

17 WANTING HIS MATE

FIONA 1

"How could Damon do this to me? He found his mate already and he never told me and now she's working in his company?"

I shall tell my Dad about this, I will never let anyone take my place, never!"

Fiona was so furious. From the very first time she saw Mona, she knew Mona wasn't that simple even for a human even her wolf felt very nervous.

On Xena's wedding day, she saw how everyone praised her makeup skills and to worsen it she caught Damon kissing her passionately.

She had known Damon was no one woman Alpha, and he got any woman he pleased, so she didn't bother about what he did with the human girl.

She thought it will only be for that day since he never slept with same woman twice.

But never in her entire being has she imagined that this human girl was his mate and a threat to her position as Queen.

She's human and humans are weak without powers so how can she be compared to her?

For goodness sake, she isn't even as pretty and classy as she was.

"How come she's fit to be his mate and am not?"

No, she will definitely send Mona back to wherever she came from.

She can't lose her position as future Queen of red moon pack to a mere human. That will kill her pride and a slap to her face.

If she let that human be Queen, her pack will never take her seriously, they will ridicule her for being abandoned by the King.

Meanwhile, Alpha Ferdinand was at the pack having a meeting with the pack elders when his daughter arrived.

"Dad, we need to talk".

Alpha Ferdinand immediately dismissed the meeting with his elders to attend to his furious daughter.

"I guess you must have heard the news".

The Alpha did not feel the least surprised at seeing his daughter very pissed, for it only meant she had found out the truth about the Alpha King finding his mate.

Fiona was a bit taken aback at the words of her father before realization dawned on her.

"Wait a minute, you mean you knew about it?"

The Alpha Ferdinand shrugged his shoulders, confirming her suspicion.

"Why didn't you tell me before now? Dad, you have no idea how pissed I am right now".

"Fiona darling, your temper was exactly what I was afraid of, I know you won't sit back patiently.

But not to worry, I have my plans.

Fiona felt relieved, for she knew her Dad won't let her suffer an injustice.

"You are the only Luna and Queen to the red moon pack, no one will take your position.

A weak human mate can't take away your position. When am done, the King will have no choice but to marry you, my daughter. No worries my dear, I promise you."

Fiona was now very excited, knowing her father always kept to his promises.

DAMON

It's been a week since Mona began working for his company, and he wouldn't lie that he could no longer concentrate at work.

His wolf was also very sad they could not get closer to their mate. He became very restless as the day went by. He needs her so badly that he found it hard to breathe most times.

Before now, getting a woman to satisfy his lustful desires was never something he was desperate for, rather they were desperate for him.

But with Mona, he became the desperate one. He wondered if she ever felt the mate bond as he was feeling.

Damon could not bear this anymore as he strolled down to her office.

He found her so engrossed in her work. As she studied, she was doing it with so much interest that her hair she tied in a ponytail, a strand was falling down to cover a part of her eye.

Seeing her this way only made him very needy, he sure won't leave her office till he got at least a kiss. He knew he can't last that long anymore.

Mona raised her head and was shocked to see Damon standing looking down at her in an imposing manner and his eyes filled with lust as he eyed her while he bit his lip so hard.

"How may I help you your Majesty?"

Damon didn't say a word as he kept looking down at her.

Now Mona seemed to be very confused as to why he came to her office without saying a word.

She dare not look too much in his eyes as she might loose herself and stretch forth her hands around him . She can't be loose again. She still found a hard time forgetting what happened between them too.

"I can't wait anymore Mona, its killing me".

Mona was taken aback. What does he mean he can't take it anymore?

Was he trying to lay her off work because she tried to avoid him?

"What do you mean? I don't seem to capture".

Before she knew it, Damon walked over her desk to place himself in front of her. What's wrong, why is he doing this?

"I can't hold it anymore Mona ,you are mine and its killing me already".

Damon brought his lips down to hers as he captured hers in a mind blowing kiss. The kiss was nothing gentle but very rough and very passionate. She felt some tingling sensation the moment he touched her.

She tried to wriggle herself free from his grasp but he wouldn't let her.

Damon continued kissing her till she could not fight anymore but succumb to the kiss yet again. Suddenly he lifted her up, as he continued kissing her without breaking the kiss.

He dropped down the window blinds with one hand so no one was watching them, but he never left Mona's lips.

Mona was so lost in the kiss that she did not see all this happening.

Damon's wolf purred, as he fought to take control so he could mark her already.

He moved from his lips to her neck as he licked and sucked on her soft skin making him drunken with lust.

"Mona I want you now, I can't hold it anymore, he tore her dress when there was a zip he could have used.
