

Read The alpha who saved me by Stacy Rush Chapter 81 online free

CHAPTER 81

WARNING: May be a bit explicit for some...

Standing outside the building that holds the Storm River pack cells, both Gavin and Declan stand on each side of me, waiting for me to take the first step. Neither one will rush me; it's got to be my decision. I glance over at Gavin, and then over to Declan before returning my gaze to the door.

"Neither one of you will leave me, right?" I ask as I stare at the door.

"Never..." Gavin grips my hand.

"You know I won't..." Declan squeezes my other hand.

I nod, and then move towards the door, bringing them with me since I refuse to let go of either's hand. They both have been my rock through the toughest of times, and I need them both here with me now. I had discussed my fear with Declan before coming, and he assured me that nobody will ever know if I end up breaking down. Neither he nor Gavin would ever tell anyone about what happens down in these cells today.

The lighting is dim inside and unlike a lot of cells, it isn't musty, but as a wolf, I can smell the old blood that lingers through the building. The steps going down are wooden and they creak, so I hold onto both guys extra tight. To tell you the truth, I'm surprised that Gavin just didn't pick me up like he usually does. Thank the Goddess there aren't too many and the stairwell is wide enough to fit two built werewolf Alphas and a beached whale, AKA a very pregnant she-wolf.

Dividing into pages now

"You really need to replace those rickety things!" I chuckle as I glance back at them, not knowing how they didn't collapse under all our weight.

Declan reaches back and scratches the back of his head, "Yeah, I've been meaning to."

Turning back towards the cells, I take a few deep breaths to calm my racing heart, “Which cell is he in?”

“I had him moved right after you called. He’s in the very last one that doesn’t have any windows and is soundproof.” Declan informs me.

I understand his meaning for the soundproof room. We don’t want everybody hearing him being tortured. Declan leads us all the way down to the end and then stops at a thick metal door with a window in it. I’m too short to see through it, but I’m fine with that.

“Let us go in ahead of you, Quinn,” Gavin rubs my back briefly, “I want to make sure it’s completely safe for you to be in there.”

“Do you think I would allow her to put herself at risk?” Declan snarls.

Gavin rolls his eyes at his cousin, “No, but she is carrying my pup and I will always check situations out before having her possibly hurt herself or my pup. Just humor me, will you?”

“Whatever, go then!”

Declan unlocks the door and holds it open for Gavin to go through. I hear the clanking of chains and a bit of grunting, ““His chains are laced with silver, so he can’t break free, and I might have given him a small dose of wolfsbane.” Declan smirks.

Dividing into pages now

“Thank you.”

He nods and then steps through the door, and I follow right behind. My head is bowed as I take a few more deep breathes, and then I look up at the chained male before me. He’s dirty and his facial hair has grown quite a bit. He looks so much older than his twenty- two years, but his eyes...his eyes are the same evil ones that have haunted me for months now.

Jasper’s face splits into a sadistic grin as he looks me up and down. He licks his dry, cracked lips, and thrusts his hips forward, “Did you miss the fucking that much, you had to come back for more?”

Gavin slams his fist into Jasper's stomach, "Say something like that again and I will rip out your fucking tongue!"

"Uh oh, I don't think your baby daddy is happy that another male was poking his spawn's head night after night, Quinny."

Gavin grabs the prisoner's hair and extends his claw, ready to do exactly what he just threatened, "Gavin, don't!" I call out and he stops, "He likes to taunt. It's a never-ending thing with him. I believe he just likes listening to himself talk because nobody else does."

Jasper tries to spit at me, but it doesn't quite reach, and it's Declan who backhands him in the face for trying, "Treat the lady with respect!"

The male snickers, "Oh, I treated her with respect alright. I respected her every time I bent her over and fucked each of her holes, and when we tag teamed her..."

Both Gavin and Declan each swipe their clawed hands at him, Gavin across his face and Declan across his chest, "You fucking bastards!"

I'm just letting him talk because what I thought would bring all the memories flooding back, all it's doing is fueling my anger for everything that he ever did to me. Tala is present as we stand here and listen to him spew his shit.

"I want to know one thing, Jasper," I step a little closer, "why me?"

He shrugs, "Why not? My father sent me to spy on you after killing the rest of your family. For some reason, he had it in his head that your family had the last Dire wolf, so he wanted to know if you were it. He had plans to keep you until he could figure it out, but when I saw you; you were a hot piece of ass, and I wanted you as my Luna." He growls, "Had you not fought me, I would have given you everything!"

"YOU KILLED MY FAMILY AND THE MAJORITY OF MY PACK!"

"Well, aren't we a tad bit touchy!"

Without any kind of warning, my arm shoots out and Tala's claw rips through his stomach. When she retracts her claw, some of his intestines fall out. I give him a sadistic grin of my own, now that the tables have turned. He howls like a pup.

“Damn, never mess with a pissed off pregnant she-wolf!” Gavin whistles and then winks at me, “Good job baby!”

“Oh, I’m just getting started, honey!”

“Fuck you, bitch!” Jasper snarls.

“Nah, had it already and wasn’t impressed.” I scrunch my face.

“Please, you loved every time my cock was in you, you fucking whore!”

“Do you remember what I told you once before when you called me

Dividing into pages now

your whore?”

I glance over at Gavin since he’s closest to Jasper, and look down, indicating what I want him to do as I pick at one of Tala’s claws. He winces but does as I ask and pulls down the prisoner’s pants.

“What the fuck?” He tries looking down but the way he’s chained, he can’t see much.

“I told you that I wasn’t anybody’s whore!” I growl and bring down my arm. Both Gavin and Declan grunt and grab their own junk as the tip of Jasper’s dick rolls away.

“ARGH...YOU FUCKING BITCH!!”

“What did you think would happen if our roles ever reversed? Oh, that’s right, you thought that you would never get caught. Guess what asshole, I’ve got you now, and I’m going to fuck you just like you fucked me, except in a completely different way!” I slice off another chunk.

When I glance down, I see that all that’s left is a tiny stub, and I laugh, “I really don’t know how you could fuck any one with that little thing!”

The male is practically hyperventilating, because without his wolf, he can’t heal. I’m already getting sick from looking at him, but I’m happy to know that he never won, he was never able to break me. Stepping up right in front of him, I tilt my head and watch him bawl like a newborn pup for a bit.

“Tell you what, Jasper, I will put you out of your misery, but I have one last thing that I want to say to you before I do,” I don’t expect him to say anything, “I win motherfucker!” I rip his ball sack from his body and as he screams, I shove them down his throat. Stepping back, I look at both Gavin and Declan who are both looking a little peaked, “On second thought, let him bleed out.” I turn and walk out the cell door.

As soon as I reach the fresh air, my stomach betrays me and all the contents inside come up. I feel a hand on my back, and I can scent Gavin. He helps hold my hair back and supports me until I’m completely done. I’m finished by the time Declan reaches the top, and I’m wiping my mouth with my sleeve.

“How long will it take?”

“How long will what take?” Declan asks.

“For him to bleed out...”

“He will be dead in a matter of a few more minutes most likely.”

“Pfft, that isn’t long enough for the likes of him.” I grimace.

“Yes, but it’s the way he bleeds out that matters. At least to me it would be.” Gavin flinches, “By the way, babe, do me a favor and give me fair warning before doing something like that again.”

Declan slaps his cousin on his shoulder, “Makes you want to think twice before even thinking about ever cheating on her, doesn’t it?”

“I would never, but you’re right!” Gavin laughs.

“What about the other prisoner?” Declan asks me.

“What other one?”

“The female. Alpha Tate told me that she was close to Jasper and did his bidding, even tried hurting your pup one time?”

My eyes widen, “You have Tiffany?”

“Yeah, I think that’s her name.”

288 Vouchers

I give him a sinister smile, “Keep her locked up until I have my pup, would you? Her and I have a date out on the training field when I can fight again.”

Hope this was revenge enough for those of you hoping he wouldn’t get off too easy...lol! Next two chapters will be on Thursday! As always, thank you for reading and I appreciate you all! =)

Read The alpha who saved me by Stacy Rush Chapter 82 online free

CHAPTER 82

Declan

Today is the day that Dr. Sands is visiting. It’s been three weeks since we discussed the situation over the phone but after we took care of Jasper and his rogues, the Black Forest pack has been trying to get their pack life back to normal. Especially now that Alpha Tate has officially mated with his Luna. The doctor is happy to help us out with our little problem and can’t wait to come and be of assistance.

I’ve set up a special dinner in honor of Quinn and Gavin’s upcoming union ceremony. As much as it saddens me to know that I can’t have her as mine, I’ve come to see that Gavin will treat her good and she will still be a part of mine and Holden’s life.

There is another reason for the dinner, though, both Quinn and Gavin will play their parts as well, in convincing Lila that I’m willing to set aside our differences and try to be a real couple. Goddess, just thinking about it is putting a sour taste in my mouth, but I really don’t think she would trust me to just hand her a glass of wine after the way I’ve been with her.

My mother has cut her trip short and will be joining us as well, and as much as she dislikes the she-wolf, she would never agree to us drugging her, let alone injecting a tracker in her unknowingly. Quinn wasn’t on board with it at first either until she was looking through Dark Moon’s security footage the day that Lila visited and found the conniving she-wolf going into the Alpha suite. Of course, there are no cameras in Quinn's room, but when her and Gavin checked their stash of condoms, there were multiple foil packs with pin holes in them.

Dividing into pages now

To say that Quinn is livid about it, will be putting it mildly. She had come driving in like a bat out of hell, wanting to confront Lila. I had to remind her that she is pregnant and that the best thing for us to do is to proceed with the plan that Carter and I had come up with. We need as much evidence as we can get on the she-bitch, and Quinn going off on Lila will not help us.

When I had finally gotten her calmed down that day, she had agreed to help me, and so here I am, waiting for the good doctor to arrive, so we can put the finishing touches on my plan. I've also got a list of promising doctors that I would like him to go over with me. I would like his input on which physicians are better than whom, or if he even knows any of them. Dr. Langley is working on borrowed time at the moment.

"Still waiting on the doc?" Carter asks as he comes into my office.

"Yeah, he should be arriving at any time." I state as I glance at the time.

"Well, just a heads up, Lila is downstairs in the living room, reading a magazine. Any idea how you are going to introduce the two?" My friend asks as he takes a seat in front of my desk, leaning forward and resting his elbows on his knees.

Sighing, I lean back in my chair and scrub both hands over my face, "I haven't thought about it, no," I then smirk at my Beta, "Any suggestions?"

He scoffs, but then grins back at me, "What would you do without me, Alpha?"

"As Alpha? I'd replace you with someone who shows me a little more respect!" I laugh, "But as my best friend? I wouldn't trade you for the world, and I would lose my shit if I didn't have you at my side."

The smartass pretends to wipe a tear from his eye, "Oh stop! You're making me cry!"

I pick up one of Holden's stuffed toys that is laying on my desk and throw it at my friend, "Fuck off! I was only being honest."

He catches it and chuckles, "I know, and I feel the same way about you. Getting back to the topic, though," his mouth goes into a tight line as he thinks for a moment, "I think you should introduce him as a friend of your mother's."

I frown, "Huh?"

"Think about it," he gets a bit excited, "your mom has been traveling, so she could have met him during her travels and invited him to visit her pack."

"Hm, that could work if mother will agree to it..."

"If I will agree to what?" My mother cuts me off as she waltzes into my office.

"Please close the door, Mother," I sigh, knowing that I'm going to have to lie to her just a little bit, "I have a visitor coming from another pack, another doctor, to be exact. He's going to help me go through the list of available doctors that I can replace Langley with when this is all finally over."

"Do you know for sure that Langley is involved?" She glances between me and my Beta, "He's been the pack doctor for years, and a good one at that!"

"I know this, mother, but I am ninety-nine percent sure he has his hand in both my issue and now Quinn's, so I'm sure it will all come out in the end as well."

"So, what is it exactly that you want me to agree to?" She quirks

Dividing into pages now

her brow.

"Can I at least get a hug from you first? I haven't seen you since you've returned, and I need one of my mom's soothing hugs." I know how to work my mother too well, and it doesn't fail me this time, either.

"Oh, my dear boy, of course!" She comes around my desk as I stand, "I've missed you so much!"

I bring her in for a big comforting hug and glance at my Beta who is wearing an all-to-knowing grin. I don't do it to be an asshole, I love my mother very much. Before Quinn, she was the only woman in my life that I trusted with everything, now I have two. It just so happens, my mother has a good conscious and doesn't like manipulation, so she won't agree with the real reason Sands is coming.

"She pulls away, "Now, tell me what you need me to do." Her smile is warm as she stares up at me with the same chocolate eyes as my own.

"We don't want Lila knowing that I'm looking at new doctors, and I don't want her knowing that Sands is a doctor, himself, so we," I point between me and Carter, "thought that maybe we could introduce him as a new friend of yours that you met during your travels and invited to come visit your pack."

Her brows lift once more. Did I mention that she despises liars as well? Without saying a word, she moves over to the window and peers out as she thinks. The silence is killing me, and I can't help the worried look that I send Carter, who is still sitting in the chair, now bouncing his leg up and down, nervously. Being best friends growing up, Carter has seen all sides of Amelia Storm, and so he is right to be nervous as we wait for her to answer.

Dividing into pages now

When my mother gives us her attention once more, she poses a question first, "All of this that you are doing, is it for Holden's best interest?"

Relief floods me right away, "Yes, Mother, I will always look out for my son's best interest."

She lets out a long sigh, "You know how I hate lying, even if it is to that bitch."

"I know, Mom, and I will try and make it, so you don't have to say too much on the matter, if anything at all. As long as you confirm that he is your friend if asked."

"Hmph, fine. I'm only going to do it, though, because I want to see all of my boys...and girl, happy." She walks towards the door, but stops right beside Carter, "You should be a better influence on my son..." and then walks out.

The look on my Beta's face is priceless; it's a look of a child be chastised for being naughty. I can't help but chuckle, "Oh, get over it. My mother loves you and you know it."

"I know, but I hate disappointing her. She will never let me live any of my misdoings down, and YOU know it." My friend pouts.

Waving my hand at him, and dismissing the issue, I perk up when I hear a vehicle arrive and I go to the window to see if I'm correct. I watch as Dr.

Sands climbs out of the driver's side of a sedan, and I smile. I start towards the door, causing my Beta to raise a brow.

"The doctor has arrived."

Hello friends! I am so sorry to say that this will be the only chapter for today. I've needed to take care of a few things the past couple of days but wanted to get at least one chapter out for each title. I really hope you enjoyed it. Come back tomorrow for the next two...

Dividing into pages now

=)

Read The alpha who saved me by Stacy Rush Chapter 83 online free

CHAPTER 83

Declan

I pass by Lila as I head to the front door, and I can sense her looking at me. If I know the nosey Luna as well as I think I do, she will be staring out the window to see what is going on. I smile down at the doctor as I make my way down the front steps while he grabs his bag from his trunk.

"Sands, I'm so glad that you could make it!" I say in a booming voice. Since my back is to the house, Lila can see me talking, so I quickly explain to him in a very low voice, about what Carter and I had discussed; how he is my mother's friend and so on. I shake his hand, "It's nice to meet you, mother couldn't stop talking about you this morning."

"Well, your mother is such a kind woman, I couldn't pass up on her offer to visit, and since I'm passing through the area, I figured, why not?"

The doctor is better than I thought at this acting thing, "Just one thing before we go inside, what is your first name?" I ask in another low voice.

"It's Jonah, Alpha, Jonah Sands." He answers.

I quickly mind link my mother his name, so she doesn't have to call him by his last name, and then I sweep my hand toward the front steps indicating that we should head in. We are only halfway up the stairs when Lila comes out and crosses her arms over her chest.

"Who are you?" She asks in a bitchy tone.

Dividing into pages now

"LILA! This is a Mr. Sands, a friend of my mother's! You will treat him with respect!" I hiss at her.

"Well, as Luna of this pack, don't you think I should be informed whenever we are having a guest?" She states defensively.

"You are Luna in name only, Lila. Pack business is NONE of your business. Nobody has to inform you of anything." I turn towards the doctor, "Please, pay her no mind. She's a bit temperamental lately."

Lila stomps her foot like a child and glares at me just as my mother comes waltzing out with her arms wide open, "Jonah, dear! I'm so happy you could make it!" She goes in for a hug, and Sands doesn't even blink as he slips his arms around my mother.

Shit! I forgot to give him my mother's name, so I quickly link her and warn her of my mistake. I'm assuming she whispers it in his ear because he's pulling away from her and holding her at arms- length.

"Amelia, how could I not accept your offer? I feel as though we didn't have much time to visit before I had to return home. I'm so glad I was passing through close to your territory. Thank you for the invite."

The two are doing such a good job, I'm beginning to believe that they really do know each other. My mother links her arm through his and leads him inside and I follow. Lila is still standing on the porch, and then I remember that I'm supposed to be warming up to her. After what I just said to her, I have a lot of work to do to get her to believe that I'm sincere.

I turn back towards the she-bitch, "Lila, look, I apologize for calling you out just now, but you're upset with me over your attitude towards my mother's guest. Can you please be a bit more civil in the future?"

Dividing into pages now

"I'm sorry, Alpha. Of course, I was way out of line." She bows her head at me, and I go to walk back in, but pretending to have an afterthought I turn around once again, "By the way, I am having a little dinner party tonight and as the Luna of this pack, I expect you to be there. I know you have issues with her, but that dinner is for Alpha Quinn and Gavin. We are celebrating their upcoming union ceremony."

I can see the jealousy begin to rise when I mention Quinn's name, but once I finish saying that it's for their union, her expression changes to one of happiness, "Of course, I will be there. Thank you for informing me of it."

All I do is nod while tight-lipped. I can't very well change my attitude toward her in a blink of an eye, so I have to make it believable. "One last thing, Lila, as the Luna, can you oversee the kitchen staff and make sure everything is perfect? Veal is on the menu for dinner, but have the staff also make chicken, so there is a choice." I need to keep her busy, so she doesn't eavesdrop because she is notorious for that, "Oh, and if you do well for tonight's dinner, I will give you a few more Luna duties until eventually you are running the place. Don't disappoint me."

Her face lights up because it's what she's always wanted, and she thinks she's getting closer to her goal. I can't help the big grin that spreads across my face after I turn and walk inside. My mother and Jonah are both waiting on me, and they are still chatting up a storm, it's quite amusing to watch.

Me, Carter, and Jonah are in my office discussing the best way to go about injecting Lila with the tracker, as well as the best place. Because the tracker doesn't go in too deep, we have to place it in an area with a little more fat too it, so she can't feel it if she runs her hand over it. We decide on injecting it in the inside of her thigh, which I am very happy that I won't be the one injecting it; I've seen enough of the inside of her thighs to last me a lifetime.

Dividing into pages now

When my mother comes in, I switch the conversation right away about the possible doctors that he may know, "Which would you recommend is the best one to take over here?"

Jonah scratches his head, "Well, I do know about one doctor with years of experience. He's looking for a change of scenery and I would think that you would be pleased with him."

'Oh? Who may that be and how can I contact him?' I have my pen poised ready to write the information down.

'Well, you're staring at him.' He states matter-of-factly.

I literally stare back at him, "Are you serious? You're leaving the Black Forest pack?"

"I've been thinking about it for a while now, and the whole issue with that Jasper asshole is just eating at me. I understand that he had the future Luna, but like Alpha Quinn had once said, anybody that could stand by and watch what they were doing to her, shouldn't be in a leadership position. She said that she, herself, could never let that happen to another."

"Alpha Quinn is definitely an amazing she-wolf." I admit.

"I knew after that whole ordeal, that I couldn't stay there. It never really felt like home to me anyway."

"Where is home?" My mother kindly asks.

"Down south, South Carolina to be exact." He smiles, but it's a sad one.

"Oh? What made you come up north?"

Dividing into pages now

"My pack was attacked by one of those renegade packs that search for the mystical Dire wolf. My mate and two children were killed, and I could no longer stay." He explains, and all of our hearts go out to him for his loss.

"What is it about these packs and the fucking Dire wolf?" Carter grumbles.

"Do you have problems here as well?" Jonah asks.

Me, my mother, and Carter all glance at one another, "Not us, personally, but that's how Quinn got her Alpha status. Her pack was attacked by Jasper's father who was one of those renegade Alphas and she lost her whole family and the majority of her pack.”

“Oh, that poor woman!” The three of us nod.

Bringing the original topic forward once more, I ask, “How soon would you be able to be back here? I’m really hoping that it doesn’t take long for the truth to come out, and for the time being, you will actually be pack doctor for two pack’s since, Alpha Quinn doesn’t have one as of yet. She does have a she-wolf in training, though. So, if you’re back before this is all settled, I will set you up with the Dark Moon pack.”

“Since Alpha Tate has another doctor to fall back on, and I’m not leaving him high and dry, all I have to do is go pack and pack up. I’ll have to take care of a few finances and all, but I can probably be back within a week’s time, if not sooner.”

“That sounds great to me. I guess all I have to say is, welcome to the pack Jonah.”

NA

TGIF! Hope you all enjoyed this chapter. Lila’s time is getting closer...

Dividing into pages now

Read The alpha who saved me by Stacy Rush Chapter 84 online free

CHAPTER 84

“Hey, beautiful, what are you thinking about?” Gavin comes up behind me as I’m standing at the window, absently staring out at nothing, and slips his arms around my huge waist as he rests his chin on my shoulder.

“Oh, you know,” I sigh, “Life, conniving she-bitches, you know, the usual.”

He chuckles, “Hopefully it will soon be over, and we won’t have to deal with her.”

“That doesn’t make up for the lives she’s ruined, though.” I say as I rub my belly.

Gavin straightens, "Hey, look at me," he turns me around, "we may not have planned this pregnancy, or having the union ceremony so soon, but I wouldn't change it for anything. I'm happy with my life with you. Are you not happy with me?"

"Oh, Gavin, I am extremely happy with you! Have you forgotten who turned who down about mating in the first place? You didn't want this yet, and boom, we are pregnant and now you are forced to unite with me."

He chuckles, "I only wanted to make sure that it's what you really wanted. I have wanted you since the first night we met, Quinn, but I didn't want you regretting anything by choosing me so fast."

"I will never regret choosing you, Gavin." I reach up and place a kiss on his lips. Alpha junior decides right now to give a powerful kick.

"Holy shit! Was that my boy that just kicked me?" Gavin's face is priceless. He's felt him move before but never when he kicks, and let me tell you, it's a powerful one.

"Yes, he is a very naughty little boy when he kicks like that!" I raise my voice, so the pup can hear me.

Gavin gets down on his knees in front of me and puts his mouth to my belly, "Hey, little man, please take it easy on your mama. She loves you very much, and we don't hurt the ones we love."

I run my fingers through his hair as he talks to our son. It's a nightly ritual for him to talk to our pup before we turn in, but it started off by him apologizing in advance for poking him as he makes mommy happy. I laughed the first time he said that, and now it's evolved into long conversations, long after I fall asleep.

"We are going to be later if we don't leave in the next few minutes." I tell him.

"So, what if we are late. I'm spending quality time with my son." He rubs my belly and then tries sneaking a hand between my legs.

Laughing, I scoot away from him, "Oh no you don't! This dinner is on our behalf, we can't be late."

“Fine!” Gavin sulks but stands back up anyway, “After you Alpha.”

“You can probably start calling me Luna, since that’s what I’ll be here soon enough.” I tell him.

“Hm, I like that. My Luna…” He brings my hand up and kisses it as we walk out of the room.

~~~

As we pull up to the Storm River pack house, I’m reminded that I have to pretend that I don’t know Dr. Sands. I’m also not supposed to beat Lila’s ass for doing what she did. I pray to the Goddess Selene for the strength to get through tonight. Gavin opens my door and takes my hand to help me out of the vehicle. Thank Goddess we brought his because I haven’t been able to get into mine for the past two weeks. The last time I drove it was when I came here three weeks ago bent on beating a she-bitches ass, pregnant and all but Declan talked some sense into me. A week later, I had grown too big for my car.

There is only one reason that I am excited to be here and that is because Amelia returned just this morning, and I have missed her so much. Speaking of my adoptive mother, she is the first to coming running out to greet me. She throws her arms around me. and covers my face in kisses.

“Oh, my beautiful girl, just look at you! You’re glowing!”

“I think you said that wrong. I think you meant growing, not glowing!” I chuckle.

“Oh stop! You are radiant, my dear!” she turns to her nephew, “My dear Gavin!” Bringing him in for a hug, he returns it with one of his own, “Your mother told me about the bullshit that you my brother is pulling. He is such an asshole, thank God you got my genes, and not his!”

“It doesn’t matter, Amelia, because Gavin will always be my Alpha, and he has Dark Moon now. Yeah, I would love for him to take over his own pack, but I am honored to have him lead mine.”

“Spoken like a true Alpha and Luna!” She squeezes my hand, “Let’s get you inside and off those feet. Sheesh, you two sure do make big Alpha heir!”

Amelia runs her hand over my stomach and then starts to lead me up the steps, but Gavin stops her.

“Aunt Amelia, give me a moment.”

“What...” She watches as he picks me up bridal-style and starts up the steps.

I shrug, “I stopped fighting him weeks ago.”

The former Luna chuckles and follows us up. We were the last ones here, Cici and Spencer arriving earlier so they could visit her parents before the dinner, but they are here now. Along with Carter, Aspen, Keenan, and Kimber, Declan comes forward with the doctor following.

“Quinn, I would like you to meet Jonah Sands, a friend of mothers.”

I grin, “It’s so nice to meet you, Jonah.”

“The feeling is mutual, Alpha Quinn. I’ve heard so much about you, it feels as though I’ve known you for a while now.” He chuckles.

I proceed to hug all my other friends that are here waiting their turn, and when I get to Kimber, my smile brightens just a little bit more. I was so worried for her because of her issue, but now standing here and looking at her with her own hand resting on top of a much smaller pup bump, I can’t help but send up a thank you to the Goddess.

“Holy shit, you’re huge!”

I grit my teeth at the sound of her voice, but before I turn around, I put myself in check and put a big ole smile on, “Lila, hasn’t anyone told you that it’s rude to comment on a woman’s weight?”

She slaps her hand over her mouth, “Oh, my Goddess, I am so sorry! I was just surprised that’s all, Alpha Quinn; no disrespect meant.”

Oh wow, what’s gotten into her I wonder, but then I see her peek over at Declan and then bow her head when she sees him glaring at her. Hm, I wonder what that’s about.

“Don’t listen to any negative comments, Quinn,” Declan says as he comes over and hugs me, “You are as beautiful as ever.”

Gavin’s wolf growls and Declan chuckles, “Calm down Mace, I’m not stealing your Luna.” He says it playfully, but I can still see the pain in his own eyes as he says it.

“Sorry about that, Mace has become very protective in the last week, it’s really weird.” Gavin states, and it’s true. Mace has even growled at Spencer and Cam for getting too close, and they both have mates!

“Well, I’m sure Duke would be protective too, so no worries.” He chuckles.

I glance over at Lila and see that her attitude has soured, most likely due to Declan’s statement. According to others, Declan didn’t pay much attention to Lila’s pregnancy and wasn’t very protective either. I look at Dr. Sands and come up with an idea. I will need to approach him privately about it, but I think it may be our only chance.

~~~~

Hm... what do you suppose Quinn wants to talk to the good doctor about??

Read The alpha who saved me by Stacy Rush Chapter 85 online free

CHAPTER 85

Surprisingly, dinner is going well, which I figured it would, but hearing that it is Lila who made sure everything was perfect for us has me wondering if she is up to something new. Even though she hasn’t said a word to me throughout the meal so far, she’s trying to be a gracious hostess with everyone else.

Apparently, Lila was not left in charge of seating because she never would have placed me to the left of her Alpha. Normally, the Beta would sit to his left, but Carter is sitting beside Lila, which is to the right of Declan. Since Lila is Luna, that is her rightful place, but I think there are other motives for placing her there for this evening’s dinner.

I can sense Gavin’s wolf’s irritation about me sitting beside the hosting Alpha, and since Amelia is just to Gavin’s left, I ask him if I could switch seats with him, so I can chat with his aunt. Gavin is quick to give up his seat to me, and I can feel Mace settle back down. Him keeping his hand on my thigh throughout the meal also helps keep both of our wolves calm. Although Tala's reason for being uptight is due to the she-wolf across from us.

Tala has finally accepted Gavin as our future mate, even though she still longs for Duke. We both have come to terms with not having Declan and Duke as our mates, but it doesn't hurt any less. Gavin is a good male, though, and I do love him with all my heart, so I think I will count myself lucky.

"So, Alpha Quinn, how much longer do you have?" Dr. Sands asks smiling, knowing very well how much time I have, "You look as though you may go any day now."

I chuckle and rub the top of my stomach, "I'm supposed to have another month, I'm sure you know, though, that as an Alpha, he can come anytime now."

"Oh, yes, yes! Have you picked out any names yet?" He continues. the small chit chat. Thank God, he is sitting just beside Aspen on the other side of the table because I'm too big to lean forward had he been placed beside Amelia.

I look over at Gavin and smile, "We have a few names in mind, but we've decided not to tell anyone until he is here, and we choose the right one for him."

"That seems sensible." The doctor states while Amelia and Cici both pout at the news.

"So, when is the Union ceremony planned for, Alpha Quinn?" It's Lila who poses this question and I raise my brow at her.

"In two weeks. We are hoping the pup hangs on until afterwards, but I'm beginning to doubt that." I respond.

"What do you mean?" Gavin asks, his eyes going wide, "You never talked to me about this. Has something happened?" He's becoming anxious as he continues to look between my face and my belly.

I chuckle, "Calm down. No, nothing has happened, but it's just a feeling I've been getting, I can't explain it." Relief crosses Gavin's face and he relaxes once more.

“Well, if that’s the case, maybe you should move it up, you know before the pup comes.” Lila suggests. I can see what she’s doing; trying to hurry along the ceremony, so I become unavailable sooner rather than later. This isn’t about that, and I’m not going to let anyone dictate when I mate with anyone.

“No, I will keep it as is. Even if we have to have it in the hospital because I’m in the middle of labor. I’m not changing the date for anyone,” I stress the last few words, “Gavin and I chose this date together and we are going to stick with it.”

Dividing into pages now

“I didn’t mean anything by it, so please, don’t take offense.” The she-bitch states.

Oh, now I really know that she’s up to something! She never speaks nicely to me. What is her end game in all of this? She is already Luna, so what more is she wanting?

“To Gavin and Quinn!” It’s Carter who raises his glass and makes the toast.

Everyone raises their glasses, “To Gavin and Quinn!”

I smile in thanks, but Gavin has other plans as he turns my head towards him and presses his lips to mine. It isn’t a quick one, but it isn’t overly long either. When he pulls away from me, I can see all the love he has for me in his eyes. Reaching up, I wipe a little bit of wetness from the corner of his mouth with my thumb and mouth “I love you”. He mouths it back to me, and when I turn my attention back to the table, all eyes are on us. I duck my head and continue to eat while a slight blush creeps up on my face. I don’t dare look over at Declan because I don’t want to see any kind of sadness in his eyes. Tonight is about me and Gavin and I need to keep that in mind instead of dwelling on another Alpha’s feelings for me.

As we finish the meal, and the plates are being carried out, Declan excuses himself for a moment. Declan informed me earlier that he was going to put the drug in Lila’s dessert, so I assume that is where he is off too now. So, when Lila gets up and says that she’s going to go check on desert, I have to stop her.

“Luna” specifically call Lila that because I know it will get her attention, "Please, just sit down and enjoy our company. The meal was delicious, and I'm sure the dessert will be just as good." I give her my best smile, "Tell me, how is your son doing?" I make sure I emphasize 'your son' from the last interaction that we had at my pack house.

Lila smiles and sits back down, "Holden is growing like a weed! I wish I could spend more time with him, but he's always wanting to be with his father. He's going to grow up to be an amazing Alpha."

"I'm sure. Being an amazing Alpha is in the Storm genes, so there is no doubt that he will be." I give her another smile, but she flinches a bit, which makes me want to take it further, but I don't want to upset her and have her leave just yet. So, I lock this information away for later and change the subject, "I see that Declan is finally giving you some Luna duties, and I must say, you've done well tonight."

"Why, thank you, Alpha Quinn, or should I call you Luna?" She looks at Gavin and then back at me, and snickers, "Isn't it funny how soon enough, we will both have the same station in life?" She just can't help throwing in those little jabs.

Gavin is the one to answer before I can say something I may regret, "Quinn will always be an Alpha, it's in her blood. True, she will be MY Luna, but you can't really compare the two of you as being at the same level. No disrespect, of course," he's quick to state, "but Quinn will always have Alpha blood in her."

Lila chuckles nervously, "Of course, Sir, I meant no disrespect. either. I was just thinking that it's amusing to have her be a Luna like myself."

"Where is my grand pup this evening, anyway?" Amelia changes. the subject, "Jonah has yet to meet him.

"Holden is with his nanny. Alpha Declan thought it best if just the adults ate together, but I can go get him if you really want to see him."

I cut in, placing my hand on top of the former Luna's hand, "I'm sure there will be plenty of time to introduce the two afterwards. Let's just enjoy a little adult time together. Let the Luna enjoy the peace for now."

Amelia stares at me for a moment and then smiles, "You are so right! I can take Jonah to meet Holden later. After all, he's going to be staying for a day or so," she looks across the table at him, "isn't that correct?"

Dr. Sands nods, “Yes, possibly two, but for sure one more.”

“Great! Let’s party!” Amelia fist pumps the air as she smiles, while the rest of us stare at her in amusement.

~~

Happy Saturday! Give me your thoughts... I love hearing them!

Read The alpha who saved me by Stacy Rush Chapter 86 online free

CHAPTER 86

Declan

As soon as the dishes start clearing, I excuse myself for a moment and slip into the kitchen. My staff are all loyal to me and so when I bring my head cook to the side, and explain to her what is going on, and that I need her help, all she can say is, “Thank Fuck, it’s about time something gets done about her!” All I can do is chuckle and apologize for them having to put up with her all this time.

The she-wolf helps me to sprinkle the slow-acting drug into the dessert as to not mess up the look completely and make Lila suspicious. I chose the slow-acting drug because I can’t very well have Lila passing out at the table while my mother and all the other guests are still around. She will begin to feel sleepy and most likely excuse herself; she will be knocked out cold once her head hits her pillow, or so I’m told.

Walking around to the other doorway, I arrive back at the dining room as they are halfway done with passing out the dessert. The head cook personally brings out both mine and Lila’s as to make it look as though we are both important enough for the head cook to bring out our dessert. She never brings food to the table since she does most of the cooking.

Lila digs right into hers, not even waiting for her Alpha to sit down. Normally I would lecture her, but I let it go for tonight. “Sorry about that,” I address everyone as I take my seat, “I had forgotten to send out an important business email earlier, and they needed to have it by the end of the day.”

“No problem, Declan,” Quinn pipes in, “We were just having a lovely conversation with your Luna.” I can see the amusement dancing in her eyes as she calls Lila my Luna, “I was just telling her how she’s done a fabulous job tonight. I hope you will continue to give more Luna responsibilities to her in the future.”

“We discussed that earlier, and tonight was a test run. If all of you approve of her abilities, and attitude, then I will give her more.” I respond.

“Does this dessert have a different taste or is it just me?” Lila asks as she sniffs her dessert.

Well, shit! I lift a bite to my own nose and sniff and then eat it, pretending that I’m trying to figure it out, “Yes, mine is a bit different than usual as well.”

Suddenly, Quinn and Carter nod in agreement as well, “Yes, I bet the cook just used a different brand is all.” Quinn suggests.

“As long as I’m not being poisoned.” Lila chuckles.

Carter, being the best Beta ever picks up a clean spoon and scoops a bit of Lila’s dessert onto it and then tastes it himself, “Tastes just like mine. No worries about being poisoned, Luna. if you are then I guess we will go down together.” Carter muses and then actually winks at Lila.

The she-bitch finally relaxes and begins to enjoy everyone’s company. If she wasn’t such a scheming bitch, she would actually be an okay person with how she’s acting at the moment. A few of us glance around the table at the ones that are aware of what is going on, knowing that now, all we have to do is wait.

I continue to watch the time as we all move into the living space for some drinks. The females are off to one side while the males are on the other having completely different conversations. It looks as though the females are including Lila in on their discussion as well, playing everything off nicely. It’s going better than I thought it would. Unfortunately, slow-acting really does mean slow-acting, though, because it’s been a little over an hour now and aside from a small yawn here and there, Lila doesn’t look very tired at all.

When I glance over at the doctor, he gives me a confused look as well. Maybe I was supposed to use two capsules instead of one. I hold up one finger, and he barely shakes his head. I hold two fingers up by my leg, and he gives a slight nod. Rolling my eyes and cursing under my breath, I have to think of something fast.

Knowing how much Lila loves to drink and she loves that cinnamon-flavored whiskey, I sneak another capsule and open it up, pouring it into a tumbler. I hate this brand of whiskey, but I'll take one for the team if I have to.

Clearing my throat, I get everyone's attention, "I know most of you know that me and my Luna haven't had the best relationship lately, but I want to try and rectify that starting tonight. If not for us, then for our son," I hold up the bottle of whiskey to show Lila who is on the other side of the room, "I've even brought out your favorite drink for this!" I pour about a shot and a half of it in each tumbler and then walk slowly over to her, hoping the drug dissolves by the time I get to her.

I hand her the drugged tumbler and raise mine, waiting for her to do the same, "To new beginnings!" She repeats what I say and then shoots the liquid in one go without even looking into her glass thank Goddess. I shoot mine and make a face, causing everyone to laugh at me, but I couldn't care less.

A half an hour later. the quests begin to leave and Lila heads to her room yawning. Now that it's been another thirty minutes and my mother has retired, we head up to Lila's room. It's only me, Carter, Jonah, Quinn, and Gavin left as we hover by her door. I slip in first, wanting to make sure she is truly asleep. If she wakes up then I will have to pretend that I want to use her, so I'm sending up huge prayers that she's passed the fuck out.

Thankfully, The Goddess does answer prayers because no matter what I say or do, Lila continues to snore. I open her door to let the others through. We don't dare turn the light on, so I bring out my cell and turn the flashlight on, so the doctor can see what he's doing. The drug should have worked on Lila, her wolf, as well, so she can't tattle on us as Carter lifts up Lila's leg and holds it in place for the doctor. Pulling out a syringe-looking object with a long needle, he sticks it into Lila's upper inner thigh and presses the plunger, sending the tiny tracker into her. The tracker is made to dissolve after two years, so there is no need to worry about removing it.

We all breathe a sigh of relief as we step out into the hallway, and I pull up the app with the tracker. There is a red dot not moving right where Lila's bedroom is located. Once we get back to the living room, high-five's go all around, and we start to relax. I watch Quinn pull Jonah out of the room and figure that she wants to talk to him. about her upcoming labor and delivery since he will be the one delivering her pup when the time comes; they are back in less than five minutes, so it couldn't have been really important.

It's already late, and I can tell that Quinn is dead on her poor swollen feet, "How about you two take off," I say to both Quinn and Gavin, "Quinn needs rests. I will keep everyone updated on how things go from here on out. It shouldn't take too long for her to fuck up."

"One last thing, Alpha Declan," Jonah cuts in, "Lila may be a bit sore in that area in the morning, so you may need to tell a little fib explaining why she may have a little soreness in that area."

Quinn chuckles, apparently understanding what the doctor is trying to tell me, "Are you saying that I have to tell Lila that we had sex?"

He shrugs, "It wouldn't hurt."

Quinn, Gavin, and Carter all burst into laughter as I glare at each of them, "All of you are so going to owe me for this one!"

"Hey, I have nothing to do with this whole mate slash baby mama drama shit." Carter laughs even harder.

"No, but you helped come up with this plan, so you're part of it whether you want to be or not." I growl.

"Fine, because this is so worth it! I want to be there when you tell her that you did the nasty." My friend is having way too much fun with this.

Ignoring him, I turn to my cousin and Quinn, "Let me walk you out."

As soon as we get to the front porch, I scoop Quinn into my arms for a hug, chuckling as Mace growls at me. To everyone's surprise, though, I bring Gavin in for a man hug.

"Take care of our girl, you hear me?" I raise my brow in warning.

Slowly, a grin appears on his face, "You know I will."

"Yeah," I grin back, "I do."

The deed is done... now, we wait! Thanks for reading and I hope you all have an amazing weekend!

Read The alpha who saved me by Stacy Rush Chapter 87 online free

CHAPTER 87

It's been a few days since the dinner that Declan had for us, and since placing the tracker into Lila, but Declan has reported back to us that she has not been leaving the pack house grounds since it's been inserted. I'm not sure if it's a good thing or a bad thing, though. On one hand, I'd like to think that the Storm River Luna has been remaining faithful to her Alpha, but at the same time, I wish. she would make the wrong move just so Declan can get her out of his life.

Dr. Sands left the day after the dinner informing us that he wanted. to get back and start packing up his things for his move here, which until Declan can be rid of Dr. Langly, the good doctor will be residing in my pack.

It's late evening and I'm beginning to shut down for the night, when I feel a pain through my lower back. At first, I pass it off as nothing, just sitting in the chair so long. Just as I lock my office door, though, another one hits me, this time stretching all the way to the front.

"Not yet, little one! You can't come for another few days. Dr. Sands isn't here to help bring you into the world, so you need to bake just a few more days, at least." I chuckle and rub my belly. Hopefully, all it is are those Braxton Hicks contractions.

I start heading towards the stairs to head up to my room when another pain strikes, sending me to my knees. I cry out at the pain that is flowing through my abdomen.

'Tala, can you see if you can somehow contact Mace? I need Gavin!'

'I can't, Quinn. We are too far away from him and without being bonded yet, there is nothing I can do unless he's within the house, but I can try.'

“He went out to oversee the training with Spencer,’ I tell her, ‘I’ll just reach out to the Beta, it’s fine.”

Just as I’m about to do it, though, I’m attacked with another pain and warm liquid bursts from between my legs, soaking the leggings that I’m wearing.

“Oh, Goddess!” Cici comes running as she tops the stairs and sees me on the floor, clutching my stomach.

“Gavin...” It’s all I can say through the pain.

“I already linked Spence when I heard you first cry out. I wasn’t sure what was going on, but it didn’t sound good.” She informs me, and I can’t help but to be grateful for such a smart friend.

“Here, help me up to my room.” I state, but the moment I try to stand, I double over once more.

“Um, Quinn, I think we should call Dr. Langly.” My friend’s voice becomes panicked.

When I look at her, my eyes move to where her eyes are and I gasp at the blood-tinged liquid that came out of me, “That’s not supposed to look like that, is it?” I ask, now panicking myself.

Cici shakes her head vigorously, “I don’t know! I’ve never been pregnant before, Quinn!”

“QUINN!” Gavin comes rushing over to me. He stares at the fluid on the floor, and I notice the worry lines that crease his face, “I’ve got you baby!” He picks me up bridal-style and takes me to my room as he orders Cici and Spencer to grab lots of towels and for someone to get a hold of Declan to send the doctor.

As soon as we get to my room, he places me on the bed and then runs to the bathroom. I hear the water in the jacuzzi tub start before Gavin comes back out, “I think it’s best that you are in the tub if the baby comes before the doctor gets here.”

It’s been known within werewolf packs that if the pup is born under water, it can survive a while without having to cut the cord. There is no one here at the pack who can deliver a pup, not even Summer. Although the she-wolf has been excited since she learned that she will be working alongside a real doctor for a while.

“Gavin, I’m scare! Why is there blood?” I clench his shirt tightly.

“I don’t know, baby, I don’t know. I’m sure everything will be fine.” He undresses me carefully, and then lifts me back up to carry me into the ensuite.

Within thirty minutes, Declan is dragging Dr. Langly through the door. I stare in disbelief as Declan manhandles his pack doctor, but I don’t dwell on it too long as another pain takes hold.

“You will tend to Alpha Quinn and deliver her son in a professional way, Langly, or I will tear you to shreds!” Declan snarls, “You caused this, now you will see it through!”

“I told you, Alpha, I had no hand in this...”

“QUIET! I don’t know how you’re able to lie past my Alpha command, but there is no time right now to sit and figure it out. Now take care of Quinn and her pup!”

Gavin is livid as he glares at his cousin, “Take it up with him later, Declan! Quinn doesn’t need this stress!”

Declan flings the doctor towards me, and Gavin barely catches him before he hits the side of the tub. Growling at his cousin, Gavin orders Declan to get out of the bathroom but Declan doesn’t budge. Before Gavin can get up to go make Declan leave, I grab his arm.

“Please, let him stay if he wants to stay. I don’t mind, as long as he behaves.” I plead with my soon-to-be-mate.

“But you’re naked Quinn!”

I chuckle, “He has seen me naked plenty of times when shifting and then...” I trail off, deciding it’s best if I don’t bring up our night together.

There is a little hurt in his eyes, and I now feel like crap. He should have a say in it as well, “If you would rather him not be in here, then I will honor your wishes, Gavin. This is your pup, and I will be your Luna soon, so I will leave it up to you, just please don't fight.... ARGH!" A pain hits me harder than the rest and more blood now tinges the water.

Everything else is forgotten as Gavin calls out to the doctor, "Do. something! What's wrong?"

"Let's move her to the bed, so I can hook the portable monitors up to her." Dr. Langly orders and Gavin is quick to pick me up. Declan is already out of the room and is laying towels down on the bed right where Gavin tends to lay me down at.

The doctor hooks me up to a heart monitor for the pup and then another one for the contractions, "Okay Quinn, I'm going to need both Mr. Davis and Alpha Declan to hold your legs, so I can do a pelvic exam. I want to try and determine where the blood is coming from."

Both males get on each side of me and hold my legs open. Out of respect for me or Gavin, or maybe even both, Declan keeps his eyes on the doctor as he examines me. When he's done, and looks up at me, I can see the concern on his face.

"What is it, Dr. Langly?" I'm panting from going through another spell of bad pain.

"I'm afraid you've had what we call a placental abruption. It's when the placenta has partly detached from the uterine wall. You are nowhere close to delivering yet, according to the size of your cervix. We are going to have to cut him out."

Tears begin to fall as I take in the news. I barely hear what the doctor is saying as I begin to space out. I can faintly hear my name being called before spots start to dance in front of my eyes, and I break out into a cold sweat; darkness takes over soon after.

~~~~~

IN

Here is chapter 1 to start off your week. I hope you enjoy it! So many things will be taking place over the next week or so...make sure you come back to see what all is revealed!

Read The alpha who saved me by Stacy Rush Chapter 88 online free

CHAPTER 88

Gavin

“Quinn? QUINN?” I shake her but her eyes remain closed. I was watching her while listening to what the doctor was saying. Something was wrong, she was looking a bit too pale and then she just closed her eyes and didn’t open them back up. “Langly! What the fuck is wrong with her? HELP HER GOD DAMN IT!” I’m about to strangle the son of a bitch.

“Like I was saying, Mr. Davis, we need to get her to the hospital and operate. She needs a c-section, so we can get the pup out safely.”

I holler for Cici, and luckily, she is just outside the room, “Yes, Gavin, what do you need me to do?”

“Link Summer and have her open up the hospital! I know she’s been ordering and adding supplies, let’s hope she’s got everything. the doctor will need for Quinn.”

“We will need to use one of the operating rooms.” Langly informs her, and her eyes go wide.

“Y-Yes, doctor.” I watch as her eyes glaze over while she links with Summer, “She’s on her way and she said that the rest of the supplies have come in, but just haven’t been unpacked. I’ll go and help her grab everything needed to operate.”

“Thank you, Cici.” I breathe a sigh of relief.

“You’re welcome, Alpha.” She answers before running out the door. I don’t think she realizes that she says it, though, since I’m not an Alpha just yet.

A hand grips my shoulder, “Quinn’s going to be fine, and so is your pup.” Declan tries reassuring me, but all I can do is nod.

Wrapping Quinn up in a blanket, I pick her up and run from the room, both Declan and the doctor are on my tail. It’s faster if I run with her, my wolf will give me the speed that I need to get her to the hospital fast. I glance down at her and see that she is still out, and I send up a prayer to the Goddess Selene that both Quinn and our pup will survive this.

Langly wouldn’t allow me in the operating room with him because of the state that I’m in, and I really can’t blame him. It’s taking me everything to hold Mace from coming out and destroying everything around him, so Declan and I are out in the waiting area while Summer and Cici are in helping the doctor.

“I swear, if anything happens to her, I’m going to tear that male apart!” I snarl as the time keeps ticking away.

“I will let you, cousin.” Declan agrees.

There are footsteps running down the hallway from the opposite. direction, and suddenly, Aunt Amelia, Aspen, and Kimber are skidding to a halt in front of us. They all look as if they ran all the way here from the Storm River pack.

“Where is she? Has she had the baby...are they alright?” Aunt Amelia rambles on.

Declan is the one to take hold of her arms, “Breathe Mother. Take a deep breath in and let it out.” Once his mother is calmer he proceeds, “She had a partial placental abruption, it’s where part of her placenta has detached itself from her uterus. She is in having a c-section now.”.

Dividing into pages now

“She was in really bad pain and bleeding, Aunt Amelia, and then. she passed out!” I inform her and can’t stop the tears from falling this time.

“Awe, it’s okay, dear boy,” my aunt comes over and hugs me tightly, “Our Quinn is strong, she will be fine. Women have c- sections all the time; even humans have them and they survive. Tala will heal her.”

“What about the pup? He doesn’t have a wolf yet.”

“It’s in the Goddess’s hands, but he’s got you for a father and Quinn as a mother, he’s a strong pup, and I believe he will be fine.”

My aunt’s words help to calm me down a little, and just as we sit down, Dr. Langly comes through the door, his expression doesn’t give away anything. Every one of us jump back to our feet and rush the doctor, wanting to hear the news.

“The c-section went fine, give her a day or two and her wolf will have her healed. Unlike humans, Alpha Quinn will still be able to have normal births after this one, although she will have to keep a close eye on herself, especially if she gets as big as she did this time.”

“What about my son, Doc?” I ask impatiently.

He stares at me a moment, “Because the Alpha’s water had already broken, the pup was beginning to drown on the blood from the abruption.”

My heart begins to sink at this news, and I stumble just a little, but both the doctor and Declan catch me, and the doctor continues, “As I was saying, the pup was beginning to drown, but we got him out just in time, and got his lungs all cleared out. We worked on him for a moment or two but then he let out the loudest cry that I have ever heard!” Dr. Langly chuckles.

Dividing into pages now

“Wait... what? My son, he’s okay?” My heart starts thumping once. again.

“You have a very handsome and healthy nine pound and thirteen- ounce pup. Congratulations!” The doctor informs me, and I’m stunned for a moment.

“No wonder the placenta detached...that’s a big boy!” Aunt Amelia states and then laughs.

Another noise comes from down the hall and then my mother comes around the corner, “Am I late? Is he here?”

Tlaugh and go over, picking my mother up and spinning her around, “He was just born, and both are doing great!” I kiss her on the cheek. I let her go and then spin around to find the doctor once more, "Can I see her? Can I see Quinn and my son?"

"I was just waiting for you all to finish your celebratory hugs." He chuckles, "If you follow me dad, I will bring you to her and then I will let the two of you decide if she has any visitors. Her wolf has already started to heal her, but she's still far from one hundred percent."

I nod and then turn back to everyone, "I will be back in just a bit to let you know what Quinn wants to do. I'm sure she will want to see all of you though, you know how stubborn she is." I grin. I can't believe that I'm a father and that both the loves of my lives are okay!

NA

~~

The room that Quinn was put in is dim and her eyes are closed, but the second I close the door all the way, her eyes open and she smiles at me. I don't think I've ever seen a more beautiful smile in my life. I don't care that she isn't my fated mate, I would choose her over and over again.

Dividing into pages now

"Hey, gorgeous. How are you feeling?"

"Much better now that you're here."

I bend over and press my lips against hers, "You gave me a huge scare, you know."

She has the audacity to giggle, "My bad, baby."

"I'll forgive you this once, but don't ever do that to me again, do you understand me?" I take her hand as I sit on the edge of the bed.

"I will try my best," she replies, and then asks, "Have you seen our pup?"

"No, not yet."

She turns her head to the other side of the bed and that's when I notice the basinet. I jump up and walk around to where it's at and look down. My eyes begin to water at the little bundle of joy wrapped up in a soft blue blanket with a cap on his head.

"You can pick him up, you know. He isn't going to bite just yet." Quinn chuckles.

Reaching down, I carefully pick up the tiny bundle and walk back. around to the other side. Quinn moves over slightly, indicating that she wants me to sit beside her, so I do. We both stare down at our pup with the same amount of love in our eyes. When I move the cap, I see that he has a head full of his mother's dark auburn hair, but he looks a lot like me.

"So, do you think we should go with name number one or name number two?" I ask Quinn.

"Definitely name number two. He looks like one, don't you think?" She asks as she tilts her head while studying our son.

"I have to agree with you there." I beam, "Oh, there are people waiting to see you and our son. I told them that I would check with you first."

Quinn smiles, "Of course they can come in and meet him."

Laughing, I kiss her temple, "But are you feeling up to it?"

"I am fine. Tala has been working overtime, the poor girl. I'm going to have to give her some extra time with Mace, for healing me up so well."

"Mace would love that; he's already pacing excitedly." I let her know before linking my mother, telling her that they are able to come in for a few minutes. "Everybody is on their way in, so get ready."

"Oh, do I look okay?" She combs her fingers through her hair.

"You look stunning, Quinn."

"Oh stop!" She blushes, and I can't help but to take her chin and bring her lips to mine once more.

"That's how you ended up here to begin with." Declan is the first through the door and to make that statement.

“Oh, he won’t be getting any of that for a little bit.” Quinn laughs, and I shrug, not being bothered by it one bit. Just as long as she heals properly.

The room is crowded with everyone in here as they all loudly whisper while trying to be the first to hold our pup. As the grandmother, my mom is the one that I give our son to first as everyone else pouts, including my cousin.

~~~~~

That it for today peeps! As always, thank you for reading and let me know your thoughts!

Read The alpha who saved me by Stacy Rush Chapter 89 online free

CHAPTER 89

“So, are you ever going to tell us his name?” Amelia asks excitedly.

Gavin and I look at one another and I nod, giving him the go ahead. Instead of just telling them, he builds the anticipation by talking about why and how we decided on the name, and how we went back and forth on deciding. Everyone is getting antsy and it’s amusing Gavin.

“Will you stop already,” I laugh, “I am more than happy to tell them. myself if you keep going on and on.”

“You’re ruining the fun, baby.” He takes my chin and kisses me once more. Becoming serious, though, he gazes into my eyes, “I thought I was losing you...losing both of you. I’ve never been so scared in my life.” He turns back to the others, “I am so happy that Quinn is okay and that in just over a week, she will be honoring me by becoming my Luna,” placing his arm around my shoulders, he continues, “But this union ceremony is going to be even more special, because the future Alpha heir to the Dark Moon pack will be in attendance as well. Quinn and I are proud to announce to you all, the future Alpha, Asher Lincoln Davis, of the Dark Moon pack!”

Excited chatter breaks out as Gavin turns back to me, “Drama King...” I chuckle.

“Hey, our pup deserved a great introduction!” He grins.

"He sure does!" Declan cuts in, and shakes Gavin's hand, "Gavin, Quinn, congratulations, Asher is perfect, and I can't wait until he is old enough to play with Holden."

Dividing into pages now

I study him to see if he is being sincere or just nice, but I can tell that he truly means what he says, "Thank you Declan, that really means a lot, and I'm with you on our boys being playmates."

"Gavin," Sarah passes Asher off to Amelia and comes over to the bed, "You announced that he is the heir to Dark Moon but not Blue River, why is that?"

Gavin tenses, "I know how father feels, Mother. I'm not going to claim something that may never be mine."

I place my hand on his thigh as Declan places his hand on his cousin's shoulder, showing him that we stand with him. It makes me so happy to see Gavin and Declan's relationship flourish into a friendship once again.

"Well, who else will it go to if not you?" Sara balks.

"Ayden. It's why he had him to begin with. He never planned to pass it to me, Mother. Why else would he rape a seventeen-year-old over and over until he knocked her up?"

"W-what are you talking about?" She seems taken aback by this news and I can't help but wonder if she really is in the dark about most of it. Although, she still would have known about the infidelity.

"Are you telling me that you didn't know that Demi's son is father's son, my baby brother?"

The horrific expression that appears on his mom's face, proves that she knows nothing of the pregnancy, "No! You're lying! He wouldn't do that to that poor child, you have to be mistaken!"

"I'm not, Mother. Why do you think she fled. We have them both in hiding, so father doesn't get his hands on Ayden."

Sara collapses, and Declan is right there to catch her, as he helps her to lower herself in the chair beside the bed, "I knew he was unfaithful. I tried to stop him, threatened to leave him multiples times, and take you with me, but then the beatings started whenever I threatened him. Then whenever I just brought the topic up, he would beat me. After a while, all I could do was accept it, for fear of both my life and yours, but I never thought he would rape an innocent girl!" Her head whips to all three of us, "Please, you must believe me, I knew nothing!"

All three of us look at her with sympathy, "I believe you, Sara." I state, "I wondered how a mate could stand by and allow her mate to sleep around, especially if you're fated. You must have endured horrible pain."

She nods, "You have no idea, but if it meant keeping both me and my son alive, I'd do anything."

"We need to end his reign, Aunt Sara, you know that don't you?" Declan asks.

She nods, "I always hoped that once he retired then I'd get my old mate back. We used to be so in love, like fated mates are supposed to be. I don't know what changed him."

and

"Mom, he's never going to change. Father is all about power will not step down on his own. He shows his power over you by beating you after he is the one who is in the wrong." Gavin sits on the edge of the bed and pulls his mom into his arms, "Whatever happens, know that you will always be taken care of."

N

I'm able to go back to the pack house the next morning, since there is no staff at the hospital, there is no sense in staying there and it's more convenient for Summer to check on me and Asher while we are at home, rather than coming all the over to the hospital.

Asher, or what we've already started calling him, Ash, is such a good pup. Sure, he wakes up for his feedings throughout the night, but then he goes right back to sleep. Gavin makes me pump just so he can get up with his son and bond with him while I sleep. He is so good with our son, and he is so good to me. I'm the luckiest she-wolf in the world. For not having a fated mate, I have to say that I made out pretty well.

“How are my two favorite people in the world?” Gavin comes up the porch steps where I sit and rock Ash in my arms. He leans down and plants a kiss to both our heads.

“We are just getting some fresh air while we take a break last minute Union details. Which, I wanted to talk to you about something.”

He leans against the railing, one ankle over the other while he grips the railing, “What is it? You know that I will go with whatever you want for the ceremony. I just want to see you beside me at the end of that aisle.” He grins.

“I’ll be there, don’t you worry about that.” I smile mischievously, “But I would also like to have your brother there. I think you deserve to have him there, and I think he deserves to be there as well. Do you think we can make it happen?”

He shrugs, “I can see if Deke will talk to Demi. It’s her decision on whether or not she wants to chance it.”

“But your father won’t be there, correct?”

“Well, yeah, but again, it’s her decision.”

“Okay. Can you talk to Alpha Deke for me then?”

Dividing into pages now

“You know I will,” he pushes himself away from the railing, “I will do anything for you. Haven’t you figured that out by now?” He bends down and takes my mouth with his until Ash begins to fuss, “Here, let me take him for a while, so you can get stuff done.”

“Thank you. Oh,” I stop him from walking away, “One more thing, I want to take care of Tiffany before the ceremony. I don’t want any of my past darkening my future with you and Ash.”

“If you are fully recovered, then we will go the day before. How does that sound?”

“Perfect, thank you for understanding, babe.” I caress his cheek. and then watch him bounce down the steps with our pup. He love showing him off every chance he gets.

~~

Happy Tuesday....any thoughts or comments??

Read The alpha who saved me by Stacy Rush Chapter 90 online free

CHAPTER 90

Closing the door to my office, shutting out all the noise that comes with living in a pack house, I sigh and then take my seat behind my father's, and his father's desk. I run my hand over the hard wood and smile at the memory of playing hide-and-seek with my brother, Dylan. He never could find me, and eventually, he stopped playing with me. It's because I would always come in here and hide underneath this desk. Even when my father was working, I would quietly open his door and close it, and then he would move, so I could crawl under it, beside his legs. Dylan would crack open the door, take one look at our father working, and then leave again. It became our thing until Dylan decided not to play anymore. I never did tell him where my secret hiding spot was.

I crawl under the desk and sit for just a few moments, letting myself soak in the memory of the one male that had loved me with his whole heart. Now, I have another male who loves me just as much, and it makes my heart feel full again. Of course, I will always ache for my parents and brother, but I'm no longer alone. I now have my future mate and my son who have filled that hole that's been shallow for the past four and a half years.

Thinking about my parents, I come out from under the desk and go to the safe. The last letter from my mother sits in there, as well as the key that she gave me and the jewelry that both guys gave me in which I had forgotten all about. I place Declan's locket around my neck and Gavins's bracelet on my wrist. I decide to keep the key in the safe for now as I take the envelope over to the desk.

I'm not supposed to open it until the day before my twentieth birthday, which is in about five months. My fingers itch to tear the seal and read its contents, but then I hear my mother's voice, telling me to have patience. She was always telling me that I was so impatient and that I would have to learn how to have patience once I became a Luna.

Dividing into pages now

Even though Alpha females could either be mated to an Alpha or a Beta with alpha blood, my mother always told me that I would be a Luna someday, she was sure of it.

As much as I want to see my mother's writing to me, I return the letter to the safe and close the door. Blowing out a heavy sigh, I return to the desk and start going through pack business, but not even five minutes later I'm leaving my office once again and linking my best friend as I do.

'Where are you at right now, Cici?'

'What's up, hoochie mama?'

I roll my eyes, 'I wanna go for a run and it's been so long since Tala and Rani have run together, that I was hoping you would want to go.'

'You don't have to ask us twice! I will meet you in front of the pack house in a few minutes.'

'Sounds good.'

'Woohoo! Rani is going to be so pissed when she learns that she can't beat us any longer.' Tala snickers.

'Now Tala, what did we talk about? We are going to let her win every once in a while...starting with today.' I lecture my wolf.

'Awe man! You are a serious Debbie downer; you know that Quinn?'

I shrug, 'Sorry, but Rani needs the extra self-confidence, whereas you have plenty to pass around.'

Tala prances around, 'Not everyone can be as perfect as I am. It's not my fault the Goddess gave me everything that I have.'

I chuckle, 'That doesn't mean you need to rub it in, Tala. Try being a little less arrogant.'

My wolf scoffs at me and then gives me the silent treatment for a while. I shake my head and then go in search of Gavin. Finding him out on the back patio with a few of the other males, I press my lips against his briefly, and then to my sleeping pup's head.

“Cici and I are going to let our wolves run. Are there any warriors available to keep watch?” After the last time, I’m not taking any chances, I’ve learned my lesson well.

Two of the males jump up, “We would be happy to escort you, Alpha!”

If I didn’t know any better, I’d say they were twins by the way they move and talk in unison, but they are two completely different wolves from two different families, no relation whatsoever. I chuckle when Gavin growls at them both, causing me to slap him. playfully.

“Stop being overbearing. They only want to protect their Alpha and future Luna. Isn’t that right guys?” I look at them both as they stand there, like a deer in headlights.

“No disrespect, Sir. Alpha Quinn is right; we only want to protect her and her Beta female.” One states.

“We don’t go on patrol duty until this evening, so we are free.” The other one speaks up.

“Fine, but you better protect them well!” Gavin grunts.

Chuckling, I give him another kiss, “I will be back by the time Ash needs his next feeding. If you need me back sooner just have someone link me.”

“Goddess, I can’t wait until we are bonded. I hate having to go through others just to get to you.” He pouts.

“We will be bonded soon enough, babe.” I mess his hair up and head towards the front with my two warriors.

~~~

‘Catch me if you can!’ Rani calls out, or should I say links with Tala as she runs ahead of us.

My wolf growls, ‘Don’t be so arrogant, Tala...let her win, Tala.’ She tries mimicking my voice, ‘See what happens? She gets all cocky when you let her win!’

I'm trying so hard to keep my laughter in while my wolf gets all huffy over Rani, 'I don't understand why you take it so personal, Tala. It's okay.'

'It's not okay, Quinn! We are winners, we are fighters, we are the best!'

'Whoa there! Why would you say that? Of course, we aren't the best.'

'Yes, we are! You may not know it yet, but we are!' She snarls and then takes off, passing Rani like it's nothing.

'Slow the fuck down right now Tala!' I'm livid at the way my wolf is acting, 'Explain yourself!'

'I can't explain anything to you just yet. You will just have to trust me.'

Give me back control Tala!'

"Ugh, fine!' She shifts without warning, and I stumble before catching myself, 'Let's see how you're going to get back naked.'" She huffs and then struts to her little corner leaving me in the middle of the forest with no clothes in sight.

"Goddess, you're such a bitch!' I look around to see if I can see any trees that may hold a set of clothes, but we are too deep in the woods at the moment.

Rani stops beside me and then shifts back to Cici, "What was that all about?"

"Ugh, Tala is PMSing or something," I roll my eyes and then glance at my best friend, "We have been getting faster and she's been wanting to rub it in to Rani, but I wouldn't let her. I told her to let Rani win a few races..."

"Why would you do that, Quinn?" Cici stands in front of me with her hands on her hips.

"Because I know how sensitive you both are whenever me and Tala beat you at something. I didn't want to upset either of you."

"As thoughtful as that is, Rani and I will never learn if you just give us the win. I may pout about it, but if and when I win, I want it to be an honest win."

"I'm sorry."

"I think you need to apologize to Tala, as well." Cici states.

"It's more than just that, though. Ever since I turned eighteen, Tala speaks in cryptic messages and then tells me that it isn't time, that she can't tell me what she's talking about. To tell you the truth, Tala sounds like a crazy woman!"

'I heard that!' My wolf growls.

'Good because it's true!'

"She won't tell me why we are faster or stronger, and when I had decided on Gavin as my chosen, she threw a fit even though her and Mace get along fabulously!"

"Maybe she's one of those wolves that are a seer, and she can see the future or something." My friend teases.

"I highly doubt that, but I know she knows something which she won't tell me, ugh!"

"Maybe she is under strict instructions from the Goddess, herself, not to tell you yet. You know how some wolves have that kind of a relationship with Selene."

"Please, Tala does not have a special relationship with the Goddess. Although, with the way she's been acting, you'd think she was the Goddess!"

"So, I'm assuming Tala isn't talking to you."

"You assume correct."

"Would you like a lift?"

"Rani won't mind carrying your naked best friend through the woods?" I snicker.

"Are you going to dry hump her back?" Cici laughs.

"Ewe, gross! Why would you even think that?"

"Why would you think that Rani would have an issue carrying you on her back while you're naked? You are her Alpha."

I chuckle, "You're right, I'm sorry. I'm sorry Rani, and I promise not to dry hump your back."

Cici shoves me to the side as she jumps and shifts back into Rani. Her sandy-colored fur is soft to the touch as I climb up onto her back. Clenching my thighs to her sides, I grab her fur in both my fists and she takes off like a bat out of hell.

~~~~~

2

~~~

That's it for today peeps! Have an amazing day!