

Arceus 23

Chapter 23 I just let him experience what I've been through

"Master Holy Beast, Big Brother Kai, the identity of that guy has been found. It is this year's supernova, with a bounty of 200 million Baileys, and a death drama - Priert."

The easiest way to determine the identity of a pirate is to look up the navy's wanted order. Generally, there will be a booklet that records the wanted order information on the warship, which are all rewarded criminals in recent years.

This news was provided by Kaido. They were not very familiar with naval patrol ships when they boarded the ship. While Quinn was still exploring the structure, Kaido had accurately stated the location of each cabin on the ship.

The location of the guard room, the ammunition depot, and especially the kitchen, he knew very well.

As for the reason, he has been on this kind of boat several times, and he has long been familiar with the structure. This kind of boat was Kaido's favorite back then. The food was plentiful and the people were not strong. He pretended to be arrested and left when he was full. Good cafeteria.

That booklet was also seen by chance when he was arrested earlier, so he found it directly.

Priort's ability is not simple, but also superficial and domineering, not like an ordinary person, so Jhin has been looking through the wanted list, and it can be considered that he has found his target.

At this time, Quinn was at the helm outside, Shaina was making food in the galley of the ship, and Jhin and Arceus were outside the detention room, and the sound of Priert's chains when he woke up and struggled came to them. ear.

"This guy is awake, he should know a lot."

Kaido kicked open the door of the guard room, and the setting sun on the sea level shot the last rays of light into the cabin, reflecting on his face, revealing a face covered in bandages.

Kaido didn't keep his hand, and then dragged him directly to the boat. The disintegration was already the result of tenacious vitality.

"Say, where is John!"

Kaido's mace was on the floor, directly smashing a deep hole, and the flying sawdust even hit Jhin's face.

"Kaido, be careful not to damage the ship."

"Don't worry, there are as many boats as you want, and if you're a big deal, go grab a new one."

In the face of Kaido's questioning, Priart did not answer, but threatened Kaido instead.

"Bastards, you bastards! I'm a newcomer that Captain John values! You won't let you off when Captain John finds you like this! Kaido, I know you, you're just a trainee! You can't be John. Captain's opponent!"

"You don't seem to know the situation well."

Looking at Priert who was still rampant after waking up, Kaido decided to let him recognize the situation first, but just when he was about to let him experience the touch of a mace, Jhin stopped Kaido.

"Jin, what are you going to do?"

"Brother Kai, give him to me, I have a way to get him to speak."

For some reason, from Jhin's eyes, Arceus saw a different emotion, and then at his request, Kaido and Arceus left the detention room first.

The setting sun sank into the sea, and the light of the sun was silent. Quinn also dropped the anchor and stopped the boat. There was a reef area nearby, and it was easy to crash the boat at night. When he left the cab to find something to eat It was only when I noticed the screams coming from the deck.

also saw Kaido with a funny look on his face.

"This is the scream of that guy, what happened?"

"Jin is torturing him."

Kaido replied plainly, in his opinion it was nothing at all, and after a while, the voice inside changed from tragic to weak, and finally became indifferent, and Jhin also opened the door and walked out.

"Master Sacred Beast, he is willing to speak, you can ask if you want to ask, I will leave beforehand." Jin wiped the blood on his hands, then left the cabin and walked to the deck.

But before leaving, there was a hint of ferocity in his eyes as he looked at Quinn.

"Wow, is this guy Jhin a pervert, Big Brother Kai, I think you have to pay attention in the future." Quinn probed in and took a look. Even he who was used to various experiments could only describe Puli as miserable. ult.

Broken and deformed arms, scorched faces, stones pierced through shoulder blades, and bloodstains all over the place describe what happened before.

"However, this kid's technique is really good, avoiding the deadly places, it's all terrifying wounds that don't let you die." Human transformation requires familiarity with every part, so Quinn could see at a glance what Jhin had done.

"Quinn, treat him, you and Kaido ask first, and I'll come back later to see if you guys missed anything."

"What are you going to do? Lord Arceus?"

Quinn is not from Lunalia, he felt strange about the name of the holy beast, in fact, Arceus told Jhin and Shaina that they could call him by his name, but they refused it, but Quinn was different. , he originally wanted to call him Big Brother like Kaido.

But then both Shaina and Jhin would look at him dangerously, so he added the title of "sir" or "sir" to his name.

"I'll take a look at Jhin, there's something wrong with him." Anyone can do things like record a confession. It's more convenient for Kaido to ask, because he knows John's information better.

But Jin and Shaina are his closest subordinates at present, and he is more concerned about the situation of the two of them. If it weren't for the fact that their power is not complete now, and the issue of consumption must be considered, he can definitely give them better abilities, but this I can say it later.

On the deck, Jhin looked into the distance with his hands on the side of the boat, not knowing what he was thinking.

"Abel, you have something on your mind."

"I didn't, Lord Sacred Beast, you are overthinking it."

"Your mood is already written on your face. There are no outsiders here. It's not good to keep some things in your heart. Saying it out will make you feel better. If you really don't want to say it, forget it."

". " Jin fell into silence, and after a long time, he still spoke.

"Master Holy Beast, you know, I won't torture you at all."

"Then you just now?"

"I just repeated on him what those people in the research institute had done to me." Broken bones to test the speed of the body's recovery, emptying the blood to test the speed of blood regeneration, and injecting unknown drugs to test the effect and the body's poison resistance.

Tolerance to harsh environments such as cold, heat, lack of water, etc. These are all things that Jhin experienced in the research institute.

Some words were originally buried in his heart, and he would only think silently by himself, but when the topic was brought up, it would never stop. For Jhin at this time, Arceus was not only the holy man worshipped by the Lunaria tribe. Things, or an elder who can tell his heart.

These words were similar to complaints, and he also felt that it was inappropriate to tell the holy beast about such things, but above the sea, he could no longer find any familiar elders.
