Chapter 81

Auri POV

"Hector please! I need you to focus!" I begged him.

He was standing in front of me, sweat pouring from his upper body. Bryan was laying down on the ground, breathing heavy. Logan was on one knee, still trying to recover from a kick to the stomach. Hector recovered enough to throw a punch at me. His movements were slow but they were still precise, even with how tired he was.

I stepped forward and deflected both his fists before sweeping my foot under his and he fell back.

"Shit." Hector groaned as he just accepted his fate on the ground.

I chuckled. "You guys are terrible. We haven't even been going for two hours."

"I think I'm going to die." Bryan whined.

Shaking my head, I had taken on these three because I knew they were better than this. Logan was so out of shape that Pipsqueak would be able to lay him out. I started him on a diet and cardio while Bryan was doing weight training for rebuilding his strength. He was quick but taking over the paperwork hadn't done his strength any good. Hector, however, I worked with one on one until the others were done with their individual training. Then we would do a 3 on 1 spar session for as long as they would last.

"Logan!"

I spun on my heel, eyes wide as I saw three people headed towards us. I could smell Denise but the other one was also a female who called out and another was a small child.

Logan stood up and cursed. "Leandra, I told you not to come over here. I told you multiple times."

Bryan and Hector got up quickly as well. Hector took my hand and pulled me back a little. Bryan came forward with Logan, hand on his hip. I closed my eyes, not wanting to scare them with my eyes. I had told Logan to keep his family away, I didn't want to be near them. Even on Nova, the thought still bothered me.

"You are here, every day, for two to three hours and how the hell am I supposed to just be okay with that? Leaving me with Zachary for that long? What if I need to do something?" She whined and I glanced up at Hector. Was this woman serious? ③

"Training, Leandra. I told you and you need to listen to me. Zachary. Zachary wait!" Logan tried to reach out to the child but he ran past him and up to me.

Smiling, I squatted down and to be at the same level as him

"You have blue hair! It looks like cotton candy!" Little Zachary reached up and touched my hair.

"I do indeed. Blue cotton candy is my favorite. Has your mom told you that you need to be careful what you eat though? Cause that's what happens. Your hair turns different colors."

He gasped. "Oh no! So if I eat too much of my cotton candy.."

"It will turn this color. So be careful what you eat. You don't want too much of one thing." I chuckled.

"Are you training my dad?"

I nodded. "I am. He needs to be extra strong."

"He already is the strongest!" Zachary huffed and I ruffled his hair.

"It wouldn't hurt to be even stronger. It just means he will be quicker to come home."

I could feel all of their stares on me. I don't know what they expected me to do with a child but apparently it wasn't this

"What are these?" Zachary went to reach out to my shackles on my wrists and I pulled back

"Don't touch them. I don't want you to hurt yourself. They are extra training for me and they are painful if you touch them. Okay?" I tapped my ankles and neck with the silver shackle. "These guys you can't ever touch with your bare hands. Just like you can't touch the hot stove. It will burn and hurt."

He nodded, twisting his hands together. I took his small little hands in mine. "But it doesn't mean that I will hurt you. See. Normal hands."

"You have small hands like me."

laughed. "Yes, your dad likes to make fun of how small I am."

"Zachary, go to your mom. I'll be back soon."

"I like you." Zachary completely ignored Logan and I couldn't help but smile.

"I like you too. Maybe one day I'll get to train you. I think you could be stronger than your dad."

I watched through the light waves as his little body did a couple body builder poses and I fell on my butt, laughing. This kid was cute and funny.

"See you around!"

I waved goodbye. Hector put his hand down and pulled me back up.

"Leandra, I don't want this to happen again. Don't come over here."

"Who is she?" She asked, obviously upset.

Logan took a deep breath. "I'm not going to ask you again." I could feel his Alpha presence seep out and everyone shifted a little bit.

I walked up to her, snuffing Logan's presence out as I came next to him. I stuck my hand out, keeping my eyes shut.

"My name is Astra. I'm a rogue werewolf who used to know Bryan through the Gatherings when I was with my old pack. I specialize in fighting. Bryan asked me to train these guys for the upcoming fight against the Alpha King. To say I have a bone to pick with him would be an understatement."

She took my hand tentatively but I shook it gently. Smiling, I nodded to her.

"What do you have against the Alpha King?"

I was surprised she just outright asked but I was prepared. "My older sister...she was beautiful and kind. The Alpha King took advantage of that. She ended up pregnant with his child. It was a shock and she was so scared. He didn't want anything to do with her after that. Just threw her out. She came back to the pack but the pack wouldn't do anything. So I said I would. Thus, I became a rogue."

She tore her hand from me but just before she did I could feel she had started to shake.

"That's..terrible...."

I nodded solemnly. "She was torn up about it. She's worried about his future. It's been a long time since I've seen her. At least six or seven years. But I knew she was worried for her son, being the first born of the Alpha King, which would make him an Alpha."

"Her son?" Leandra stuttered.

I nodded. "Yeah. Excuse me for dumping my family sob story on you." I smiled sadly at her. "I'll be helping these three get back on their feet and in shape." I slapped Logan hard on the back, letting some of the strength that Nova added seep into it. Logan grunted and nearly stumbled forward. "I know you must be busy. I've got a few more drills I need to run through at least with Hector. So if you ladies need to take your mates, go ahead."

I turned to walk back to Hector but I looked back at Leandra. "It was lovely meeting you." I gave Zachary a little wave. "You too kiddo."

Hector turned and grabbed my hand, holding onto it tight. He was breathing heavily through his nose

"Leandra, I'll be back in a half hour. You can goof and do whatever you need after that. But I don't want to hear about this being an issue or you coming here again. Do you understand?"

She didn't say anything as she walked back to the car. Zachary hugged Logan and then followed after his mom. Denise hugged Bryan.

"I couldn't stop her, I tried. We were coming back from shopping and she was invited to go out somewhere."

Bryan kissed her head. "Don't worry about it. I'll see you back home."

"Shower first please, you smell terrible."

Bryan slapped her ass as she walked away. All of us chuckled at the sound of her squeak. They waited until the car pulled away before Bryan and Logan turned to me.

"What the hell was that?"

I shrugged. "I don't know what you are talking about."

"That was one hell of a story, Astra." Logan growled.

I opened my eyes and looked at him. "It wasn't a story. While she might not be my older sister, she is real. It happened about seven years ago. In our dig for the Alpha King, we found some interesting information. I met her, wonderful woman. She actually lives with her son in the city. Not necessarily as a rogue but the Alpha there was worried about the Alpha blood in her son. He is the first born of the Alpha King, gene or no. There are about five more women who ended up pregnant after her in the next 4 years or so. All those women have just been kicked out after the Alpha King found out. Some abort but not all. Some think they will find favor or that they are the first. They get nothing." I shook my head.

"The poor girls are basically shipped back to their old pack with nothing. He just continues to live on going from woman to woman." I sighed. "She has a nasty attitude and I wanted to take her down a peg, so sue me."

"That was a little petty." Bryan chuckled, coming back over, stretching his arms and rolling his shoulders.

"Why would it matter?"

I blinked at Hector and then looked over at Logan. "Logan?" Silence followed as Logan walked past me. "Are you serious?"

"Go ahead Auri, enlighten them." He growled.

"Why didn't you tell them?" I walked up to him and pulled his arm back

He was looking down, his heart racing. "Bryan probably has already guessed but he isn't my son. He's the Alpha King's son." 2

"THEN WHAT THE FUCK ARE THEY DOING IN OUR HOME?" Hector yelled at Logan.

"Hector, calm down." Bryan came over and put his hand on Hector's chest.

"Because Zachary is innocent. He doesn't know better. Should I have just kicked them out when I found out?"

"YES!"

I sighed. Logan had done what I asked. He had apologized for his behavior, for hurting them, and leaving them high and dry. He still wasn't being completely honest with them. It was only going to hurt them.

"How are you okay with this?" Hector slapped Bryan's hand away.

Bryan shook his head. "He's right, Hector. Zachary didn't ask for this. Leandra used her pregnancy against Logan. Hell, she might not even have known."

Hector looked at Bryan and Logan before looking at me. "Astra.."

I shrugged. "It doesn't matter to me. Frankly, I'm more interested if this upsets her enough to have her contact someone. That's just on the intelligence side of me."

"I'm going to head back." Logan grabbed his bag and threw on his shirt.

"I'll go back with you." Bryan ran after Logan as he headed to their Jeep.

Hector crossed his arms but didn't move. I put my hand on his arm.

"You can stay if you want. I planned on making a good dinner. Wouldn't mind the company."

Logan stopped for a moment but just threw his bag into Jeep. Bryan also did and hopped into the passenger seat. "See you tomorrow Astra!"

"No you won't! Tomorrow is Sunday. I don't want any of your asses near this place." I smiled and waved.

"Come on. Since they are dipping, we can go inside and chill," I hit Hector in the abs and he doubled over.

"That hurts!"

I laughed. "Sure it does."
