

ARCEUS' PIRATE JOURNEY

Chapter 2: I remember everyone

Chapter 2 I Remember Everyone

He held a long knife in his hand, and there was still blood on it. He looked a little tired, but he was very excited.

There are many people lying at his feet, and it can be seen that they are the original guards of the research institute. Arceus does not know how Abel broke free and escaped, but for him, this is a good thing.

You don't have to look for where Abel is, just take these two little guys and go.

On the way of the Lunaria clan's escape, many people chose to die with the enemy because they wanted to protect the unhatched him and the slate, and let him leave these two little guys alone. He couldn't do it.

"Shaina! I'm here to save you!"

"Abel? It's great that you're still alive..."

"Well, we can leave here soon, we are free." Abel turned on the device that bound Shaina and wanted to take her away.

"I know my body... I won't last long. Walking with you will only be a burden. It's enough to take the holy relics away. I'll leave it to you."

Unlike Abel, who still has sufficient physical strength, Shaina is also weaker at this time due to more encounters. She knows very well that she cannot fly very far with her current physical strength.

And the siren rang in their ears, and the movement of hands and shouting could be heard outside the hallway.

"The test product escaped! You guys go to Area A, you go to support Area C, and the rest come to Area B with me!"

In this case, if no one breaks, sooner or later, they will be caught up. In the past, Lunaria people have always done this.

Whenever there is an opponent who cannot be shaken, someone will always make sacrifices, but this time is different from the past.

"It's okay, Shaina, there are people outside to meet us, so let's rush out together."

Before Shaina was curious about where they came from, a group of guards rushed over.

"Don't use guns, those are precious samples! They must be captured alive!"

The manager watched Abel and Shaina and immediately made a decision. In his opinion, these guards who could be recruited at will are far less than two precious experiments.

Even though the two men were mortally threatening, he still insisted that his subordinates use non-lethal weapons.

"Abel, I leave everything to you, and I will make a way for you." Shaina clenched her fists. The Lunalia family already has a strong talent, coupled with a special growth environment, Their strength itself is not weak.

At least it is much stronger than these ordinary guards. The flames behind Shaina start to go out, and the Lunaria family can ignite flames. When the flames go out, the defense of the parties will drop, and accordingly, their speed will be reduced. will also be greatly improved.

Shaina was ready to fight back, so she didn't believe that someone would answer them. In her opinion, this was just Abel's comforting words.

But no matter what, they have to deal with the enemies in front of them first. Their sacred object is a giant egg. Even if it is a young Arceus, the egg height is two meters away. Carrying such a thing will definitely affect your skills. .

Not to mention there is a slate that is close to three meters in size. He can't leave with such a huge slate and egg at the same time. Shaina's physical strength is insufficient, so he can only give up the slate temporarily.

They are not giants. The young people are still within the scope of normal people. It is not easy to move with such heavy objects.

These people are not too strong, but they are well equipped and have a large number of people. The room limits the scale of the battle, and they will not face too many enemies at the same time.

But when they took down a group of enemies that rushed in again.

Abel noticed something was wrong, and the eyes of the guards who poured in again were not him, but his back. And from the corner of his eye, he could also feel something glowing behind him.

Then a beam of light containing terrifying power shot out from behind the two, blasting the guards at the entrance into the sky.

The terrifying light did not stop because of this. The walls of the entire research institute were all pierced. Through the traces left by the destruction of the dead light, you could even see the sea in the distance.

"The holy thing, the holy thing!...Shaina, look! The holy thing hatched!"

Looking back, Abel's tone was full of surprise, and Shaina also looked at the place where the dome originally existed. At this time, the figure of the egg had disappeared, and a creature with a special shape stood there.

There is no doubt that the attack just now came from him.

The Lunalia Clan always believed that this egg would hatch one day, and today, they finally witnessed this moment, but unfortunately the Lunalia Clan has also completely withered.

"Abel, Shaina, it's been a long time."

A slightly neutral voice appeared beside their ears, and following the source of the voice, they looked towards Arceus in front.

"You know us?"

"Of course I know, Ludo, Amelia, Avanisha, Aslan, Nadia..."

A series of names came out of Arceus's mouth, and there may be omissions, but every time he wakes up, he remembers the names of the Lunalia people he hears clearly. These are the latest batch, and they belong to Abel. elder.

These people are no strangers to Abel and the others.

"I'm sorry, the accident that happened back then made me lose most of my power, and I didn't leave this egg until today, but this will never happen again, when I get my power back, I will replace Lu The Nalia people find their justice, but they have to solve some immediate problems first."

The two slates on the other side were pulled by an unknown force, and the two original gray-white slates shone brightly again, and then shrank in size and merged into Arceus's body one after another.

Then a special energy condensed from his forehead, and the weak Shaina was also suspended in the air by the mysterious power, and the fire of life that was about to be extinguished was burned again under the input of power.

"Master Holy Beast!"

Shaina's change made both she and Abel very happy. For Abel, Shaina was his last relative. Maybe there are other clansmen somewhere in the world, but among the people he knew. , only Shaina is left.

"My name is Arceus, no need to marvel, Shaina's weakness itself has something to do with me."

It was suggested by someone that the blood of the Lunalia might catalyze the hatching of this egg, so these people took Shaina as a blood station to draw unlimitedly, because her stamina was not comparable to Abel, In their view, Abel was a more suitable experimental subject.

That's why I tried it with Shaina.

He called himself Arceus, his name was just a code name, and he took over this name after he got everything from Arceus.

"Okay, it's time for us to get out of here, there are some things to think about in the long run."

He thought that after hatching, his perception ability would improve and he would be able to find those slates scattered all over the place, but except for the two here, he could not detect the breath of any slate, and there seemed to be a strange magnetic field in this world that was interfering with his perception.

The breath of the slate can only be detected within a certain distance.

Looking at the guards who came one after another outside the door, he planned to give them another destructive death light. The two slates he absorbed were originally fire-type fireball slates and ordinary-type clearance slates. The power drawn from the Clearance Slate.

The inflexibility that was supposed to destroy the dead light disappeared from the creator, but before he could launch it, the guards seemed to be attacked from behind, and a man with a mace walked from behind. Come in.

Tall and muscular, but slightly slender, wearing a pair of tight leather pants and a pair of huge ghost horns on his head, it was Kaido when he was young.
