Chapter 1046: Shield in the sky

“Stop them!”

Xia Lei held her blades and stood in the middle of the guards. She looked at the Feather Warrior Squad that was attacking her side, breaking away to charge toward the city. She guessed what had happened and obviously wanted to stop them.

Guang Yao’s squad was at the back of the group. They raised their guns and fired at these cavaliers.

If you talked about gun skills, Guang Yao’s squad was much better than any other Cloud Peak squad. The guns and ammo produced by the new production line were mostly provided to them. Ye Zhongming even gave them half of the level bullets that he crafted. The others were split among the other squads.

Although Feather Warrior Squad was attacking their area, Cloud Peak still had excess strength. These cavaliers also didn’t descend low enough. Xia Lei and Guang Yao wanted bigger wins and were waiting for a suitable opportunity.

But now that they were flying into the city, they definitely couldn’t let them succeed.

Shots were fired, and bullets sliced through the sky, giving out the familiar smell of gunpowder. The grey guns with grey bullets formed a firepower net that caused those cavaliers to fall out of the sky.

This forced the cavaliers who had dove down to regain their height. They used their spears to fight back, slowing their charge.

“We must charge through!”

Zai Li was in silver armor, and he held a silver spear. He rode his purple eagle and led his guards. He was above the Feather Warrior Squad, which helped to increase their morale.

“We must kill that person who used the large-scale healing technique!”

He gave a firm order, but his eyes were in shock.

Why did the outsiders have such pure light energy? That should be something only the Saint Father and Saintess had.

Along with his orders, the guards took out a 30 cm tall, 50 cm diameter metal pillar that hung before their mounts. They tossed them toward Cloud Peak’s defense line, especially Guang Yao’s battle squad.

When they descended, those pillars gave an ear-piercing buzz. After a few seconds, they gave out cracking sounds, and their shapes changed. They turned from a cylinder to a square metal board.

This change shocked those from Earth. This was a nicely designed mechanism.

The metal boards started to spin and they swung some 'rope' made of demon monster tendon out from some holes. One end of the rope was stuck to the board while the other floated in the sky. Once they touched another metal board, they would stick together and firmly with each other.

Just like that, the cylinders turned into boards that connected to form a metal net. As they flew, they got closer to each other. The ropes stuck together and formed a shield.

This stunned the people below.

That worked?

The appearance of the two metal boards suppressed Cloud Peak's firepower. The bullets hit the boards and gave out metallic clangs, but they lost the terrifying killing effect from before.

After the bullet rain, the Feather Warrior Squad was down to half its number. They used the board to cover them and charge. Although Guang Yao's squad continued to strike, which caused some at their tail to fall, over 700 of them flew out of range and headed toward Park Xiuying.

"Sister Lei?" Many looked at Xia Lei. Their intentions were obvious: They were asking if they should assist Teacher Park.

But she shook her head.

If Saint Light Hall could kill Cloud Peak's most core member with just a few hundred air cavaliers, they were overthinking.

Her gaze looked at the metal board above Cloud Peak's camp. It was landing and was about to press onto the walls.

.....

Park Xiuying's face was ashen white after she used Sunset Saint Light.

Too many were on the walls, and the mental energy consumed to mark everyone exceeded her expectations.

She drank a mental energy recovery potion and felt slightly better.

Her mental energy was quickly recovering. She had the passive recovery speed from the soul technique and this potion, which was as valuable as a four-star potion. Ordinarily, she was reluctant to drink it, but this situation was special, and she had to ensure that she had enough mental energy.

Sunset Saint Light was not only useful to the injured, but it could also increase the healing ability of warriors who weren't injured. This large-scale mark and recovery skill pretty much meant that each position had one one-thousand-man reserve squad.

More importantly, it helped to improve morale.

Park Xiuying did what she could do and she couldn't do more. But she believed that Ye Zhongming could solve everything.

But the moment she turned, she turned back. She saw the group of air cavaliers rushing over aggressively.

She wasn't surprised and only sighed. She pushed her spectacles before turning. She walked calmly and nodded toward the people before her.

Shengyuan brushed past her.

For this battle, Shengyuan, who was in charge of the two labs, was moved to guard Park Xiuying.

Hundreds of Feather Warrior Squad warriors flew close. Even if a large portion was killed by Guang Yao's squad, those who charged still gave a terrifying aura.

A thousand protector squad warriors were beside Shengyuan. They were all very muscular, and they held a green shield. Apart from Xia Bai's squad, they were the only squad in which each member had a green piece of equipment.

"Rise!"

Shengyuan shouted, and the warriors around formed a four-layer defense line. At the same time, they raised their shields and faced the cavaliers diving down. They started to retreat in an orderly manner; their speed was the same as Park Xiuying's walking speed. They followed Park Xiuying while Shengyuan was left alone at the front.

As the squad leader, he also held a shield, but his shield was blue. This was one that Ye Zhongming specially crafted for him after many failed attempts.

He raised his giant shield and looked at the cavaliers approaching. He gave a loud roar, and his body enlarged. The leather armor, which was different from the metal armor the other Cloud Peak warriors wore, started to expand. Some fur grew from his determined face, and even his head shape changed.

Shengyuan activated his intermediate Mountain Roar Bloodline, becoming a three-meter tall, small-sized giant beast!

Chapter 1047: Who says a shield can't kill

This bloodline from the Ocean King Wheel has belonged to Shengyuan since the start.

As a continuous bloodline, the Intermediate Mountain Roar could greatly increase his stats, especially strength, defense, and regeneration. The extent of the increase was shocking.

For a defense user, this was the most suitable bloodline.

In the mutated lifeform siege, Shengyuan was the top protector, and he was at the front most of the time. However, his injuries were less severe than others. Moreover, his recovery was surprisingly quick, and he fully recovered in two days.

After activating the bloodline, Shengyuan's body quality was comparable to that of Ye Zhongming.

Giant Shielder, along with Intermediate Mountain Roar, was a perfect match.

With the bloodline activation, Shengyuan raised his shield, and a row of orderly shield shadows appeared before him. Not only did he protect Park Xiuying, but he even protected half of the temporary hospital.

Feather Warrior Squad's cavaliers tossed their spears and then the fist-sized metal pieces hanging on the spirit eagles' bodies. Using the height and momentum, the metal pieces were as much of a threat as the other weapons.

Hitting sounds continued. When they hit Shengyuan's shield shadows, these attacks made giant sounds, but none could break through the defenses.

At the same time, hundreds of Cloud Peak soldiers appeared beside Shengyuan. They aimed their crystal weapons at the air cavaliers who were focusing on Shengyuan. Dozens of enemies fell from the spirit eagles.

The Feather Warrior Squad's formation started to scatter. They split into groups of two hundred to charge at Cloud Peak's ranged squad.

"Others, cross. Leave this beast to me!"

As the leader of this squad, Zhong Ao gave his order. He wanted to fight Shengyuan by himself and let his other subordinates attack that strong healer.

The air cavaliers who were on the way raised their height and crossed Shengyuan's shield shadows to charge at Park Xiuying, who was at the back.

Shengyuan stood there and didn't move. It wasn't that he didn't want to but because his bloodline had a weakness. It wasn't good at quick movement.

He could dash, but his speed would slow, and he wouldn't be able to catch up to the air cavaliers.

Moreover, the person who charged toward Shengyuan obviously wanted to keep him here. If he didn't break free from him or kill him, Shengyuan wouldn't have a chance to support the others.

Zhong Ao rode his mount and placed his spear on the neck of the spirit eagle. They dove down. The spear's tip lit up and grew brighter. The spirit eagle gave out a high cry, and the spear smashed into Shengyuan's shield.

Both sides clashed, and there were low banging sounds. An energy wave spread in all directions and blew dust up.

The shield shadow disappeared in this clash. Zhong Ao's spear also turned into a U-shape and was totally destroyed.

Zhong Ao tossed the spear aside and took two swords from the sides of the mount. The spirit eagle used the mobility when it was forced back to circle and charge back with its Master. The two swords sliced toward Shengyuan, who took two steps back to stabilize.

The Feather Warrior Squad's captain saw clearly that this person with a shield didn't have a weapon. That meant that he could attack relentlessly.

His swords hit the shields, and they gave off loud sounds. Shengyuan stepped back, and Zhong Ao surged from the sky to slice down.

Once... Twice... Three times... Five...

This captain circled Shengyuan to slice. He was confident in his swords, which the Saint Father had given him. Even if they weren't as good as the blue shield, they wouldn't be too weak. With his battle skills, Zhong Ao even felt like he could break the shield.

But after a dozen tries, both sides were on the same level. That guy stood there and blocked with his shield. He didn't even bother to look. Although he didn't fight back, he showed no weaknesses either.

Both sides were six-star evolved, but no one could do anything to each other.

Zhong Ao looked around and noticed his men battling these outsiders with beautiful armor. But his men didn't have any advantage. Because of the weapons that were soft but could cause terrifying damage, their losses were increasing—much less talk about killing that person who used the saint light technique.

Zhong Ao was anxious. He didn't know what the situation was like on the walls. They were alone in the enemy territory. The more time they spent here, the higher the chance the enemy reinforcements could come. If they were surrounded, their knowing how to fly was useless.

When he thought about all that, he decided to gamble.

He controlled the spirit eagle to circle before it dove like the past dozen times. But the mount didn't close its mouth. The moment the swords hit the shield, it gave out another cry.

This was the eagle's special attack method. Apart from its sharp beak and claws, this cry could affect the enemy's mind and cause them to be distracted.

To an evolved, this state wouldn't last for long, but this short time was enough to decide the battle's outcome.

Of course, not all spirit eagles knew this skill; only the captain-level mounts could.

When Zhong Ao came into contact, he felt the resistance reduce and knew that his move had succeeded. The swords slashed the shield, and the eagle flapped to regain height. After he passed the giant shield, the new attack would be launched. His swords would slice that person's head.

Everything succeeded... Except for the final move.

The swords slashed past the shields, but they missed.

Zhong Ao looked down and saw that three-meter-tall monster squatting there. Apart from his hands holding the shield handle, he was in a ball.

Zhong Ao saw the weird smile on the beast's face.

The shield knocked upward and hit the eagle's stomach. The huge power caused it to cry, and its eyes started to bleed. The eagle flapped its wings to fly upward.

Zhong Ao panicked and also instinctively told the spirit eagle to fly higher.

But Shengyuan wouldn't let him go. He shouted and grabbed the shield with his hands. He spun a few rounds on the spot and tossed the shield like a shotput, which hit the unstable eagle.

This demon monster couldn't take such a heavy hit and fell from the sky. Zhong Ao tried to control his body and managed to land on the ground. This height wasn't much for an evolved at his level.

But in the next second, he felt a giant figure dive toward him and pounce on him. A pair of strong hands grabbed his neck and sunk into his flesh before pulling him backward.

Half of Zhong Ao's neck with his throat bone left his body.

Even in death, he didn't understand how this monster could defeat him.

Chapter 1048: White elephant that changed the situation

Park Xiuying walked into the tent. The curtains made the battle sound softer. She knew that many people were fighting for her and dying.

She wasn't willing to see that, but there was nothing she could do.

Teacher Park wasn't that righteous and woke person who only knew about fairness and justice. She was a warrior with a special status.

She felt that killing to stop killing was already the most gentle evaluation of this world.

"Sister Xiuying!"

Ya Tian saw Park Xiiuying enter and called sweetly. She sat with Ya Ni. The silver zombie sister would only maintain silence like this in a world covered in gore.

She passed a candy to Park Xiuying. This was how she expressed friendliness to people. Although this lady had revived to a certain extent, she was different from other people. She was able to have this level of intelligence purely because of the equipment.

Park Xiuying shook her head and touched Ya Ni's head. She was like the other Cloud Peak members who treated Ya Ni as a kid and not a puppet.

The twins were naturally here because Ye Zhongming placed them there. They were to protect Park Xiuying and the other special job users.

"I need some time to recover some mental energy."

Although she used the mental energy recovery potion, unless it recovered a certain percentage, no potion could instantly heal both Ye Zhongming and Park Xiuying. After the battle outside ended, there would be many people to heal. Park Xiuying was going to heal them herself.

After all, they were fighting for her, and she felt she had the duty to do so.

So, she had to recover more mental energy to heal more of them.

"This place is bustling."

Before Park Xiuying could sit to rest, she heard a confident voice from outside the tent. A finger drew a huge hole, and a 30-year-old guy entered.

Sorry for disturbing!”

The guy waved and seemed very polite.

But after seeing this guy, whether Park Xiuying or the twins, they stood together and looked at him warily.

As a silver zombie, Ya Ni, sensitive to scents, even gave a beast-like growl.

This scent was foreign to her, and his strength threatened her.

The guy glanced at the twins, and his eyes lit up, but he quickly looked away. When he looked at Park Xiuying, his eyes were filled with threat.

“Sometimes luck is everything.”

The guy looked around and listened to the commotion outside before smiling and saying.

Park Xiuying wanted to run out but felt like if the twins and her moved, this person would attack them.

As her mental energy was strong and she was often with Xia Bai, she knew the energy range of a level seven evolved.

This person exceeded that range.

Which meant that he was a level-eight evolved.

There were just so few level-eight experts in the Alliance Army. Park Xiuying recognized them all, but that didn't include this person.

So his identity was obvious.

"I wanted to find Ling Kun, but I walked around and couldn't find him." It was as if he was saying a random thing. But his attitude put the three of them under huge pressure.

This person had actually attacked the moment he entered, but his method was different. He gave off an aura to suppress them, and he was crushing them mentally.

He could kill them with one strike when this pressure reached a breaking point.

“But fortunately, I bumped into you, which is not bad. To the Saint Father, Saintess, and three old fellows, you are probably more valuable than Ling Kun.”

The guy stepped forward, and the pressure the three felt increased in folds.

“Since that is the case, then die.”

The guy raised his hand, and an eye was at the center of his palm. When he faced the three of them, the eye opened. Park Xiuying and the twins immediately felt like their bodies were trapped.

The ground beneath his feet started to roll, and a few seconds later, ten demon monsters appeared.

The level six crystals on their heads were obvious. Although they weren't big, they had a red shell. Their diamond-shaped heads had a mouthful of sharp teeth. The sides of their heads had three pairs of meter-long blade-like pincers!

They pounced the moment they appeared. The sharp bone blades waved around their heads. Looking at the situation, they would pounce toward them and rip them into pieces.

The guy had a victorious smile. The three of them were much easier to deal with than Ling Kun.

He whistled and ordered his ten subordinates to end this fight.

But a lifeform interrupted all this.

Three white elephant noses stretched in, and then the head pushed the curtain open. Where the nose and head connected, there was a colorful... Leather ball.

When it saw the situation, its nose went straight, and the ball fell to the ground. It bounced a few times before rolling to that guy's feet.

There was total silence.

The dozen demon monsters that were ready to attack went quiet. They leaned backward, and their small eyes were filled with wariness.

That guy pouted. The whistling stopped, and he looked like someone whose fun was spoiled.

He didn't expect a level-eight demon monster to appear.

He didn't understand how this demon monster got close without him noticing.

Did...

He thought of one possibility, and he retreated.

He felt like this was a trap prepared for the Saint Light Hall experts who entered the city—the trap was to kill them!

It was okay if he didn't move, as the three-nosed elephant was a little dumb and didn't understand the situation. It thought that these people wanted to play with Park Xiuying.

But the moment he ran, it knew that he was an enemy.

It gave out a loud cry and raised its nose upward to flick the tent. The furious elephant stretched its nose toward the fleeing guy.

Chapter 1049: Three women one elephant

This guy was a level-eight expert, and his speed was quick. After recognizing that this was a trap, he was decisive to escape.

In a few blinks, he was far away.

But in the next second, that guy felt something shocking.

He realized that he was back in the tent.

Of course, the tent had collapsed beneath him.

There was the whooshing sound of the wind. He didn't even think and raised his left arm.

His body stumbled a few steps back, and there was intense pain in his left shoulder and neck.

It was as if a mountain had smashed him, and his arm was broken.

That wasn't over. A cold wind struck from behind, and was about to touch his body. This time, it was his back.

As expected from a level-eight expert. At the crucial moment, he rolled to the ground and barely dodged.

With a thought, the ten demon monsters charged. He used this chance to get to his feet and turn around.

The three-nosed elephant's teleportation skill naturally got the guy back to the spot. What hit him was Ya Tian's doll.

As for the thing that aimed at his back, it was Ya Ni's fist.

Park Xiuying was on the three-nosed elephant. She raised her staff and looked at him coldly.

She knew this expert was fleeing, but the three-nosed elephant returned it. This person would quickly realize it was not a trap and the elephant was not known for its combat strength. Then, they would have to fight.

Since they couldn't flee, fighting was the only option. Fortunately, she had the twins. Their strength was not as simple as two level-six evolved.

The guy realized that something was wrong. He looked around. Although some people appeared due to the commotion, their levels weren't high. Most were injured and couldn't threaten him.

This wasn't a trap!

"That scared me." He slapped his chest and looked afraid, "This level eight demon monster doesn't seem normal."

As a level-eight person, he sensed what was wrong with the elephant.

"Only level-seven people can threaten me or stop me from killing you. The closest level-seven expert would take a few dozen breaths to get here. That is enough time for me to kill you."

The guy was very confident. Park Xiuying also realized that this person should have some mental issues or, rather, a special kink.

Of course, she had to admit he had the right to talk nonsense while fighting.

After saying all that, he stopped talking and raised the arm with the eye.

The eye was opened, and it covered the four lifeforms.

Yi?

The guy realized that his technique had failed.

Looking at their calm faces, he knew they were ready for his ability.

But he didn't understand how they did it. Did they have some equipment? If so, why didn't they use it previously?

Park Xiuying and the others ate a simple candy.

The candy apron produced five types of candies, and one of them could give them an hour of immunity from debuffs.

Although they tested it and found that it was not absolute immunity, it depended on the enemy's level, job level, skill strength, mental energy amount, etc. But at least until now, apart from special wheels, no one could break the candy's defense.

They also ate the other four types of candies.

The strength candy increased strength, the toughness candy increased defense, the speed candy increased agility, and the annoyed candy increased overall combat strength. The simple candy's debuff immunity ensured that the three of them were at their peak.

Park Xiuying raised her staff, and four Diamond Shields appeared beside everyone.

The ten level six demon monsters pounced. Their sharp blades sliced toward the twins that stood before the elephant.

What this guy didn't notice previously was that one of the eyes of this girl that he didn't find a threat had turned red. Cloud Peak people would know that it was because she was angry.

The redder her eyes, the more angry she was. She was berserk now.

Before the demon monsters pounced, she raised the doll.

The beautiful doll she used to smash people opened its mouth and sang.

Sisi Sings!

It was a soundwave attack that would mess up one's mind.

Both the guy and the ten demon monsters paused when they heard the voice.

Ya Tian retracted the doll and screamed. The doll started to grow bigger and bigger.

A female cavalier in white armor with golden patterns rode a winged unicorn that appeared on the battlefield.

On the one hand, was a triangular-shaped metal shield; on the other was a two-meter spear. On her back was a bow with golden feathers. On the side of the unicorn was also a white jade-like staff!

This was the princess cavalier that would only appear when she was furious!

The unicorn charged forward when it appeared, hitting the demon monster affected by the soundwave. The demon monster was knocked back, and a hole appeared on its body. Blood splattered before it even landed on the ground.

The cavalier swept with her spear, and numerous other demon monsters were either sent flying backward or flipped on the spot.

The cavalier took over the ascendancy the moment she appeared.

As Ya Tian's evolution level increased, the princess cavalier grew much stronger.

That wasn't it. After the cavalier appeared, Ya Tian's white fingers pointed at the Saint Light Hall guy.

"You bully Sister Xiuying; I hate you."

Her body started to turn into stone. Companion's Devotion. Ya Tian would turn into stone, and Ya Ni would obtain a 20% strength buff!

The silver zombie roared and charged at the guy.

Even if the level eight Saint Light Hall expert was in danger, he was still impressed. These outsiders' equipment was too special and magical.

He retracted his hand with the eye and raised the other.

At the same time, Park Xiuying, who was on the three-nosed elephant's back, raised her hand, and the staff shot out some light.

In the next moment, that light arrived above the guy's head. In his shocked gaze, it formed a light prison that covered him.

Chapter 1050: Pulsator Mansion

The sudden appearance of the light prison caused this level-eight expert to hesitate, and he could not break free.

He calculated it. If he tried to dodge, his body might touch the barrier, which was dangerous before he understood what this thing was.

Moreover, he was about to use his skill, and moving would break his channel.

He was very confident in his attack.

There was still an eye on this palm, but the eye was red like Ya Tian's.

The guy glanced at the barrier that covered himself and the cavalier silver zombie charging at the back. He had a look of disdain on his face. The red eye lit up, and a thick red energy pillar charged forward.

This red light lit up half the mountain.

Park Xiuying spat out a mouthful of blood.

She fell from the three-nosed elephant's body and fainted.

When she used the barrier, she knew that everything ended. There were two outcomes. Her side didn't kill that person, and she died. The other was that the guy died, and she was safe even if she fainted.

The outcome was the latter.

The light prison had a weird name: Pulsator Mansion.

She got this skill when her job was upgraded to Light Saintess.

She was a little disappointed as she hoped to gain healing skills like Sunset Saint Light. Because of how strong it was, her anticipation was really high. So naturally, you could tell how disappointed she was when she learned it was a trapping skill.

But Ye Zhongming's words made her feel much better. He said that Light Trainee already wasn't a pure healing job. It was a support job, or rather, a part of the battle.

Such a job wouldn't have only healing skills. If that were the case, it wouldn't have Diamond Shield in the first place.

At the same time, Park Xiuying realized this ability was very suitable for her.

It was an ability that trapped the target. It was simple but when the target made changes, it was very annoying.

You needed mental energy to support the barrier, but when the barrier wasn't being attacked, the mental energy wasn't much. At least, it wasn't much to her.

Once the barrier was attacked, the user's mental energy would be consumed based on the strength of the attack.

It was still mental energy and on this point, she was only weaker than Ye Zhongming.

Thus, this skill turned into a powerful control skill.

Only Ye Zhongming and Xia Bai, in her badly injured state, could probably break the barrier quickly.

Park Xiuying trapped the guy inside and used her mental energy to block his strong attacks.

Although she didn't manage to hold on and use up all her mental energy, she set up the stage for the next attacks. She did all she could and fainted peacefully.

The level eight expert's red energy pillar hit the barrier, and both sides had an intense battle. The guy roared, and his heart was filled with unwillingness. He didn't understand how this thin barrier would hinder his strong skill.

Even in Saint Light Hall, his ability was highly ranked in terms of attack strength.

Although the time it was blocked was short, only two to three seconds, this guy felt humiliated.

Fortunately, the red energy pillar still broke the barrier. The remaining energy was enough to kill everything ahead.

But it didn't see the cavalier and that zombie when the barrier was broken. It saw the three-nosed elephant.

It stood before the barrier, and the red energy pillar hit its body when it broke.

It exploded.

Of course, the explosion wasn't the three-nosed elephant but its clone.

At Cloud Peak, this clone nearly killed Ye Zhongming, who wore blue armor and Black Soil Armor with a Black Halo Shield. That showed you how strong it was.

This guy might be a level higher than Ye Zhongming, but his defense was not as good—at least, his equipment wasn't.

Although he was slightly far from the explosion, it was enough to deal a heavy blow.

The explosion shook the ground, causing the injured and support forces rushing over to help to lose their footing. The energy wave spread in all directions, and some injured members fell to the ground.

The Saint Light Hall guy felt like he flew into the air from the explosion.

Right, he wasn't dead, but he was badly injured.

Although the three-nosed elephant's intellect was affected, it was still strong. Although it wasn't an attack-type lifeform, it was still level eight and had many ways to protect itself.

Clone explosion was one of the strongest ones.

It would naturally threaten lifeforms of the same level.

This guy had a broken arm, and many wounds appeared on his body, which blood was flowing out of. Half of his left ear was even missing.

He placed the remaining hand down and was terrified. If he didn't cover his face, he might not be alive.

How were these external lifeforms so strong?

Before he could continue to think, two figures charged at him. He had no time to react and was hit second and third.

He resisted and tried to find a way to fight back, but neither the cavalier nor the silver zombie Ya Ni was afraid of dying.

They didn't have lives to some extent.

The guy was frustrated. He wasn't a close-combat fighter, and with these two tangling with him, he couldn't use many skills. The injuries also placed him at a disadvantage.

The moment this disadvantage is formed, it will get worse. Be it the cavalier or Ya Ni, as long as they manage to hit him, his injuries will worsen, and his resistance will weaken.

Finally, he was only being hit and couldn't dodge.

As for his level six demon monsters, a few were killed by the cavalier and Ya Ni, and the rest died in the explosion.

The battle ended when Ya Ni broke his other hand, and the cavalier thrust the spear into his throat.

It only took a few dozen breaths from start to finish, but the outcome was different.

Shengyuan arrived with warriors who were covered in blood. They killed all the air cavaliers. This muscular guy was shocked when they saw the corpse and the surrounding situation.

He looked at the walls. Some auras were also disappearing, but everything indicated that victory was near.
