Chapter 9: MEETING A ROYAL PRINCESS FOR THE FIRST TIME

AUTHOR

Mona waited for Sarah at the airport wondering what was taking her so long.

Mona called Sarah on the phone who told her she stopped by at the shopping mall to get few things needed for the journey.

She arrived few minutes later.

"I am so sorry for taking so long. See what I got, a camera. I am not leaving that castle without taking pictures of everything inside it, which includes the princess on her wedding dress".

Mona rolled her eyes thinking maybe it was a bad idea taking Sarah along for she was very nosy and a talkative not to mention the gossip part of her.

Why didn't she think about all this? She thought.

"You know we are not going for a photoshoot. I am not even sure we would have time for pictures, Sarah."

Thirty minutes later, they were called on board. They left early in the morning to arrive early evening.

MONA

When we finally landed at our destination, a white brand-new SUV waited for us. Sarah and I gaped at the SUV we were to be carried in.

"Mona, are we really going to be riding in that SUV?"

"Its seems so."

Mona tried acting cool even though she was screaming for joy in her mind. She can't give herself away by acting like some outdated country girl.

The driver is well-dressed in a styled and well tailored uniform suit looking very big and handsome.

"Wow! Even the driver is looking very handsome how much more the princess", Mona thought.

He greeted them with a cheerful smile before ushering them into the SUV.

"Wow! This princess must be wealthy. First of all she paid all travel expenses for us, now she sent us a personal driver in a fucking classy SUV. Mona tell me we are in a dream world."

"I wish we are, but it seems this is reality."

Sarah never stopped admiring the SUV. She widened her eyes whenever she saw something that caught her fancy.

We got into an area where all building seemed the same. This must be an estate. The gate to the estate was opened by two big looking guards. Wow! This is strange. All the men have seen since we came into the area are all looking big with muscles.

Even the guards are working out. Wow!

"I think that's one of the criteria of being hired as a guard or a driver". Sarah said, looking at the direction of their driver who continued driving without saying a word to them.

After about an hour's ride inside same estate, the driver announced they had arrived at their destination. In front of them was another gate leading to a building unimaginable.

At the entrance a blue coloured SUV arrived, and we were carried straight into the castle. Never in my life have I ever wondered if such a place ever existed or if I will ever be opportuned to visit such a place.

The castle that seemed near was only far away when we got in.

This was a real castle but seems to be too far from their view, better than those castles we normally see in barbie cartoon.

"Wow! this is huge."

Sarah quickly took out her camera to take pictures.

"Sarah!, not now, I whispered to her hearing. The driver turned around to say I should let her take some pictures.

I was shocked as to how he could hear what I whispered to Sarah.

At the entrance a blue coloured SUV arrived, and we were carried straight into the castle. Never in my life have I ever wondered if such a place ever existed or if I will ever be opportune to visit such a place.

The castle that seemed near was only far away when we got in.

When we finally arrived at the place, some maids arrived all dressed in blue and white uniforms. A lady who seemed like the head maid approached us. She was a fine looking lady that seemed to be proud.

"Welcome to 'The Royal Archive'. The head maid said leading us into the palace.

"Wow! The castle also has a name, very interesting.

Inside the palace was as magnificent as the outside with more lights and chandeliers everywhere.

"Mona, this was more than I ever imagined, this is huge. Oh my God, will there be a Prince Charming as well?"

"Sarah I don't know about a Prince Charming, but I sure know they are very wealthy."

"Mona, I read some time ago about the King of the north. From what I heard, he was still young but single, what if we get to see him do you think he might notice us?"

"My God! Sarah, will you keep shut? we are only here for work, don't forget that. Do not let your thoughts run wild about anything else."

Sarah was just something else. What was she on about a Prince Charming of some sort. Well it won't be bad seeing a Prince or maybe a King, but that's got nothing to do with me. I got a fiancé already.

A very beautiful lady descended the stairs, I swear she looked so much like snow-white. Look at that pure white skin, her eyes are emerald green. In short this lady is flawless, she's like a princess.

Wait a minute, could this be the Royal princess I will be attending to?

Oh my God! Sarah is worse than I am right now, she was practically drooling with her glasses about falling off her face.

"Sarah, get a grip!"

The head maid quickly announced Princess Xena, who descended the stairs gracefully in all her royalty. She smiled when we made eye contact.

Sarah and I quickly bowed our head in greetings.

"You must be Mona?"

"Yes your Highness."

"Wow how nice to finally meet you Mona, and this is?"

"I am Sarah, Your Highness..I will be assisting Miss Mona."

"You are very welcome to our home". Princess Xena smiled a killer smile with her pearly white teeth. Her husband must be a very lucky man to deserve such beauty.

We were offered our bedroom, with maids stationed to attend to our very needs.

Since we arrived in the evening, the maids attended to us bringing us dinner in bed. Sarah's room was closer to mine and all our luggage was neatly arranged in our closet.

Sarah called later at night if she could come over to my room. I agreed because I really wanted to have a chitchat with her.

"Mona, I want to thank you very much for taking me along with you, when there were so many others you could have chosen from."

"I am honoured to have you here with me Sarah, I truly am."

"This mansion is the biggest have ever seen in my life, and did you see how beautiful the princess looked Mona? I can't imagine how beautiful she will be looking when we finish working on that face of hers.

"She's indeed a beauty to behold, I tell you, a true princess." Mona replied.

Meanwhile, Princess Xena, found a familiar kind of scent around Mona, but she really could not place her hands on it. It was clear Mona was human, but she smelled like someone very familiar.
