

Read The alpha who saved me (Quinn Night) novel Chapter 131 online free

CHAPTER 131

Declan

I told Quinn that I needed to grab a few folders for pack business, which is true, but I also wanted to look into getting answers about the Shikari. It's hard to ask questions without being asked why I'm looking for answers, especially if it has to do with the Dire wolf. So, when I call one of the Elders, I simply tell him about the Alpha that we have and that he is the one that was speaking of this Shikari group.

Surprisingly, the Elder has heard of the group of hunters. To his knowledge, there are none in the states, but there are groups scattered across Europe. They hunt werewolves, because they believe that we are a freak of nature and should not be able to live or procreate. They have powers of their own, limited, but powers all the same. As for the Dire wolf, they must know of the legend too. According to the Elder, this group lives and breathes hunting our kind, and so, if there is a legend, then they know all about it.

What makes me angry is what I hear next. The Elder says that more than likely, the Shikari are already aware of a lot of the pack in this region, mainly the ones that have been attacking the innocent ones in search of the Dire wolf.

So, in other words, packs like the Gray Skies pack, have been leading these hunters right to us. I thank the Elder for the information and then slam my hand down on my desk as soon as I hang up. A thought comes to me that has me linking my Beta to come to my office right away.

"You wanted to see me?" Carter comes strolling in.

"Yes, I need you and Keenan to come up with a schedule for extra warriors over at Quinn's pack, actually I want warriors doing patrol around both pack borders, everyone will be on overtime for a while. I will talk to Quinn and have Beta Spencer and Gamma Cam contact you about combining all warriors. I want everyone on twelve-hour shifts, leaving very little time between border checks."

“What’s going on? You sound like you are expecting a big attack.” Carter has a worried expression on his face.

Running my hand over my face, I sigh, “We could very well be looking at one.” I go on to tell him what the Elder had informed me of, “There is no telling what is going to happen when Quinn comes into her powers. We don’t even know when.”

“I thought Luna Stacia left her all the information.” My Betal reminds me of the documents that were left for Quinn by her mother.

“You’re right! I bet Quinn didn’t bother reading any more after becoming shocked to find out that she was the Dire wolf.” I gather the folders that I really did come for and then glance back at Carter, “I still want you to do as I asked and also, I want more security cameras set up around the borders. I don’t care how much it costs; I want them all around both borders.”

“I’ll have all the cameras done by the end of the day and I will be in contact with you as soon as we have a game plan ready for patrol.”

“Thanks Carter. Stay on standby because I will be doing a video call as soon as I fill Quinn in on everything and go through those documents. I will have Alpha Deke on as well since he already knows who she is.”

“Will do, Dec. Now go, she needs you more than we do right now.” I nod, and then hurry from the room and out of the pack house.

Quinn is still in her office when I get back, “All work and no play makes for a very boring day.” I say from the doorway.

She smiles up at me and stands, “Well, that didn’t take you too long.”

I meet her in the middle and pull her into my arms, “It seems as though I’ve been gone all day.” I take her lips with mine and kiss her deeply. As soon as I hear that little moan that she makes, the one that turns my cock hard as a rock like it’s doing right now, I pull away. As much as I would love to lock the office door and ravage her for the rest of the afternoon, we have important business to take care of.

She pouts when I pull away, and I have to chuckle as she sticks her bottom lip out. I kiss the tip of her nose, “Be good, I need my wits about me in order to discuss important matters with you.” That seems to do it as her back straightens, and her expression becomes serious.

“What’s wrong?” Her brow furrows.

“I’ve talked to the Elders and learned a little more about the Shikari. Not too much more but enough for now. Apparently, they aren’t from the states, but from Europe.”

“So, why should we be worried about them if they are in Europe?” Quinn asks.

“Well, the Elders seem to think that they may know of some of the packs, more the rebel packs than anything, because they have been stirring up trouble looking for the Dire wolf. They think they want the Dire wolf first and foremost and are watching these rebel Dividing into pages now packs to see if they can lead them to it.”

She gasps, “So, Benjamin has been so worried that I would lead them here, when in fact, him and the others are the ones doing it!”

“Exactly!” I agree.

Anger takes over her beautiful face and she goes to pass by me, but I reach out, “Where are you going?”

“I’m going to shred that Alpha mutt to pieces!” It’s Tala who growls.

“Calm down, pretty girl,” I pull her to me. Tala is a sucker whenever I call her an endearment, “we have other matters to deal with first. After that, you are more than welcome to rip his insides out.” Just as I thought, Tala calms down and gives Quinn back control.

“I don’t know how you do that...” Quinn chuckles.

“It’s easy, she loves us.” I smirk and the pretty Luna sticks her tongue out at me.

“Okay, so what are these matters that you keep talking about?”

“Where are the documents that your mother left you?”

“I put them back into her secret safe, why?”

“Did you actually read through it all?”

“Well, no. I was still too surprised to find out that I was the Dire wolf, and I haven’t even thought about reading more since then, why?”

“Quinn, we have been in the dark as to what we should expect once your birthday comes. We don’t know when your powers will come in or anything. I think some of the answers are in those documents. You need to go get them.”

She clicks her tongue at me, “So damn bossy!”

I chuckle, “I’m sorry. You’re right, of course. Quinn, can you please go and retrieve the documents, so we can take a look at them? Pretty please.” I even bat my lashes at her as I grin.

“Oh, my Goddess, I will go grab them as long as you promise to never bat your lashes again!” She laughs and leaves to go get them.

After reading through all the documents, we learn that she will come into her powers at the same exact time that she was born, which is twenty-three minutes after nine in the morning. At least it isn’t in the wee hours of the morning. As we read on, it stated that she will feel a pressure in the center of her body and it will grow almost like a ball of fire, but it will not cause her real pain. It will use up all of her energy as she shifts into her Dire wolf. Her wolf will be huge but look the same as it does now in coloring. Her speed and strength will be ten-fold and as for her powers, that will be something that she has to figure out, but her mother, Stacia, was good enough to write down everything to try in order to find out which power she will be granted with. Stacia was granted the power to heal wounds that aren’t lethal.

“I had no idea that my mother had that power!” Quinn had stated when we read that part.

“That’s because it says that she rarely used it, because she didn’t want others to catch on to her. It will be difficult for you to hide yourself because once you mate your fated, every wolf will know who you are.”

I’m feeling a little better now that we know what to expect and when to expect it. Luna Stacia did amazing with leaving all this information for her daughter, knowing that she would have nobody to help her when the time came. I hug Quinn to me for a few minutes, just needing to feel her in my arms for a bit, because in less than two days, I have a feeling that all hell is going to break loose, and these moments may be few and far between. I hope I'm wrong, though.

"So, do you really think these Shikari people will travel all this way just for little ole me?" Quinn pulls away just enough to look up at me.

"Quinn, I'm pretty sure that three of them are already here."

I hope you enjoyed this chapter...comment with your thoughts! Have a fantabulous day! =)

Read The alpha who saved me (Quinn Night) novel Chapter 132 online free

CHAPTER 132

"The three strangers that Frankie told us about..." I stare at Declan wide-eyed.

He nods, "Yeah, I believe so," Declan pulls me onto his lap and holds me close, "Frankie said that they were human, but they were something else as well."

"How were they able to ask around and not sense the other wolves in the bar?" I ask a little confused. If they are werewolf hunters, then why not take out the wolves they come across? It's not like they need every wolf alive in order to find me.

"Who says they didn't sense the others?" Declan asks his own question, "But they are more concerned about finding you and maybe they were hoping that one of them would lead them to you."

"Frankie said that he made sure he wasn't followed. Do you think he was mistaken? That maybe he was followed?" Now I'm nervous.

"I don't know, baby, I really don't know." He kisses the top of my head.

"Maybe they didn't since they haven't attacked yet." I know I'm grasping air, but it's helping to keep me on the calmer side. Tala is scratching and pawing to get out, but she doesn't understand what is at stake.

“Or they are waiting for the change to take place to make sure you are who they are searching for.”

“Seriously? Can’t we just go with my idea? It sounds so much better than yours!”

Declan chuckles, “Better to be safe than sorry. I know this is all scary and unknown, but we have each other, and we will take this head on as usual. We will win this war Quinn, because I’m not willing to lose you or our children over this.”

“Mm, I love it when you talk all sexy like this...” I press my lips against his, but I don’t push for more. In fact, I count down in my head as to when he’s going to pull away because there is work to be done.

He never disappoints, as he pulls away, chuckling, “I am going to show each and every part of your body just how much I love it when we are alone later. For now,” he gives me another peck, “There’s work to do.” Patting my ass, he has me get off his lap.

“Who was it that just said not too long ago, something about all work and no play?” I cock a brow at him and grin.

“Yeah, yeah, yeah, I know...I’m a hypocrite!” He laughs, “In my defense though, I already put word out that there will be a video call with Carter, and Alpha Deke will be joining us.”

“Fine, but you better make good on your promise to each of my body parts!”

“Make no mistake, Quinn, I will have you later.”

My core throbs with his statement, making Declan growl when he smells my arousal, “Hey, don’t say things that will get me wet...” I hold my hands up and shrug, “Just saying.”

Declan ends up filling me in on security just before Carter calls with an update. Our men have been moving warriors around for the past hour, trying to make it work, and finally, they have managed it. I’m so glad that our warriors can work together on this; it will make it so much less stressful in the long run.

“Oh, they have already started putting up the extra cameras in Luna Quinn’s territory. Spencer called me when the men got to the border, to let me know since he didn’t want to bother you. He knew you two were going over the documents.” Carter informs us, “I had them start on Dark Moon territory first since it’s the one in most danger.”

“Thank you, Carter. I appreciate you taking lead on this,” I tell him, “We both do.”

“It’s my job Luna. We need to keep our favorite girls safe from the big, bad men.” The Beta chuckles.

“Give us thirty minutes and then I will start the video call.” Declan informs Carter. As soon as he hangs up, he heads toward the door, but I’m not paying too much attention as I am skimming over the documents my mother left me once again.

It isn’t until Declan is standing behind me that I realize he never left, “What are you doing?” I giggle as he spins me around.

“Do you think that I can actually concentrate on anything when all I can smell is your alluring scent?” He takes hold of my shirt and yanks it up over my head, “We have thirty minutes; let’s make them enjoyable.”

Lucky for him, he’s wearing a t-shirt today instead of his normal dress shirts, otherwise it would be ruined like the others that I rip open. Instead, I yank the material over his head and latch on to his pec first before I kiss my way down to the deep V that he sports from having such a God-like body. His jeans are next as I undo do them and pull them down over his hips, but I can’t wait any longer.

Dividing into pages now

I take hold of his girthy cock and take it deep into my mouth, making him hiss

“Fuck Quinn...” He grips my hair and begins to thrust as he watches me deep throat him for a little while. He has other plans, though. Pulling out of my mouth, he takes hold of my arms and pulls me back up to my feet before turning me around. He hooks his fingers into my leggings and pushes them all the way down, “Sorry, baby, I can’t wait any longer!” Bending me over, he thrusts into me hard and deep as he groans.

“Oh Goddess!” I cry out as he fills me full of his cock, “That feels so good, please don’t stop...”

“No worries there...” He begins to slam into me over and over. My hips hit the desk, but I don’t care, my wolf will heal me, I just need him to take me savagely, just like he is, “Damn, your pussy is so addicting, baby!”

Declan ends up taking me from the desk to me straddling him in my chair, then up against the wall and finally, he finishes off with me bent over the arm of the couch, “ARGH...! Oh fuck...oh fuck...oh fuck!” I come for the fourth time.

“That’s it...get ready to take mine, baby!” I feel it as he fills me full with his hot cum. He just keeps pumping it out until finally the last drop is consumed by my pussy.

He collapses over my back as we try and catch our breath, “Well, so much for waiting until later.” I chuckle.

“If you weren’t such a tease, then I would have been able to wait.” He snickers as well as he stands up and then slowly pulls out of me while he watches, “Goddess, I made a mess out of you, baby.” He leaves me bent over as he walks into the attached bathroom to grab a towel.

When he comes back and starts wiping up his mess between my legs, I glance over my shoulder at him, “Don’t think you’re getting out of your promise, just because I let you fuck me now.”

“I wouldn’t dream of it. A promise is a promise, and I always keep mine.” He slaps my ass hard making me squeal in delight before standing back up. He tosses me my clothes, “We have three minutes until I connect the video chat, better dress quick.” He chuckles.

“You are such an ass hat!” I laugh but don’t waste any time in dressing.

Declan starts the video chat and Carter is the first to come up on the big screen that we have specifically for these calls. I don’t understand why he’s smirking until I glance at our image. I shriek and duck out of the camera range, but not before slapping Declan in the chest.

“What was that for?” He asks but I ignore him completely while I run into the bathroom.

“Dude,” I hear Carter trying to talk quietly, “always make sure they’re not sporting sex hair before starting a video call!”

“Oh shit...my bad!” I hear Declan chuckle, “Sorry, babe!” He calls out to me as he snickers. I can’t help but grin myself, as I comb through my hair.

“Did I miss something?” Deke’s voice comes over the speaker.

“Nope,” I say, popping the P, as I come back into the room, “nothing at all.”

Read The alpha who saved me (Quinn Night) novel Chapter 133 online free

CHAPTER 133

It’s now the day before my birthday and I’m on pins and needles just waiting on something to happen. I don’t know what’s worse, having something happen or waiting for it, knowing that it’s coming but you don’t know when. It fucks with all of your plans. I should be enjoying my upcoming birthday, but instead, I’m dreading it. To Declan’s relief, I’ve decided to stay and spend time with the boys all day. With Carter taking care of Storm River for the time being, Declan is taking care of things on this end, so I can have this time.

Amelia joins me out in the back yard while I watch Holden waddle around after Ayden. Demi is by the playset with them while I feed Ash. It’s a beautiful day and I’m wishing everyday could be like this, but I know dark ones are soon coming and I will need to prepare.

“So, tomorrow is the day that you will find out if my son is your fated or not.” Amelia isn’t looking at me. Instead, her head is tilted back, letting the sun rays ‘hit her face as she soaks up the warmth.

“Yeah, it is.”

“Are you worried?”

“Honestly, that is the part that I am no longer worried about. I may be wrong, but I feel it deep inside; there is no doubt that he is my mate. The closer my birthday has come, the feeling has gotten stronger, and my wolf is calmer now that Declan and Duke are with us.”

"I so hope you are right. I've been hoping since right before your eighteenth birthday, and then I was hoping that you would just choose one another. Then the harlot had to get knocked up." The Dividing into pages now former Luna says with disgust.

I smile at Holden, "Yeah, but she gave us an amazing little boy."

Amelia tilts her head back down and grins, "That she did. He is so lucky to have you, Quinn. I know you will treat him as your own and he will never know a day without being loved."

"You are right, Amelia. I fell in love with him that first day that I met him. I want him and Asher to be close, after all, they will be stepbrothers as well as cousins." I snicker at the thought.

"I'm glad Gavin had you in his final days; you made him happy and I know you will make my son happy as well." She says warmly.

"Well, let's make sure I'm right, and that we really are mates. We will know for sure in less than twenty-four hours." I chuckle.

"Not that I really want to bring it up," Amelia states, "but what are you going to do about Lila?"

I sigh heavily, "We will have to find her first, but Declan and I have already discussed it. We will mate and mark each other right away instead of waiting until the union ceremony. With everything going on, we're not sure what to expect once my change happens. Declan and I mating will put everything in motion, I will be his Queen above all, so me waiting for the Luna title isn't detrimental at the moment, but it is rightfully mine and I will take it back from that bitch."

Amelia throws her head back and laughs, "There's the feisty Quinn that I remember!"

"There you are!" Cici comes out and joins us, I went to your office and found your boy toy sitting at your desk." She chuckles.

I roll my eyes and turn to Amelia, "She calls your son my boy toy."

Dividing into pages now

“Oh, my Goddess!” His mother chuckles, “I don’t think I really needed to hear that. I hear enough when you spend the night!” She winks at me, and I can feel my face heat with embarrassment.

“Go Luna!” My friend fist pumps the air.

I’m enjoying myself immensely, spending time with Amelia and now Cici. It seems as though it’s been ages, and I know it’s helping to keep from thinking about the upcoming days.

“So, Amelia, how is Dr. Sands, anyway?” Cici’s big mouth decides to be intrusive once again, but for once, I’m glad because I’ve been itching to find out myself.

“A lady never tells...”

“Well, it’s a good thing you aren’t a lady then, isn’t it?” Cici winks as I gawk at her audacity.

“Pfft, you are so right on that account!” Amelia chuckles and leans forward, “Let’s just say that younger men are definitely the way to go when you are my age and single.” She smirks.

“Oh, look at you, you little hussy!” Cici jokes, and I can’t help but laugh at the nerve she has to say these things to the former Luna.

“Hey, call me what you want, young lady, but just know that I’ve paid my time and I’ve earned the title in which you call me.” Amelia playfully snubs my friend.

“And which title is that Mother?” I choke at the sound of Declan’s voice as he steps out of the back doors.

“This is a private conversation between women...”

Cici being Cici, cuts her off, “I called her a hussy because her and Sands are knocking boots.” She grins because her words have the Dividing into pages now desired effect, causing Declan to turn around and head back into the house.

“Quinn, come find me when you are done with your girl talk.” He says, sounding as though he’s about to hurl.

I laugh, "Oh, come on, join us, babe!" I call after him. His only answer comes in the form of his middle finger standing straight up in the air. I turn back to my friend, "Why do you have to torment him like that?" I ask her amusingly.

"Oh, this is all payback from when he and my brother used to torture me when we were younger."

"She's right," Amelia takes Cici's side, "I don't know how many times I had to pull gum out of the poor girl's hair or clean her up after they would toss her in a mud puddle, and those were the lesser of all the evils!"

"The worst was putting ants in my bed!" Cici visibly shivers.

"The question is, though, what did you do to them?" I quirk a brow at her.

"These were all tortures that they did before I started paying them back! The ant fiasco was the last straw, so I started getting them back. Do you know my brother hates bugs?" My little friend smirks.

I shake my head, "I never knew that." I laugh.

"Yeah, something about him getting one stuck up his nose or something, but anyway, I waited until he was sleeping and then dumped a bucket of all types of insect on him. I had all the pack kids collecting them for almost a week!"

"You didn't!" I exclaim.

"Sure did, wouldn't sleep in his bed or his room for a whole month! That's when he finally called a truce with me."

"I'm telling you, Quinn, the Stone kids were nothing but troublemakers and they would drag my good boy into everything!" Amelia smirks at her own comment.

"Why do I find that hard to believe!" I shake my head, chuckling.

"Okay, fine! Maybe it was Declan that taught the Stone kids a few naughty things." She admits with a bout of laughter.

The time with the women goes by way too fast and soon I'm needing to put the boys down for their naps, Cici has work over at the pup care center, and Amelia, well she tends to disappear about this time of day. It's weird because it just so happens to be the same time that Dr. Sands takes his lunch break. It okay, though, because I still need to find Declan and see what he needed before my best friend scarred him.

I find him in the first place I look, which is my office, as he is on the phone with what sounds like Carter. He waves me over to him and pulls me down onto his lap as he's in the middle of a deep discussion. The devil on my shoulder tosses the angel aside and I slide off his lap and onto my knees in front of him. His eyes widen and he shakes his head, but I bite my lip and nod as I try to undo his jeans.

Trying to stop my hands, I raise a brow and slowly let one of Tala's claws slide out. When I point it toward his ever-growing bulge, I watch as he swallows and then finally allows me to undo the front of his pants. His cock springs forward and I lick my lips at the little drop of pre-cum leaking from the tip. He never takes his eyes off me as I stick my tongue out and swirl it around the head. It isn't until I take him all the way into my mouth that he leans back and relaxes as he closes his eyes. He only responds to his Beta with grunts.

I thought for sure that he would have hung up by now, but Carter never stops talking. I can hear him plain as day, thanks to my werewolf hearing, as he continues on about border patrol and camera shots. It isn't until I pick up the pace and I feel his cock start to swell that Declan tries to get off the phone, but he doesn't make it as he bites down on his bottom lip and explodes into my mouth. His hand comes to the back of my head and holds himself deep in my throat until every last drop is swallowed.

I thought Quinn needed some time to relax after everything that has gone on. I hope you enjoyed this chapter as much as the others. Thanks for reading peeps! =)

Read The alpha who saved me (Quinn Night) novel Chapter 134 online free

CHAPTER 134

Declan

Quinn coming into the office and getting me off the way she did and then leaving as I'm still on the phone with my Beta, leaves me completely dumbfounded. She is definitely going to be paid back as soon as I find the perfect opportunity. Here I am, trying to talk strategy with Carter and she has the nerve to suck my cock, but before that, threatens to rip my pants away with Tala's claw if I didn't allow her access! The smirk on my face at the moment is for the fun I'm going to have when it's time to pay her back.

I'm trying to keep myself busy because knowing that her birthday is tomorrow and we will finally find out that we are mates, is wreaking havoc on my nerves. Duke wants to break out and claim our mate without even waiting for morning. Usually, my wolf has a good head on his shoulders, but he's always been more animalistic where Quinn and Tala are concerned. I'm actually afraid to try and be intimate with Quinn tonight because I don't know what Duke will do, he may even try marking her.

'I won't mark her, Declan. I can hold off until morning because I know we will be doing so.' Duke responds to my thoughts.

'Yeah, well I'm not taking any chances, Duke. The way our luck has been going, I don't want to assume anything.'

'Fine, have it your way, and suffer.' He huffs at me.

One thing is for sure, it will be nice once Quinn and I are mated, so I don't have to deal with Duke's grumpiness. Thinking of Quinn, I should go find her and catch her up on everything that is going on with the updates. I know she just wants to relax today, and I am fine with that, but as the Luna of this pack, she still needs to be updated.

Dividing into pages now

Just as I go to find her, though, my phone rings, and the caller ID is showing Alpha Dominik's name from the Dark Shadows pack. I frown because he rarely calls me, so I when I answer, I'm sure he can hear the confusion in my voice.

"Hello, Alpha Declan here."

"Hi Declan, it's Dominik. I think I may have something that you would be interested in having back, so I hear." He chuckles, and for the life of me, I haven't the slightest idea on what he could be talking about, "Are you still missing a Luna?"

“Lila? She’s in your territory?” I ask a bit shocked.

“Yeah, well, according to her, she was only looking for some pleasant company, until she heard that you and I are allies, and then her tune changed. She states that she is running from you. because you are abusive to her.”

I pinch my nose and squeeze my eyes shut, “Thank you for calling and informing me of this. Is there any way that you could have some warriors escort her to Dark Moon? We can’t spare the extra warriors to go retrieve her right at this time.”

“Of course, but is Luna Quinn on board with this?” It’s Alpha Dominik’s turn to be confused now.

“Yes, she will be fine, I’m here. She will be needing her anyway, so this will work best. Oh, and please make sure to put her in silver cuffs.”

“Declan...” He goes to argue with me.

“Will you please trust me on this? I can explain everything later, but just know that she cannot be trusted.” I inform the Alpha.

Dividing into pages now

Hesitating, he finally sighs, “Fine, but I better get an explanation later.”

“I promise you your explanation, Dominik. Also, just a heads up, I will be calling with a video chat tomorrow afternoon. I can’t tell you what it’s about just yet, but I’m sure you will know by the time I do. Thank you again for escorting my lost Luna back to me.” I snicker, not really wanting to deal with her, but knowing that we have to.

After hanging up with Alpha Dominik, I go in search of my future mate to tell her the good news, if you can even call it that. There is nothing good when it comes to that she-bitch, but in Quinn’s case it is. She will be able to challenge her for her rightful title once morning comes.

I find Quinn in the kitchen of all places, trying to help cook. something but my guess is as good as anyone else’s, “Well, this is the last place that I thought I would ever find you.” I chuckle as I wrap my hands around her waist from behind.

“Ha, ha, ha! The boys are still sleeping and since you postponed my birthday party, I decided that a cake needs to be made,” she tilts her head back and kisses my chin, “The kitchen staff has been helping me out with it, so it should be edible.” She giggles.

“Hm, you know why I postponed your party, don’t you?” I did feel really bad when I had made that decision, but her safety and everyone else’s comes first.

“Of course, I do, and I agree, but I did not like my best friend coming in with her panties in a bunch because of your decision that you had not told me about.” She gives me a stern glance over her shoulder, and I smile back sheepishly.

“Cici had to have gone straight to you after I told her, so I didn’t to have the chance.” I had to pull an answer out of my ass and this one had sounded good, so I thought.

“Right... that was days ago, Declan, and you haven’t brought it up once to me.” I can tell she’s trying to hide her grin, so I relax a little bit.

Bringing my lips to her ear, so no other ears can hear, I whisper, “How about I make it up to you in the form of sexual favors. Will you forgive me then?”

I smell her answer before she even opens her mouth, “I’ll have to think about it.” She states.

“And I call bullshit,” I continue to whisper, “I can smell your arousal, Quinn. You want me to do naughty things to you, don’t you?”

She gasps and spins around, “If you can smell it, then they can. too!” She points to the staff, “Leave and let me finish what I’m doing here.” Her laugh reaches deep inside of me.

I move away from her, reluctantly, “I came to find you to let you know that the cameras are all up and working throughout all your borders. That’s what Carter was telling me when you interrupted me earlier,” I grin, “Oh, and Alpha Dominik called. He’s got an early birthday present for you.”

“Oh? I’d rather wait until he comes to the party, so he can give it with the rest of the guests; unless, of course, he can’t make the party now.”

“Uh, I think you will want this one come tomorrow morning.” Now that I’m saying this, I should have waited to surprise her with it.

Quinn stops stirring whatever it is that she’s stirring and turns to me once again, “Why, what’s so important that I can’t wait until my party?”

I grin, “Alpha Dominik is having a few of his warriors escort a certain runaway Luna back to her rightful Alpha.”

She gasps, “Lila was hiding in the Dark Shadows territory?”

“Apparently so. I instructed the Alpha to have his men bring her here, so we should probably make sure there is room in the cells for her.”

“Oh, I will go and make room right now!” She hands her utensil to one of the staff members and pulls off her apron. Without another word, she’s hurrying out of the back door.

“Quinn, wait up...” I chuckle.

Read The alpha who saved me (Quinn Night) novel Chapter 135 online free

CHAPTER 135

As soon as Declan tells me that Lila is coming to be put in Dark Moon’s cells, I hurry over to make sure there is room. I should put her in with the worst of the worst from the Gray Skies pack, but as I woman who has been through a lot of shit, I’m not evil like that. Even Lila deserves better than that.

“Quinn, wait up...”

I stop to wait for Declan to catch up. His grin tells me that I’m amusing him by my actions, but he has no idea just how much I despise this she-wolf. I know she’s wronged him in horrible ways too, but she took so many years from us and tried stealing what I know is supposed to be mine, so yeah, I’m a bit hasty at the moment.

“What are you planning on doing?” Declan asks in amusement.

“Whatever I have to do in order to make sure there is a cell with that she-bitch’s name on it.” I huff.

“Have I ever told you that you look so hot when you’re like this?” He pulls me into him and smiles down at me.

He pouts as soon as I push away from him, though, “Oh, no you don’t! I’m not letting anybody distract me from this; not even you!” I’m wagging my finger at him, but then he grabs hold of it and starts dragging me towards the cells.

“Well, why are you just standing around, waving your hands around like a lunatic?” He chuckles.

Oh, this male makes me want to shove my foot up his ass sometimes! He thinks he’s funny, but even as I think this, I chuckle to myself. He’s so cute when he’s acting like an ass hat.

By the time we get to the cells, we have composed ourselves, and are back to acting like a proper Alpha and Luna. The guards greet us as we walk through the door and head down the steps. There are a few cells that only have one prisoner in them, but I’m looking for a particular cell. I’m about halfway down the hall when I come to one that smells the foulest, as though the occupant has decided to use a corner as a urinal instead of the actual urinal.

“I think this one will do.” I stop and look up at Declan.

“You’re evil, do you know that?” He chuckles down at me.

“Well, she deserves worse, but this is as far as I’m willing to stoop.”

“I can always come up with something, if you need me to.” He offers, but no, I want to do this, besides, I doubt he can come up with worse.

“I’ve seen her cell at Storm River, Declan. You pampered her while punishing her. She will not get that here; I will make sure of it.”

“That was before that last stunt she pulled with me, though.” He tries defending himself, but it kind of pisses me off.

I whirl around, “She has stolen two years away from me when you and I could have already been together, not that I would trade Gavin and Asher for anything, but she still stole from me. She came into my home and fucked with my life and Gavin’s life, and you don’t think she deserved more of a punishment? It took her having you fuck her, to give her a deserving punishment?" I stop myself short, "I'm sorry, that was uncalled for..."

The hurt that shows across Declan's face, breaks my heart, "No, you're right. I pampered her because I didn't know how the Elders would handle it if they knew that she spent most of her time. behind bars instead of acting like the pack Luna. I should have given her what she deserved."

Dividing into pages Tow

I step forward and place my hand over his chest, "I'm sorry, I still shouldn't have said what I said; I shouldn't have brought it up. It's just I'm so pissed that she has taken what is mine and has hurt all of us because of it."

Tala bursts forward without warning, 'The bitch will know that you are ours by morning! Nobody will be able to help her once I get my paws on her!'

I gasp and push her back before focusing on Declan, who is now smirking, "I love it when she gets all possessive like that." He muses.

"Forgive me?" it's the only thing that comes out.

"There is nothing to forgive, baby. You are right, so let's give her what she deserves." He gives me a closed-mouth kiss and then backs up and turns to the guard, "Can we move this prisoner to another cell? We will be needing this one vacant for an incoming prisoner."

"Of course, Alpha. I will get a couple of the Omegas to come in and clean it up."

"No," I speak up, "I want it left as is."

The guard stares quizzically at me, "But Luna..."

"I understand your concern," and I do; we always treat prisoners with a certain level of respect regardless of their crime, "but this is a special case and I want them to experience the worst treatment that I can allow myself give them."

“Yes, Luna.” He goes to a cabinet and grabs a pair of gloves before picking up a set of silver cuffs.

Declan and I stand by and watch as he transports the male to another cell, making sure he doesn’t give my guard any issue. When I walk into the disgusting cell, I notice bugs crawling in the bed because it’s so soiled.

“Okay, I can’t do it!” I state as I cover my mouth, “What the fuck did that male think he was doing? Is that feces on the mattress?” I gasp and then gag when I swallow the odor that is emitting around the cell.

“For the love of the Goddess!” Declan covers his nose and mouth as well.

I call the guard back in, “Go ahead and see to it that there is a new cot, mattress and bedding put in here. I can’t go that far with their punishment. Also, make sure any feces that may be lying around is cleaned up as well, thank you.”

“You got it Luna.”

I turn back to Declan who has already stepped out of the cell where the air is somewhat a little fresher. He’s smirking at me, “Oh, wipe that smirk off your face! Anyone that would knowingly put someone in that room, being the way it is, should be shot! That is the most disgusting thing that I have ever seen!”

“Hey, I’m not judging you, Quinn, but that was the right decision. I know you want her to suffer but putting her in there like that would have been way worse than putting her in a cell with a male, if you ask me.”. He states, and I can’t agree more.

“Well, let’s just see what she thinks of my generosity.” I smirk as Declan puts his arm around my shoulders and leads me upstairs and into the fresh sunshine.

Read The alpha who saved me (Quinn Night) novel Chapter 136 online free

CHAPTER 136

I'm in my bedroom just finishing up feeding Asher when Spencer links me that the Dark Shadow warriors are here with Lila. I automatically get anxious because as much as I'm dying to lock her up, I really don't want to look upon her face.

'What are you waiting for?' Tala asks, 'Let's go put that bitch in her place!'

"Tala! We will not touch a hair on her head until the challenge... promise me that you will behave until then!"

'Ugh...not even a bitch slap?' My wolf asks, 'How about a poke in her ass cheek with my claw?'

'Ew, no!'

'I didn't mean up her ass, geesh!' Tala rolls her eyes.

'We will not even touch her to take her down to her cell. I will not give you any chance to make one little mark on her.'

'Can we at least trip her as she walks down the stairs?'

'TALA!'

'Okay, okay...'

I shake my head as I leave my room and head downstairs. Demi is in the living room watching cartoons with Ayden and Holden as I bring Ash over to her. She smiles and holds her arms out for him, gladly taking him from me. Leaning down, I place a kiss on top of Holden's head before heading outside.

Declan meets me at the front door, "Are you ready to do this?"

I let out a heavy sigh before nodding, "Yeah, let's do this."

He opens the front door and lets me go out first as he follows me. We walk all the way over to the cells in silence, because we both have so much on our minds. About halfway there, he takes my hand in his and continues to walk beside me.

Lila's back is to us as we approach and when I go to pull my hand from Declan's he holds onto it even tighter. I glance up at him and he raises a brow at me, so I let him have his way as we circle around to the front of the group. The she-wolf straightens up as soon as she sees Declan.

“Alpha, I have...” Her words fall short when she finally spots me, and then notices our hands clasped together, “What do you think you’re doing with my Alpha?” She scowls at me.

I lift my eyes towards the man beside me, “Would you like the honors, or should we wait until morning?”

Declan smiles down at me, “Let her stew until morning.”

I nod towards my warriors who take Lila from Alpha Dominik’s men, and then I turn my attention to them, “Please, come to the pack house and have some refreshments before you head back.”

“Thank you, Luna Quinn, but we really should be getting back. Alpha Dominik made it clear that we were to drop the prisoner off and head straight back.”

“Oh, I see. Well, thank you so much for transporting her here, we really appreciate your help with this.” I respond.

“It was our pleasure, Luna.” The warrior smiles and then bows his head at me.

Dividing into pages now

We watch them walk away, and then Declan is pulling me into his arms, “I believe that warrior was just flirting with my future Queen.”

I scoff, “You read way too much into that! He was only being respectful.”

“With the bow, yes. The smile on the other hand was all flirting.” He chuckles.

“Well, it’s a good thing that I only have eyes for you then, isn’t it big guy?” I pat his chest and start back toward the pack house.

We are almost back when Declan stops me, “Why don’t we go let our wolves run. We won’t go far and will stay far enough away from the borders. With everything going on, I just want our wolves to enjoy a little bit of quiet time together.”

I smile up at him, and not caring about my clothes, I challenge him, “Last one to the tree line changes all dirty diapers for a week!” I let Tala burst free in the next instant, and then we are off. I can hear Declan curse and next thing I know, Duke is nipping at my heels, but I stay ahead of them as I fly past the line of trees in front and continue through the forest.

We stay really close to home as we continue to circle around in order to not go too far, and our wolves are okay with it. I make the mistake of slowing down just enough to glance behind me, and that's when I'm pounced on by Duke and we both go rolling on the ground. He pins Tala onto her back, although she doesn't put up much fight, and he growls at her right before he begins licking her. She only takes so much before she turns the tables and flips Duke to his back as she stands over him, giving him her wolfish smile with her tongue hanging out the side of her mouth.

Declan and I have the same idea at the same time, as we both shift back to our human, "Tala is fucking fast," he states, "I was giving it my all and barely keeping up with you!"

"Seriously? I wasn't even going that fast!" I reply.

"You weren't...!"

I cut him off with my mouth crashing down over his, "Enough talking, I want to fuck!"

"Quinn..."

I take his hardening cock and stroke it a few times until it's fully hard, and then I position myself over him, "What? You don't want me?"

"You know damn well that's not it," his eyes roll to the back of his head as I sink down onto his shaft, "I don't want to lose control of Duke and he mark you before it's time."

I slowly start moving up and down, "I will make sure he doesn't, so can you please shut up and fuck me now?"

He growls and then flips us back over, so I'm on my back. He takes hold of my legs and spreads them wide while bending them at the knees, so he can have better access. His thrusts go deep and hard as he continues to pound into me. After so long, he pulls out and flips me onto my hands and knees, but it's Duke who is swirling in his eyes as he pushes my head down to the ground, showing me his dominance. My core throbs even more at his actions and I let both man and wolf own me.

By the time we get back to the pack house dinner is just being served and so we quickly go up and shower before presenting ourselves to the others. When we come down, Amelia is there to meet us, smiling like the Cheshire cat. She doesn't say anything, but her expression tells us everything that we need to know...she knows what we've been up to.

Dividing into pages now

My Beta and Gamma couples are already seated, along with Demi and the boys. Dr. sands has been joining us since Amelia has been here, and I can honestly say that I feel as though we are all family, and it feels good.

I am pretty sure that this will be the last time that I take the seat at the head of the table while Declan sits to my right. Starting tomorrow, our seats will be reversed, and I really can't wait. It's going to feel weird not being at the head of the table. Ever since I came back as Alpha, I've sat here. Gavin never got the chance to sit here, I think sadly, and now Declan will be taking his seat. I know Gavin is looking down on us, though, and is happy for us. He knows that Declan will do everything in his power to keep me and his son safe.

Glancing around the table, every single one of these people that sit here have come to mean more to me than anything. The only good thing about me being the Dire wolf is that I will now have the power to protect them, whichever power that may be. Come morning, our lives are going to change. The only question is, will they be changing for the good or will this be the end of all of us?

What do you think peeps? =)

Read The alpha who saved me (Quinn Night) novel Chapter 137 online free

CHAPTER 137

After dinner, Declan and I decide to spend it with the boys. I know Asher doesn't know what's going on yet, but just having Holden being around him will help strengthen the bond that we hope they will have as they grow up.

Holden is a smart little cookie and he's always wanting to be around me when I have Ash in my arms. As soon as tomorrow comes around, we will start referring to Asher as his brother when we talk to him. Not having his mom around in the first year and a half of his life has been hard on the little one, and I can't thank the Goddess enough for bringing him into my life because even though he isn't biologically mine, I will always consider him as my own. That is if Declan and I truly are mates.

"Dada!" Holden bounces up and down as he claps his little hands because he sees a bunny hopping by.

"Is that a bunny?" Declan asks his son and the little boy nods.

Another bunny comes hopping towards the other and Holden gasps and looks at his father. I glance down and see that Ash has spit up, so I wipe it up with the burp rag. Suddenly, I hear the words "mama", and I whip my head up to see Holden looking straight at me as he points to the bunnies. I'm in too much shock to look over to where he's pointing, but I finally shake it off and follow his finger as I smile.

"Yes, bunnies!" I laugh and then look over at Declan who is smiling also.

He leans in and kisses my temple, "And what a great mama you are..."

"But what if we're not

"Quinn, I think we can both safely say that we are mates. Our wolves know, and we will know for sure by tomorrow, but our instincts are telling us who we are to each other, at least mine are."

I smile and then reach my lips up for him to take, and there is no hesitation on his part. He takes them softly, lifting a hand to cup my cheek as he does. Giggling breaks us apart all too soon, and we see Holden just standing there watching us.

"I think we may have a peeping tom on our hands." Declan chuckles.

I slap his chest, "Declan! He's just a baby; he doesn't know any better."

"Mama," Holden motions me to come with his little hand, so I pass Ash over to Declan and go to Holden. He holds his hand out for me to take and then leads me over to the slide on the playset, "Up, mama!" I lift him up, but he calls out for me once again, wanting me to go up with him. Giggling, I climb the stairs and then sit at the top of the slide and set Holden on my lap. He giggles all the way down the slide, which isn't a very long slide, but I guess to an eighteen-month-old, it is.

We play for about an hour before we have to take the boys back in and give them their baths. Instead of calling Demi in to do it, we do it as a family. Not knowing what tomorrow, or the days ahead are going to bring, we want to spend this last night doing everything together, including giving the bath and putting them to bed.

It's only nine in the evening but we turn in anyway. I'm staring out our bedroom window, watching the sky as it darkens. I glance up when I feel strong arms come around me and smile at the gorgeous Alpha. We just stand here in silence, staring out the Dividing into pages now window. When movement catches my eye, I look down to see Amelia hurrying off to the woods. I look past her and chuckle when I see Dr. Sands standing at the tree line waiting for her.

"Look! Seems as though your mom may have a hot date." I point towards the forest and Declan follows my finger.

Just as he spots them, they embrace and start kissing, "Oh Goddess, I don't need to be seeing that!" He states.

"What's wrong with them kissing? I think it's sweet! It's not all that bad...oh Goddess!" I spin around, blocking my eyes, "They are both naked now! That isn't a picture that I wanted to see!"

"Oh, I thought it was cute?" Declan tries mimicking me and laughing.

"I was talking about the kissing! I didn't realize they were going to get ready to shift still in plain view!"

"I think I can come up with something that will take your mind off it." He pulls me into his arms.

"I thought you didn't trust Duke?" It's my turn to mimic him.

"Hey, that was a legit fear of mine, but he proved that he could handle himself, even if he did take over for just a bit."

“Yeah well, he definitely dominated me in a very good way.”

“Oh really? Do I need to show you just how dominating I can be?” He nibbles on my neck.

“I don’t know, Duke did a damn good job at it. I would think that it would be hard to beat.” I tease.

Without any warning he shoves me against the wall and rips open.

Dividing into pages now my shirt. Pinning my arms above my head with one of his hands, he goes in to suck and nip at my neck while the other hand carefully claws at my leggings, shredding them without leaving a scratch on me.

I’m already wet for him, so it doesn’t take anything for him to thrust a couple fingers into me and finger fuck me hard. Letting my hands go, he brings his hand to my throat and holds me to the wall this way as he crashes his mouth against mine. Soon enough, he’s pulling his cock out and replacing his fingers with it as he holds one of my legs up for a better angle.

He growls as he thrusts into me, not being gentle at all. We have had some wild sex before, but this is more animalistic than anything, and Duke isn’t even present. Without pulling out of me, he lifts me up and carries me over to the bed, depositing me on the edge and pinning me down once again by holding my legs. spread wide.

“Is this what you were wanting?” He grins as he gives few shallow thrusts and then a fast hard one. I nod but when I go to touch him, he growls, “Hands above your head and don’t move them.”

It’s my turn to grin now as I obey his command and let him have his way with me. Seeing him like this takes my desire to a whole other level and he has me coming instantly.

“Oh Goddess...Declan! More...give me more!” My body tightens, and my walls squeeze his cock as I tumble over and come hard.

“Mm...I love it when you come, baby. You look so fucking sexy!” He slams back into me and let’s his own load shoot into me, “Fuck, that one-came out of nowhere.” I’m still trying to catch my breath when he pulls out, and flips me over, so I’m bent over the bed. I gasp and he chuckles, “Oh, did you think I was done with you?" Holding me down between the shoulder blades, he pushes back into me, "Now, is when the fun really begins, sweetheart."

Dividing into pages now

We fuck well into the night, and only when the clock strikes twelve thirty in the morning do we drop to the mattress, finally sated, "Well, I've learned to never underestimate you when it comes to sex. What was that thing you did earlier when you had my legs..."

He cuts me off laughing, "I haven't the slightest clue, I was just trying to get you into the best position that I could in order to get nice and deep." He pulls me into his arms and kisses the top of my head, "Happy birthday, Quinn. Get some sleep because we don't know what today is going to bring."

I smile and think to myself, 'Hopefully it brings me my mate who just so happens to be holding me in his arms right now.' I don't let myself think past that, to other things, because I don't want it ruining the afterglow of our time together tonight, so instead, I close my eyes and let sleep take me.

IN

Thank you for reading! =)

Read The alpha who saved me (Quinn Night) novel Chapter 138 online free

CHAPTER 138

Declan

I can't sleep any longer. I've been laying here, with my arms wrapped around the woman I love for the last three hours, and I haven't been able to get a wink of sleep. I'm worried that we are wrong and that she isn't my mate, even though Duke keeps telling me to shut the fuck up. It's not like we have had a lot of luck these past few years.

'Alpha..' one of my warriors working on patrol tonight links me.

'Yes, I'm awake?'

‘Sorry to disturb you, but there is something that I think you should come and take a look at.’

‘Okay, I’ll be there shortly.’

I sink my nose into Quinn’s neck and inhale deeply before reluctantly climbing from the bed. I must have really tired her out because she doesn’t stir at all. I grin at the thought; my cockiness showing through, so it’s a good thing nobody is here to witness it. She wanted me to show her that I could be just as dominate as my wolf, and I surpassed even him, wearing her out so much that she doesn’t wake with my movement.

‘Don’t be a cocky ass. Had I had her in the bedroom, I guarantee I would have not only knocked her out for the count, but she wouldn’t have been able to walk for a few days!’ Duke snickers.

‘Yeah, okay. Just admit that I’m the better lover for our mate.’

‘Psh, when pigs fly!’

I roll my eyes at my wolf and grin, ‘How about you shut up about our mate like that and help me figure out what’s going on that we are pulled away from her at this early hour.’

‘All I know is that there is talk among our warriors that are working patrol that there is a strange scent lingering around the borders.’ Duke explains.

Unlike me, as the alpha wolf, he hears every conversation that goes on within our pack members, or at least their wolves. When the wolves talk amongst themselves, the Alpha wolf can hear them. Of course, he can turn it off, but as soon as my warrior linked me, he turned on his own link to the wolves.

“Shit!” I have a feeling I know exactly what the scent is, not that I can say that I will recognize it, but if it does happen to be the Shikari, then we are going to be in trouble much sooner than I had originally thought, I let Duke take over, and we shift.

When I get over to the western border, the border that connects both Dark Moon and Storm River together, there are four warriors waiting for me. One is holding onto a pair of shorts for me, so I shift back and take them, “Okay, so where is this scent that you are talking about?”

My own warrior walks the border until we come to where the western and southern borders meet, which isn't far from where I met the group. The scent hits me right away, and I was right, it isn't one that I know, but I do scent a mix of human in with it.

"Can you smell the underlining scent?" One of Quinn's men asks.

"Yeah, it's human." They all nod in agreement.

"viding into pares now

"But what is the other scent? I have never scented it before." It's my warrior who asks this.

"I have a feeling that what we are smelling is the scent of the Shikari. I believe they have found us. The question is, why haven't they tried attacking?"

"The Shikari?" Another warrior asks a bit confused.

"It's another name for hunter. They come from Europe, and they hunt our kind. They are looking for the Dire wolf, I believe."

One of the warriors chuckles, "Well they are looking in the wrong spot."

I don't correct him just yet, but I do go on to inform them of what these hunters can do, and I give them the descriptions of the three that were spotted in the human town a few nights ago.

"Hunters hunting werewolves?" Another warrior questions me, "What have we ever done to them? They are just like us if they have powers too! They aren't normal. We have human in us just as much as they do!" He's sounds offended and hurt, and I really can't blame him. We don't hurt anyone, and we keep to ourselves for the most part.

"Yeah, well, some people are just ignorant, but that doesn't mean that we have to stoop to their level. We will continue going on with our lives as normal, and we will protect each other the best way we know how. Change is coming and you all will know soon enough, but just keep doing what you are doing because as your alpha, I am proud of all that you do, and I can say the same for Luna Quinn and her warriors."

“We will always protect our way of life, Alpha.” All four of them slam their fists against their bare chests, as do I.

“Let me know if anything else occurs over the next few hours. I’ll be in Luna Quinn’s office if you need me.” I pull off the shorts and toss them to the side as I shift back into Duke and make my way back to the pack house.

‘I’m not sure how to handle this one, Duke.’ I say to my wolf.

‘This one is a new one for me too, but all I know is that it’s another challenge put forth through the legend. It’s not just our kind that will try and come for Quinn and Tala, the Shikari must be part of it too.’

‘Let them try,’ I growl, ‘I will kill everything and every person that tries to take her from us!’

‘I agree with you one hundred percent, human!’

It’s only five in the morning by the time I get back to the pack house, and so I hold myself up in Quinn’s office until the time nears for the change to take place. After talking, Quinn and I have decided to go to the training field for when it’s supposed to happen. Without knowing what to expect, we don’t want anybody around that could possibly get hurt. We informed the pack that training will be canceled due to it being their Luna’s birthday, and so there shouldn’t be anybody around, especially at that time, since they have been given the chance to sleep in.

Quinn actually surprises me when she comes in the office an hour later. She looks refreshed after the sleep she got and not the ‘I’ve just been fucked look’ that she was sporting last night. She’s showered, which tells me that she’s been up for a while, which only makes me frown.

“Well, that’s not the response I was expecting when I saw you this morning.” She chuckles.

I push the chair out and hold my arm out for her to come to me, “I’m frowning because I wanted you to sleep in this morning. I gave you a good workout last night.”

“Oh, are we feeling as though we didn’t do a good enough job?” She teases and I playfully glare at her, “If you must know, I woke up and saw that you were gone, and I couldn't go back to sleep afterwards." She then pouts herself.

I place her on the desk in front of me and lean my head against her lower belly, still smelling myself in her even though she has showered. I pull back, "I can't wait until I plant my seed in here and you grow nice and fat with my pup." I spread my big hand across her flat stomach, and she places hers over mine.

"Neither can I, but I think we need to wait until all of this chaos passes; I don't know if I'll need to shift to protect anyone, and the last thing I want to do is hurt your pup."

"So, you do want to have pups with me?" I grin, making her roll her eyes at me.

"Of course, I want to have your pups! Why would you think that I wouldn't?"

"I didn't, but I like hearing you say it." I smile deviously.

"Oh, you're such an ass!" She laughs and tries pushing me away, but I don't let her.

Instead, I pull her onto my lap and hold her close, "Are you ready for today, birthday girl?"

"As ready as I'll ever be..."

Read The alpha who saved me (Quinn Night) novel Chapter 139 online free

CHAPTER 139

I remember hearing Declan leaving the bedroom early this morning, and then I started cursing him because I couldn't get back to sleep. It's not because he woke me up, no, it's because my body is used to having him in bed with me. Without him there, holding me close, it refused to go back to sleep, so I got up and got myself ready for the day.

After finding him in my office and having a few words with one another, I head to the kitchen to see about possibly finding something to eat before we need to leave for the training field. I don't want to disturb the kitchen staff yet, so I'll just try and rummage through the cupboards, or so I thought. Amelia is already in the kitchen whipping up something on the stove.

She grins once she spots me coming in, "Happy birthday, sweet girl!" She pulls me in for a hug before going back to cooking, "I was making you breakfast, since I know you and my son will be leaving as the others are just starting to eat. Is my lazy son up as well?"

I scoff, "I think we both know that he is far from lazy. If anything, he never really slows down."

"That's true...normally, but not these last couple of weeks that he's been here with you." The former Luna smirks as she piles some bacon onto a plate.

"Oh, you want to talk about being lazy...I think Dr. Sands has been taking longer breaks each day... since YOU have been here." I chuckle and steal a strip of the crunchy meat.

"Pfft! I don't know what you're talking about, Quinn."

"Oh really? Btw, you should really wait until you are well past the tree line before you have a little make out session and strip before the two of you shift." I hide my smirk by shoving the rest of the bacon in my mouth.

She gasps and whips her head my way, "You did not witness that!"

I nod and grin wickedly, "I did, and so did your son."

"What did I see?" Declan comes walking up behind us and kisses the back of his mother's head, "Good morning, Mom."

"Good morning, Son."

"I was just telling your mother about the little show we saw from the bedroom window last night." I chuckle.

"Oh, my Goddess, please don't remind me of that!" He groans.

"Well, it's done and over with now, and the cat is out of the bag. Yes, Jonah and I are officially together. We were going to talk with both of you after everything calms down." Amelia covers the eggs that have just finished cooking and is starting on the toast.

“What were you going to talk to us about? It’s not like you need our permission.” I pat her shoulder.

“No, but out of respect for one, and for the second, I will be moving here to the Dark Moon pack because Jonah and I want to mark one another.” She stares at her son, and my eyes wander over to him as well.

He just stands there staring at his mother, and I can’t tell if it’s a good thing or a bad thing. Both mother and son have a stare off with each other as I gnaw on another piece of bacon. I decide to break the silence, “I, for one, will be thrilled to have you as part of the pack, but you’ve been part of it for the last five years, so...”

Dividing into pages now

“Are you happy, Mother? Do you love him?” Declan tilts his head as he asks this.

“He’s not your father, he’s not my fated mate, so it doesn’t compare, but yes, we do love each other.” His mother answers.

“Well, that’s all I can ask for then. Who am I to stop two people from being together? I know you loved father and I also know that he would want to see you happy.”

“Thank you, baby. It means so much to me to hear you say this.” Mother and son embrace, as I stand back and watch, eating my third strip of bacon.

We finally make our plates and sit down at the table to eat, when I pose the question that I’ve been meaning to ask Declan since I’ve come downstairs, “Where did you go this morning anyway? What had you leaving me in the wee hours of the morning? I know it isn’t another she-wolf because I’m pretty sure they all know that you’re off limits.” I smirk when he rolls his eyes at my statement.

“For your information, border patrol linked me asking me to come check something out at the border. I couldn’t sleep anyway. You were dead to the world when I left.”

“Not really because I heard you leave and then I couldn’t go back to sleep because you weren’t there.” I pout.

"That sounds an awful lot like a mate thing if you ask me!" Amelia states with a knowing brow and a grin.

"We still have a little under three hours before we find out, Mother." Declan cocks his mouth up on one side.

"Ugh, all these rules about fated mates and whatnot! Why do we have to wait until a certain time to find them anyway?" I stab my eggs with my fork and then glance over at Declan when I hear him snicker, "What are you laughing at? If it wasn't for all these rules, we would have been mated a long time ago!"

"Babe," he reaches over and grabs my hand, "There isn't much that we can do about it now, so let's just wait a few more hours and then you can mate and mark me all you want."

"Lalalalalalala..." We both look over at Amelia who is covering her own ears, "I don't want to hear what you're going to do to one another!"

"Like you told me and Cici that younger is the way to go?" I laugh at the woman, and then turn to Declan, "That's right, I should probably find a younger Alpha; you're kind of old."

Amelia spits out her juice as Declan growls at my statement, "Twenty-eight is not old!"

"I meant once you're my age dear and you're no longer with your mate." Amelia is trying so hard to hide her laughter.

"Why wait though? Wouldn't it be easier to find them younger to begin with?"

"That's very true. I never thought about it that way!" We smirk at one another before looking back at Declan who is sitting back in his chair with his arms crossed.

"Are you two done fucking around yet?" He asks.

"Who says we are fucking around?" I lift a brow.

"Fine, maybe I need to go find me an eighteen-year-old, since I couldn't have the one I wanted."

“Good luck, no eighteen-year-old is going to want shriveled up old balls.” I joke.

“You didn’t think they were all shriveled and old when you had them in your mouth last night!”

“And that’s my cue to leave!” Amelia puts her plate into the sink and hurries out the door.

Declan and I have a stare down at the table, but I end up breaking first, “I thought she’d never leave!” I jump out of my chair and into his lap, attacking his mouth.

“Fuck, Quinn, you are such a damn cock tease! I’m harder than a rock right now!”

We still have time before others start waking up, but I don’t dare do anything right here, “Last one to the bathroom down the hall has to give the other oral!” I take off out of the kitchen. If I know my man, he’s going to take his time getting there because I know how much he loves eating this pussy.

Please don’t forget to leave a comment with your thoughts! Hope you all have an amazing day! =)

Read The alpha who saved me (Quinn Night) novel Chapter 140 online free

CHAPTER 140

After feeding Asher, I know that there can’t be anymore stalling. As much as I’m dying to feel our mate bond snap into place, I’m still a bit nervous about the change. When I drudgely make the descent down the stairs, Declan is waiting for me with his devastatingly, handsome smile. He, along with others, think this is a good thing happening, but it’s not them that it’s happening to.

Cici, bless her heart, argued with me for twenty minutes before I went up to feed my son, wanting to be at the training field when the change takes place. Her exact words were, “I am your best friend, through thick and thin, good times and bad times, always and forever. I’m going to be there whether you want me to or not!” Even me threatening to use my Luna command on her didn’t deter her, so I reluctantly agreed. Of course, because we don’t know if it will be dangerous, Spencer insists on being there as well, you know, to protect his mate.

Only seeing Declan at the bottom of the steps, gets my hopes up in that maybe my best friend changed her mind, “Are you ready?” Declan asks as he holds out his hand for me to take.

“Does it really matter if I’m not?” I chuckle dryly.

“Hey, this may be a good thing. Yeah, there is going to be drama that comes with it, but we will handle it together.” He takes hold of my chin and lifts it, so he can brush his lips against mine.

“Hey, are we chopped liver? She has us as well!” Cici’s loudmouth comes from down the hallway.

When I turn to look at her, she’s carrying a huge bag of popcorn and a six-pack of beer, “What in the world are you doing with all Dividing into pages now! that?”

“What? You don’t think I’m just going to sit and watch you go through this change without having my favorite snack!” she responds with a wink.

“This isn’t a fucking movie, Cici, this is my life!” I snicker.

“Well, it should be. It’d make for a great streaming movie!” She grins and both males laugh.

“Life must be very interesting for you with this firecracker as your mate, Spence!” Declan claps my Beta on the shoulder.

“Oh, you have no idea!” Spencer laughs.

“Okay, okay, enough of making fun of Cici,” my friend says dryly, “It’s time to go watch Luna turn into Super Luna....”

“Really? Super Luna?” I cock a brow at her.

“Hey, I find it kinda hot!” Declan grins as he pulls me towards the door.

“Yeah, until she whoops up on your ass, Alpha!” Cici gives Declan a cheesy ass grin.

“Nothing wrong with that, as long as we can have make up sex afterwards and she allows me to dominate her again.” He brings my hand up to his lips and kisses it.

I gasp, “Declan!”

“Oh nice,” my best friend fist bumps my boyfriend over him dominating me, “I love it when Spence makes me his bitch in the bedroom.”

I face palm myself, “Why am I even friends with you Cici? You are way too much sometimes!”

“Because you looove me!” She jumps up and drops a kiss on my cheek before skipping ahead of us.

I smirk, “I honestly wonder why and question my sanity some. days.”

When we round the bend that opens up to the field, I notice others are already here. I stop and look up at Declan, questioningly. It was only supposed to be the two of us because I don’t want anybody to get hurt, but now there are ten other people here to witness my change.

“What are they all doing here?”

He shrugs, “They wanted to be here to support you, and I thought it would be a good idea. I’m sorry for not telling you but you would have argued with me.”

“What if I hurt them by accident?”

“We don’t even know what’s going to take place. It may be a boring ordeal where nothing physically happens, or it can be a shit show. Either way, they all love you and want to be here for you regardless.”

I stare off in the distance where Amelia, my Gamma couple, Storm River’s Beta couple, and Head Warrior with his mate, and Alpha Deke are all standing and chatting with one another. They must sense our approach because they all turn and wave at us.

Rolling my eyes, I continue forward until I’m standing in front of the small group with my hands on my hips, “Is it that hard to follow orders?”

“Maybe next time you should roll out your Luna command,” Deke chuckles, “Not that it would have worked on me.” He pulls me in and squeezes me, Happy birthday, Luna!”

“Thank you...”

They each take turns pulling me into their arms and wishing me a happy birthday. Carter is the last to pull me in, and I just can’t help myself; I start to scream and curl into myself.

“What the fuck?” The Beta jumps back holding his arms up.

“It’s starting! Oh, my Goddess, the pain!” I drop to the ground and start thrashing. There are gasps all around and everybody, but Declan, is staring in horror.

Declan crosses his arms and smirks, “Stop fucking with them, Quinn. You’re scaring them.”

“I stop and glare up at him, “Seriously, you are such a party pooper!”

“What?” Multiple voices say at once.

“How did you know?” I ask him as he holds his hand out to help me off the ground.

“Duke ratted you out. Tala didn’t want him to be concerned unlike you with me.” His snide comment makes me chuckle.

“That’s what you all get for not listening to me!” I huff.

“Oh, em gee, you’re such a bitch!” Cici shoves me, “But seriously, that was awesome acting; I give you a ten!”

They all start laying into me as I stand here and laugh. I notice Declan straighten up and then look at his watch and then at me, and as soon as our eyes meet, I feel it. Actually, I feel a couple of things, but first and for most, I feel the fated mate bond snap into place at the same time his scent hits me ten-fold.

“Mate!” Both Tala and Duke growl out, but before we can celebrate, there is a warmth that starts in the pit of my stomach.

My hand automatically goes to my stomach, and Declan watches, knowing what it is that I'm feeling. I don't know how I know this, but I do. The warmth grows slowly, and it almost feels like when I was pregnant and Asher would move around in the beginning, just a little flutter.

The others haven't noticed; they are too excited about us being mates, but Declan never takes his eyes off me. His own hand mimics mine and is placed over his abs. He nods slightly, like he's telling me that he can feel it and that it's going to be okay.

The warmth grows into what I can only describe as a flame, flickering at first, but it doesn't hurt; it's like something is trying to come out and whatever it's in, is stretching. I must gasp or make a sound because the others finally take notice. Neither Declan nor I can look away from each other, and I wonder if this is how it's supposed to happen.

"Is it starting?" I hear Cici question, but I can't speak, I can't even nod my head.

I do hear myself whimper, though, just as the stretching comes to a complete stop. Everything halts, as if on pause, and just like my mother's notes say, it's an uncomfortable feeling.

"Uh, how, about we all get back a little bit," Alpha Deke suggests, "Something big is about to happen and I don't want to be caught in it."

I see them all move in my peripheral vision, and I thank the Goddess that at least one of them had enough sense to move everyone back. Suddenly, like a bubble bursting, whatever it is that built up inside of me, frees itself and I drop to all fours. The same thing happens to my mate. I can't say it hurts per se, but it definitely doesn't tickle.

As though we are shifting for the first time, our bones begin to realign themselves. I can hear Declan's doing the same as mine and I glance over at him. He's got a curious expression as he returns my stare. I watch as Duke emerges, or at least I think it's Declan's wolf. He's got the same deep shade of black and looks just like Duke, only much bigger!

Gasps go all around as I paw at the ground. When I turn to the group, I am eye-to-eye with Alpha Deke, and he's a tall guy! Poor Cici looks like a little person and only comes up to maybe the middle of my chest.

“Holy shit, you two are monstrous!” My friend stares up at us in wonder.

“They are gorgeous!” Deke states as a slow grin appears on his face, “Damn cousin, I won’t be messing with you anymore!”

“The two of you truly do look like royalty. I...” Carter doesn’t get to finish what he’s saying because in this moment a quietness rushes through field and I feel some kind of other bond snapping into place and suddenly, everyone that came to watch the change drops to a knee and bows their head. “I feel it,” Carter states excitedly, “I feel the pull to both of you, the power that you hold as Queen and King!”

“As do I!” Alpha Deke grins, “The legend is real; the two of you now rule over us all!”

“Oh great, just what I really wanted.” I state with an eyeroll and then gasp just as the others do, “Did I just say that out loud?”

They all stare at me in amazement as they nod, and then they glance at Declan, “This is actually sort of cool.” I gasp again when I see and hear the words come out of his mouth. Well, technically, Duke’s mouth but it’s Declan’s voice.

“Where is Duke, can he talk out loud too?” I ask. Tala is already in my head telling me what I want to know but I want to hear it for myself.

“Yes, I’m here.” Comes a rough and sexy voice.

“Hello, Duke.” It’s Tala that comes forward to greet her new King.

“My Queen...” Duke bows down to me and Tala and I laugh.

“Uh, can we get up now?” Cici asks with a little irritation in her voice.

When I look over, I see that they are all still on a knee, “Oh, I’m sorry. I’m still learning all of this shit. Stand...” It’s the only command that pops into my head at the moment, but it releases them, “Well this is going to get old really fast if I have to keep doing this with everybody.” I groan.

Declan chuckles and nuzzles my cheek with his own, “I think you will get used to it.”

“I don’t mean to break this up, but should we go and let the rest of the pack know what’s going on? I mean I’m sure they all felt what we felt and are probably wondering what is going on.” Spencer, who has been quiet this whole time, finally speaks up.

“I guess you’re right, and then we should probably head over to Storm River and let them all know that their true Luna and Queen has arrived,” Declan grins at me, “but first, I believe we have a mating and marking to go through before we do anything, don’t you agree?” His brow quirks as he waits for my answer.

“Well, what are you waiting for? Last one to the house has to cook breakfast for a week!” I state and then take off, once again knowing that I’m going win because nobody wants me in the kitchen cooking.

Sorry about only the one chapter, but I had family stuff to attend this weekend, but I did give you a much longer chapter because of it. I hope you enjoyed it!
=)