Hunter's P.O.V.

I sit in the middle of the bed, staring at my Mates as they are still fast asleep and I hate that we didn't get the chance to mate last night. My run gave me the time to think about what I want for my future, but it showed me that it was no longer just my decision and I know I have to talk to my Mates about it.

I don't think I ever asked anyone of them how they saw their future, maybe they don't want Pups right away or maybe they don't want Pups at all. Even though that last thought fades as fast as it popped up, it is something I have to take into consideration.

I curl myself up as I lay down and the presence of my Mates lulls me back to sleep. I don't know how long I have been sleeping before soft kisses being placed all over my body wake me and as I slowly open my eyes I look into Jayce's eyes, "Goodmorning, Princess." He whispers before kissing my lips.

The kisses on my body become more intense as Jayce starts putting pressure on my lips, I open my mouth to grant him access to my mouth and a moan escapes my throat as our tongues touch. I feel the heat build in my body as I feel my top being pushed up, followed by kisses on mu ribcage.

Jason is placing kisses on my legs as he slowly makes his way to my core, Justin and Jax reach my breasts at the same time and suck my nipples into their mouths. Jayce is still kissing me as Jason kisses my core through my panties and I let out a loud moan.

He pushes my panties aside to suck my clit into his mouth and my hips buck off the bed towards his face. He keeps sucking as he slowly pushes two fingers into my soaking wet pussy and Justin and Jax start nibbling on my nipples.

I feel myself getting pushed towards the edge further and further, Jason picks up the pace as Jayce breaks the kiss and he moves himself above my face. I grab the base of his cock as I open my mouth, I let his cock slide into my mouth and I take him as deep as I can take it.

Jason's fingers pump in and out of my core fast, while he sucks and nibbles on my clit and as I come all over his fingers Jayce comes in my mouth. I keep sucking his cock until his cock has gone flaccid and I slowly come down from my high.

Before I can turn my attention to one of my other Mates Justin sits up straight with a face that doesn't predict much good and I ask him what is on his mind, "Mom wants to talk to us before we leave and I think we should hear what she has to say." He mumbles.

I nod my head as I pull him in my arms, "I think we all need to talk and maybe this will be the best way. I just hope I can control my temper for once and not blow up immediately." I say before I crawl out of our bed and head to the bathroom.

Half an hour later we are all ready to head down the stairs to have breakfast with Mom and Dad, it will just be family as Mom and Dad thought it would be best and I think I don't want anyone else around for this discussion.

I say good morning as I walk into the dining room and I sit down in my usual seat between Jayce and Jason, but for some reason Justin and Jason switch places today. I don't question it as I think they do it for my benefit and Justin places his hand on my knee.

"Pumpkin, I am sorry for what I said yesterday. I know using the word attitude was not correct and I know I should not have told Jayce I didn't want to be a Grandmother for another decade. You know I don't regret having you and you know there is nothing anyone could have offered me to chance my past.

Raising a Pup is hard work and even though the pros out way the cons a Pup takes a lot of your time, I think I just wanted you to enjoy your time with your Mates before raising Pups.

I know this is not my decision to make and I will support whatever you chose to do, just keep in mind that you are still young. There is no rush on putting the Kingdom's next heir onto this world, I doubt your Father is ready to step down anytime soon." Mom says and I giggle as I see Dad glare at her.

"Mom, I know that raising me by yourself wasn't always easy and you're right I know you wouldn't trade me for anything in the world. My run last night gave me time to think about it and I realize that even though your words came out wrong, you only want what is best for me.

But it also made me realize something else; I have always had a very clear picture of my future, but I never took into consideration if my Mate would agree with me.

I never thought about what my Mate might think of Pups, if he would want Pups or not.

The future I pictured for myself was a one sided picture and I think I never wanted to think about his point of view. What if he didn't want Pups, what would that mean for our future. I think I didn't think about it because I was afraid to face that scenario." I keep my eyes on my plate as I speak.

I am really afraid one of my Mates may not want Pups or maybe they want to wait, just like Mom suggested and I am not sure if I could handle it if that would be the case.

Jax's P.O.V.

Hearing our Princess put her fears into words makes Brick become agitated and I know we have to take her fears away from her, we need to reassure her. "Princess, do you know how many bedrooms there are on our floor?" I ask her and she shakes he head as she keeps looking at her plate.

I see that no one understand my question and I ask Hunter to look at me, "If you want to fill all those rooms with Pups you will be pregnant for the next ten to twenty years." I say and she actually giggles. Brick is still not at ease, because Justice is still blocking them.

I think it is safe to say that she wants to know how we feel about this before she will come out of hiding, "Princess, I never thought as far as you and Justice did. There was only one thing I knew for sure and that was that I wouldn't settle for a chosen Mate.

Did I think of Pups in my future? Yes, Brick and I both want Pups, but we never thought about when or how many. Seeing you with June made it clear to both of us, we want Pups with you and we don't care if that happens next year or a decade from now." I say.

Jason and Justin tell her the same, but Jayce is keeping quiet through it all and I wonder what is going through his mind. Hunter digs into her food as if she understands that Jayce needs a little more time before he can tell her how he feels about this subject.

We are almost done with breakfast when Jayce turns towards Hunter and places a hand on her leg, "Princess, like my Brothers I never really gave Pups any thought. I figured I would know the moment I met my Mate and then I found a fourteen year old smartass in front of me.

Instead of planning a future I was busy controlling myself and Colt and the idea of Pups or what our future would look like disappeared to the back of my head. Even after finding out about our Laws it didn't come to mind.

Colt and I were to busy keeping ourselves from jumping your bones and I can tell you it hasn't been easy." We all laugh at his admission. "Princess, you told us you wanted to complete your studies and I want you to think about what I am going to say next real hard.

I want Pups with you and like my Brothers I don't care when that will happen, but raising Pups will interfere with your studies. I don't know if or how you can combine both your dreams, just know that I will support whatever you want." I stare at Jayce, because her studies had slipped my mind and I have feeling it hadn't crossed her mind either.

Hunter's P.O.V.

I listen to my Mates as they tell me how they feel about Pups and I can feel that Justice is slowly letting her guard down, but it takes a long time before Jayce starts talking. We both listen to him and when he brings up my studies I am dumbfounded, it didn't even cross my mind.

Jayce is right, raising Pups while studying Law might proof to be a bit difficult and my Mates still have their job with the Elders. They might not always be there when I need them and even though I know that I can count on my parents and my friends, I know that Jayce has a point.

"Finish your studies first, that serves the greater good. You won't be studying for years and Mom is also right, we are still young." Justice says and I know that she is right.

"Thank you." I say to Jayce before I kiss him. "I hadn't thought about my studies and I don't think it would be wise to try and combine that with raising Pups. Mom, you're also right. I am still young and I think it is best if I finish my studies before I start a family."
