

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7541-7550

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7541-James suddenly knelt down with a resounding thud, startling all the creatures present and causing them to retreat in shock.

As the ruler of the Haleth Realm, James held the power to decide everyone's fate. He deserved reverence, and his mere presence was already a grand gesture. Yet, here he was, kneeling before them.

"You, you..." The Celestial Sage was at a loss for words.

The Earthly Sage hurriedly waved his hand, trembling, and asked, "What are you doing?"

James replied sincerely, "It's been a great honor to know you. From our first meeting, your righteousness left a lasting impression on me, and I have nothing but respect for you both.

"During Truett's wedding, when my wife revealed herself as the Dark Heavenly Path, the Genesis World's Grand Patriarches harbored murderous intents, and Yehria set a trap to kill me and my wife. Despite the dangers, you two did not shy away or bow to threats, protecting my friends and children. I will forever be grateful."

The Celestial and Earthly Sages exchanged knowing glances and attempted to help James to his feet. However, James stopped them, saying, "I was the one who orchestrated this test. No one else was involved. I understand this may be offensive given your esteemed reputation, but it was something I had to do."

The Celestial and Earthly Sages were taken aback.

James took a deep breath and explained his helplessness and reasons, boiling them down to three points.

First, Soremsias were unpredictable.

After learning the truth about

Emeror Jabarj and Franciscus, whom he once admired, their good nature was no longer real in his eyes. Subsequently, Sophie, Lyla, Quincy, and other Soremsias that had appeared dealt a devastating blow to James' trust, even leading him to be corrupted by his inner Demon. The experience of betrayal had made him wary and careful. He never feared battles or schemes against him. His biggest weakness was his trusted comrades. Their betrayal would cause him immense devastation.

Secondly, the Leere Tribulation and the Waitara Path's Soremsia posed unpredictable threats. Theoretically, anyone in the Greater Realms might be the Waitara Path's Reincarnation Soremsia. With no clues or traces to follow, nobody could be cleared of suspicion. Therefore, James had to examine and investigate his most trusted friends one by one to avoid making an irreparable mistake.

Thirdly, he was now the ruler of the Haleth Realm and had the power to deify other living beings. Hence, he had the responsibility to protect the Greater Realms. It would be easy to appoint deities based on personal preferences. After all, one person's success often leads to the success of those around them. However, this would violate the Daoism? James adhered to and be unfair and irresponsible to the Haleth Realm, making him no different from the Waitara Path he despised.

Therefore, he wanted to test potential deities based on their moral character. To him, it was the right and just way to adhere to his Daoism. With these three points in mind, James had to be careful with his decisions, mainly because of his position.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7542- He had to be responsible for the Haleth Realm, so he couldn't rely on trust alone. He also had to test his friends.

After listening to James' heartfelt explanation, the Celestial and Earthly Sages lifted their heads simultaneously and took a deep breath.

The Celestial Sage said thoughtfully, "He is a great ruler who doesn't establish authority through power but through wisdom and insight. On top of that, he doesn't oppress with force and judges virtue through one's actions.

"Perhaps this is the biggest difference between you and the Waitara Path and why the living beings of the Haleth Realm worship you."

The Earthly Sage added emotionally, "I agree. You could do whatever you want but still choose to rule with virtue. That's indeed the right Daoism." The Celestial and Earthly Sage approached James, extending their hands to help him to his feet.

The Celestial Sage gently patted James' hand and said, "Though you're of high status, you still treat us with such respect. I'm sure you will treat the Greater Realms with benevolence. We didn't misjudge you. Stay true to your original intentions."

The Earthly Sage said embarrassedly, "I did feel slightly offended just now, but after hearing your explanation, we were narrow-minded. We should be ashamed of ourselves."

James hurriedly shook his head. "I was afraid you two would be disappointed in me. That's why I..." The Heavenly Sage laughed, "Righteous and fair. If we held grudges against you, we'd be the ones disappointing you."

The Earthly Sage nodded in agreement with a smile.

Seeing their attitudes, James finally relaxed.

The most significant difference between him, the Waitara Path, and other Alcide Beings was that he valued relationships and cared less about power and status.

After a moment of silence, the Celestial Sage and Earthly Sage exchanged glances. They took steps back, flicked their sleeves, and knelt to James. "We're ready for your command, Supreme Path."

James quickly helped them to their feet.

"You two have already embarked on the right path, and it's no longer appropriate for you to stay in the Greater Realms. Moreover, Zymurgy urgently needs virtuous deities. I hope you will not refuse." The Celestial and Earthly Sages glanced at each other.

The Earthly Sage asked, "Then what about Sk?"

The Heavenly Sage sighed. "We have an unbreakable bond with Sk and a strong connection with Yegor and Herodias. Moreover, an imposter is causing chaos in then et Greater Realms while you continue to assess it and find the Waitara Path's Soremsia. At the same time, you still have to guard against those with ill intentions trying to cause more trouble. I'm afraid..." James smiled and said, "We've already considered these. There is a prerequisite for you two to become deities. You must reasonably disappear from Sk to avoid alerting the enemy and attracting too much attention." The Celestial and Earthly Sages were stunned by his words.

Thea suddenly stepped forward with a smile and said, "I have a plan that can kill two birds with one stone. However, it will require you two to make a little sacrifice."

The two sages and James turned toward her. Yaretzi, Youcef, and Yianni also gathered around them.

Thea scanned the people present, then said, "The two of them fake their deaths and direct the blame toward the Waitara Path." Everyone was stunned by her words.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7543-"Please elaborate," the Celestial Sage asked, frowning.

Under everyone's gaze, Thea began to outline her plan.

"Although the Celestial and Earthly Sages usually remain within Sk's territory, their prestige among the Greater Realms far exceeds that of other Grand Patriarchs. Even Yegor and Herodias might not measure up."

“Indeed. I’ve also heard of their deeds in the Greater Realms. Their virtues and righteousness have rightly earned them their titles,” Yaretzi nodded.

Thea smiled at everyone. “Exactly. How would the beings of the Greater Realms react if they were killed by Waitara Path’s Reincarnation Soremsia in Sk?”

Everyone looked surprised as they realized her intentions.

The Celestial and Earthly Sages were highly respected in the Greater Realms. If the beings there learned that Waitara Path had killed them, they would be outraged. This would also damage the Waitara Path’s reputation and cast doubts on its character. In the future, James would garner the support of the Greater Realms against the Waitara Path during the Leere Tribulation.

Since Waitara Path’s minions used someone to impersonate James to spread chaos in the Greater Realms and restore the Waitara Path’s reputation through lies, they could also devise schemes to tarnish its name and win the living beings’ support.

The impersonator, who believed he controlled the Jademora Empire, could no longer significantly aid the Waitara Path.

Moreover, this strategy allowed the Celestial and Earthly Sages to reasonably disappear from Sk and the Greater Realms.

Thea’s suggestion indeed had the potential to kill two birds with one stone.

After a long silence, Yaretzi suddenly smiled and said, “It’s quite a cunning plan, but very effective.”

Youcef laughed, “See, I told you the Yin governor is smart.”

The Celestial and Earthly Sages were stunned by the revelation and stared at Thea in shock.

“Greetings, Celestial Sages. It’s me, the Dark Heavenly Path, one half of the Yin governor,” Thea revealed her identity.

The Celestial Sages immediately stepped forward and returned the greeting respectfully. They admired the Yin governor, who never gave up despite her struggles. Finally meeting her, they felt relieved.

“It’s a smart plan, but how can the Supreme Path stoop to such insidious methods?” Yianni interjected, his tone peculiar.

Thea glared at him and said, “So, you’re calling me insidious?”

Yianni chuckled, "Oh, I wouldn't dare. However, when the public finds out, James' reputation will be affected..."

"It's not him who will do it anyway, so how will he be affected? Aren't you his master? Why don't you help him with it?" Thea rolled her eyes, clearly annoyed. Yianni was taken aback by her words.

At that moment, James turned to the Celestial Sages and asked, "What do you two think of Thea's proposal?"

The Earthly Sage snorted, "You need to fight evil with evil. There's no need to show kindness to the Waited plan."

Path. I strongly agree with you.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7544-The Celestial Sage said firmly, "For the sake of the Greater Realms and the Haleth Realms, we must take necessary measures. We adhere to the Supreme Path's Daoism and do not follow the Waitara Path's Daoism, which disregards all other living beings. There is no need to show him any virtue."

James silently listened to their opinions. Before he could respond, Yianni erupted in anger. "You two are known for your righteousness and adhere to the Supreme Path's Daoism. Are you truly willing to bear a bad reputation for doing this?"

The Celestial Sage sneered, "For the Greater Realms, we are willing to stake our lives. Our reputation means nothing."

The Earthly Sage looked at Yianni and said firmly, "He wants to wipe out the Greater Realms' living beings. We must eliminate him first. I find it perfectly reasonable."

Yianni parted his lips, prepared to retort. However, James raised his hand, silencing him.

James turned to Thea and asked, "How do you plan to achieve this?"

Thea pouted her lips toward Yianni and said, "Since he disagrees, I think we should let him do it. He is closer to the Waitara Path, which will make it look more realistic."

Yianni's face paled. "Wait, what? How am I related to the Waitara Path? If I were on his side, why would I fight for the Greater Realms' living beings? I wouldn't have gone to the Forty-Ninth Heaven and gotten imprisoned for so long!"

James chuckled at Yianni's panicked state. However, Thea waved her hand and teleported away with him. Regardless of his willingness, she was determined to have him in charge of the operation.

The Celestial Sage looked at James and asked, “Ja-I mean, Supreme Path, don’t you find his behavior strange?”

The Earthly Sage added gravely, “I also find him odd. From what I remember, Yianni hardly involved himself with the outside world. His personality seems to not match.”

Yaretzi interjected, “There definitely is something wrong with him. Since coming back from Zymurgy, I’ve been secretly observing him.”

Youcef’s brows knitted. “Yianni? I didn’t notice anything unusual. Is he the Waitara Path’s Soremsia?”

James silently turned around, staring out of the hall.

After a while, the Celestial Sage said, “I’ve heard a legend, Supreme Path. However, I don’t know its reliability.”

With his back still turned to them, James asked, “What is it?”

The Celestial Sage said solemnly, “It’s said that the Waitara Path abandoned the Forty-Nine Daoism and created Historial Daoism. His first Historial being had three forms. After reaching perfection in his Historial Daoism, it derived into a past, present, and future form. “It’s speculated that the first Historial being is three entities in one.”

James abruptly turned around, shock etched across his handsome face.

The Earthly Sage added, “I’ve also heard Tirta mention it before. The past, present, and future are not included in the Forty-Nine Daoisms. According to her, the Waitara Path not only created his own Historial Daoism, but it formed into three more Daoisms: past, present, and future.” James gasped at their words. Their information aligned perfectly with what he had received. Could it be that the Waitara Path’s Soremsia had also split into past, present, and future forms?

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7545-Yaretzi mused, “The past, present, and future. So, according to this idea, using the River of Time and space, one can hide without a trace or form. Does this concept extend to the Waitara Path’s Soremsia as well?”

Youcef squinted at James. “So, you’re saying the Waitara Path’s Soremsia is divided into three parts? Its past form is hidden within the River of Time, its present form is in Zymurgy. But where is its future form?”

The Celestial Sages exchanged glances and then focused on James.

James clasped his hands behind his back, silently pondering. Yaretzi and Youcef’s analysis had just unraveled a mystery for him.

For the longest time, he had always wondered why a Historial being like him, with a mortal body, could surpass Alcide beings and Xyloria gods. He questioned how he could cultivate to the Zenthur Rank and form a second main self.

In that moment, a possibility struck him. The Waitara Path had created Historial beings to evade the constraints of the Nine Caeloros Gods of Nothingness' Forty-Nine Daoisms and to ensure the survival of Reincarnation Soremsia. However, the substantial effort devoted to creating the first Historial being resulted in all subsequent Historial beings having greater potential than Alcide beings.

Historial beings exhibited stronger emotions and desires, superior comprehension skills, wisdom, and imagination. Their greatest potential allowed them to cultivate past, present, and future forms.

No matter how strong Alcide beings became, they could possess only one form. Meanwhile, Historial beings that met all conditions could possess three forms. James, who had cultivated to the Zenthur Rank and gained a second main self, was already invincible in the Haleth Realm. If he cultivated a third main self, his strength would surpass all powerhouses and gods.

James slowly began to piece together the puzzle. He had achieved the Zenthur Rank after being inspired by the Radiant Titanform, which Yianni had taught him in the Gate of Mystery. He enhanced the technique during his battle against Xanthakos, evolving it to the Zenthur Rank. Essentially, the Radiant Titanform and Zenthur Rank shared the same origin.

He wondered if Yianni had also been inspired by something greater to create the Radiant Titanform, allowing him to have two main selves. This raised two important questions—how did Yianni learn about this potential? Did he truly discover it on his own?

After all, nothing could be created through sudden enlightenment. Yianni was credited as the originator of the Marciais Combat Form. Yet, it had existed in the Dark World long before Yianni, who refined and elevated it.

James' thoughts spiraled deeper. He wondered whether Yianni was one of the Waitara Path's Reincarnated Soremsia and which form he might be. If not, Yianni's adventures must have brought him into contact with someone knowledgeable about the three forms.

Thea was also familiar with the concept of past, present, and future forms. She had taught him this in the past to save him when he created his formation. Though he lost his past and future forms in the battle against Xayal, the memory of their power remained vivid.

Back then, Thea had not been split into two halves and still possessed her complete memory as the Yin governor. Thus, it was reasonable for her to know about the three forms. After all, Frona had tasked her with finding the Waitara Path's Reincarnation Soremsia and resolving the Leere Tribulation.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7546-With these logical assumptions, James was nearly certain that the Waitara Path's Reincarnation Soremsia had past, present, and future forms. Their next task was to uncover Yianni's true identity and ascertain if he was one of them. If Yianni proved not to be, it would still be crucial to force him to reveal his secrets to gain more information.

James leaned towards the belief that Yianni was not the Waitara Path's Reincarnation Soremsia. The alternative, that his teacher might be an enemy, was a reality too difficult to face.

Perhaps Thea's plan to get Yianni directly involved would be pivotal. However, Yianni's current strength was so formidable that he could effortlessly kill the Celestial Sages. To confirm his identity, James would have to enhance the Celestial Sages' power, enabling them to effectively challenge him.

James turned to the Celestial Sages and asked, "Are you sure about proceeding with Thea's suggestion?"

The Celestial Sages exchanged glances before nodding firmly.

"In that case, let's put on a convincing show," James said.

With a wave of his hand, two torrents of path source surged toward the Celestial Sages, enveloping them.

Startled, they could not react before the overwhelming force drew them into the void.

Although Yianni had not been appointed as a deity, he wielded strength on par with the weaker Path Emperors. Therefore, James had to bolster their power to match that of the Path Emperors to ensure a balanced test of Yianni's abilities and identity.

Yaretzi and Youcef watched anxiously, aware of the greater significance behind James's actions.

The Celestial Sages hovered in the sky, their strength visibly increasing as their golden bodies underwent a drastic transformation. As James poured path source into their bodies, their power peaked.

In a brief span James accomplished what no other deity could. He created two super powerhouses with strength equivalent to Path Emperors, a feat possible only because he was the Haleth Realm's ruler who comprehended the Forty-Nine Daoisms. Content belongs to After a while, the Celestial Sages emitted dazzling lights. They slowly descended to the hall, eager to speak. However, James waved his hand, interrupting them.

"Don't speak or question anything. When you're attacked, fight back with all your strength until the end. I will make proper arrangements," James instructed.

Though puzzled, the Celestial Saints nodded, their trust in James unwavering.

At that moment, Yaretzi asked, "What do we do next?"

et James squinted and answered, "Let's go to Sk's headquarters. The place is important to my friend, and I can't bear for it to be damaged. Please be careful." Understanding the significance of his words, Yaretzi nodded. With their course set, they vanished from the palace hall.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7547-Since Yegor and Herodias of Sk settled in the storied lands of Great Historial, young master Truett assumed the title of Grand Steward of the Greater Realms' Jademora Empire. His wife, Xitlaly, became the Third War King, overseeing all affairs of Sk. However, following the tumultuous war, Xitlaly withdrew from Sk's dealings, leaving the decision-making power with the Celestial Sages, who assisted their young master, Jaime.

In contrast to the chaos that plagued the Greater Realms, Sk's headquarters was peaceful. Suddenly, the air was filled with a hauntingly beautiful flute melody, a sound so divine it seemed to surpass nature itself. The enchanting notes captivated all within the headquarters, compelling every creature to lift their gaze in search of the source.

The music spread and froze everyone in place, causing an eerie stillness to settle over the headquarters. In the silent trance, a shadowy figure flashed through the void outside, skimming over the heads of the entranced beings and rushing toward the main hall.

A golden light flashed, and Yianni appeared in the grand palace. His expression was complex as he stood before the Celestial Sages, who sat cross-legged in serene contemplation.

The Sk Guardians beside them quickly shifted positions, shielding the Celestial Sages behind them. Yianni's brows knitted at the sight.

One of the Sk Guardians questioned, "Who are you? How dare you trespass into Sk's territory?"

The other guardian echoed, "Presumptuous! Leave immediately!"

However, Yianni remained indifferent to their threats. He raised his hand, and a black-and-white light surged, knocking them away. Shortly after, the Celestial Sages slowly opened their eyes.

Yianni asked coldly, “Do you recognize me, Celestial Sages?”

After exchanging glances with the Earthly Sage, the Celestial Sage said, “You broke into our headquarters with just a piece of music. You must be someone powerful.”

The Earthly Sage asked, “Did the guy impersonating Emperor Caden send you?”

Yianni snorted, “Who is he to command me?”

The Heavenly Sage squinted and asked, “Are you a Path Emperor from Zymurgy?” –

The Earthly Sage said solemnly, “The Waitara Path is the only one who dares to act with such arrogance.” The Celestial Sages’ eyes trembled. “Are you the Waitara Path?”

The Earthly Sage said, “The Waitara Path is long gone. He must be the Reincarnation Soremsia.”

Yianni placed a hand behind his net back and laughed. “It seems the Earthly Sage is the wiser one. Since you recognize me, you should know what I’m here for.” The Celestial Sage asked, “What do you want?”

“I heard James’ children, Noel and Xainte, have become your disciples. I’d like to meet them.”

The Celestial Sages immediately raised their guards.

Yianni assured them, “I won’t harm you two. If you hand them over, I can appoint you two as deities.”

The Celestial Sages exchanged incredulous looks before bursting in to laughter. Seeing their reaction, Yianni slowly clenched his fist.

s looks before The Celestial Sage said, “It doesn’t matter who you are. Do you think we’d betray our disciples?”

Yianni’s face darkened, and then he nodded.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7548- “Forget it. Killing you two will lead me to James anyway,” Yianni declared, waving his hand. A terrifying purple-gold light burst forth, hurtling directly at the Celestial Sages.

Boom!

With a deafening explosion, the Celestial Sages were blasted into the air. The cushions they had been resting on moments before were reduced to ashes, and the hall trembled violently.

In the blink of an eye, they launched a fierce attack on Yianni from two directions without hesitation. Their combined strength now surpassed that of even Yegor and Herodias. James had given them a boost, granting them power equivalent to a Path Emperor.

The Celestial Sages bombarded Yianni with a relentless onslaught of hundreds of thousands of moves, forcing him into a continuous retreat.

Yianni was taken aback by their ferocity. 'Weren't we supposed to be putting on a show? Judging by the intensity of their attacks, they seem serious. This isn't their original strength or cultivation. They must have received significant help. Does James want me to go all out and kill them?' As Yianni's thoughts raced, the Celestial Sages charged forward, unleashing four phantom palms at him.

Quickly gathering his wits, Yianni countered their attack. A loud explosion ensued as his palms clashed with the phantom palms, and powerful shockwaves rippled through the surroundings. Unable to withstand the force, the hall collapsed.

The Celestial Sages and Yianni soared into the sky, shifting their battlefield.

Meanwhile, the Sk Guardians who had been knocked away earlier attempted to flee but were buried under the debris.

Yianni fought valiantly against the Celestial Sages in the void above Sk headquarters. The battle was fierce and evenly matched. The Heavenly Sage attacked with ener while the Earthly Sage kept Yianni engaged in close combat. Despite specializing in close combat, Yianni was under immense pressure. They knew the battle was no longer just an act. Its outcome would be critical.

et "The Celestial Sages are stronger than before. Otherwise, they would be struggling to withstand Yianni's attacks," Thea murmured, then turned to James. "Did you do this?" "Yes," James admitted.

Thea frowned. "Why? If the battle continues, innocent lives in Sk will be affected. Do you want to see your friend's home destroyed?"

James responded calmly, "I can restore the place and revive those who die with the snap of my fingers. This battle will reveal Yianni's true identity. The safety of the Greater Realms and Haleth Realm is at stake. I had to take this measure to avert the Leere Tribulation."

The a looked at James in shock, then turned to Yaretzi and Youcef. “Did you two know about this?”

Yaretzi and Youcef exchanged glances and shrugged innocently.

Thea asked, “What if Yianni dies in battle? If he realizes you were testing him...”

She trailed off, realizing that her husband had changed. He was not just an exceptional powerhouse within the Haleth Realm; he was entirely in control of it.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7549-Yianni faced an overwhelming battle against two formidable opponents in the void. Using his extraordinary combat skills and the elusive Terrastride Step, he deftly evaded their powerful strikes, launching rhythmic counterattacks whenever the opportunity arose.

Despite the disadvantage, Yianni maintained his composure, skillfully balancing offense and defense. The Celestial Sages, now elevated to the strength of Path Emperors by James, presented a daunting challenge. Yianni knew he would need to unleash his full power to turn the tide or claim victory.

Unbeknownst to him, that was precisely what James desired. He wanted Yianni to defeat them publicly, forcing him to reveal his true strength. After all, a single misstep in such a high-stakes battle could lead to disastrous consequences.

Even Thea, with her near-perfect Hongrome Body, could not understand James’ intentions.

Yaretzi looked at James and said, “Truett, your impersonator and the War Kings are on the way.”

Sensing the urgency, Youcef commented, “Yianni must finish this quickly, or the situation could spiral out of control.”

Contrary to their anxiousness, James calmly watched the battle unfold. content rights.

Thea observed him, her beautiful face etched with complexity. Her husband had never been so ruthless, especially toward his friends. She could not comprehend the motive behind his actions.

Seeing James’ indifference, Youcef said, “I’ll help him. Let them consider me an envoy for the Waitara Path’s Soremsia.”

Unfortunately, James raised his hand and teleported him into another space before he could take action.

Yaretzi and Thea were stunned by the scene. Suddenly, a familiar fiery red Sword Light erupted from Sk's headquarters and sped toward Yianni.

Yianni deflected the Sword Light with his palm, causing a thunderous rumble. The Sword Light tumbled through the void and transformed into Jaime. As soon as he appeared, he spat out a mouthful of blood. Yianni, the Celestial Sages, Thea, and the other onlookers were shocked.

Yaretzi wondered, "Why is he not affected by my powers?"

Thea replied, "He was born in the Great Historial Land and is a Hongrome Child. Hence, he can't be restricted." She paused and turned to James. "This..."

James squinted and said, "Perfect! His identity justifies this battle!"

Yaretzi and Thea stared at James as if he were a devil, unable to believe his callousness. On the other hand, Yianni seemed to have received a command and changed his target to the injured Jaime. The Celestial Sage quickly intercepted him, leading to another intense confrontation. Their energies flickered, and black-and-white lights flashed in the sky. The spreading forces hurled Jaime away. "No! He mustn't get hurt!" Thea attempted to intervene, but James grabbed her.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7550-Thea roared, "You're ruthless, James! That's your best friend's son! Are you not afraid he will turn against you?!"

James sighed. "I do this so he won't turn against me in the future."

Thea stared at James, her anger palpable, but realization began to dawn in her eyes.

In the void, the Celestial Sages and Yianni were almost entirely engulfed by black-and-white lights. Their Supernatural Powers clashed in a deadly dance.

The Celestial Sages unleashed an onslaught of Sword Lights, phantom palms, fists, and countless weapons, pushing Yianni to his limits.

Even so, Yianni was undeterred. His Radiant Titanform gleamed as he battled the Celestial Sages in close combat. They exchanged millions of moves in mere moments.

Sk headquarters shook under the force of their conflict. Structures crumbled, and the imprisoned Sk creatures below were caught in the catastrophe. Those with weaker cultivation exploded on the spot, while those with more substantial cultivation barely withstood a few waves before their golden bodies shattered, vanishing into nothingness.

The Soul Energy Balls left behind by the dead scattered in the shockwaves. Yaretzi struggled as she tried to collect them. Seeing the dire situation, Thea joined her to collect their Soul Energy Balls despite her anger.

James stood unmoving, his resolve firm. This battle had to continue until a winner was determined, no matter the cost-even if it meant the destruction of Sk's headquarters.

Boom!

One of Yianni's main selves was knocked away by the Celestial Sage's combined attacks. After stabilizing himself, he spat out blood. With messy hair, his eyes burned with ferocity.

"How dare you hurt me? Go to hell!"

Yianni spread his arms, summoning ellet his other body back from the black-and-white light. His body burst out with black lights and immediately transformed into a massive black dragon. With a roar, he opened his gaping maw at the Celestial Sage. A vast stream of black energy spewed forth and enveloped the Celestial Sages, trapping them within.

"Haha! You are nothing but ants. Since you two want to die, I'll grant your wish."

Yianni's laughter came from the black dragon as it coiled and writhed in the void, its terrifying body wrapping around the Celestial Sages.

Truett, Xitlaly, and James' impersonator, who had just arrived, witnessed the sight.

Enraged, Truett struck the Tirta Grand Formation with his palm. To his surprise, the formation that he used to be able to open easily rebounded his attack, knocking him away.

"No! Celestial Sages!"

Xitlaly shouted when she saw the Celestial Sages' distorted looks as they struggled to break free. The imposter and the war kings behind him were equally stunned by the sight. At that moment, the Celestial Sages grabbed each other's hands. They exchanged a knowing look and forcefully sat legged.

Amid their torment, the saints clasped each other's hands, exchanged a look of mutual understanding, and sat cross-legged despite their pain. Dazzling black and white lights emerged from their bodies, merging into a massive rotating circle.