

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7627 – 7630

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7627-With unwavering determination, James and Zella swiftly traversed the realm of the past. As they approached a tangled intersection, James dispatched dozens of his Primordial Spirits to navigate the way ahead. Any past forms that blocked their path were either bypassed or swiftly eliminated without hesitation.

The Primordial Spirits surged forward, moving through the River of Time with formidable speed and force. After an indeterminate span of time, they converged in a vast, eerily silent star cluster shrouded in mist. This domain comprised thousands of enormous universes, interconnected by long purple-gold light bridges resembling a dense spider web. At the center stood a colossal universe with an impossibly tall cloud ladder, exuding divine splendor.

Zella remarked, "That should be the lair of the Waitara Path's past form."

"He certainly went to great lengths to hide here," James mused, narrowing his eyes.

Zella cautioned, "I doubt it's going to be easy. I'm afraid the real challenge has just begun."

As they spoke, two figures emerged from the mist ahead. James recognized them as Yancy Quaid, the Behatarm Sect's former leader, and Wylie Harriet, a Micro Genesis World ruler. Their expressions turned to surprise upon seeing James and Zella.

Yancy asked, "How did you end up here, Emperor Caden?"

Wylie also questioned, "Yeah? Shouldn't you be in Zymurgy?"

James frowned. Zella quickly acted, casting two amethyst-golds to trap Yancy and Wylie.

The two instantly panicked after being captured.

Yancy exclaimed, "What is this for, Emperor Caden?"

Wylie pleaded, "We've done nothing wrong. Why are you treating us like this?"

Zella whispered to James, "They're just past forms. Ignore them."

James replied, "I know. They're the past forms of my friends. Still, I'm curious to see what kind of welcoming gift has been arranged for me." With that, James released two beams of path source to immobilize Wylie and Yancy.

"Now, I'll ask the questions, you answer."

They both nodded in compliance.

James asked, "Do you know where this place is?"

Yancy replied hesitantly, "Isn't this the Jademora Empire?"

Wylie quickly added, "Yeah. We've entered the Great Historial Land, so this must be an alternate space there."

James' suspicions were confirmed.

Neither Yancy nor Wylie's past forms realized their current location or who controlled them. They were not puppets like Hetsema and Zella, but were actual past forms of his friends. He continued with another question. "Tell me, who else do I know that is here?"

Wylie and Yancy listed numerous names, all familiar to James-biet confidants, friends, and the grand patriarchs, as well as leaders of the Jademora Empire. After listening to their responses, James turned to Zella.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7628-James remarked, "The Waitara Path is indeed cunning. He gathered the past forms of all my friends around him to deliver a devastating blow. If I were to kill their past forms, their present forms in the Great Historial Land would lose everything of their past, significantly weakening their power and cultivation strength."

"If that happens, the Waitara Path's present form, Goyo, and the guy impersonating me can command the Greater Realms' elites to attack the Greater Realms. It's a perfect and seamless strategy that will cause a chain reaction. The changes that happen here would affect the present and future."

With Zella's intellect, she quickly grasped the situation's intricacies. Without waiting for James to speak, she flicked her hand, and the twos swiftly retracted Yancy and Wylie into a spatial dimension.

Zella reminded him, "Stay focused on your goal."

James suddenly asked, "How many more Path Nets can you create with the path source I gave you?"

Zella counted with her fingers, then said, "About twenty more."

James frowned. "That's far from enough. It seems I'll have to use the Nione Daoisms."

He flipped his hands, and nine Path Cauldrons manifested around him, each radiating a holy brilliance. Using the Nine Daoisms to counter the Waitara Path's Historial Daoism was akin to fighting fire with fire-precisely the plan James had prepared for.

The Path Cauldrons soared into the air, unleashing resplendent Daoism Radiance that quickly spread across the hundreds of surrounding universes. The dazzling light absorbed all the past forms of beings within these universes without exception.

James had no intention of eradicating his friends' past forms. Doing so would jeopardize the Great Historial Land and cause his brothers to lose everything. The price was too high to capture the Waitara Path's past form.

After collecting the numerous past forms from the surrounding universes, the Path Cauldrons slowly descended and returned to James' body. James smirked. "Now that the obstacles are cleared, it's time we finally meet. I'm curious to see what the Waitara Path's past form is like." Zella reminded, "Check the Path Cauldrons. Are all the past forms of people you know inside?"

James shook his head. "The most important group is still missing."

Zella said gravely, "That means he has kept a trump card. It's likely his final gambit." Suddenly, a majestic and divine voice echoed through the vast star cluster.

"I've been expecting you for a very long time, James! Your recent actions have surprised me but also somewhat disappointed me." Zella immediately became alert.

James, however, wore a faint smile and clasped his hands behind his back.

"No need to be nervous. This is the person we've been eager to meet."

"The Waitara Path's past form?" Zella looked at James in shock.

The majestic voice resounded again. "A superior being should exhibit the demeanor of one. I have treated you respectfully, and you should reciprocate in kind." James sneered, "Your idea of respect is to welcome guests in this manner?"

The majestic voice burst into hearty laughter. "You and I possess the power to control the fates of all beings. Naturally, I must show my hospitality." As the voice finished speaking, the melodic music of bells and drums began to resonate from the towering staircase ahead.

Two familiar lines of men and women appeared, walking gracefully on the colorful clouds. To James' dismay, the welcoming beings were none other than his most trusted and loyal friends.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7629-"Greetings, My Lord."

James was momentarily stunned by the sudden appearance of his familiar friends.

Zella, poised to take action, was halted by James.

He took a deep breath and stared at the imposing man before him. Supposedly, Yegor, as the husband of Tirta Thrude and the son-in-law of the Xyloria Tirta, should no longer be considered a mortal being. It was puzzling to see his past form.

Yegor suddenly laughed. "Congratulations on becoming the Haleth Realm's ruler, James!"

James squinted and asked, "Who do you think I am?"

After being momentarily taken aback, Yegor burst into laughter.

"You think that just because you've become the Haleth Realm's lord, you can act all high and mighty now?"

"Alright. We'll catch up later. Let's go see the Supreme Path first."

James ignored him, and his gaze drifted to the colorful clouds in the void. There stood Truett, and on the other side, Rebella, the Right Grand Steward of the Jademora Empire. It made sense for them to have past forms in the River of Time. However, Yegor's past form shouldn't be here. Otherwise, Yehria would also be present.

Seeing Yegor with a welcoming smile, James responded with a faint smile. Then, he pulled Zella along and stepped onto the cloud.

As they ascended the clouds, Yegor and the past forms of his friends accompanied them. With each cloud they stepped on, the previous one disappeared. After the final cloud vanished, they stood on a massive Path lotus.

James' gaze fell upon a mysterious being seated on a radiant cultivation cushion. The being was dressed in a pristine white robe, his hair neatly tied, radiating a holy brilliance and a dense aura of Waltraud Power.

Although he sat with his back to them, obscuring his face, his stature and build were hauntingly familiar to James.

Yegor suddenly spoke, "Quickly greet the Supreme Path, James."

James laughed and said, "Your et Sotion of Yegor is far from convincing. Your mannerisms are off, and your intelligence seems lacking." Yegor frowned and asked, "What do you mean?"

et James arrogantly raised his head. "I'm the current Supreme Path. He has already been dethroned. It uldn't make sense for me to bow right?" Yegor's face darkened. "How dare you disrespect the Supreme Path!"

James laughed. "Your father is about to expose himself, Truett. Care to reveal yourself as well?"

Yegor growled, "How bold, James! In the presence of the Supreme Path, how dare you..."

"Get lost." James waved his hand and sent Yegor flying into the distance.

The past forms that had come to welcome James assumed battle stances, surrounding James and Zella.

Zella also adopted a combat posture, ready for battle.

James, however, remained calm, focusing intently on the mysterious being facing away from them.

"You've invited me here but refuse to show your face. Is that how you treat guests?"

The mysterious being chuckled. "We're missing two guests."

James responded, "Why not send someone to capture them?"

The mysterious being laughed sinisterly "You're amusing, James. With the past source you've given them, no matter how powerful the being I send, they'd be sealed away, wouldn't they?" James shrugged nonchalantly. He glanced around the area before walking to a small table full of spiritual fruits.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7630-James sat down, tossed a spiritual fruit to Zella, and began enjoying himself.

The mysterious being suddenly ordered, "Serve the Haleth Realm's Lord his favorite wine."

Truett and Rebella's past forms approached James with wine jars.

"Enjoy, James!"

"Enjoy, Master!"

James pointed at them and said, "You two, stay. Sit down and join me for some drinks."

Rebella and Truett's past forms exchanged glances before looking toward the mysterious being.

The mysterious being responded, "Since you acknowledge him as your friend and master, you should listen to him." They sat down hesitantly, filled their cups with Chaos Absinthe, raised their glasses high, and drank the wine in one gulp.

James laughed, "You should've taken your time. It's our farewell drink, after all."

Rebella and Truett's past forms were taken aback.

James, leisurely holding his cup, said, "Zella, be gentle. These two are my close confidants."

Understanding the cue, Zella swiftly trapped them with two Path Nets while they were momentarily distracted.

"Master..."

"James..."

Before they could finish speaking, Zella sealed them away.

The other past forms in the distance were startled that their respected Emperor Caden would act in such a way.

James called out, "I need two more to drink with me! Come, Xitlaly, Xatia!"

Xitlaly and Xatia's past forms approached warily. Before they could toast their cups, Zella trapped them with Path Nets.

The mysterious being was slightly dissatisfied after James had captured four of his friends' past forms. He remarked, "I respect you, James. However, you're going too far. Since James took another sip of the Chaos Absinthe and replied, "I prefer to make enemies thoroughly. Care to join me for a drink?"

The mysterious being laughed heartily. "I fear you won't be able to face me. It'll be melancholic to finally be face to face but as enemies."

"You're someone I know?" James raised an eyebrow.

The mysterious being asked, "Are you ready to face me?"

James poured another drink and said, "Better now than later. It's best to cut ties early."

The mysterious being sighed.

"Honestly, you're the last person I wish to face from the Destiny Sect. But since you've come to me, have no choice. After all, I know you very well."

Then, he waved his hand, and the cushion beneath him gradually rotated. “Long time no see.” James was about to take another sip of his wine when he paused mid-action. He raised his head, and his previously calm demeanor was replaced with shock. “It’s you?”