

The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7616-The next moment, Muthella retreated thousands of steps into the void before stabilizing herself, blood spurting from her mouth.

Across from her, the strange black light also retreated several steps, transforming into a cloaked figure in a black robe. However, his appearance remained concealed.

The figure questioned, "Are you rebelling against the Waitara Path, Muthella?"

Muthella retorted, "They're not beings at the Ritual Rank. They took a wrong turn while trying to find someone."

The figure shouted coldly, "Even if they're here to seek revenge, the past realm should show them hospitality. Do you make the rules here now, Muthella?"

Muthella took a deep breath and said, "You were once a living being like them, Hetsema. Do you truly hate the Greater Realms' living beings so much that you must insist on killing them?"

Hetsema threw his head back and laughed chillingly. "The Greater Realms' living beings? Who are you to bring them up before me? In this world, strength is all that matters. The weak deserve nothing but to be trampled and destroyed. You wouldn't be here if not for your identity as an Alcide being, so why pity the weak?"

Muthella closed her eyes resignedly. "Fine, you're right. However, I've already let them go. We're forbidden to leave the past realm. It'll be against the rules if you chase after them. The Waitara Path will not forgive you."

Hetsema laughed. "It's no wonder the servants here praise your beauty and kindness, making you their object of fantasy. It seems your reputation burdens you.

Unfortunately, your kindness unnecessary." Muthella's eyes widened as she came to a realization. She quickly turned around, spotting James and Thea still standing nearby instead of escaping from the area. She urged frantically, "Why haven't you left? Go! Staying here is worse than death!"

James and Thea exchanged a glance, appreciating Muthella's kindness. However, their mission was to confront the Waitara Path's past form. Fear of death would not deter them.

James smiled calmly. "You're an Alcide being. Why are you trapped inside the River of Time?"

Muthella was startled by his words.

Thea added, "Not all Alcide beings are evil, nor are all of the Greater Realms' living beings good. Everyone has their circumstances."

Just then, Hetsema became a light ray and appeared before the couple. He removed his veil and revealed his handsome face, which reflected pain and struggle as he set eyes upon them.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7617-Just as Thea was about to speak to Hetsema, James stopped her.

Judging by Hetsema's current expression, he had already recognized James and Thea. However, his pained look grew even more intense.

Hetsema's life had been quite tragic, and his existence was an accident. James felt guilty towards Thea but couldn't deny his son's existence. After all, they were connected by blood. James bore significant responsibility for Hetsema ending up in such a state.

After a while, Hetsema seemed unable to bear the pain any longer. His expression gradually shifted from pain to ferocity, and then to a sinister smile. "Since you've come to the past realm, you should look around. There are surprises beyond your imagination and things you long for." "This is the true land of the Path! What's the matter? You dare to come here but don't dare to explore?"

It was evident he was trying to provoke the couple and lure them into the past realm, making it easier for him to act. However, his tricks couldn't deceive them.

James and Thea remained calm, not taking any immediate action. Hetsema's existence was like a thorn between them. It could be buried but still triggered unpleasant feelings when uncovered.

At that moment, Muthella suddenly descended from the void and landed beside Hetsema. She shouted anxiously, "Why are you two still here? Leave!"

Contrary to her urgency, Hetsema laughed eerily. "Your strength is unfathomable. Even I may not be able to gauge it accurately. With your strength, even if you enter the past realm, you two would control us and not the other way around."

Muthella glared at him and said, "Show some compassion! The fact they appeared together shows their will is strong, and their love is steadfast."

Hetsema suddenly interrupted her. "Steadfast, huh? Then, we should ask them who they are here to find."

He directed his gaze at James and eho exactly did you come here for? Perhaps I can offer:

swno help.” James pondered, ‘Is this a test? Does to me? Or could this be a for help?’

Dshe want to know how much he Before James could speak, Thea answered, “We came for you.”

Hetsema, who had been grinning savagely, was momentarily stunned.

Muthella’s eyes widened in disbelief.

Thea said, “Your name is Hetsema Caden, is yooorn in the Doom Race This is your father, Forty-nine.” She pointed at James, then introduced him.

Hetsema’s face twisted in pain once again.

Muthella watched, completely bewildered.

Thea pointed at herself and said, “I’m your mother, Thea Callahan!”

“We’re here to find our mischievous son and bring him back to the Greater Realms.”

James was taken aback by Thea’s actions. He never expected her to handle Hetsema in such a way.

Unexpectedly, Hetsema clutched his head and roared, rapidly retreating from them.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7618-“Take action!” Thea suddenly shouted, lifting her hand to release a burst of Hongrome Aura that instantly immobilized the stunned Muthella.

James, snapping back to reality, immediately understood her intent. He spread his arms, and his Supreme Path Source erupted from his body, swiftly spreading throughout the expanse of the past realm.

As the Supreme Path Source’s divine glow permeated the area, all the creatures, including beasts, spiritual beasts, and divine beasts, let out painful howls simultaneously.

The next moment, they became ferocious, baring their teeth and charging wildly toward James and Thea.

Seeing their aggressive attacks, James quickly pulled Thea behind him. With a thought, he summoned a Path Cauldron before him.

The Path Cauldron rapidly expanded into the void, emitting immense suction force and sacred light beams, pulling in all the attacking creatures. Within moments, the past realm fell silent again.

Hetsema suddenly turned his head and snarled fiercely at James and Thea. "Meet your death!"

As Hetsema charged at them, James was about to act, but Thea darted out first, releasing another burst of Hongrome Aura that imprisoned the rampaging Hetsema in the void. The situation was finally under control.

Thea suddenly turned and asked, "What did you use?"

James stared at her, puzzled. "Why did you do that?"

Thea was briefly stunned, then blinked her beautiful eyes to signal him to answer her question.

James took a deep breath and said, "I used Xanthakos' Gate of Mystery."

Thea exclaimed, "You sent everything into the Gate of Mystery?"

James said calmly, "What else could I have done? These puppets are in the Riti Bank. They aren't vel unkillable, but I can't bear to do so. They won't have another chance." Thea nodded thoughtfully. "So basically, your love for them extends from your love for her?"

James was flabbergasted, clearly understanding what his wife was hinting at. He quickly approached Muthella.

Thea asked, "What are you doing?"

James turned and replied, "Aren't you curious about who she is?"

Thea crossed her arms and pondered for a while. "The way she defended us when she saw us, maybe she's another one of your old flames?"

James' hand froze as he s about ne to unveil Muthella's veil. He immediately withdrew it. He then tookout a jar of Chaos Absinthe, opened it, and began drinking.

Oh? You're mad at a single comment?" Thea pouted, then approached Muthella. "Since you won't do it, I will." 'Women are incomprehensible creatures, especially those who have lived for countless years and reached great heights in cultivation,' James thought to himself ashe continued to drink his wine. Thea said, "I'm going to unveil her, James."

James did not even bother to respond.

A mischievous smile flashed across Thea's face. She slowly extended her hand and removed the veil.

The next moment, a beautiful face was revealed, so breathtaking that even Thea was momentarily dazed.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7619-James leaned against the wall of the River of Time's passage, sipping his wine and pondering how his wife had become increasingly difficult to deal with.

Suddenly, Thea's words nearly caused him to drop his wine jar.

"It's really your old flame, James!"

James choked on his wine, coughing violently.

When he glanced in Thea's direction, he was taken aback.

Thea nodded at him. "She has a familiar face. You should recognize her."

"Zella?" The wine jar slipped from James' hands and shattered on the ground as he abruptly stood up.

Seeing his abnormal reaction, Thea looked at him meaningfully.

James rushed to Thea's side and stared at Muthella. "Yes, it's Zella! She's the one who can see into the future."

Thea frowned, "The one who is as wise as Xezal?"

James responded with surprise, "Yes. I have no idea what happened to her after we parted. As far as I know, she was not an Alcide being but a mortal like us."

Thea shook her head and crossed her arms. "You can't be so sure. Even Emperor Jabari and Franciscus were Xanthakos' Soremsias. Perhaps Zella is a..."

James replied confidently, "That's impossible. I've never seen anyone as wise as her among the previous deities. However..."

Thea asked puzzledly, "What is it?"

James said solemnly, "Don't you sense her aura? It's Waltraud Power, identical to the Waitara Path's soul spirit."

Thea immediately approached Muthella and examined her. After coming to a conclusion, shock was etched on her face.

They had confirmed the Waitara Path's soul spirit had reincarnated as two halves, one female and one male. However, it seemed unlikely for Zella to be the other half of the Waitara Path's soul spirit, making them suspect something fishy was going on. Thea appeared beside Hetsema in a flash and was shocked to sense the same rich Waltraud Power from him.

Hetsema and Muthella had been reshaped by Waltraud Power, making it almost convincing that they were the Waitara Path's soul spirit.

Suddenly, Thea turned to James. "Could it be the Waitara Path's soul spirit that we met was fake all along?"

James remained silent, considering.

He had thought about this heli possibility, but he had interacted and fought with the Waitara Path's soul spirit, whose cultivation and Strength were far superior to that of Goyo. Zella and Hetsema seemed weaker than Goyo and were somewhere between Yiulia, Cosimeon, and Stavros in strength. Strength-wise, they fundamentally differed from the Waitara Path's soul spirit.

Thea said solemnly, "I'm really confused now. What's the Waitara Path's purpose for doing all this? Even if he can reshape them with Waltraud Power, they can't generate Spiritual Providence."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7620-Suddenly, James said, "It's to deal with us."

Thea looked at him worriedly and asked, "Deal with us? What do you mean?"

James took a deep breath. "Be prepared. On our upcoming journey, we might encounter many of our friends, including people we care about the most. To find the Waitara Path's past form, we'll have to kill them. Otherwise, we'll be trapped in the River of Time forever."

Thea immediately came to a realization. The Waitara Path intended to torture them mentally and emotionally. It was cruel to force them to stand against their friends, acquaintances, children, and parents. In the face of these frenzied attacks, not killing them would mean being trapped. However, could they bear the emotional and mental torture of having to kill so many of their close friends and family?

It was an impeccable strategy. The Waitara Path's cruelty and despicableness lay in its ability to exploit emotions and desires. It used Historial Daoism to create Historial Power, giving Historial beings a true weakness. Especially for someone like James, who valued emotions and loyalty, such mental torture and emotional suffering could completely break him.

Thea gritted her teeth. “How vicious! He may have his schemes, but we have our counters. He wouldn’t expect us to use the Gate of Mystery to collect them.”.

James put his hand behind his back and said, “It’s not that simple. We’re within the River of Time, the territory of the Waitara Path’s past form.” Thea rushed before him and asked, “What do you mean? Are we at his mercy?”

James did not answer but instead summoned the Zirconia Path Scroll. He then tapped Zella’s forehead with two fingers, extracting a beam of holy light from her soul and embedding it into the Zirconia Path Scroll.

The next moment, Zella’s figure appeared in the Zirconia Path Scroll and slowly rotated. Beside her were dense Path Runes.

Thea watched nervously, knowing James was trying something new to extract the Waltraud Power from Zella’s soul. If he succeeded, Zella might be able to offer a better solution. Suddenly, Hetsema began to struggle. His face twisted in pain, and he screamed miserably.

“Dad, save me! Save me!” His expression changed from ferocious to painful, to manic laughter to hatred, displaying all possible emotions. Thea opened her mouth in shock and shouted anxiously, “James, look at him...”

James was busy using the busy using the Xurraeus Hazesh to write on the line Zirconia Path Scroll’s destiny file, completely ignoring the chaos.

Thea shouted, “He’s about to self-destruct.”

James remained unmoved but sped up his writing on Zella’s destiny file.

Thea was anxious. “He’s your son, James! Do you really want to see him disappear?”

At that moment, James finished writing the last rune. The Zirconia Path Scroll erupted with a dazzling light and enveloped Zella.

other.