

252 252- Jai (Part I)

Third person pov: 1

(Two years back)

When the boy clan went to the Red Moon Pack, a few guards were standing at the gates. No one caught them at the borders because they used dense forest to travel instead of using the regular trails.

Lucien had already turned rogue, and they all were waiting for his go-ahead. When he contacted them, he had only one message.

"Oliver Stone's daughter is getting engaged to the pack Alpha's son. We can go there before the engagement and kill his son."

It was a foolproof plan, and they could easily act on it. They waited four years to give them the impression that they had accepted their defeat, and weren't planning to take revenge.

Oliver Stone was happy about the fact that he not only took revenge on behalf of Crimson Claw, who was also his ally, but also terrified them by showing his power.

After what he did to the daughter of Beta Martin, no one would dare mess with him or his pack or his allies.

He was happy that his daughter was, at last, getting engaged to the pack alpha.

Outside the venue, Lucien, Jai, Brian, and two rogues pulled the masks over their faces and entered. There were a few guards who were easily handled by them.

They went straight to the dressing room, and Lucien knocked the door.

The door was opened by the soon-to-be bride, and no one even bothered to look at her. She was pushed back along with her family members while Brian quickly sprayed the liquid on their faces, so that they wouldn't take their wolf form.

"Tie them!" Lucien asked one of his men and then gestured for Jai to take William inside. The impact was exactly what they had expected.

Oliver Stone and his wife started crying in panic. William couldn't even fight them when a delicate voice asked them to let him go.

"Take this jewelry if you want! Please let him go."

Before Lucien could snub her, Jai went to her and held her chin, "Jewelry? Huh? Why take Jewelry when we have a jewel here? Hmm?"

They all looked at Jai, who never acted this way in the presence of a she-wolf.

They tossed William's body aside and took her to the other room.

"Hey, Jai. I think you like the girl," Lucien said through the mindlink, "I'm already mated to Giana. So, why don't you enjoy yourself, and we stay with her family? Let them know how it feels when your loved one is suffering."

Jai sent them outside and closed the door. He undressed her, tied her hands and legs.

But couldn't do anything.

He was aware this was wrong. The girl was crying nonstop, and her tear-filled Emerald eyes... they took his heart.

After crying so much, she had fainted, and Jai sat there in guilt by her side. He looked for a sheet to cover her, but there were only her torn clothes scattered there.

He closed his eyes in confusion. The girl was unconscious, but still she was doing something to his heart.

He wanted to go to her and take her in his arms, and tell her that everything was alright. And that she was safe.

Outside the room, his friends thought that he was busy ra*ping her when suddenly, he sensed a presence in the room.

There was someone behind the curtain. Before he could say something, a little mature version of the same girl came out and pulled his mask.

She asked him just one question. "Why, Jai? Why?"

And that was when he knew that soon this girl would become someone important in his life. When the older version also fainted, he helped the girl out through a secret passage.

He knew about the secret passage when he was doing his homework for the engagement venue. Seeing Amora in the dressing room confirmed his suspicions.

The boys left right before morning, and his friends thought that he kept banging the girl throughout the night.

Lucien was very happy that day.

"Soon we will kill his son too. The bastard will get a slow death. Soon! First it was his daughter, then it will be his son, and soon we will kill him in cold blood."

Jai kept listening to their plans, not telling them that he didn't do anything to the girl.

"Why are you so quiet?" Brian slapped his arm once they were back, "Are you missing that girl? Should I bring her here so that you can enjoy her body? Later, we can make her our pack wh*ore."

Ha-ha."

Jai spun around and slapped Brian, taking him by surprise.

"Are you crazy?" Brian placed his hand on his stinging cheek in surprise and left. But after that, Jai could never sleep peacefully at night.

Oliver Stone's daughter's face used to pop up before his eyes, no matter what he was doing.

After a few months, he realized that he had fallen for her. The first thing he did after that realization was to keep tabs on her.

"Her father has sold her, Jai. To the Lycans. I've got my men inside the palace, and they told me that King Sebastian married her, but this marriage isn't public."

Jai wanted to be happy for her, but if a marriage wasn't public, then it meant it was bad news. After that, he didn't receive any news regarding her. She was kept in a room and wasn't allowed to talk to anyone.

She was living there like a prisoner.

When the Moon Goddess gave him a fated mate, he rejected Raya on the spot.

The next few days, he stopped communicating much. His clothes fell more loosely on his frame, and he got himself busy with his patients.

Brian did feel his silence; Lucien also felt that he was avoiding him, but none of them said much. Jai stopped caring about the world around him.

His heart already belonged to Aurora Stone, and he was not ready to give her place to anyone else. But one day, his investigator informed him that Aurora Stone died in a fire that erupted in the Luna wing of the palace.

When he heard the news, something broke inside him. He didn't cry, he didn't scream, just stood there like a dead man.

That night, he cried in his room. He destroyed a girl who was full of life, who dreamed of spending the rest of her life with the Alpha of the pack, but now she was no longer alive.

And then a miracle happened.

One day, he got a mind link from Alpha Blake and Beta Brian that a girl whose face was mostly rotten resembled a lot like Aurora came to them for help. They found her on the border.

That made Jai jump in excitement. She was alive.
