

Read the latest chapter The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7565 here

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7565-In the third layer of Forladtt, within a room in the golden palace, a beautiful woman in a blue robe stood nervously, her long hair flowing and her demeanor like that of a frightened little rabbit. Behind her, a handsome man in a purple-gold robe paced slowly, his hands behind his back, a particularly gloomy expression on his face.

After a prolonged silence, the woman, unable to bear the oppressive atmosphere any longer, finally spoke. “No matter what, the destruction of Sk and the fall of the Celestial Sages have greatly shocked the Greater Realms.”

“All the Greater Realms have directed their ire towards the Waitara Path’s Reincarnation Soremsia, labeling him an evil spirit causing turmoil. Suppressing them all would be counterproductive if you ask us to do so.”

“What’s worse is that the destruction of Sk and the death of the Celestial Sages have greatly shocked our empire as well. Whether it’s the war kings, marshals, or the soldiers of the Mahayana Army under their command, they are all very restless.”

“I can clearly sense they’re not putting in effort to destroy the Greater Realm’s sects. Their morale is wavering.”

She abruptly turned to look at the handsome man. “You can’t be so stubborn anymore, James. Our empire destroyed tens of thousands of sects at once, yet it couldn’t suppress the voices of the Greater Realms or calm their anger towards the Waitara Path’s Reincarnation Soremsia. If this continues, it will be the Jademora Empire that causes public outrage.” Hearing her words, the man halted and squinted at her. Under his sharp gaze, the woman lowered her head in fear.

“Though we don’t share blood, I’ve always regarded you as family.”

The woman was stunned by his words.

The impostor, disguised as James, asked solemnly, “Tell me the truth. Do you really believe the Waitara Path’s Reincarnation Soremsia is behind the destruction of Sk and the death of the Celestial Sages?” Maxine suddenly fell silent. She had conducted a thorough investigation into the event that had shocked the world and caused widespread panic and anger, but in the end, she couldn’t find any clues. The impostor said coldly, “It’s hard to truly know someone’s heart. Don’t you think Truett’s attitude towards me has been strange since I returned?” Shocked, Maxine asked, “Are you suggesting Truett orchestrated everything?”

The impostor replied grimly, “If I hadn’t returned, he would be in complete control of the Greater Realms. Now that I’m back, he’s lost that authority.” Maxine trembled and shook her head in disbelief. “No, no, Truett is not like that. He’s loyal to you. He’s your close friend...”

The impostor slowly approached Maxine. “You’re too naive, Maxine. In the face of true power, there are no friends-only winners and losers.”

“He knew that I came back to aid the Waitara Path’s Reincarnation Soremsia in fighting against the Nine Caetoros Gods of Nothingness and to save the Greater Realms. Yet, he staged it so that the Waitara Path’s Reincarnation Soremsia appeared to destroy Sk and kill the Celestial Sages.”
“He doesn’t just want control over the Greater Realms. He may have conspired with the Nine Caeloros Gods of Nothingness to get rid of him.”

Maxine shook her head in disbelief, unable to accept that James would doubt his friend.