

Chapter 91 Orion

Orion

I wasn’t surprised to sense someone coming up behind me, what did surprise me was the fact he told me someone wanted to talk to me and I am grateful for that person. This Lycan would have kicked my ass before he would have asked any question.

I do recognize the Lycan I just don’t know who he is, but I recognize the females on the front porch as I know they are a part of Umayza’s team and I see even more unknown males when I step into the cottage. “My name is Orion and I am here to warn you of danger that is heading this way.” I say before anyone can ask me a question.

Umayza gets up to introduce me to the males I have seen around the Academy some times, but other than that I didn’t know who they were and my jaw drops as she introduces the twins as her Mates. “If I decide I can trust you, I might explain that one to you, Orion.” She says.

“Fair enough, Umayza. Let me start by saying I am sorry for leading trouble your way, I have a puzzle with missing pieces and I hope together we can put it together.” I say and Conri asks me what kind of trouble I might have lead her way. “Luna Calliope.” I say without looking away from him.

“Before you kill me, you might want to listen to what I have to say.” I respond to his growls and Captain Armand tells me to explain myself. “Okay, I will give you the very short version of my life. I was found near the border of my Pack by Maggie, an Omega.” I tell them how I grew up and about my first assignment.

“I have been doing this line of work ever since then and I know Ma won’t be sorry that I finally turned my back on it. Luna Calliope knew just the basics about you when she hired me and I know she hired me on the day you were taken to the Council.

It wasn’t until a year ago that I finally found out why she wanted to know so much about you, but I never told her what I knew. You had returned from an assignment and with the way you were dressed with that high ponytail I saw the resemblance with Wenonah immediately.

Don’t ask me why but I didn’t report everything I found out about you, I have been asking myself and Jasper that question over and over and neither one of us knows the answer. She doesn’t know you can kick ass, nor does she know that they are your protection detail.

The reason I decided to come here is, because a friend of mine lives in Night Shade Pack and he warned me about what Calliope plans to do to you. Once she gets her hands on you she wants Malik to forcefully mark you, but don’t worry he won’t do that as you are definitely not his type.” I accept the soda Yonatan offers me.

Her Mates are fuming while the others have murderous looks in their eyes and Umayza just stares at me with a questioning look in her eyes, “Orion, can I ask you a personal question?” She asks while she tries to calm her Mates down. I nod my head and I expect her to ask me if I have a Mate or something.

“What color is Jasper?” She asks and literally everyone stares at her dumbfounded. I am stunned by her question and for a moment I don’t know how to answer her, but Jasper urges me to tell her as a sign of good will, “Jasper is a silvery color.” I answer.

Before I can ask her why she asked me that question she jumps of the couch and into my arms. I look at Conri and Evander in the hope they are able to explain this to me, but it seems they don’t have an answer for me and I think they are hoping for the answer from me.

My heart breaks as I hear her sob and Conri and Evander sit down on either side of me, they try to calm her down by running their hands up and down her back. Theron looks at me for a moment and then he mutters “Fuck” as he seems to have found the answer.

Alexia is the next one to mutter the same word and it seems that she is about to explain it when Theron shakes his head, “This is something Umayza has to explain.” He says as he looks at me, but it doesn’t make me feel as if she is about to give me bad news.

It takes Umayza a few minutes to calm down, but she has no intention of getting of my lap and I look apologetically at Conri and Evander. “Orion, I will tell you why I asked that question, but I need one more answer from you. Did Maggie ever see one of your parents?”

I tell her she found me not far from my Mother, but she had died from the injuries she had sustained and a fresh load of tears start streaming down her cheeks.

Umayza

“My parents were fated Mates, but my Grandparents didn’t approve. We all know why they didn’t approve, but my parents ran away together and for a year they were able to avoid the rest of my family. I don’t have to tell you that they caught up with my parents, but I need you to hear what happened after they ran into Calliope.

Mom was near her due date and one of Calliope’s men was able to injure her before she could end him.” I tell him how Dad hid Mom and sent everyone on a wild goose chase. “Shortly after he left, Mom informed him she went into labor and a while after that she informed him I was born. That she loved him and to take care of me, before she put a block up.

Hours later Dad felt the Mate-bond break as Mom died, Dad found me in the cave and the rest you probably already know. What never made sense to me was why Mom left and it wasn’t until Conri answered the question why Yade’s color was a surprise to them that I got an answer.

Only twins and triplets are known to have a silvery color, just like Jasper and Yade. Mom left to keep both of us safe, but she never got the chance to inform Dad.” I whisper by the end of my story. “You also have Mom’s hair and eye color.”

“Fuck, I am related to her too.” Orion mutters and I can’t help myself as I burst into laughter. “Jeez, is that all you took from my story.” I say as I slap him on his shoulder and soon we are all laughing our asses off. I fall asleep in my Brother’s arms with a smile on my face.

I slowly open my eyes as the sun shines into my eyes and I find myself still on Orion’s lap with Evander and Conri right next to us. I have a baby Brother and he looks like Mom and Dad, I can’t wait to meet Jasper. My mind is a tumble of thoughts and Yade laughs as I keep repeating over and over again that I have a baby Brother.

“Your head running wild too, Sis.” I hear near my ear and I sit up straight to look at my baby Brother with a huge smile on my face. “Yes and Yade seems to think it is funny, that is until she gets sick of me constantly saying I have a baby Brother.”

“Yade, you probably are not aware of it, but you have a block up. Jasper has been trying to talk to you for hours, but he can’t push it down.” Orion says as he looks into my eyes and I see Yade’s eyes widen at his words. I ask him if he can help Yade figure out how to lower it, but he doesn’t have a clue either.

A hand on my cheek makes me turn to my left and Conri looks at me with a smile on his face, “Yade, normally this would have grown over time and you would have been able to communicate with Jasper within a few hours after showing yourselves for the first time.

I need you to concentrate on Jasper, try to reach out to him and I have no doubt that that block will fall.” Conri says and I can feel her retreating a bit. Suddenly it feels as if there is a second presence in my head and by the look on Orion’s face he feels it too.

For a moment I am able to see Jasper and then he is gone again, but Yade is so happy. “I can communicate with our baby Brother.” She yells in my head and even though I know it isn’t helping I put my hands on my ears. I see Orion doing the same and we both burst out in laughter.

“Your Wolves will get the hang of it, at first it will be a bit strange for them and for the both of you of course.” Evander explains and I ask him if it is normal that I caught a glimpse of Jasper, but it looks like Orion and I have a unique bond.

Orion grabs his phone when we hear a ding and he looks at it before he tells us Calliope just left Pack grounds. Captain Armand tells us we will stay indoors for the day as he wants Orion and I to get used to one and other, “That especially goes for your Wolves, it will be easier once they have figured out how their communication works.”

I start looking around frantically as it suddenly sinks in and I am not sure how to do this. “What is it, little One?” Evander asks and I tell him I am looking for my phone. Alexia pulls in from between the couch cushions and hands it to me with a smile on her face.

“How am I going to do this? How can I explain this? Will he believe me? What if he thinks I am crazy?” I ramble as I try to find my Father’s number on my phone. Orion puts his hand over my phone as he says, “Calm down, Sis. You are making me dizzy. What are you talking about?”

I pull my hand from under his hand to show him the contact on my screen and his face pales as he reads the word Dad. “He deserves to know, Orion. He needs to know, he has asked himself so often why Mom left the cave. He needs to know, Orion.” I say.
