

Arceus 231

Chapter 231 The Beast Pokémon Center is open for business

The Flower Therapy Ring will stick sticky vines sticking out of the hair-like thing on the head, grab it in the hand, and decorate the vine with the plucked flowers.

Its vines are rich in nutrients, and the flowers that decorate them will be activated and bloom very brightly.

It will often carry these flowers after picking flowers, and it will feel uneasy without flowers.

The floral wreaths that have just been created do not have flowers, which is why they are disturbed.

These revitalized flowers are why they act as medical assistants, and the scent of the petals heals others.

If you soak the flowers attached to the vines in the bathtub, it will have a soothing effect when you take a bath.

Due to the different preferences of each flower therapy ring, they will pick different flowers, so the fragrance is also different.

Those pirates who brought flower pots have harvested a wreath, which is also the habit of flower therapy wreaths, and will give each other a wreath made of picked flowers.

"Dozens of doctors plus them, plus the local nurses, the hospital should be able to operate, take them there."

"Understood, Lord Sacred Beast, but do you want to name the hospital?"

"Name? Just call it the Beast Pokémon Center."

Originally, the object of treatment of this institution is to face both Pokemon and civilians in Wano Kingdom, and the role of the Pokemon Center is not only to treat Pokemon.

In the world of Pokémon, registered trainers can get board and lodging, and personal medical problems can be solved at the Pokémon Center, which is already responsible for some hospital responsibilities.

Although the name plus the beasts will give people the feeling of a veterinary hospital, it doesn't really matter.

The preparations for the Hakuba District Hospital have ended. Kojiro bought a large piece of vacant land and nearby houses. Although it will take a lot of time to build the hospital, the accommodation problem has been resolved.

And in the outer sea of Wano, a ship flying the flag of the beasts also approached here.

"Everyone, you are tired from the journey, and we will soon reach our destination. Please pack your luggage."

A female pirate shouted to the people on the ship, this is the ship to pick up the doctors, Kaido directly pulled the Beastmaster out, this main ship can meet the requirements of this operation in terms of deterrence and tonnage. .

Although there were only a few dozen doctors, their family members were also there.

The sea transportation is not convenient, and Wano country has no fixed route. It is impossible for the Beast Pirates to open up a special route for a few people to go home, let alone these people from various islands in the territory. One route is simply not enough.

So in the end, we moved them directly, and in addition to the doctor himself, family members also took over.

Some doctors also brought their assistants and familiar nurses, and they also had family members. There were seven or eight hundred people in total.

In addition to people, there are also some large medical equipment. Although the military industry of Wano country is very good, their manufacturing industry is obviously crooked, and such equipment can only be shipped back from abroad.

If you send a small boat, you may not be able to load them all. Although the sailing distance is not short, no one complains under the temptation of high salary.

also lived in the territory of the beasts, and changing an island would have little effect on them.

The route they sailed was the hinterland of the beast territory, so there was no danger. The group reached Wano country smoothly, and everyone was assigned their own house, which was also one of the conditions for their migration.

"This is where you work from now on, and these are your assistants who can help you treat your patients."

Their family members were cleaning up the house, and the doctors came to the temporary work place, and also saw auspicious eggs, flower therapy rings and almost dolls.

After spending time with Pokémon, you can understand what they mean, but these new doctors obviously can't.

But now is the running-in stage, and the running-in is the cooperation between these doctors and Pokémon.

Hearing that his assistants were these strange creatures, many doctors had strange expressions, and finally the oldest doctor came out.

"Everyone, take the liberty to ask, how can these creatures help us? Amuse the children?"

"It's okay, you can understand when you see them for the first time, they are almost dolls, you come to prove it.

But you still need to pay attention to what you say, they can understand human words. "

It was Zeraora who brought them here, just to facilitate communication, because some of the Pokémon's expressions were not very happy because of the doctor's questioning.

"Chabu~Chabu Chabu!" An almost doll put his ear on his chest and said his diagnosis.

"It says you have a poor heart rate, have chronic heart disease, have a stent, and are not in a good mood right now."

Zeraora translated almost the baby's words for him, which filled the old doctor's face with shock.

"That. Can you try it for me?" A nurse next to her also came over to see this. Of course, the doll didn't mind and gave her a diagnosis directly.

"Chabu!"

"It says you are in good health, but pregnant and the fetus is almost four weeks old." NovELuS&.cOm

The nurse counted the dates with her fingers, and then touched her lower abdomen in shock.

She's not sure if she's pregnant, but it was the day she had **** with her husband recently, and she was transferred to Wano country on a ship. There was no such thing on the ship.

"Well, the ability has also been proved, this is almost the ability of a doll, and the three Pokémon of them have different abilities.

Before the hospital is built, all you have to do is to get along with them, they communicate well, and you can understand them over time. "

After proving the ability of almost dolls, Zeraora left here, and the rest is left to them. As for the safety of Pokémon

It's not that Zeraora looks down on them, these doctors are really not good enough for auspicious eggs and almost dolls.

But after what happened today, the word Pokémon also entered the minds of these doctors, and almost the dolls used their ears to do what they had to rely on precision instruments to do.

And almost dolls, auspicious eggs, and flower therapy rings are all Pokémon that are close to humans. Although those doctors were suspicious of them at first, they didn't care about it.

And the doctors also saw their abilities, and after accepting the concept of Pokémon, they gradually became familiar with each other.

At the same time, the construction team in the open space next to it is also busy, but it is not the craftsmen of Wano Kingdom, but the construction team of the Beast Pirates. They are building this hospital according to the standard of building fortifications.

There are many craftsmen in Wano. Although they are better at houses with wooden structures, they can do bricks and steel as well as steel. However, other factors were also taken into account when the hospital was built, so they arranged for their own people to build it.

is also mainly for speed. This construction team was originally located on a mechanical island. All kinds of large-scale equipment are readily available, which is much faster than pure human power.

The hospital is under construction, and the Kentaro family in the Guri area are also very excited.

"Kentaro, run slower!"

"Come on Grandpa, Moo is going to have a baby!"

The moo in his mouth is the big milk tank he usually milks. A few years later, he has become a half-old boy, and he has become familiar with the big milk tank. Most of the people living in Taoyuan Farm are This way.

Big Milk Tank has no males, and Kentaro has no females, so these two bovine Pokémon can mate, and the race of the offspring is a 50% random probability.

The male is Kentaro, and the female is the big milk tank.

It is easy to tell whether a large milk tank is pregnant or not. The milk of the large milk tank during pregnancy and lactation will taste better. If the milk of a large milk tank suddenly tastes better, it means that it is pregnant.

The big milk tank is different from ordinary cows and can express himself, so Kentaro will know that it is about to give birth.

For farmers, the pregnancy of a cow is a big event, and both farming and dairy cows are worthy of attention.

"Don't worry about Kentaro, it's not very dangerous for a cow to give birth to a calf, and there is no one who is better at delivering cows than me in the entire Jiuli. Moo will be fine."

When he arrived at the grassland where he usually grazes, he strengthened his opinion even more, believing that the big milk tank would soon be produced smoothly, but what happened next completely shattered his three views.

Because the big milk tank produces not a calf, but an egg.

"Grandpa, didn't you say that cows give birth directly to calves?"

"Yeah"

"But Moo gave birth to an egg."

"Yeah"

"So cows are actually hatched from eggs?"

"That's right! This cow is different. By the way, it's not an ordinary cow, so it's normal to be different. Well, it must be like this."

The fact that cows can lay eggs gave him a lot of blows, and the concept formed over the decades was directly broken.

This is the most basic way of reproduction for Pokémon, oviparous, but eggs are big and small.

The eggs of the carp king will be much smaller, after all, the offspring will also be judged according to their body size.

However, Wagyu cattle bred by Kentaro and ordinary cattle are normal viviparous, and only pure Pokémon are oviparous.

Although Kentaro's grandfather claimed to have taken care of countless calves, he really never took care of the eggs laid by cows, and the big milk jar didn't seem to be meant to hatch eggs, which made them wonder what to do for a while.

The pirates of the beasts happened to pass by, and after seeing the egg, they took it to the Pokémon Center. Geely Egg is still very good at this kind of thing.

The time of the New Year celebration has come to 1500. On the day of the beginning of the year, Roger's posthumous son Ace was born, but because the pregnancy was too long, Lu Jiu died directly after giving birth.

After all, humans are one of the few creatures who were born early to protect their mothers, and Ace was also taken away by Garp and then handed over to the bandit Dadan in his hometown to raise him.

The people of the Beast Pirates are also continuing their work after recuperation and adjustment, searching for slates and materials for making pure gold that may exist on Taikoo Island.

Most of the cadres can already be on their own, and even Olga has the ability to lead the team. Although she is running away, fleeing under the pursuit of Sakaski and Crane also shows her ability.

According to some sources, Olga's Shadow Fox appeared on an ancient island in the West Sea. It is easier to go to the West Sea and the North Sea from the New World, as long as you cross the windless belt, you can reach there directly.

Crossing the windless belt is a very dangerous thing, if you don't have enough strength, you are gambling your life.

However, this matter is not difficult for the Beast Pirates. The sea kings can be avoided by inlaying the sea floor stone in the bottom of the ship. This matter was told to Kaido by Arceus long ago.

And the country of Wano has a large vein of sea tower stones, and the Beast Pirates who occupy the country of Wano have no shortage of sea tower stones, so the bottom of the cadres' ships has long been inlaid with sea tower stones. It's very simple for the pirates.

The territory of the beasts in the new world has been explored, and now the new exploration direction is here.

Olga's ship also serves as the archaeological team of the Beast Pirates. She and Assie are two living ancient people, and they must be most familiar with their knowledge of ancient times.

And Asie himself is a scumbag who can't even be saved by Kaido. His current strength is at most stronger than the miscellaneous soldiers, so the matter was handed over to Olga.

Exploring the ruins is also a dangerous activity. Not only is it easy to encounter dangers on the road, but the poisonous beasts on the island and the organs in the ruins are a big problem.

After crossing the windless zone, it is no longer necessary to record the pointer. You can reach your destination by relying on the chart. After a period of sailing, they reached the island and began to explore.

There were no major troubles along the way. In the new world, the pirate flag of the beasts saved them a lot of unnecessary battles. After reaching the West Sea, she ordered her men to take off the pirate flag and put on an ordinary sail. .

The environment of the four seas is much more stable than the great route, and there are very few people with knowledge, even if they fly the flag, they may not recognize it.NOveIUsb.cOm

Hanging the pirate flag everywhere will only cause trouble for herself. In order to prevent some navies from coming to her door, she changed the flag when she arrived at the West Sea.

The ship is the main means of transportation in this world. Even if the navy has patrol ships, it is impossible to check all the ships it encounters.

After solving a Tyrannosaurus rex, an ancient ruin-like building also appeared in front of her.

"Sister Olga, is this the target of this time?"

"It should be here, Elizabeth, is there anything dangerous?"

Thousand-faced escort's eyes can see many things that humans can't see, and Elizabeth is her most reliable observer.

"Not in the ruins, but there."

Elizabeth pointed to the forest on the other side, and could clearly notice that the treetops there were shaking, and then a dozen people ran out of it, and then a three-story lion rushed out from it. .

"Why are there lions in the forest?"

"Why do lions grow so big?"

They were not afraid when they saw the lion, and they still thought about it, but those who were chased were different.

These people are also archaeologists, an expedition from O'Hara headed by Nicole Olvia.

Chapter 233 News from the Historian and the Ammonite

"I'm so annoying, why are things on Taikoo Island so big, and then again, this is the West Sea, why does the West Sea also have Taikoo Island?"

Looking at the giant lion, Olga couldn't help but complain.

Although the environment of the islands on the Great Route is different, the four seas are relatively stable, and the Taikoo Island that appears in the four seas is still very rare.

"Sister, who can tell what's on the sea, but can you trouble you to deal with that guy first, it's rushing towards us!"

Compared to Olga's calmness, her subordinates are different. The size is always a huge deterrent to ordinary people, and the monster-like lion is a big trouble in their eyes.

But the people from the New World knew that this kind of creature could not help Olga, so they didn't run away.

"Don't worry, this guy should be the overlord of the island, right? I hope it can save you some snacks."

The beasts living on Taikoo Island are a problem for them. The scope of their exploration is the entire island. The easiest way to save their minds is to tame the island's overlord.

The social relationship of the beast, as long as the strongest one wins, the rest will be obedient and obedient.

Olga jumped into the air and spat out a wave of evil at the lion. The lion did not expect those creatures that looked like snacks to resist.

It itself is just relying on this body shape to make a fortune on the island. After a wave of evil, it adds a face of fear, which instantly makes this lion honest.

And this also stopped everyone who was chased by it.

"Phew, I'm saved, thank you very much."

These people's physical strength seems to be pretty good, and it is their ability to be chased by this lion for so long.

The leader is a white-haired woman, Nicole Olvia, who was born in O'Hara, the famous island of omniscience in the West Sea. O'Hara is a world-famous archaeological holy place. The tree of omniscience on the island stores countless precious text.

The island has almost gathered historians from all over the world. They study history. When it comes to history, it is impossible to avoid the historical text. The things recorded on it are very attractive to those who study history.

Six years ago, Olvia took O'Hara's expedition to find the historical texts. At the time, the historical texts were scattered all over the world, and they also existed in the West Sea.

O'Hara's expedition ship found ruins one after another, and finally came to this unknown ancient island along the map in one of the ruins.

Then they also encountered the biggest crisis in the expedition, the ancient creatures and the exaggerated beasts.

But Olga ignored them, she was more interested in this lion now.

"Elizabeth! What does it say?"

"It said. It refused."

After was Olga's lion training activity, and after being beaten up, the lion finally lost his sense of resistance, gave up his stubborn behavior, and lay down honestly.

During this period of time, O'Hara's expedition team could only wait by the side. They were an expedition team in the true sense. A group of people brought at most two machetes. They were not for self-defense, but in the mountains. Used to open the road.

In their opinion, they are not pirates, but only in archaeology. The four seas are mainly under the management of the world government, and they do not need to carry too many weapons.

Encountering a naval search force with a large number of weapons on board is easy to tell.

But Olga's manpower is different. Although they came out for archaeology, they are still pirates, armed with long spears and short cannons to the teeth.

"Who are you here?"

"We are O'Hara's expedition, I'm Nicole Olivia, the leader of this team, you are"

"We? We are also here for archaeology. In fact, we are traveling together. Have you ever seen this plant before?"

Although each country has its own certificate, no one will write their occupation on the certificate. Generally speaking, as long as you don't call yourself a pirate on the street, no one will care if you are not recognized.

Olga didn't want to cause trouble, and she thought Mandelfish was right about it, why bother herself if she could simply complete the task. NOvelUsb.cOm

So she directly took out the target she was looking for.

"These. Aren't they extinct plants?"

After taking Olga's blueprint, Olivia handed it to the person next to him. Although O'Hara is a holy place for archaeology, there are still relatively few generalists.

Paleontology, ancient writing, ancient politics.

Everyone has their own specialties. Just now, he was a person who specialized in ancient plants. He came to a conclusion just by looking at them. Some of the plants in it were certified to be extinct by him. It can be said that he is the authority in this regard.

"Because it's already extinct, that's why I came to Taikoo Island to find it."

"We also just landed on the island and didn't notice these things."

"Forget it, hey, you guys, haven't the gates of the ruins been opened yet?"

Originally, their goal was to find them by themselves, but now it's normal to ask them when they meet them, and then she looked at the pirates who were tinkering with the ruins.

"No, eldest sister, this break is too heavy, why don't you just blow it open."

And these words seemed to touch the nerves of these archaeologists, and several of them looked at him with an incredible look.

"Are you crazy? This is a relic left unknown how many years ago, how can it be fried!"

"Who are you?"

They are pirates, and they will not obey orders from strangers. Even if these people want to stop them, if Olga gives orders to bomb, they will still do it.

"Sister, what should I do?"

"Can you open that door? If we can't, we're going to resort to violence."

Speaking of which, Olvia and the others can of course see that these people are not archaeologists, at least not pure archaeologists, and archaeologists cannot destroy the ruins like this.

"Yes, but please don't destroy what's inside, the treasures are yours, we just want to explore history."

She knew very well that she and the others couldn't stop the other party. Instead of increasing the damage, it was better to help them and reduce the loss of the ruins. In Olvia's opinion, Olga was a member of the treasure hunters.

While Olga was still doing archaeology, the ammonite of Wano country suddenly woke up, and it noticed a rather heavy news.

"Quinn! Big news, big news, get ready to record!"

"What's the news this time, I haven't finished the research in my hands yet, don't worry about those CPO things."

"No, it's not CPO, it's a demon slaying order!"

Chapter 234 Foster father, save me!

Ever since Ammonite surrendered in return for saving his life, he has been conscientiously collecting information from his phone bug relatives,

Through it all these years of gossiping around with his family, he has expanded a small network of relationships.

Non-working phone bugs also exchange information with each other, for them it is like a family meeting, and in this meeting, the word slaughtering order is the top priority.

Because the launch of the slaughtering order is closely related to two types of telephone bugs - the golden telephone bug and the silver telephone bug.NOve1U$b.cOm

The golden phone bug is a special signal transmitter for launching the slaughtering order. It is a very valuable type of phone bugs. On weekdays, ordinary phone bugs will also discuss things related to them.

And the silver phone bug will only receive the radio waves of the golden phone bug and sound the alarm.

Whenever there is a topic related to the slaying demon order, these two types of phone bugs cannot be avoided. Although they will not communicate with them, they will also check whether they are functioning normally.

This kind of signal is a bright light in the dark night for the phone bug, it is extremely bright.

So Ammonites keenly captured the information, and successfully eavesdropped on the phone bug of the government department.

The previous Barrett's demon slaughter order was launched directly without communication, so he did not detect the news.

But this time was different. The World Government had repeated discussions on whether to launch a demon slaughter order, and then he inquired about the news from a relative.

After all, the Demon Slaughtering Order requires ten warships and a powerful force composed of five vice admirals. Some things should be cautious.

【O'Hara Slaughtering Demon Order. Destroy everything. It must not be exposed.】

The phone worms read the news they found to Quinn one after another.

"This is really big news"

On Ghost Island, Yamato is still fighting with different balls, tennis, volleyball, football, and now it has been upgraded to dodgeball, and the difficulty is also rising.

"Yamato, the rules of the game have changed now. You have to judge whether the ball can hit you, and then dodge it. If you dodge the ball that wouldn't hit you, you know."

But as soon as Kaido's ball was thrown, Quinn rushed in.

"Brother Kai, Lord Arceus, there is a big move on the world government side. Ouch!"

He was greeted by the rubber ball thrown by Kaido, and he felt a very sour feeling as he was riding on the face by the rubber ball.

"Big news? What did they do?"

"It's a demon slaughter order. They seem to be planning to directly wipe out O'Hara Island in the West Sea."

Quinn clutched his nose and handed over the information that the ammonite had eavesdropped on. Kaido was throwing the ball with the strength of hitting Yamato. This strength would not have much effect on Quinn except for a little soreness, and there was a nosebleed. For the dignified epidemic, it is not a thing at all.

"O'Hara? What is that place?"

Kaido doesn't know this term. There are countless islands in the four seas and great shipping routes. It is impossible for him to remember the names of all the islands. Even though O'Hara is a historical place, Kaido is not interested in history.

"O'Hara, the island of history, you want to understand the information of those historical texts, O'Hara is an important part, I almost forgot about it."

The internal affairs of the Beast Pirates, the development of Pokémon, we have to teach children, find slate, some unimportant things are naturally left behind, but this kind of thing will not be forgotten, mentioning some keywords Just remembered.

The text of the historical text is not in circulation, even for Olga and Asier, it is an ancient text, and there are only two types of people who can translate the historical text.

The biography of the Guangyue family, O'Hara's scholars, needless to say the Guangyue family, it is impossible for those who die hard to help them translate the historical text, then the only channel is the scholars of O'Hara.

Usually those scholars may not accept the invitation of the pirates, but now it is different. The slaughtering order means the eradication of the government. These historians have committed the taboo of the world government.

If they want to continue to study the history in their hearts, then the Beast Pirates are the only chance, either disappear forever with their documents, or leave with the Beasts, there is no third way.

There are not many people who can eavesdrop on the secrets of the world government, and even fewer have the ability to take people away from the slaughtering orders.

They may not be afraid of death, but their death means that many things will disappear forever, which is unbearable for them who want to record history.

"Are you on the move?"

"Not yet, we're still planning, it's still half a month before we start. That girl Olga happens to be in the West Sea, what are we going to do?"

"Her ability is suitable, but she can't do this alone, Kaido, I'll go to the West Sea."

Ten warships and five lieutenant generals, that is not something Olga can deal with. Although he did not intend to confront the Demon Slaughtering Order head-on, the plan had to be done well.

The goal of going there is to get people, not to put your own people in.

"You go? Why don't I go, it's faster to fly there."

"No need, it won't take long to traverse the windless belt, and I don't want to see news like [Kaido vs. slaughtering demon orders, robbing illegal scholars] in future newspapers."

If Kaido goes there, then this kind of news will most likely be the headlines of future newspapers.

And those people who study history should know a lot about ancient ruins, maybe there will be new discoveries, and this trip is nothing.

"Then I'll leave it to you, just to train Yamato a few more days."

was talking, but Kaido found that Yamato was gone, and she was lying on the ground hugging Arceus's legs.

"Foster Father, take me to Foster Father! If you leave me here alone, you will never see me again!"

She just poked the ball that hit Quinn in the face, and found that it was a solid rubber ball, even a hollow volleyball hit her, she felt like she lost half her life, if this solid ball hit her

And even if Arceus is in Kaido's training, he will still have a little bit of training, it's just devil training, Arceus is not in the training difficulty level is death purgatory.

She heard what Quinn said about half a month, and the round trip was one month, one month. She felt that she would definitely die at the hands of Kaido.

And the only one who can save herself on the entire ghost island is Arceus, and she has to seize the last chance before this life-saving straw leaves.

"Foster father, you don't want to see me again after you come back. Father's training intensity will definitely kill people, it will definitely happen!"

"What nonsense are you talking about? At most, I'll beat you to death. Don't be afraid, you won't die."

"Father, you heard me, I don't want that, save me!"

Chapter 235 Sauro and the Warring States Period

"What nonsense are you talking about, Yamato, this is your daily training, and I gave you a break."

"Is it also called taking a break once every three months! The last break was during Chinese New Year! Adoptive father, I haven't left Wano Country for a long time. Take me with you this time, I beg you."

Yamato hugged Arceus' lap like a sloth, she didn't want to stay here alone to face Kaido's training.

She has now learned to act like a spoiled child and looked at Arceus with tears in her eyes.

"Kaido, why don't I take her to see it, just to let her know about the firepower of the navy. If it's training, I'll do it for her on the boat."

He didn't stop the Demon Slaughtering Order. He didn't intend to do anything that would not benefit him at all. The World Government could no longer tolerate the existence of those historians, so he mobilized the Demon Slaying Order.

Since the establishment of the world government, the only person who has not died under the slaughtering order is Barrett. Any ordinary creatures left on the island will be directly annihilated under the powerful firepower. The refuge ship arranged by the government is their only way of retreat.

During the period of firepower, people from the Navy and the World Government will not enter that area. As long as the people inside are taken away during this time period, no one will know where those scholars have gone.

The firepower of the Demon Slaughtering Order is enough to flatten an island by three meters. It is the most normal thing to have no bones left under this firepower.

"Let's go, but Yamato, if you go this time, the training difficulty will be increased when you come back. Have you really thought about it?"

Hearing Kaido's remarks, Yamato thought for a few seconds, but insisted on participating in this operation, she made a slight estimation, even if the difficulty increased, it would not be too fatal if Arceus was present.

If you don't follow along, you will probably spend every night in the hospital.

The Siwon was towed out of the dock again. Within an hour, Onishima completed the ship's preparations for sailing, and Olga, far away in the West Sea, also received new orders.

Her own phone bug just stayed on the boat, so the pirates who stayed on the boat came to report.

"Olga-san, an order from Onishima!"

"Ghost Island? Why did you come to order at this time?"

"It's an emergency operation, and the order given by Lord Arceus himself, let us go to this sea area and stand by."

"But things here aren't over yet."

"Master Arceus said, you can leave the matter here, we will reach the target sea area within 10 days." He took out the prepared sea map and pointed to the target area. If they want to rush over by the specified time, they have already There can be no further delay.

"Got it, everyone back on board! Ready to set sail!"

After receiving the order, Olga took these pirates directly and left the ruins, and drove the big lion away by the way. She was not interested in what would happen to O'Hara's archaeological team.

In order to pass through the windless belt, the Shadow Fox was originally driven by both sails and outer wheels. At this time, it was sailing towards its target sea area at full speed. Their goal was to meet the Siyuan there, and then wait for the next step.

In order to prevent unnecessary troubles, Olga activated her ability after the ship started. Now from a distance, the location where the Shadow Fox sailed was empty, just a ghost ship.

And O'Hara's expedition team also ended their expedition after a period of time and left the island. Their news was not as well-informed as the Beast Pirates, so they encountered trouble soon after leaving the island. Navy pursuit.

This is not the first time. The navy has been arresting historical exploration ships in accordance with the orders of the world government. In the past, they have thrown away warships, but this time is different.

This is not an ordinary patrol ship from the four seas, but a large warship from the headquarters. After they did not intend to stop, the ship's guns directly bombarded them.

Their ships were not built for combat, and they were directly paralyzed on the sea under the bombardment of the headquarters' fireboats.

"Stop! Who told you to shoot? Can't you just go up and catch them alive? Their boat can't escape!"

Watching the navy under his command directly fire the giant on the ship, he showed a displeased look. He was Vice Admiral Haguwal D. Sauro.

Because of the special combat power of the giants, all the giants who joined the navy have the rank of lieutenant general, and he is the commander of this ship.

"But Lieutenant General. They escaped."

"It's not some vicious pirates, just a group of weak scholars, can't you even deal with them?"

But things have already happened, and he did not embarrass the soldiers under him, but just arranged for someone to investigate the situation on the ship.

He is the top commander of the ship, and it stands to reason that his soldiers will not violate his orders, but this time is different, the upper-level order is to allow direct kills, so there will be soldiers who shoot directly without asking for instructions, which is not a violation discipline.

This is also what Sauro doesn't understand. He has executed similar orders several times. He doesn't understand why those scholars must die.

"Lieutenant General Sauro, there is a survivor on board!"

Of the 34 scholars in the expedition, 33 were killed in the shelling. Nicole Olvia became the only survivor, and was detained in a branch in the West Sea under Sauro's custody.

And here, Sauro meets an unexpected person.

"General of the Warring States period, why are you here? Are there any pirates that you need to take personally?"

The generals of the headquarters appear in the four seas, which is a rare thing for the navy. The last time a general entered the four seas was because of the "John Occupation of the Branch Incident".

"The secret mission of the World Government. After discussion, it was decided to launch a demon slaughter order against O'Hara, and you are one of the five lieutenant generals in charge of the operation."

"But General, they are just a group of scholars, is it necessary to kill them like this? So far, I have arrested six groups of scholars, and none of them are extremely sinful, just curious about history.

If it's really that dangerous, wouldn't it be good to let the world government participate in the research together? In this way, we can explore the truth and prevent accidents.

So far, we have killed many scholars and launched the slaughter order. Please tell me the reason for their death penalty! "

He hoped to get an explanation from the Warring States period, but the Warring States period did not want to explain anything.

"Sauluo, are you questioning the order of the world government? This is an order, all you have to do is to execute the order!" He then fed the document in his hand to his little goat.

"Yes"

Although he agreed, but Sengoku's answer did not let Sauluo relax, so he came to the prison in the name of torture and found Nicole Olvia.

NOvelUsb.cOm

Chapter 236 We do things by talking about the process

"Not good! Lieutenant General Sauro defected! He also stole Nicole Olvia!"

Although the huge size of the giants will cause many inconveniences, there are also convenient times. For example, when he took Olvia away, he just held her in his hand, and no one noticed that Olvia was taken out by him. .

When they found out, he had already robbed two ships and left the branch. If he was found inside the branch, there was a chance that he would definitely not succeed with the Warring States guards there.

After all, no matter what the order of the World Government is, Sengoku will finally choose to accept it and complete it, even if it is not to his liking.

Sengoku, who knew about this, immediately dispatched a follower. Sauluo knew the detailed plan, and it would be a big trouble for him to leave like this.

"Sauro, you can't return to the navy like this, right?"

"It doesn't matter, from the beginning of the operation I have doubts about the justice of the Navy, maybe this is in line with their laws, but it is too cruel, this is not the justice I agree with.

I didn't intend to continue working any longer, and now I can just go home. "

As long as he can return to his hometown, he will not be afraid of anything. Although he is not a giant from Elbaf, several giant countries in the world are closely linked.

Because of the giants' own force, they also have an agreement with the world government. The warriors of the giants can join the navy, and the navy can arrest giants who violate the regulations in the open sea, but they cannot do it in the country of giants.

"Okay, let's say goodbye now, you should go back now and tell them that it should be too late to escape, hee hee hee hee"

Accompanied by demonic laughter, Sauro and Olivia separated, and Sauro had to face the pursuit of his former colleagues, and he had already seen the shadows of those chasing soldiers.

At the same time, Olga was approaching the rendezvous, and the Siwon had passed through the windless zone, and Yamato's voyage was not as pleasant as before. Although Arceus didn't make any killing tennis balls, he There are electric balls.NOVELusb.com

At present, the three electric **** are surrounded by Yamato under the control of Arceus. The random, non-targeted, completely random attacks make Yamato suffer a lot.

The power of the electric ball can be controlled, so being attacked is only briefly paralyzed.

"Foster father, you were brought down by your father, you were not like this before!"

"This time is really for your own good, my electric ball will only make you feel numb, the enemy's attack is not so simple."

A few days later, Siwon and Yinghu met at the scheduled location.

This is a crescent-shaped island. At this time, the two ships are in the crescent-shaped harbor. A large number of plants spawned by Arceus cover the hull. If you do not watch closely, then the two ships have already merged with the island at this time. as one.

"Olga, how much area can your current fantasy cover?"

"A spherical space of about 200 meters with me at the center. What's the matter, Lord Arceus, what is the mission this time?"

"Going to another island to take some people away, the process is not difficult, you just have to maintain your illusion all the time, is there a problem?"

"As long as I don't fight fiercely with people, my illusions will last forever."

"That's fine, your only goal is to maintain the illusion, you don't have to think about anything else."

said that he selected some elites and flew them away from here, while the task of the others was to stay here and not expose themselves.

Under the barrier of the illusion, the people of the Beast Pirates quietly flew in the direction of O'Hara.

The warships responsible for the execution of the Demon Slaying Order are approaching O'Hara one after another, but at this moment, CP9's commander Spandain has arrived at O'Hara.

This operation planned by the World Government must of course send out more trusted personnel. The previous defection of Sauro has caused the World Government to have some doubts about the execution of the navy.

"Quick, quick! Arrest all the scholars on the island, it's up to this time to get promoted!"

Under Spandain's order, a group of agents in suits rushed off the boat and surrounded the tree of omniscience on the island.

And the voices of the world government officials also sounded on the radio on the island.

"Notify all the townspeople that all scholars on this island are suspected of trying to destroy the world. A large search will be carried out on the whole island, and the unrelated personnel will immediately gather at the refuge ship on the west coast with their documents!"

The launch of the Demon Slaughter Order will not openly tell everyone that this method is already a hint of the next action. As for the fixed property that the residents have on the island, those are not things they have to consider.

It was the limit of what they could do to let people take refuge. Some people didn't want to leave, but they finally made a compromise under the threat of self-confidence.

At this time, Olivia, who returned here with the help of Sauro, was confronting Spandain. She shot at Spandain's sleeve, trying to make him take all the blame. Put it on yourself.

But her idea seemed naive to Spandaine.

"Olivia, don't be naive, do you think the world government is targeting O'Hara because of your arrest? You got the order wrong, the order was given before your arrest.

You are just a fuse at most. In the past six years, the world government has arrested countless people who want to explore history all over the world. We already have 100% evidence that all this is related to O'Hara.

Of course, it doesn't matter if there is no evidence, who made O'Hara an archaeological mecca?

Only by destroying this place will those archaeologists understand the seriousness of the matter and know what the 100 years of exploring the blank will be!

You people have really lived enough, you don't explore such a long history, you have to entangle in those 100 years, all this is your own fault. "

"Kill the chicken to warn the monkey."

"Yes, we don't need evidence, because the order has been issued, but we are not pirates, we are the world government, the process still needs to go some way, let's do it!"

The agents behind easily knocked down Olivia according to Spandain's instructions. In the tree of omniscience, all the scholars were caught by the agents to the open space in front of the tree.

After a careful search, they also determined that there was no one in the tree of omniscience, but as soon as they left here, there were dozens of figures inside.

"Sister Olga's illusions are still so useful, they even walked up to them and they didn't find us."

"Master Arceus, what are we going to do next?"

"First rub the contents of the historical text, put these books away, and wait for the "signal" from the Navy."

Chapter 237 Planetarium, taboo of the world government

The reason why these people were brought here is to let them carry books. O'Hara is a treasure land that collects precious documents from all over the world. It is a pity that these things are destroyed in the fire of war or blocked by the world government.

There may be a lot of useful things in , and the accumulation of human beings for hundreds of years is still very meaningful.

Although the number of books here is a bit large, it is impossible for normal people to remove so many books, but the people who come here are all elite pirates who are fighting in the new world. The average person has an ant physique. A heavy bookcase is not difficult for them.

But looking at the books piled up with the grooves in the walls, many of them shed a drop of cold sweat. It turns out that the reason why Arceus wants to be elite is because of this.

"Stop standing there stupidly, hurry up and work!" Those books wouldn't come into the bag by themselves, so a group of pirates worked very busy.

And Yamato, who came to join in the fun, looked at the planet in the middle.

"Father, what is this?"

"This is where we live now. These are the planets, and the middle one is the star, which is the sun in the sky. Our current position should be here."

An energy arm turned the planetary instrument, probably pointing at the position of the West Sea.

"Hey! Are we living on a ball?"

"Yeah, it's a big, big ball. You can wait to go back and ask Assie or Quinn, or you can ask a doctor to answer your questions."

He can roughly answer some basic questions, but if you ask him again, you can't tell, but once your curiosity is opened, it won't be so easy to stop.

"Wait, foster father, there are a lot of **** on it, so the other **** are also the sea?"

"I don't know, but when you grow up, you can go and see for yourself." It is not difficult to survive in outer space with the power of the beast level. No one except Groudon has the ability to fly.

Now this honor has been returned by him to Groudon. With his strength gradually recovering, it is no longer a problem for him to fly. It would be good to have a Groudon who can't fly.

And there are already starry sky pirates in this world, and it is not impossible to take the starry sky as the future journey.

"Take down this planet and take it with you. You can figure out what you like."

"Understood!"

There are still some valuable things here. Compared with those books, these pirates still prefer these realistic things.

As for whether it is bad to do this, this place will be destroyed by artillery fire sooner or later, and it would be a waste not to take it now.

And that planet looks very standard, and it would be very troublesome to make another one. It just happened to be moved back to be a teaching aid after Yamato.

Ordinary people may not know that such words in Wano will be regarded as lunatics, but these world-famous doctors are very clear about this, and the birth of the planet is also a part of their history.

Satellite instruments, dinosaur fossils, plant specimens, and the things stored in the tree of omniscience are eye-opening for Yamato. For her, this place is equivalent to a natural history museum.

"Master Arceus, found a basement, which seems to have some translations of the text on the historical text."

"Take it together, Elizabeth, you go and pack those things."

"clear."

This is equivalent to a dictionary. The knowledge of these scholars is important, but they cannot be trusted, and they must be guarded against.

Yamato was still visiting her museum, but the busy work of the pirates was broken by an explosion, and a crack appeared on the wall of the tree of omniscience above. novelusb.com

"The demon slaughter order has begun. You continue, don't worry about anything else." An invisible barrier was propped up in the tree of omniscience, and the power of artillery was impossible to break here.

"Yamato, go look at the window, this is the firepower of the Navy."

"Oh!"

In the open space outside, Spandain lamented the boredom of work.

"It's really an easy job, your charges have been confirmed, collect and translate the historical text." Looking at the report of his subordinates, Spandain completely sentenced these historians to death.

"Why reading ancient texts is a capital offense! Why!"

Nicole Robin, who was only eight years old, questioned, because she would kill everyone by reading the text, which she could not understand at the age of eight.

"Little boy, what do you know? They want to resurrect ancient weapons and kill everyone, understand!"

"Nonsense, no one would do such a thing!"

"Robin, don't explain it to the world government bastard, he won't understand." An old man with hair and beard combined like a clover held Robin.

Dr. Kroba, Director of the Tree of Knowledge Library, the absolute authority on archaeology, who took Robin on the road to history.

"Who are you calling a bastard! Asshole!"

"Isn't it you? The so-called ancient weapons are never what the world government is afraid of. I want to talk to the Five Old Stars. Although there is no concrete result, we already have a guess about the blank 100 years. I want to talk to them. "Report results."

Spandain's own abilities are average, but he is able to reach a high position step by step. All this is because he is obedient, and he will not do anything too outrageous until he receives an absolute order from the World Government.

Although he was reluctant, he still made the call. After a set of official words, the Five Old Stars personally announced the death sentence of O'Hara scholar.

But before hanging up the phone, Kroba uttered a word "giant kingdom" that made the world government extremely resistant.

"kill him."

"Yes." A bullet pierced Kloba's chest, but Spandain's marksmanship was so poor that even if the distance was less than 10 meters, he could not hit the heart.

"Spandyne, destroy O'Hara, they know too much."

The shelling just now was nothing more than correcting the ballistics. As Spandain pressed the golden phone bug in his hand, the warship that was already seated made a chirping sound of a silver phone bug.

"All ships in position! Ready for artillery! Fire!"

Intensive artillery fire began to sweep through every inch of O'Hara's land, and even Spandain was affected by the artillery fire. At this time, he did not care about criminals and the like.

In his opinion, no one could survive the fire of the Demon Slaughtering Order, so he hurriedly fled here with a few of his subordinates.

"Tree! The tree of omniscience is on fire! Go and put out the fire!"

In the face of artillery fire, these scholars did not choose to escape, but scrambled to save the data in the direction of the Tree of Omniscience.

And Nicole Robin and Nicole Olvia, the mother and daughter, are reunited again after six years, but they look very bleak under the rendering of this artillery fire.

Chapter 238 Survival or Destruction

The figure of a giant in the distance also ran here. It was Sauro who accidentally drifted here after being chased by the navy, first Olvia, then Robin, Sauro and the mother and daughter have a relationship. A very special fate.

"Don't mother-in-law Olvia! The demon slaughter order has begun, run away with Robin!"

"Sauro? Why are you here?"

"This is a long story. Now is not the time to talk about it. If you don't leave, it will be too late!"

"Actually, it's too late for you to leave now. This place is already surrounded by the navy."

A completely unfamiliar voice appeared in the ears of several people, and Kroba looked at the yellow-haired girl with a puzzled expression, he had never seen this person on the island.

If you were a commoner, you should have gone to the refuge ship by now, and there is no such person among the children of scholars.

Robin didn't know her either, but Sauro recognized her and blocked Robin and Olvia with a big hand.

"Be careful! She is an extremely vicious pirate!"

"Pirate? Her?" nOvelusb.com

"Ah, don't underestimate her. She annihilated an entire island in the New World, with a bounty of 480 million Baileys, the illusion of Orga, the leader of the Beast Pirates."

As a lieutenant general of the Navy Headquarters, he is basically familiar with people who have offered a bounty of over 100 million in the New World, especially the cadres of the Great Pirates.

Although their bounties usually get some bonuses due to the captain's reasons, their own strength is far beyond that of ordinary pirates.

In Sauro's view, Olga is an extremely dangerous pirate.

"She's 480 million?"

Olvia had a hard time believing this amount, after all Olga looked thirteen or fourteen years old.

And they met on another island not long ago. At that time, she thought Olga was just a bounty hunter, but she didn't expect to be a pirate, or a pirate with such a high bounty.

"Don't slander, that island was destroyed when other pirates were fighting, I just picked up a bargain at the end"

In the end, she didn't want to explain anything, and she was very resentful of the Navy's intelligence department, but Sauro didn't seem to care about that.

"Why are you here?"

"Just execute the order, our channel got the news of the demon slaughter order, and the lord didn't want everything in O'Hara to be destroyed, so he came here to save you."

The Demon Slaying Order began. After Spandain escaped from here, Arceus asked Olga to bring people back to the Tree of Omniscience. Come here, packing and taking them away together is the purpose of this trip.

Either follow him or die in O'Hara, there is no third way, these scholars are all on the blacklist of the world government, as long as one is discovered, then the chain reaction will be a big trouble.

At that time, Sauro just ran over from a distance, so he was also included in the range to be taken away, after all, he is a giant.

"Remind you, there are Lieutenant Generals Kuzan and Sakasaki leading the team. You should know if you can escape from them. The tree of omniscience is the only way to survive. If you don't want to die, come here quickly."

"Olvia. Are you taking Robin with her?"

"what?"

"She's right, I'm familiar with Kuzan, that guy is different from the general lieutenant generals, he's a real monster, and Sakasaki, I'm afraid only this pirate can save you."

"It's okay, stupid, don't worry about them, you can come together, you know too much, we can't let you go, and these scholars need you too."

You can use gentle means and don't be too violent. This is Arceus's request. If Sauro doesn't cooperate, she has other options.

However, under Robin's words, Sauro followed them to the Tree of Omniscience.

"If you have any bad thoughts, I won't let you go. Don't underestimate me, I'm a lieutenant general of this division."

"It's the former lieutenant general of the headquarters. Your wanted notice has been spread all over the world a few days ago."

“.”

Inside the Tree of Omniscience, artillery fire was roaring outside, and a fire had already ignited on the tree trunk, but when the scholars ran inside, they found that it was safe and sound, and a group of strangers were packing books.

They didn't even ask who these people were, but directly joined the team sorting books.

That's what Sauro saw when he squeezed in through the door, bent over.

"Master Arceus, all the scholars and the giant are here now."

"Very well, you don't have to stop what you are doing, but your next choice will determine your fate! As you can see, the World Government's slaughter order has been locked here, you, the information here is all they want destroying things.

No one can save you except us, and we are pirates! "

With the blessing of his power, the plain tone spread throughout the Tree of Omniscience, and also in the ears of all historians.

"We will not interfere with your exploration of history, but we need all the information you have discovered, and those who are willing can leave with us.

As for those who don't want to, I'm sorry everyone, we don't want to attract the attention of the world government yet, a painless death is the only thing I can give you.

We will leave immediately after the information here is sorted out, before making your choice, live or die. "

Although they are still sorting books, many people have changed their hearts. No one is not afraid of death, but some things are more important than life.

In the face of desperation, they can use their lives to save the data in the mortal situation, but after there is hope of life, the determination to die will also dissipate.

They already have something in common with the pirates, they are all criminals of the World Government, so many people have decided to leave with the people of the beasts.

"Your Excellency, I have a question for you."

Kroba walked up to Arceus, although he was also curious why these people were obeying Arceus' orders, but now is obviously not the time for questioning.

A lot of the heritage here is historical, and these young scholars are also the hope in his eyes. He doesn't want them to die here, but in the same way, he doesn't want to cause turmoil in the world.

He just wanted to explore history, not to subvert the world.

Verbal promises may not be credible, but at least they can convince many people.

"what?"

"The purpose of you taking these materials and saving us scholars, do you want clues about ancient weapons, please tell us the answer."

"I just want to know some historical information. As for the so-called ancient weapons, don't worry about that, I'm not interested in those.

Because that so-called ancient weapon is just a child's toy in my eyes, its power is nothing compared to me. "

Chapter 239 Flower Fruit and Giant Kingdom

On the one hand, he despises the power of ancient weapons. Whether it is to create creatures comparable to ancient weapons or his own strength, there are many ways to replace that kind of thing.

And to talk about the whereabouts of ancient weapons, Arceus may know much better than these historians, accurate to the kind of names.

"Old man, don't think about what you have or not. Don't you think your injuries are more deadly?"

Arceus' answer exceeded Kroba's expectations. It was the first time he heard that someone looked down on the power of ancient weapons. While he was still thinking about this sentence, Olga poked him on the shoulder.

Although Spandain missed, but still hit him on the body. The good news is that the main blood vessels and organs were not damaged. The bad news is that the bullet remained in the body, and the wound was still bleeding.

Influenced by Assie, Olga has more respect for scholars and the like. O'Hara did not become an archaeological holy place in these years, even in the age of Al Kemi.

She still doesn't want these scholars to choose to die here. In fact, Kroba doesn't want these people to die here. They have just explored some historical skins. The huge kingdom is just a shadow, and the truth of the historical text has not yet been cracked. .

Excavating history by hand is what every historian wants to do. The world government has forced them to a dead end. If they want to preserve these materials, the pirates in front of them have become the only objects they can rely on.

He just hoped that he could get a reason to make his heart feel better. After all, the question at that time was meaningless at all, and the other party could tell lies.

It's just that Arceus's words made him a little confused, and Olga's stab touched his wound, and the pain from the wound also relieved him.

"I understand, but please come to me if there is anything in the future, don't embarrass those young people."

"Those things are not difficult for you, ship doctor, treat his wounds."

"Come, come right away!"

Although the Hundred Beasts Pirates did bring the ship doctor, but at this time the ship doctor was also carrying the materials as a labor force. After hearing the order, he dropped the materials in his hand and ran over.

But Kroba, who saw the ship doctor's actions, was even more excited.

"No, I'm fine, I can hold on, go and rescue those materials!"

A labor force who was carrying materials to deal with his injury, in his opinion, was a great waste, and a lot of blood flowed out of the wound in a panic.

"Doctor, you have a good rest, I'll do this."

Looking at Kroba, Robin grabbed him, then crossed his hands to activate his fruit ability, and one arm appeared on the bookshelf, transporting the books in a relay.

Superhuman, flower and fruit, can grow a part of his own body on any tangible object

In this regard, her efficiency alone is comparable to dozens of people, but what happened next was different from what she thought. In the past, because of her fruit ability, she was always regarded as a monster by the people on the island.

These scholars also have to take some responsibility in this matter. It is not a problem for ordinary residents to not know Devil Fruit, but it is impossible for these scholars to have heard of Devil Fruit. However, no scholar took the initiative to explain this to the residents of the island. thing.

Robin's ability in the West Sea can cause fear in others, but for these pirates in the new world, the ability is already commonplace, they are not only not afraid, but even very happy and envious.

"Beautiful little girl, your ability is really convenient."

"The little devils in the West Sea all have Devil Fruits, how come I have no such luck."

For the pirates, one ability means more possibilities. The power of each limb summoned by Huahua Fruit is equal to that of the main body. For a person with strong physical skills to eat Huahua Fruit, for his The enhancement is geometrically multiplied.

On the handrail on one side of the stairs, Yamato slid down from above like a slide.

"Is this your fruit ability, it's very interesting."

"Don't you all feel terrible?"

"There's nothing to be afraid of, isn't it the fruit ability, but the other abilities I've seen are all turned into animals, but it seems like it would be nice to be able to turn into a self."

If she can change herself, then she can let her avatar train for herself and Kaido, and then do other things by herself.

Yamato's character is very familiar, he grabbed Robin and asked questions, but now Robin has very little communication with his peers. After all, the children on the island regard her as a monster, and he didn't know what to say for a while. .

And Arceus looked at Sauluo, those scholars have done it, and now there is this giant in front of him.

"Sauro, what's your decision?"

"Why do you know my name"

"Haguwal D. Sauro, your name has been placed on a bounty by the Navy, so what are your plans?"

". Originally, I wanted to go back to my country, but looking at your appearance, I shouldn't let me leave like this, and I don't worry about Robin and the others leaving with you pirates.

If you can accept my status as a former navy, then I will leave with you. "

Ever since he knew that Kuzan and Sakasaki were involved in this demon slaughter order, he knew that his power would definitely not be able to rush out.

"But. Can you really leave here in front of the Navy?"

He has been staying in the depths of the island and has not shown much, and the navy at sea has not yet discovered him.

According to the original timeline, he only revealed his target when he tried to escape with Robin, which attracted his former friend Kuzan, and the same is true now. With his size, as long as he is close to the edge of the island, he will definitely be discovered by the navy. There must be a war.

It may not be a good result for these scholars to leave with these pirates, but at least they will not die under the fire immediately.

Originally, he was not interested in the blank one hundred years, but now the strong reaction of the World Government has also made him curious. He wants to follow these scholars to see what it is that makes the World Government not hesitate to destroy an island.

If his entourage led to their exposure.

"That's not something you have to consider, it just so happens that we lack a giant clan there."

His goal is not Sauluo, his character makes it impossible for him to be a pirate, his goal is the giant country behind him.

If you contact the giant country, there may be people who want to go to sea. This kind of thing is not uncommon in the giants. As long as they don't join the BIG-MOM pirates, the giants will not care about other giants.

nOveLusb.COm

Chapter 240 Destroyed Refuge Ship

The culture of the giants is very special. Due to the scheme that Carmelo and the world government planned together, there are many giant lieutenants in the navy.

But the Giant Pirates of the Giant Clan also have a good reputation in the giant country. There are only two or three giants in the giant country. No matter whether they are giants in Elbaf or not, they have heard the legends of those giants.

For example, Yorulu, the waterfall beard, is known as the hero of the giant family, and Charlotte Lingling suffered from eczema when she was a child, which led to the death of the old giant, and made her an existence that all giants hated.

Bucky can abduct five young giant mercenaries. As long as the conditions are right, it is not difficult to abduct a few giants, but this requires an introduction, and Sauluo at this time can become this introduction.

According to the original plot line, if he chose to leave at the beginning of the demon slaughtering order, he might still have a chance, but because of Robin, he gave up that chance.

With these scholars in his hands, he didn't think Sauro would do anything, and no one could do anything under his nose.

With the help of the Robin Fruit ability, the books in the tree of omniscience were quickly collected.

Sauro also became the biggest porter, and several scholars made a large bag with items such as table pieces left in the tree, and put a lot of books in it.

"Don't talk too much, don't ask, just follow us, as long as you don't run around, you won't be discovered." As Olga took the lead out of the tree of omniscience, her own illusion blocked the vision of the outside world.

"Master Arceus, the defense is left to you, but where are we going?"

"The west is the refuge ship, and the east is the navy's fleet. It's fine to withdraw from the north." He moved the guard he created, and under the shield of the guard barrier, no shells could hurt here.

From time to time, the cannonballs that fell on the barrier exploded, but for those inside the barrier, it was just a firework.

"Hey hey hey, silly big guy, hurry up and keep up, you almost escaped from the illusion, okay?"

O'Hara's scholars were only shocked that Arceus could shelter one side in the fire, but they were far less affected than Sauro, Sauro knew very well what the meaning of the slaughtering order was for the navy.

From a few decades ago to the present, the Demon Slaying Order has been launched three times in total. Locks, Barrett, and O'Hara are the targets of the three Demon Slaying Orders.

Even the monsters like Barret couldn't get out under the firepower of the slaughter order, so Arceus's behavior made him stunned.

Arceus blocks the fire, Olga interferes with vision, and the cannonballs clear their tracks when they go.

Shortly after they left, the Tree of Omniscience fell to the ground under the cannon fire.

The wood was completely blown to powder by the later cannonball before it was completely ignited, and the library of the Tree of Omniscience that had stood for hundreds of years was destroyed here.

Looking at the collapse of the big tree, tears welled up in the corners of the eyes of many scholars. This is the place where they have struggled for half their lives. Even if all the materials are taken away, the memories of the past have disappeared.

After reaching the coast, they all flew under the influence of electromagnetic force. After the initial shock, they also looked at O'Hara below.

The prosperity is gone and the ruins are everywhere. This historical holy place has become history today.

"Mom..O'Hara is gone"

Mother and daughter reunite after six years of separation, but their home has disappeared.

"It's okay, my mother will accompany you in the future"

"It's okay Robin, it's a blessing in a misfortune to be able to get out of there safely, come on, like I said before, laugh, babble hee hee hee"

Sauro comforted Robin, after all, this is his new friend these days, and his demonic laughter also attracted Yamato's attention.

"Father, are the giants so strange?" Sauro's laughter was much more magical than Kaido's, which made Yamato, who was the first to see the giants, a little puzzled.

"That's just an example, but you don't learn that weird laughter, and don't learn your dad's laughter, I really don't know how they all make those noises."

Although devilish, Sauro's laughter eased the emotions of the scholars. The expressions of ordinary people except Robin changed a lot. It is worth mentioning that they did not take the piece of historical text, only took it away. rubbing.

After all, the historical text will not be damaged by bombing or burning. Those agents have previously determined the existence of the historical text.

In the follow-up naval screening, it would be strange if this piece of historical text disappeared.

After reached a certain height, they drove towards the place where the boat was hiding. Sauro was still comforting O'Hara's people with his demonic laughter, but soon he couldn't laugh anymore.

From a high altitude, you can clearly see that the evacuation ship is sailing far away, but the next moment, the evacuation ship exploded.

The artillery fire below never stopped, but O'Hara's scholars were all silent.

Some of them are lonely, but many have relatives,

Under the bombardment of heavy artillery, the refuge ship disappeared into the sea. It was impossible for ordinary people to survive such a violent explosion.

"How come. Isn't that a refuge ship!?"

"Navy...Are those navies crazy! Didn't those agents screen everyone!"

Sauro's expression gradually became dull. The reason for killing scholars and destroying O'Hara was that they had committed a serious crime, but there were only civilians on the refuge ship, and none of them were spared.

"This is the justice of the navy?" At this moment, he fell into deep self-doubt, arresting criminals and maintaining the peace of the sea are undoubtedly the right actions, but at this moment, these are completely different from the navy in his heart.

On the warship of the Demon Slayer Order, the navy on the four warships did not understand what happened. It was a refuge ship prepared for civilians under the order of the World Government, and it sank just like that. NovelUSb.com

"what happened?"

"Looks like a shelling on Lieutenant General Sakaski's ship."

On a warship, Kuzan's sunglasses reflected the flames of the refuge ship, and the expression on his face was full of disbelief.

Since Sauro was not near the coast, no navy found out that Sauro was here.

It's not that there are no insiders, but all the insiders have just died under the bombing.

He didn't leave the warship without finding Saulokuzan. Now, Kuzan is still a hot-tempered young brother, and disappeared directly on the ship.

"asshole."

"Lieutenant General Kuzan! Where are you going!"

The cry of       's soldiers did not stop Kuzan, only an ice flower remained on the deck, and Kuzan's figure had already appeared on Sakaski's ship.

"Sakaski, what are you doing, bastard!"