

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7602 -7610

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7602-“Noel, Winnie, and Xainte are leading troops in a fierce battle in Forladtt Land and cannot leave now. In Great Historial Land, the most suitable candidate is Xezal. I was considering her, but...”

Wytot looked at James with determination and said, “No ‘buts,’ James. Men should handle these matters. Frankly, I’m not even afraid of death, so what’s the harm in losing my past? There’s nothing worth remembering anyway. I might be happier without those memories, not knowing who I was.

“You’re the Haleth Realm’s Ruler and possess powers that transcend the Greater Realms, allowing you to create new worlds. You have no reason to care about the Greater Realms’ inhabitants since it’s easy for you to create new life in a new world.” James smiled faintly at his remarks.

Wytot pressed on. “But you didn’t choose to abandon the Greater Realms; you came back as the Supreme Path to save us. We’re incredibly blessed to have you. How can I stand by while you do so much for us?”

Without waiting for a response, he pointed outside the hall and said, “The two hundred thousand elites above the Seventh Xaeclon Rank that you requested are already waiting outside for your orders.”

He knelt on one knee, clasping his hands in front of James. “I will serve you with my life, Supreme Path.”

Seeing Wytot’s resolution, James closed his eyes and took a deep breath. With Wytot’s integrity and loyalty, James knew that Wytot would never refuse to help, even without understanding the reasons and consequences. Still, his unquestioning acceptance touched him.

Suddenly, Thea interjected. “There’s another way. Do you remember the memory inscription I gave you?”

James nodded. “I know you want to suggest gathering Wytot and these two hundred thousand elites’ memory inscriptions.”

Thea elaborated, “Yes, so even if they lose their past, they can still regain their memories from the inscriptions...”

James cut her off. “That’s too naive. Back then, this method was useful. However, with our current cultivation levels and the strength of our opponents, it’s simply ineffectual. They are about to lose their memories and everything from their past.” Thea was stunned by the revelation.

Wyot stood up and said, "Don't worry. We're ready and have no regrets."

et James instructed, "Tell them the consequences. Those who aren't willing can choose not to and can enter the new world with the other Dooms." Taken aback, Wyot asked, "Is...is that necessary?"

James said firmly, "Don't hide it from them. Each of them has a past of their own. It's hard to give up, and we must respect their decision. Otherwise, we'd be just as shameless as the Waitara Patel. Moreover, the Sealing Formation I will teach will require an unwavering will to stop the Waitara Path's past form from escaping."

Wyot took a deep breath, then left the formation.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7603-Wyot delivered a fervent speech outside the hall. Not a single one of the 200,000 elite soldiers from the Dooms swayed despite understanding the dire consequences they faced.

James and Thea stepped out of the hall, casting their eyes over the meticulously arranged ranks of the 200,000 troops.

"We only need twenty thousand people. It'll be a boon for that bastard if more were to go. I'll give everyone more time to ponder over it and decide before the transition to the new world is complete. I hope those who choose to go are ready when I open the River of Time." After speaking, James summoned a Supreme Lotus and jumped onto it. He sat down and closed his eyes, preparing for their upcoming strategy. Having comprehended the 49 Daoisms, he was well-versed in the River of Time, and his knowledge was on par with that of the Waitara Path.

Recognizing that the Waitara Path's Reincarnation Soremsia in its past form resided in the Dark World's River of Time, he needed to divide it in line with the Dark World's partition and then seal it to trap the Waitara Path.

Meanwhile, Thea approached Wyot and instructed, "Do as he says and gather only twenty thousand troops."

Wyot took a deep breath and shouted, "We'll follow Emperor Caden's orders! Out of two hundred thousand, only twenty thousand will undertake this mission! In groups of ten, discuss among yourselves and choose just one person! Whether you use rock-paper-scissors or any other method, whoever volunteers or is selected will remain here."

"Those who aren't chosen, proceed to the light portal in the void and seek your blessings in the new world."

An uproar erupted among the 200,000 elite soldiers. As members of the Doom Race, they were natural warriors, the cream of the crop. Meeting a qualification threshold to participate in the fight was expected. However, those sent on the mission were likely to be sacrifices, yet they weren't even allowed to make that contribution.

Despite their grumbling, they respected Wyot's authority and began determining who would stay through various means. Those who were eliminated flew into the void, heading toward the light portal.

Suddenly, a Bohner Light descended rapidly from the void, transforming into Quattro beside Thea and Wyot.

"Why haven't you left yet?" Wyot asked, surprised.

"Aren't you still here too?" Quattro retorted, rolling his eyes. Then, he smiled at Thea and said, "I need a favor..."

"No!" Thea refused firmly.

Quattro was stunned. "I haven't even said anything yet..."

Thea looked at him and crossed her arms. "I won't agree to any favors from you. Head to the new world immediately, or your beautiful wives and concubines will be snatched away." Wyot interrupted, "Hey, hey! Hold on. Why do you need to slander me?"

"I'm just trying to make a point," Quattro said, turning back to Thea. "Please help me put in a word. It'll be more effective coming from you..."

Thea's face darkened. "Since you know your status, you should understand your responsibilities, Quattro! Stop being so long-winded and go to the new world. They need a powerhouse like you to protect it."

As Thea turned to leave, Quattro suddenly knelt.

Startled, Thea wheeled around sharply. "What are you doing?"

"I've never asked you for anything, nor have I ever knelt to James. Please grant me this request."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7604-Hearing Quattro's earnest plea, Thea sighed helplessly. "Do you even know what we're about to face?"

Quattro replied seriously, "I do. I overheard everything while Wyot was briefing his troops. Although I might be a bit naughty and greedy, when it comes down to it, I can be reliable, just like any of our friends.

"Everything I have today, I owe to the boss. Without him, I would've perished, and my soul would've been scattered long ago.

“He is risking everything for the sake of all living beings. I might not be as heroic as him, but I’m willing to stand by his side and do my part, even if it means sacrificing my life.”

Thea looked at Quattro’s determined face, hesitant to speak.

Wyt suddenly laughed. “I didn’t expect you to be so brave when it counts, Piggy.”

Thea scolded Wyt, “Enough with the jokes. He’s a fool, but you should know better.”

Quattro declared proudly, “I’m quite sensible. James put a lot of effort into training Wyt, intending for him to make great contributions and eventually lead the new world.

“But my bond with James runs deeper than his. The new world will be my new home too, and I need to contribute to earn my place.”

‘Merit? Are you insane? What is a place when it comes at the cost of losing your past and identity? Quattro was smarter than he appeared.’ Wyt and Thea were rendered speechless.

Meanwhile, James, who sat cross-legged on the Supreme Lotus, slowly opened his eyes. Behind him, an expanding ball of colorful light began to grow. Suddenly, he said, “If he wants to go, let him go.”

James’ words startled Wyt and Thea.

Quattro quickly stood up, laughing excitedly, “Thanks, James! My admiration for you is...”

Before he he could finish, James grabbed him and pulled him into the expanding ball of colorful James asked, “Is everyone ready?”

“Yes!” The 20,000 selected elites from the Dooms responded in unison from below.

With a wave of his hand, James swept the 20,000 elites into the ball of colorful light using his path source. Then, he flipped his hands, and the Zirconia Path Scroll from the Chaos Temple and the new world flew toward his palm. Instantly, the light that had covered the Dark World vanished.

Thea and Wyt flew up to face James. Though they had countless things to say, they remained silent.

“Let’s enter the River of Time first, then make arrangements after,” James instructed. Taking Thea and Wyt with him, he entered the colorful light ball behind. The colorful light ball shone brilliantly before disappearing into the void.

The Dark World was completely emptied and devoid of any living creatures.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7605-The scene at the edge of the Greater Realms' Forladtt Land was chaotic and violent. Shouts filled the air, flags blotted out the sun, spirit beasts roared, mounts galloped, and the atmosphere crackled with the aura of countless magical powers and the radiance of artifacts and super artifacts. It was a colossal war scene.

The Jademora Empire and the Path Guardian Alliance were locked in the most devastating and unprecedented war, all for control of Forladtt Land. All beings from the Yuraeceon Xaelm Rank to the Daeclon Mahayana were involved. Unlike previous wars, this one involved indiscriminate attacks and killings regardless of cultivation level. As a result, great powerhouses would kill hundreds of millions of lower-cultivation beings in an instant. The brutality was worse than purgatory.

The war yielded no significant results despite dozens of epochs of fierce fighting in the vast void outside Forladtt Land. The killing increased, and over 70% of the Greater Realms' beings perished. Yet, Forladtt Land remained impregnable and was still firmly under the control of the Jademora Empire. In the Path Guardian Alliance base camp, the leader, the Yang governor, masquerading as James, was seething with rage and frustration. He had been in a similar situation countless times over the years, even killing thousands of sect masters in his rages, but the tides never turned in his favor. Despite concentrating all the elite soldiers and sects of the Greater Realms, the Path Guardian Alliance under his leadership was still inferior to the Jademora Empire, which appeared to be struggling on the surface.

The three Mahayana Armies under his command were meant to be the trump cards for the attack on Forladtt Land. However, the Jademora Empire had countered them all.

The Xaeclon Army, led by Wayra, was crushed by the Xerion Dragon Army of Adair and Xatia from the Jademora Empire. They faced heavy casualties and were nearly annihilated.

net The Xurxo Army, led by Matias, was supposed to be the main offensive force. However, it was suppressed. by the combined attacks of the Jademora Empire's Heavenly Paths, Protectors, Realm Lords, and Marshals, resulting in more than half of its troops being killed and wounded. A formidable force of 30,000 powerhouses from the Jademora Empire, assisted by two powerhouses at the Daeclon Mahayana Rank, intercepted them in the Hudde Passage. They severely damaged the Yang governor's army in a decisive battle that left him shaken to his core. Desperate, the Yang governor captured a group of powerhouses from the Yin's Void to masquerade as the Yitro Army to stabilize his army's morale. Less than 30% of the creatures initially under his command remained, and Forladtt Land was still out of his reach.

"Report!" A figure rushed into the hall, kneeling on one knee. "Emperor Caden, the Xurxo Army led by Wayra has surrendered to the enemy."

The Yang governor felt as if he were struck by lightning.

Shortly after, another masked figure with black wings rushed in and knelt. "Emperor Caden, Matias and his army have surrendered to the enemy!" The shock of these reports made the Yang governor stagger back, completely stunned by the sudden turn of events.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7606-Misfortunes never come alone. Wayra and Matias' surrender was a devastating blow to the Yang governor. Before he could vent his rage, another masked woman rushed in and collapsed at his feet.

Looking down, the Yang governor was shocked to see the woman covered in blood and gravely injured.

"Emperor Caden, it's dire. Two mysterious powerhouses have kidnapped Maxine."

The Yang governor erupted like a volcano, yanking the bloodied woman up. "Tell me, what happened? I left over a dozen powerhouses at the Soma Daeclon Rank with Maxine. How could she be kidnapped?"

Facing the Yang governor's fury, the woman hurriedly explained, "Those two mysterious powerhouses were incredibly powerful and decisive. They instantly killed the eighteen powerhouses at the Soma Daeclon Rank left to guard her. I tried to stop them but couldn't withstand even a single move." The Yang governor's cheeks twitched, and his eyes filled with bloodshot rage.

"Who were they? Did they introduce themselves?"

The woman hurriedly shook her head. "No! I only know it was a man and a woman. Both were extremely strong..."

"Useless." The Yang governor didn't wait for her to finish and struck her with his palm, causing her to explode. In the next moment, a blood mist filled the room.

The two black-clothed beings kneeling on the ground trembled in fear. Since Emperor Caden's return, he seemed completely different from the legendary figure they knew. He was brutal, cruel, and unscrupulous, killing even powerful beings at will. They had begun to doubt whether he was the real Emperor Caden.

At that moment, the Yang governor clenched his fists in anger. After a while, he gnashed his teeth and said, "It seems we can only use the army of the Yin's Void. I must break into Forladdt Land no matter what."

"Whether it's Truett, Rebella, or their chancellor, they will all become dead souls under my sword."

The Yang governor turned and pointed at the two black-clothed beings kneeling on the ground. "Go and deliver my orders immediately. All legions on the front line are to stop attacking, return to their bases, and wait for the next command. The black-clothed beings nodded hurriedly and left in a rush.

“It seems that Lord Goyo must take action,” the Yang governor said angrily. “I doubt your subordinates can stand much longer, James!”

Suddenly, a hollow and sacred voice echoed in the hall.

“You idiots. Stop the attacks immediately. You’ve fallen into James’ trap.”

The Yang governor, filled with resentment, frowned. He immediately scanned the surroundings but couldn’t locate the source of the sound with his Zen.

Just then, a flash of purple-gold light illuminated the area behind him. A mysterious, strong man in a black robe, face covered with only his eyes exposed, suddenly appeared.

When the Yang governor turned around, he nearly fell in fright, his eyes widening with fear.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7607-“Who are you?” The Yang governor, regaining his senses, cautiously pointed at the mysterious man.

The mysterious man sneered. “Your disguise is quite good, but it’s a pity you can imitate his appearance but not his personality. Goyo’s trick is far too clumsy.”

The Yang governor stared, shocked. ‘Who is this mysterious guy? How could he tell at a glance that I’m an imposter? More importantly, he managed to sneak into this heavily guarded hall without anyone noticing and appeared behind me without a sound. Clearly, his strength and cultivation are far superior.’ The mysterious man narrowed his eyes. “Who I am is not important. Stop the attacks immediately. Withdraw all your troops to the Greater Realms. Focus on encouraging reproduction and accumulating Spiritual Providence. That’s what you should do.”

The Yang governor’s cheeks twitched. “I don’t even know you, so why should I listen... huh?”

Before he could finish, the mysterious man suddenly raised his hand, revealing a token that shone with purple light. When the Yang governor saw the colorful ‘path’ word on the token, he was shocked and hurriedly knelt with a thud. “Greetings, Path Envoy.”

The mysterious man put away the token and said coldly, “It’s time to execute the Path’s decree.”

After a brief moment of shock, the Yang governor hurriedly raised his head. “To seize James’ Forladtt Land, we’ve already lost seventy percent of the Greater Realm’s powerhouses. However, I can guarantee that James' forces are at their limits. If you give me another group of elites, I can capture the Forladtt Land soon and cut off his “

Bang!

The mysterious man unleashed a divine light, knocking the Yang governor to the ground.

“You fool. You've lost seventy percent of your forces and still haven't conquered Forladtt Land. Yet, you persist. Do you want to lose everything before you start using your brains?”

The Yang governor spat out a mouthful of blood and climbed to his feet.

The mysterious man continued to reprimand him. “I already told you this is James' trap. Have you been pretending to be James for so long that you think you're him now?”

The Yang governor rubbed his cheek and said, “I don't understand. What's wrong with wanting to destroy his biggest support?”

The mysterious man grabbed his belt collar and said solemnly, “Of course, it's wrong! James' goal is to force the Waitara Path's Reincarnation, Soremsia, to show up at the cost of the deaths of all the Greater Realms' beings. He emptied the World and entered the River of to find the Waitara Path's past form.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7608-The mysterious man released the Yang governor. “I have no intention of divulging more. You're not worthy of knowing the rest. Command your troops to retreat immediately, or I'll shatter your soul, preventing any chance of reincarnation.”

The Yang governor gasped in terror and hurried out to deliver the order personally.

Suddenly, the hall where the mysterious man stood collapsed. Shortly after, a radiant amethyst-gold light flared, and a beautiful woman emerged atop the ruins. Clad in a white robe with a veil over her face, her long, flowing hair danced with the wind, exuding an enchanting aura. She spun around, unleashing a dazzling light that sealed the sentient beings of hundreds of surrounding universes. In the next instant, those universes disintegrated into fragments.

Immediately afterward, the mysterious man, buried under the debris, soared into the void. Upon seeing the woman in white, he wore an expression of surprise.

The woman greeted, “Long time no see, Yyn Daniger.”

The mysterious man, named Yyn, collected himself and laughed. “Should I call you Frona or Lesia?”

“Call me Mama.” The woman waved her hand, and another light descended from the void.

Boom!

Yyn was struck down and crashed into the rubble with a loud bang, causing thick dust to rise. He spat out a mouthful of blood and climbed out with a shocked expression.

“You! You have the Caeloros Supreme Scepter! You’re Frona!”

The woman chuckled. “You retained your memories even after reincarnating with the Waitara Path?”

Yyn was furious. “You...”

The woman smiled at Yyn and mocked, “You showed up knowing I’m in the Greater Realms. It seems the Waitara Path doesn’t value you highly. As a sacrifice, you’re not fulfilling your role properly.

Yyn suddenly raised his head and laughed. “Yo@have the Caeloros Supreme Scepter. I know I am no match for you. But killing me would be futile. I’ve already delivered the Waitara Path’s decree. James whom you had high hopes for, has entered the River of Time, believing he is wise. He may never return.

Yyn suddenly raised his head and laughed. “Yo@have the Caeloros Supreme Scepter. I know I am no match for you. But killing me would be futile. I’ve already delivered the Waitara Path’s decree. James whom you had high hopes for, has entered the River of Time, believing he is wise. He may never return.

“You invested so much effort in orchestrating this plan, yet it didn’t go your way. You can’t stop the Leere Tribulation.”

He pointed his fingers at the woman and said fiercely, “Even with the couldn’t protect the Destiny Sect or escape your doom.

Caeloros Supreme Scepter, you ne

“I’m thrilled to see the miserable fate awaiting the Caeloros Supreme of the Destiny Sect.”

After hearing his words, the woman remained calm, as if watching a clown.

At that moment, another amethyst-gold light pierced through the void, accompanied by an enchanting melody, and landed behind Yyn. Yyn turned around, startled. “You... you were resurrected?”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7609-The latecomer smiled serenely and waved her hand, and melodious music resonated through the void, outshining the sounds of nature. Yyn trembled all over, feeling his soul being drawn away by the music bit by bit.

He spread his arms, and a light shield composed of Waltraud Power immediately enveloped his entire body. "Yaretzi, are you rebelling too?"

Lesia burst into laughter. "You all think that Yaretzi is just the sound that created the Haleth Realm, but you don't know that she is also the soul host of the entire Haleth Realm."

"Yyn, resistance is futile. With me here, your body won't survive, and with Yaretzi here, your soul cannot escape."

Upon hearing this, Yyn felt his light shield being eroded by the relentless rhythm of music, his soul rapidly fading and being forcibly drawn away. Panic set in. He was not afraid of death since he could be resurrected as long as the Waitara Path returned. However, if his soul was controlled, Frona and Yaretzi could extract crucial information about the Waitara Path's Reincarnation Soremsia.

While still in control of his body, Yyn suddenly slapped his forehead. "I will protect you, Waitara Path!"

Lesia shouted, "He's about to self-destruct!"

The next moment, accompanied by the rapid rhythm of the void, a massive bell composed of countless musical notes descended with a bang, completely enclosing Yyn. Immediately afterward, a thunderous rumble emanated from the bell, causing it to tremble violently and emit a dazzling light.

Lesia and Yaretzi swiftly appeared beside the bell. Gazing at the flying dust spreading inside, they gasped in unison.

Lesia sighed. "He is fierce and stubborn, just as one would expect from the Waitara Path's confidant."

Yaretzi looked at Lesia and asked, "I can collect souls, but I can't piece together fragmented souls. What should I do?"

Lesia said solemnly, "Keep the seal and wait for my return. Yyn is our only clue to finding the Waitara Path's current form. We can't give up yet."

Yaretzi didn't say much but flipped her hands. A dazzling amethyst gold musical note instantly enveloped the bell. Amidst the buzzing sound, the bell gradually became covered by mountains. The area turned into another adventurous place for the Greater Realms' Beings. Yaretzi and Lesia soared into the void.

Lesia squinted at the retreating army of the Path Guardian Alliance.

Yaretzi asked, "Do you want to kill them?"

Lesia shook her head. "According to James' wishes, we've already saved seventy percent of the Greater Realms beings. He has not freed up his hands yet. Let's allow the Waitara Path's present form to hold on to some hope." Yaretzi nodded silently. She had heard what Yyn and Lesia said earlier and was concerned that James might fall into a trap, but the Caeloros Supreme was unwilling to share more information.

Lesia suddenly said, "Since the war in the Greater Realms is temporarily over, it doesn't make much sense for you to stay. How about..." Yaretzi abruptly interrupted. "I want to enter the River of Time."

Momentarily stunned, Lesia gradually understood her intent and smiled. "The Yin governor is the savior of me and my son. Now that James is the Haleth Realm's ruler, I am convinced by his Daoism and greatly respect him. If..."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7610-Lesia interrupted Yaretzi and helped her up. "I understand your concerns, but don't forget that James entrusted you with protecting the living beings of the Greater Realms. He could've easily destroyed the Greater Realms and forced out the three forms of the Waitara Path's Reincarnation Soremsia." Yaretzi took a deep breath.

Lesia continued, "I suggest you enter the new world if you really want to help. They need a powerful god to protect them. Moreover, the souls you've gathered also need a home. Restore their bodies as soon as possible so they can start over in the new world. The effort you and James put in will be worth it."

After being briefly stunned, Yaretzi exclaimed, "Where is the new world? How come I never sensed it?"

Lesia waved the Caeloros Supreme Scepter, and a Teleportation Formation appeared beside Yaretzi.

Seeing this, Yaretzi was full of astonishment. The path source and spiritual energy emitted by the Teleportation Formation were completely different from the Greater Realms. It was purer and more concentrated, intriguing her to explore the new world.

Lesia said, "Numerous beings from the Dark World are already there. Take your son with you. However..."

Yaretzi asked nervously, "Yeah?"

Lesia took a deep breath. "I want to ask you something. The Waitara Path needs a lot of Spiritual Providence to return. Similarly, if James wants to gain an advantage and resolve the Leere Tribulation, he also needs Spiritual Providence."

Lesia suddenly stopped speaking.

Yaretzi stared at her, coming to a sudden realization. "Do you want me to enter the new world and lead the living beings to generate Spiritual Providence for Emperor Caden?"

Lesia sighed and said, "You're Taiyi's daughter and aren't considered a mortal. However, the new world's inhabitants are mortals. As long as they are grateful and worship James from the bottom of their hearts, James could use the Spiritual Providence they generate. After all, he created the new world through his Daoism."

Yaretzi fell silent again.

Lesia shook her head helplessly. "I know James very well. No matter how difficult, even in the face of death, he would never treat the living beings of the Greater Realms as sacrifices.

"He is a Historial being and understands the importance of life. Hence, he empathizes with them. That's the essential difference between him and the Waitara Path.

Lesia approached Yaretzi. "However, his opponent is the Waitara Path, a devil who would do anything to make a comeback. Helping James will increase his chances of victory and help the living beings of the Greater Realms that you've saved."

Since even the Caeloros Supreme had spoken, Yaretzi had no reason to refuse.

After staring at Lesia for a while, Yaretzi suddenly took two steps backward and bowed respectfully. Then, she turned around and entered the Teleportation Formation without saying anything more.

Lesia sighed and shouted, "Stop playing, Youcef. Hurry and follow your mother."

Youcef was momentarily stunned but quickly turned into a Sword Light and rushed into the Teleportation Formation.

Afterward, Lesia waved the Caeloros Supreme Scepter and closed the Teleportation Formation.

Lesia turned around and looked into the void. "This is all I can do for you, James. You'll have to do the rest."

After pondering emotionally for a while, she disappeared in a flash.