

Hunter's P.O.V.

There are so many questions I have after Daniel explained everything to me, but I don't know with which one to start. I need to sort out my thoughts first before I release an avalanche of questions.

Victor is the one to pull me out of my thoughts as he asks what I am thinking, I smile at him before I tell him he might not want to know and we both laugh at the expression on Gabe's face.

"I actually have a few questions that I would like to get an answer to. Does this mean that I have two bedrooms and that I have two wardrobes?" Mom starts laughing and Brent turns his head towards the window.

"Hell, if I need to fill up two closets I need to go shopping." I say. "Think I can get my Brothers nuts enough to accompany me?" I ask and Daniel starts laughing uncontrollably as Victor is shaking his head.

"Why did I even ask that question?" Victor mumbles. Gabe just stares at me and I see a mischievous look in his eyes as he replies, "And two schools to attend to."

I smile at him and say, "Finally a challenge when it comes to school. One school is boring the hell out of me, but I hope you also know how I can get from one school to the next on time, GeeGee." Daniel and Brent double over as Mom is shaking her head at my comment.

"Are we going to the Palace first or the Pack-house?" I ask and I really want to know, because I would like to see the Pack-house Gabe described to me. We talk about it and after a few minutes Daniel decides that we will go the Pack-house first.

"It will give you time to get adjusted a bit, because as long as there are no visitors, they will act as they would at the Palace. We can get changed there before we go to the Palace for the Harvest Moon party." He says.

My jaw drops when the Pack-house comes into view and it is even bigger than I thought it would be. Two men walk out the front door and I can tell that they are related to Gabe and Brent.

They slowly walk over to the SUV's and when they see that Daniel brought guests I can see their mind running in circles. "Alpha Daniel, we had not expected you back yet." A younger version of Gabe says.

"Grant, Brennon." He greets them and then he turns to Mom. "This is Aspen, my second chance Mate." They stare at one and other for a moment and then they drop to their knees saying, "My Queen."

Aspen's P.O.V.

I am in shock at their actions, but I also have to stifle a smile as I realize that they have the same initials as their Brothers. I look at Daniel and I realize that this will happen every time someone finds out that I am his Mate.

Looks like I will have to get used to this display of respect, but I know I will never fully get accustomed to it. Daniel tells them to rise and then he introduces them to Hunter.

They bow at her and Grant says, "It is nice to meet you, Your Highness." Gabe chuckles and that makes me look at Hunter, worried she might cause trouble. "Gamma Grant, you might want to talk to your Brother before you ever call me that again." She states and walks back to the car.

"That Daughter of ours is going to make an excellent Luna, one day." Daniel says and I smile up at him because I know that he is right. Gabe explains to Grant and Brennon that she kicked his ass and that she hates her title.

"In that case I will only call her by her title in public, I would like to keep my ass out of harms way," Brennon says and I hear Victor and Hunter laugh. As Hunter walks back towards us, she has a devilish smile on her face and I wonder what she has on her mind.

"Don't worry, as long as you behave your ass is safe, BeeBee." She says and Brent bursts out in laughter as he sees the look on his Brother's face. It doesn't take long before the entire Pack knows about me and Hunter and everyone drops by to show their respect for us.

Brennon's Mate asks Hunter why she called him BeeBee and all she gets is "Beta Brennon." It is Grant's Mate that figures it out before the others and she puts her hands over her mouth as she is trying to stop herself from laughing.

"Misty, will you be so kind to include me into this joke?"

Grant asks her and she starts shaking her head, still trying to hold in her laughter. She gives up when Hunter says, "Wouldn't you like to know that GeeGee."

Misty and Hunter are holding on to each other as Grant stares at her with his mouth wide open. Christy finally caught up and bursts out in laughter too and once they have calmed down she looks at Hunter before she says,

"Those boys are going to have a heart attack with you around." Hunter asks her which boys she means and Christy says, "Jayce, Jax, Jason and Justin."

Hunter turns to Daniel and says, "Couldn't you have picked different names? Now I have four PJ's on my hand, Dad." Everyone looks at Hunter and I don't know if it is because she called Daniel Dad or that it has to do with not understanding PJ.

"Okay, no one is allowed to tell the boys what the hell she means, I like to see if they can figure it out on their own." Gabe says as he is refraining himself from laughing. I am hiding my face in Daniel's chest as I am laughing my ass off and I can feel that Daniel is laughing too.

"Gabe, how can I tell them if I don't have a clue as to what she is talking about." Grant says and that is when Christy says, "Once you figure out why she called Brennon BeeBee and why she will call you GeeGee, you might understand the PJ."

Misty is holding on to her stomach and the Pups are giggling at their Father's expense. Grant looks dumbfounded and really doesn't seem to understand how my Daughter's mind works.

"Daddy?" Christina asks and Grant turns towards her. "What is the first letter of Prince and what is the first letter of Jason?" She asks and after a few seconds I see his eyes widen, he figured it out as did the others.

Grant looks at Hunter and asks her how she will make sure that not all four of them respond when she calls out PJ.

Daniel's P.O.V.

I already knew she would annoy the hell out of my Sons, but now I know it will be much worse than I had imagined. We moved to the living-room and Gabe is putting sugar and creamer into Hunter's coffee.

"Here you go, Princess. Just as you like it." He says as he holds out the coffee and she accepts it with a smile. "Thank you, GeeGee." She answers after she took a sip of her coffee. We have been in the living-room for ten minutes when the front door opens and Gabe and Brennon's parents walk in.

I introduce them to Aspen and Hunter and soon we are all talking about what ever comes to mind. After half an hour Gabe calls for his Father's attention and we all quiet down.

"Dad, why did you and Mom call us Gabe and Grant?" he asks, sending the girls into a fit of laughter. Marc looks at him in confusion and Paula asks him what he is talking about.

"Mom, I am eighty-six years old and it took a fourteen year old to point out that you didn't think before naming us." He says and I see confusion written all over her face. It becomes even bigger when he asks her the same question Aspen asked me.

Drew is the first one to figure it out and he bursts into laughter as he looks at his own Sons. None of us say a word as he is trying to catch his breath and once he is able to speak again he turns to Hunter with a smile on his face.

"You are a very smart young lady, Princess. I hope I can keep a straight face if you ever call them BeeBee or GeeGee in public." I see the look on Hunter's face and luckily so does Drew. "In public I will address you with Princess Hunter or Your Highness." He states and she smiles at him.

"Drew, you guys didn't do as badly as I did." I say and I hear Aspen giggle as she hides her face in my chest. "Can you imagine her calling her Brothers PJ in public."

Linda and Paula start laughing as Drew and Marc look at Hunter and I know it will take a lot for us to keep a straight face if she ever calls them that in public.

Wait! I Have Something to Say!

Send a Gift to the Writer!