dillon stood awkwardly, feeling lost and out of place.

Seeing this, James gestured to them and invited them closer.

"Are you not satisfied? Or do you not wish to be one with the Supreme Path?"

Mordecai and Dillon exchanged glances, then said simultaneously, "We..."

Mordecai stared at Dillon, urging him to speak.

After taking a deep breath, Dillon looked at James helplessly and said, "Now that you're the Haleth Realm's Master, if you grant us titles, I'm afraid..."

James remained puzzled, his expression showing his confusion.

“Cut to the chase!” Mordecai interrupted. He looked at James and said, “We’re extremely grateful that you didn’t eliminate us after becoming the Supreme Path and instead chose to accept us. “You’ve even allocated Daonus Realms to us and granted us titles. We’re afraid it would stain your authority if other divine beings learn about this.”

Dillon nodded solemnly. “We’ve never agreed with the previous Supreme Rath. Under the Waitara Path’s deliberate smearing and suppression, we’ve already been painted as evil forces unworthy of such great honor.

“The Waitara Path and his minions have already instilled a bad impression of us into the Greater Realm and Zymurgy’s beings.

“You have just become the Supreme Path, and it will look bad on you to treat us so well. Though you’re the Haleth Realm’s ruler, you can’t disregard your people’s feelings.”

James squinted at them. “Are you saying I’m too hasty?”

Mordecai answered, “It’s too abrupt.

The Greater Realm won’t acceptus.

We appreciate the gesture and understand you want to give us a dignified identity. However, we can’t let you bear this burden.”

Dillon added, “We’re not worth having you ruin your reputation over Me’N become the despicable people in the rumors if we accept this.”

James fell silent, realizing he had not considered it. However, even if he had, he would still have insisted on appointing them. After all, their m Daoisms were not much different from his own. How would the Haleth Realm be able to be open to all and control their destinies if they could not accept new Daoisms?
