

Chapter 18 Sweet Revenge

Damien

My eyes move to the members of white Crescent Pack the moment my match is announced and I see Alpha Atlas and his Son get up with my former Mate. My jaw drops the moment she steps into the arena and I know she will do her best to take me down.

My former Mate is the Daughter of Alpha Atlas and I rejected her for Penelope. My Wolf is still pissed at me for rejecting her and I know if I had to depend on him during this match he would hang me out to dry, he would probably help her in kicking my ass.

Penelope, Harver and Jane are the only ones that know I rejected her, but none of us knew she was from an Alpha bloodline. Theseus is going to kill me if he ever finds out that she was my fated Mate and there will be nothing left of me for anyone to find if that ever happens.

I quickly look at Penelope to see a horrified look on her face, she knows this female will do everything she can to get her revenge on me. Ajax is holding on to Penelope and I know they suspect something, but I doubt they have any idea what happened between me and this female.

I nearly lose my shit when I hear Elder Ezra announce her as Alpha Amarah and my Wolf is actually laughing his ass off in my head, he really thinks this is funny. “Of course it is funny. You thought you made an upgrade with Penelope, but it looks like you let the grand prize slip away.” He replies.

She just stares at me with a murderous look, but doesn’t move as I circle her a few times and I start taunting her as she is unwilling to make the first move. It doesn’t do anything other than make me feel on edge and I think about the best move to make before I get agitated again.

It was my downfall during my first match and I have no intention on losing this match, especially not to a female. My Father made it clear over the years that a female isn’t born to become a Warrior, a female is born to bare Pups and to satisfy her Mate.

Amarah

I nearly burst out in laughter when Damien saw me step into the arena and the look on his face when I was announced as Alpha Amarah has Minerva in stitches. His taunts don’t do anything for me and from the corner of my eye I see Theseus stare between me and Damien.

Damien apparently learned from his first match as he is controlling his anger, but I know how I am going to push him over the edge. First I have to make him believe I am getting impatient with this match and I lunge at him before he realizes what I am about to do.

He staggers as my fist collides with his face and I see a shocked look on his face, “What! Didn’t think a barbie doll could punch you in the face?” I yell at him. He looks at me dumbfounded as I get back into position, “Didn’t you call me a barbie doll when you rejected me for that.” I yell as I point at his Mate.

Theseus looks murderous at Damien as Ajax holds on to Damien’s Mate with a murderous look in his eyes and I know there will be hell to pay for both of them. Damien lunges himself at me, but just before he reaches me I step to the side and as I turn to my left I let my fist collide with his face again.

Damien crashes to the ground, but I know I didn’t knock him out and I have no intention of doing so for a little while longer. We repeat this dance quite a few times and every time he gets back up I see the rage in his eyes more clearly. Once I realize he is filled with rage I signal Eos to do as we planned, just before I jump up in the air to slam my fist down in his face with full force.

I already know he is out cold before he hits the ground and a few seconds later I am announced the winner of our match. I turn to look at Alpha Crios and I give him a sweet smile before I return to my seat as we have to wait for all matches to end, before we can start our match.

Xanthos walks into the arena and unceremoniously he tosses Damien over his shoulder, Ajax follows behind him while dragging Damien’s Mate with him. People around us start mumbling as they are looking at their phones and Eos gives me a huge grin before I sit down next to Delia.

A thunderous roar is heard from across the arena and I don’t have to look up to know who it is, I have no doubt Theseus just saw the footage of my rejection. Like Eos suspected, he is not amused by Damien’s actions and if he ever had doubts about Damien’s Mate he now has answers.

Delia wraps an arm around my shoulder as she tells me how impressed she is with me, “One knock out to go and you will have the day off tomorrow.” She says as her eyes are glued on her Father and I know she hopes I will knock out Alpha Crios as well, but I also know she doubts I can take him.

Mom is sitting on my other side as I see Apollo and Midas holding onto Theseus, he really is outraged with Damien and I know it will take a while before he can control his Wolf from taking Damien down. My next match gets announced and his eyes lock with mine as I step back into the arena.

I give him a small smile and I see his Wolf retreat, making it possible for Theseus to take back control. Alpha Crios is making fun of my rejection, but instead of rattling my cage it makes me more focused on winning this match and I will have fun taking this idiot down.

Theseus

“What did she just say?” Apollo yells through our mind-link and none of us reply to him as we are in shock, Damien rejected her for Penelope. “Has he lost his fucking mind?” Midas growls and Linus chuckles as she lands a blow to Damien’s face.

She lets him get up every single time, only to knock him down again and I can tell that she is playing with him. I see him lose his temper and the moment it registers I see Amarah jump up in the air and I know it is all over for Damien, “Xanthos, grab that idiot and get him to our suite. Don’t bother with a Doctor, his Wolf can heal him if he wants.”

As Xanthos walks out of the arena I hear every phone around me ding and I grab my phone to see what it is we all received. I watch the footage on my phone and my heart sinks as I see how Damien rejected Amarah, Linus releases a thunderous roar before I can stop him.

Apollo and Midas hold on to me to make sure that Linus doesn’t take over, but it is Amarah that calms Linus down enough for me to stay in control. Amarah looks almost bored as Alpha Crios keeps bringing up her rejection and Linus is front and center to watch her take this idiot down.

“How long do you give Alpha Crios?” Midas asks as we look at Amarah and Apollo hopes she will knock him out faster than she did with Damien. I just hope she knocks him out, I don’t care how long it will take her and I hope she shows him every corner of the arena.

Alpha Crios is getting agitated with her lack of response and I see a huge smile on her Father’s face, he has every right to be proud of his Daughter. She is showing every Alpha that she is the better Alpha of the two, I wonder why we were never informed that Alpha Atlas stepped down and Linus points out he no longer is the Alpha.

“What has you smiling?” Midas asks and when I tell him it will take some time for me to get used to Atlas not being Alpha anymore. He chuckles as he knows I have a point there and I will probably mess up the first few times I mention Atlas.

Amarah doesn’t give Alpha Crios much time before she knocks him out in the same style she used on Damien and I believe it was the fastest match of the day. Apollo and Midas are cheering as she steps away from Alpha Crios and I see both his Sons walking into the arena to get their Father.

I make my way around the arena and the moment I see her Brother I draw his attention to me, “Alastor, I would like to talk to your Sister. Can you ask her to call me? I need to find a few answers first, but if she is willing I would like to see her tomorrow.” I say as I hand him my business card with my private number on the back.

“I will tell her, but I am not sure if she will give you the time. You might find out there is a lot you are not aware of, whether it was intentional or not.” He says as he takes my card and I stare at him as he walks back to Amarah, “What do you think that was about?” Apollo asks me.

Apollo knows I have no answer for him, but I intend to find a few answers before dinner and I make my way back to the Hotel with Apollo and Midas on my heels. Harver and Jane disappeared during Damien’s match and I doubt we will see them any time soon.

I step out of the elevator to see Xanthos pacing in the hallway, he looks murderous as his head snaps towards us and I know he wants to rip Damien a second asshole. Just like the rest of us and maybe I will give him the chance to just do that.

Midas walks into the small kitchen our suite has and soon I smell the scent of coffee. Midas always knows what I need and right now I really need some coffee to take my mind of Damien. “Penelope is with Damien and Ajax is standing guard in front of their door. He also took both their phones, so Penelope doesn’t know that we are aware of what they did.” Xanthos says.

We are on our second coffee when Damien and Penelope finally get out of their bedroom and Damien knows he is in deep shit as he looks at me. Ajax pushes Penelope on to the couch and Damien sits down next to her, before I have to tell him to sit down.

“Theseus..” Damien starts but I cut him off by raising my hand. “Damien, I doubt there is anything you can say that will justify what you did to Alpha Amarah and even if you think of something I doubt I want to hear it. Just to let you know, everyone is aware of how you rejected her.” I say.