

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7566

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7566-However, in the next second, she was stunned to feel his arm wrap around her waist, pulling her forward. When she came to her senses, Maxine found herself pressed against the impostor. She couldn't help but tense up and panic.

As she attempted to break free from the impostor's grip, he said, "Thea is gone now, Maxine. You're the one I trust the most. We must work together, turn the tide, expose the conspiracy, and save the Greater Realms."

Hearing James' words, Maxine felt weak all over, her pretty face flushing. She had been suppressing her feelings for James because of Thea. Now that Thea was gone, her feelings for him could finally be reciprocated.

Maxine's heart raced as she felt his breath caress her face. She summoned the courage to look into his eyes.

In that moment, everything seemed frozen, and they were the only two people in the world. Their mutual feelings surged like an uncontrollable torrent. Gazing at him affectionately, Maxine pursed her lips. Suddenly, the impostor picked her up and spun her around. With a swift motion, he slipped off her blue robe.

In an instant, her stunning figure was revealed to him. Facing the impostor's hungry stare, she felt shy and nervous. Shaking her head gently, she whispered, "No, wait. I..."

Before she could finish speaking, the impostor pulled her into his arms. As she was momentarily taken aback, he waved his hand, and a glowing golden bed materialized behind them. The impostor immediately pressed her onto the bed.

Maxine suddenly snapped back to her senses and struggled to break free. "Wait, James. No, we can't... We're family..."

are fate impostor replied, "We but not blood-related.

net always known about your feelings for me. Now, we can finally Maxine quickly covered his mouth. Closing her eyes and taking a deep breath, she asked, "Are you using me as a replacement for Thea? I want you to understand clearly that m Maxine! Did you hear me? It's Maxine." She shouted, but James reached out and tore off her last garment. His hands began to explore her body.

Suddenly, there was a knock on the door.

Startled, both the impostor and Maxine were jolted out of their embrace.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7567- "Emperor Caden, something terrible has happened! Open the door immediately!" Rebella's urgent voice pierced through the thick door. The impostor, who had yet to fulfill his lustful desires, clenched his teeth in frustration. He seethed, "What perfect timing!"

"It must be important." Maxine seized the opportunity to push him aside and scrambled to put on her clothes.

Before she could fully dress, the impostor forced himself onto her again and said, "Forget about her. She won't be able to break through the door." Maxine shook her head and said anxiously, "No, James! We must focus on important matters! Rebella is the Jademora Empire's Vice Grand Steward. If she's coming to demand an audience, something significant must be at stake. You can't afford to ignore her-this could cost us valuable support..." The impostor, lost in his debauched intentions, was too preoccupied to heed the warning.

Suddenly, a loud crash echoed through the palace. The supposedly impenetrable door, reinforced by protective formations, was shattered.

The impostor turned around, his face contorted in fury. "How dare you break into my chambers! Are you trying to rebel?"

He was abruptly silenced as he took in the intruders. Not only had Rebella burst in, but an imposing entourage accompanied her. Among them were the empire's war kings and marshals, along with Xzavion, who had recently resigned from all his positions. At the forefront of this formidable group was a beautiful woman draped in a flowing white robe and veil. She radiated an ethereal, purple-gold aura that heralded her divine descent.

Stunned by the sudden turn of events, Maxine, who had been restrained, screamed in terror. In a frantic attempt to cover herself, she wrapped herself in a cascade of vibrant lights and huddled in a corner of the bed.

The high-ranking officials of the Jademora Empire, led by the white-veiled goddess, were momentarily speechless. It was clear what the two were up to, but they could not believe James, who had always been loyal to his wife, would betray her.

They quickly pieced together the scandalous scene before them, realizing that the figure claiming to be Emperor Caden seemed strange.

He perfectly mimicked the emperor's demeanor, but his actions starkly betrayed James' character. They had suspicions but tried not to entertain the thoughts. However, the dissonance between Emperor Caden's revered image and this impostor's disgraceful conduct was unmistakable. The beautiful woman in the lead observed the chaos with a cold smile and finally broke the silence. "Woah, what do we have here? From what I know, Maxine is a close relative of Emperor Caden. Is our emperor unable to control his desires so much that he had to sink this low and betray his family?"

Her words ignited a murmured discussion among the high-ranking officials, their disbelief morphing into a simmering discontent.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7568-“I told you this impostor didn’t resemble Emperor Caden. Why didn’t you believe me?”

“Indeed. We’ve fought alongside Emperor Caden through thick and thin. We know his true nature.”

“This impostor is outrageous! He’s blatantly impersonating our Emperor.”

“I had suspicions from when he returned, but there was no solid proof until now.”

“Execute him. We must uncover his true identity and see how audacious he is to impersonate our Emperor in the Jademora Empire.”

The fake James erupted in fury at the sound of their accusations. He unleashed a dazzling explosion of million-colored light toward them-a show of power intended to intimidate.

However, the beautiful woman in the white veil calmly raised a hand. A shimmering purple-gold shield enveloped the officials, reflecting the burst of light back at the impostor.

Seizing the moment, the fake James hastily put on his clothes and angrily pointed at the intruders. “How dare you invade my chamber without permission? Do you have no respect for me as your master, Rebella?”

Rebella stood tall, her gaze icy as she met his anger with cold defiance. “Master, it seems you’ve embarrassed yourself.”

The impostor’s face reddened. “What are you implying? Are you suspecting me?”

Rebella smirked. “I’m merely curious why you and the Great Protector are...”

The fake James interrupted, “She’s injured, so I’m treating her wounds.”

Rebella nodded meaningfully, “I see! Why do you need to treat her in bed without clothes?”

The officials stared at the impostor with disgust and fury.

The fake James, flustered and defensive, pointed accusingly at Rebella. “Haven’t I treated your injuries this way too?”

"I don't recall your methods requiring me to disrobe," Rebella retorted, her gaze shifting to Maxine. "What kind of injury warranted such an unconventional treatment?" Maxine, crumpled in a corner, felt the weight of embarrassment and wished for a way to disappear.

"Rebella!" The fake James' voice thundered in anger. "What is Who is this veiled conspiring against? Before Rebella could respond, the mysterious woman in white stepped forward, her gaze fixed on the impostor with disdain.

"You're quite the actor. I might never have seen through your charade if not for the fact that I'm James' second body."

The impostor's face twisted with rage. "You... Who are you to speak to me like that?"

The mysterious woman chuckled softly. "Curious, are you? First, remove your clothes so I can treat your wounds. We should at least see the real you." The impostor's confidence wavered. He took a few uneasy steps back, his bravado faltering in the face of her imposing presence.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7569-The impostor's voice sliced through the tension as the mysterious goddess in the white robe advanced.

"It's me, Emperor Caden! We've faced countless battles together. You're all my most trusted allies. Are you going to follow this unknown woman in defying me?"

The officials exchanged glances, their expressions unreadable. Though they revered Emperor Caden, their loyalty stemmed not just from his name and power but also from moral and unconventional means.

While the imposter mimicked James' habits, he quickly dismantled James' image through his illogical and bizarre actions since arriving in the Greater Realms. His blatant missteps had tarnished the emperor's once well-respected reputation.

Seeing no support from his allies, the impostor's frustration boiled over. "So, this is how it is. You're all conspiring with this woman to overthrow me..." "Who are you?" Clayton's voice rang out sharply. "Do you know Franciscus, Zeux, Yianni?"

The impostor's face twitched. He took a few hesitant steps back, aware of who these individuals were but struggling to piece together their relationships. Staying silent seemed the safest strategy. They wouldn't dare act against him as long as he could avoid revealing his true identity. After all, James' status was truly untouchable.

Maxine spoke up from behind him. "You're not James. Who are you?"

Without warning, Maxine slapped the impostor's back. He swiftly dodged, then seized her by the throat with one hand while menacingly pointing at Rebella and the others.

“Don’t move. If you take another step, I’ll kill her!”

Rebella and the other officials, led by Clayton, moved forward with lethal intent. Though the imposter had been exposed, he continued to use Maxine as a shield.

He roared, “Don’t come any closer! Or she dies!”

Struggling in his grasp, Maxine shouted angrily, “Who are you?”

The imposter screamed in desperation. “It’s me, James. Use any skills you want to see through me. I just lost some memories due to injury! Is that all it takes for you to believe I’m a fraud?” Maxine’s eyes slowly closed. This wasn’t James. He would never treat her this way. But facing the impostor’s face, she struggled to find a reason for him to continue the charade.

The mysterious woman in the white robe raised a hand, halting her followers advance. Turning back to the imposter, she asked calmly, “Are you a pawn of the Waitara Patkor Goyo? Reveal the truth, and you.” Sworn spare The imposter snapped his head up and laughed maniacally. “You’re not worthy to challenge me. I am the Greater Realms’ ruler, who dictates the fate of all beings. I am James!”

He fixed a fierce glare at the beautiful woman. “Do you think I don’t know who you are? My second body is Frona, the leader of the .n Caeloros Gods of Nothing “cond You’re the true villain who enslaved the Greater Realms.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7570- “You all are nothing special. Your good days are numbered. The end is near. If you repent now, you might escape this catastrophe. If you persist, you will face a gruesome death, and your soul will be obliterated.”

As the impostor raged in frustration, the mysterious woman slowly removed her veil, revealing a face of breathtaking beauty. It was none other than Lesia. At that moment, she was no longer Frona’s Soremsia, but an individual entity.

The impostor’s eyes widened, momentarily transfixed by her unparalleled beauty beneath the veil. He had not anticipated such a mesmerizing woman to exist in the Greater Realms. With such a presence, she could easily outshine and outmatch any woman, including Maxine, whom he held captive.

“You may wonder why our empire’s ancestors of the Greater Realms haven’t intervened yet despite your arrogant behavior,” Lesia continued with a hint of amusement, her hands clasped behind her back. “Even after Sk’s destruction and the fall of the Celestial Sages, the Greater Historial Land remained silent.”

She smiled slightly. “It’s because you’re unaware of the Great Historial Land’s existence, and that I’ve been waiting for you! It’s a pity you’re so foolish. Though you’ve managed to imitate my master's appearance and knowledge, you've failed to grasp his true character. Had he returned to the Greater Realms, even if he stayed hidden, he would have notified the Great Historial Land because it's the cornerstone of the Greater Realms." Lesia glanced disdainfully at the impostor and said, "But you, on the other hand, only sought to seize control of the Greater Realms and then confront our ancestors. To my surprise, you couldn't even fool these experienced officials."

The impostor tightened his grip on Maxine's neck, seething with anger. "If you're so clever, why didn't you expose me sooner? Why wait until now?" Lesia shrugged. "We enjoyed watching your little drama unfold. Despite your lack of intelligence and ineptitude, you've been quite entertaining." "Very well!" the impostor snarled through gritted teeth. "Let me tell you the truth. You can't trap me. All the powerhouses above the Fifth Xaeclon Rank in the Greater Realms obey my command. Even if you know the truth, what can you do? How many will believe that I'm not James?"

Clayton's fury was ignited. "Why waste more words with him? Just kill him."

As he spoke, a blade of light shot towards the impostor with deadly intent.

In response, the impostor unleashed a wave of filed Waltraud Power that.

the . The overwhelming force sent all but Lesia and Rebella flying. Taking advantage of the chaos, the impostor instantly vanished, taking Maxine as hostage. He shouted, "No matter how smart you are, you can't stop us from taking control of the Greater Realms, Frona. When the time comes, I'll make you ила miserable." As the Waltraud Power dissipated, the impostor's roars echoed.

Clayton and the other war kings prepared to pursue, but Lesia raised her hand to stop them.

Xzavion said, "We can still catch him."

Lesia said gravely, "There's no need to. Prepare yourselves for the impending war of the Greater Realms."

Her words stunned everyone.

Another war loomed, and the thought of so many lives at stake weighed heavily on them. The realization that all their top powerhouses had left them irritated. They could not understand why Lesia allowed the impostor to escape when she had the power to stop him. The question of whether other plans were at play flashed in their minds.