

Arceus 251

Chapter 251 You guys can't even beat my pigs

CP0's team came here on a large warship. Although the cabin of the warship can hold such a big man, once they wake up, it will be a big trouble.

Although the members of their squad are not afraid of this thing, but it can easily damage the warship when it goes crazy.

"Can you act immediately after thawing?"

"Of course not. If you need it, you can thaw it in Punk Hazard first, and then anesthetize it before you take it away."

"Well, that's it, thaw it and put it on the boat."

The captain of CP0 pointed to a large test item with "three" written on its body. Three was its experiment number. The reason for choosing this was just because it looked a little stronger, and three could at least indicate that there were one and two, so that Better to trade.

After this team of CP0 set sail with the No. 3 experiment, the Beast Pirates also had a new move. Unlike CP0 driving a warship to trade, Kaido did not intend to bring a group of people.

He turned into a blue dragon and swept King Yanwu into the air with the flame cloud, and then went directly to the trading place. He didn't bring anyone except Quinn, who was used to carry the pot, so he could retreat in time if something happened.

"Quinn, are you familiar with the lines?"

"Don't worry, Big Brother Kai, this kind of thing is fine even if you play it on the spot. I'm a professional in this area."

Quinn, who incarnated as a tropical dragon, flew behind Kaido and assured him with confidence that the content of the so-called lines was not complicated, just that Quinn belittled the defective products made by the world government.

On the other hand, King Yanwu kept his eyes tightly closed. He was a little afraid of heights. Originally, he was just an ordinary wild boar with a body size of 100 million.

In the windless zone near the New World, ships flying the cross flag of the World Government docked here, and this is where they traded with Kaido.

This time, there is no middleman in the underground world, and the pirates are interviewed directly. They don't want to be discovered.

The world government is still embarrassed. Although the transactions between them and pirates have always existed, it is impossible for the whole world to know that they have transactions with pirates.

Like Spandaine's process in O'Hara, the World Government pays great attention to the so-called famous division, and attaches great importance to the fig leaf, that is, there are not many people on this warship.

And when they got here, they found that Kaido had already arrived, and was sitting on the coast so carefree.

"Is it finally here? Are you **** so slow to do things for their masters?"

Familiar trash talk, but the expressions of the two CP0s did not change in the slightest. Their mentality has been tempered long ago. If the condemnation of others can affect them, I am afraid that the CP0 organization should have committed suicide long ago.

The average person would not offend the people who work for the Tianlong people in person, but there are never many things that poke the back of the back. Whether it is an affiliated country or a non-joined country, ordinary people do not have a good impression of Tianlong people.

Unless it is the Goya royal family who wants to become a Tianlong person, or is willing to serve a Tianlong person.

"Stop talking nonsense Kaido, we're here to negotiate a deal."

"I know, but you have to take out what your so-called giant weapons look like."

CP0 gestured at the people behind him, a large wooden board slid down from the deck of the ship behind him, and then a huge iron cage covered with black cloth was pushed down from above.

"The World Government is very sincere. Since you are not interested in Bailey, how about this?" NovelUS3.com said that, he pulled off the black cloth covering it, and the third experiment subject, who was sleeping due to the powerful anesthetic, was dozing off.

"This is the result of the government's re-engraving of the ancient giants. It is bigger than the general giants, and it is enough for the battle between you pirates."

"It still looks like that, but how do you know if this thing is as useful as you said on the phone if you don't try it?"

"How would you like to try?"

"Since it's a weapon, of course it has to be tested through combat."

As soon as Kaido's words came out, CP0's face was a little ugly. This kind of failure can't be Kaido's opponent. If he tested it like this, it was obviously insincere, but Kaido's next words changed his mind a little. .

"It just so happens that the people under Lao Tzu also have some research results. Why not let them compare with each other? If it can win, I will agree to this transaction."

Although these things were not made by Vegapunk himself, he also made a start, and then the second-in-command Caesar Courant took over and invested a lot of money in the World Government. How could a mere pirate group come up with something comparable? .

"Okay, wake him up."

The subordinate took out a large syringe and injected it into No. 3's body, and opened the exit of the cage. After a while, the man was fat, with two straight sharp horns on his head and a moustache on his chin. Pin came out of the cage.

And the first thing it did was to attack the CP0 beside it.

"Looks like you guys don't follow orders very much."

"It's just that you haven't trained yet, so you won't be able to solve this little problem, do you need to help you domesticate it?"

In the face of Quinn's question, he asked it back, and turned the disobedience into untamed. Pirates are a group that loves face. Normally, it is impossible for them to help domesticate for the sake of face.

And it is not certain who the creatures domesticated by the world government listen to.

"Mahhahaha, you don't need to train this disobedient waste, come and see the results of this uncle, come out, King Yanwu!"

There was a tremor in the woods on the island, and then in CP0's eyes, a wild boar man about the same size as the third test item walked out.

is also a giant creature, even if it is a pig head, this orc is more deterrent than human appearance, the most important thing is that CP0 finds that King Yanwu seems to obey orders.

"Come on, King Yanwu, take care of that big man and give you extra food tonight!"

Two fists collided, and King Yanwu rushed towards the experimental subject on the beach. Compared with the behavior of the experimental subject who did not obey the order, King Yanwu absolutely prohibited it.

No. 3 didn't realize what happened when he was punched in the face by King Yanwu and flew out.

No. 3, who was knocked into the sea, shook his head and sat up. After an angry roar, he changed his attack target and charged towards King Yanwu again. The two giant beasts were torn apart on the beach.

But everyone could see that King Yanwu already had the advantage over the random attacking subject No. 3, and for a while, the face of Captain CP0 became ugly.

I think the three ghosts should be created from beasts, so the current setting only has numbers and no names

Chapter 252 Walking the Crooked Road and Evolution

"Wow!"

King Yanwu held the experimental subject's punch, and then the fist ignited and smashed into his ribs. Most of the battles between giant creatures had no skill at all, just throwing punches with brute force.

Their own strength can make up for the lack of skills to a great extent. Only when the strength and speed of both sides are about the same level, skills can be more useful.

And all the indicators of King Yanwu are slightly stronger than this experimental body, so the battle on the beach is just a one-sided beating.

"King Yanwu, stop playing, use the flame fist to solve that guy!"

After hearing Quinn's request, King Yanwu's fists ignited flames again. The experimental body did not have the resistance of Kaido. The fist wrapped in flames left a charred mark on the experimental body's chest, and the beards on the chin also burned clean.

The experimental subject let out a tragic roar, and the body could not help but retreat, and finally fell on the beach, and King Yanwu's body also jumped high, aiming his elbow at the abdomen of the experimental subject and smashing it.

There seemed to be a small earthquake on the beach. A big hole appeared under the body of the test subject, and even the seawater under the beach began to seep outward. If the world were changed, the eyes of the test subject would have turned into mosquito coils at this time. eye.

But it can be seen that it has lost its combat ability.

"King Yanwu come back!"

Hearing Quinn's order, King Yanwu walked back and sat directly behind them.

"Mumhaha, what you guys are researching is really rubbish. It's not my little pig's opponent at all. Do you still want to trade such things?"

The agents of CP0 regarded the Beast Pirates as a group of primitive people, thinking that they could exchange precious minerals from their hands with flint and flint, but when they came here, they found that the other party directly took out a lighter, or windproof.

Under the quality gap, they know very well that this transaction is estimated to be a failure, and the giant beast that can use fire is much stronger than the no-brained giant they brought.

"Unfortunately, you guys don't seem to be very good at this. Can it cultivate the land? I'm afraid it can't be done like this? Let's talk about it when you guys come up with something valuable, Quinn, let's go."

Speaking of incarnation as a blue dragon, Cheng Yanyun took King Yanwu out of here, and Quinn followed closely. Before leaving, he did not forget to complain that those people in the world government had no vision, and actually fell in love with Caesar. waste.

Although Quinn was rude, but a few CP0s had no temper at all. They knew their own strength very well. Pirates of Kaido's level were no longer something they could deal with.

The pressure on them to perform the task is much higher than that of Kaido. After all, if Kaido rips his face, they have nothing to do, and they may not be able to escape.

"Captain. That thing.. bloodline factor?"

As a team that deals with laboratories every day, they are not unfamiliar with the term bloodline factor.

And this word is not a secret, and the pacifist project that is currently being studied has something to do with the ability of the bloodline factor.

Just now, King Yanwu and the experimental subject even had a fight in the sea water. The waist-deep seawater affected King Yanwu very much, but it also ruled out the possibility that it was an awakened animal impersonation.

The only conclusion they can draw from the wild boars who can use fire is that Quinn has made a breakthrough in the bloodline factor and has already put it into practice.

"Maybe, those people were really blind at the beginning, and they let such a person go."

"What should we do now?"

"Withdraw, let the rest of the people have a headache. This time this incident at least shows that Kaido has the intention of trading. We can't say whether he can come up with the price he wants."

The deal failed, the CP0 team returned without success again, and the half-dead experimental body was also packed and brought back by them. King Yanwu even saved them a lot of anesthetics.

Although it is a failed product, this thing cannot be thrown away directly, and transporting them back to Punk Hazard to freeze again is the biggest possibility at the moment.

Punk Hassad, upon hearing the report sent by CP0, Caesar's expression was almost distorted.

"Impossible, absolutely impossible, how could that stupid pig achieve achievements in both the bloodline factor and the direction of gigantic growth!"

Caesar doesn't believe Quinn can do what he can't, but the information report brought back by CP0 explains everything, which makes him have to accept this cruel reality.

In fact, Caesar is not the only one who thinks this way. Just as the changes in Scotch made the Navy start the research on pacifists in advance, the appearance of King Yanwu proved the feasibility of the experiment.

The reason why the ancient giants' recovery experiment failed was not because this plan was not good, but because they took the wrong path. Under this guidance, the plan that was originally sealed was restarted again, and it led to their thinking.

A pure-bred giant is not good, nor is a demon like Oz. The appearance of King Yanwu shows that animals are easier to combine with bloodline factors, and the bec is the right way.

Under the guidance of this line of thinking, they went further and further on the wrong road.

And the Hailou stone deal was not abandoned, they thought Kaido's willingness to interview was a big breakthrough, and they began to discuss whether to take that slate from other draconians as a trade item.

Kaido and Quinn have not yet returned to Onishima with King Yanwu. The place of trade is in the windless zone. It will take a lot of time to return to Onishima.

And something happened in Onishima, Yamato and the others saw the evolution of Pokémon for the first time.

Kaido's departure from Onishima meant that it was time for her vacation. Although there were a lot of gates on Ghost Island, the places without gates were still free to come and go.

The houses on the ghost island have more than one floor, so when she was running on the stairs, she accidentally stepped on the stairs and rolled on the stairs several times. Although she was still a child, her body had already experienced a lot of exercise. It was nothing to her.

Even at the moment she fell, her first reaction was to hold Xiaoxiannai in her arms. During this process, Xiaoxiannai also experienced a lot of tumbling, and Yamato had some chocolates in her arms.

When the rolling fairy milk encounters candy, its evolutionary conditions are triggered.

After Nicole Robin stopped Yamato with the arm born from the flower fruit to stop her, a shining white light appeared in Yamato's arms.

The original white fairy milk began to grow bigger, from an ordinary small ball to a little doll wearing a princess dress, but the color has changed, the original pure white it has become because of the chocolate. light brownηOVELUsb.coM

Chapter 253 Robin's Pokémon Researcher Potential

"This is. It evolved!"

Looking at the frost milk fairy bouncing on his stomach, Yamato showed a surprised smile. This is the first time they have seen evolution up close.

Arceus had mentioned evolution to them before, but he didn't tell them how the little fairy would evolve.

And most of the evolution of Pokémon is through level evolution, that is, it will evolve naturally after training to a certain extent, and these Pokémon will feel when they are approaching evolution.

In addition, the most common way is to evolve through evolutionary stones. When facing evolutionary stones, they will feel it and know what will happen when they come into contact with them.

As for the rest of communication evolution, intimacy evolution, and the random evolution of Xiaoxiandai, the unevolved Pokémon can't tell, so Yamato, who has the power of Vibrant Pan, has never known the evolution of Xiaoxiandai. Way.

In addition to this, most of the other Pokémon he created are in their final form, or have no evolved form.

The carp king is far away in the sea, and they have no chance to meet, so there has never been such a chance before.

"What the foster father said is true. Evolution is indeed the most amazing thing in the world."

The change in shape and appearance made Shuang Daixian unable to see her previous appearance at all, and even her voice changed a bit, but Yamato was still convinced that this was her little immortal milk, and the power of Vibrant made her communicate with him without any problems. Effortless.

The little fairy who evolved into a cream milk fairy was also very happy. She patted her hands and made a lot of vanilla chocolate-flavored cream.

The cream made by the un-evolved Xiaoxian Milk is the original flavor, and the evolved ones will also change according to the different flavors of the candies they carry during evolution.novelusB.CoM

The chocolate in Yamato's arms and the rolling width make it taste like this.

Yamato was having a good time with Nanny Shuang, but Jack looked at his little Nanny. He seemed to sense that Nanny was envious.

"Do you want to evolve too?"

"na"

Jack's thinking logic made a comparison, Yamato accidentally rolled down the stairs with the little fairy, so her little fairy evolved, so in the same way, if you roll the stairs with the little fairy, it should be able to do the same. Evolution is right.

Although it was only a few months away from Yamato, Jack was already reckless. After deciding on this logic, he picked up his little fairy and rolled down the stairs beside him.

The girls next to        didn't react, and Jack's chubby body was already rushing to the next floor.

"Jack!"

Maria stretched out a large cobweb from her hand to try to stick to Jack, but with his own weight and the potential energy brought by the roll, Maria's cobweb only slightly slowed down Jack's rolling speed.

Finally, it was Robin and Maria's combined efforts to stop Jack.

As a murloc, he has rough skin and thick flesh. This tumbling also has no effect, but his little fairy milk has not evolved.

"Strange, why didn't it evolve? It's a rolling staircase, right?"

As he said that, he planned to go to the stairs that Yamato had rolled before and try again, but this time he was stopped, and they might not be able to stop the big man rolling again.

"Wait Jack, the evolution of little fairy milk is definitely not that simple, or they would have evolved long ago."

Maria also wants her little fairy to evolve. She seems to be born with a kind of motherhood. Others treat her as a partner, but she is a child directly. The urge to evolve as a "child" is naturally understandable. .

Taking Yamato's Frost Milk Immortal as an example, they began to study the evolutionary principle of Xiao Xian Dai, but the only conclusion that Maria and Jack could draw was that the evolution of Xiao Xian Dai was related to Yamato's tumbling just now.

At this time, Robin gave some insights of his own.

"Is it related to the candy on you?"

Because of the color, the chocolate ornament on top of Yamato's frost milk fairy's head is not very obvious, but Robin noticed.

This is a person who has collected enough information in half a day. Some people can't compare to her half a day with more than ten years of hard work, and details are always important in archaeology, so she noticed this difference.

She also has a piece of chocolate in her hand, which Yamato gave her before. If you compare it carefully, you can see that the style of the chocolate is the same.

Now Nicole Robin also wants to understand how the frost milk fairy evolved, and the evolution of the little fairy has aroused her interest.

Archaeology is a very boring thing, especially reading those tedious documents. Young Robin will be interested in archaeology and environmental factors have a lot to do.

The fear of her peers made her have no companions, and the discrimination of her relatives made her lack love. Only the scholars of the Tree of Omniscient can treat her with equal eyes and prepare a birthday cake for her.

In order to better integrate into this group, she naturally began to get in touch with archaeology, and gradually became interested. At the same time, Olivia's behavior also had a certain influence on her.

No one is afraid of people with abilities. She came here to meet at least some of her peers. Unlike the original timeline, she has been living in intrigue in order to avoid pursuit, and she can't even sleep well.

Now she has a good dream at least at night. Although she doesn't have a little fairy, but in order to better integrate into a group, it does not prevent her from contacting this matter.

And the creamy and evolutionary properties of Xiaoxian Milk also aroused her curiosity.

She is only a theoretical school, but Jack is a real practical school. He doesn't have any chocolate, but he has lemon mints. After putting the mints in Xiaoxian Milk's hand, he rolled down again.

The three of them didn't expect Jack to roll down again, so this time Jack directly hit the corner of the stairs, but this also verified Robin's speculation that the candy and the evolution of the fairy milk are directly related.

His little fairy milk has also evolved into a frost milk fairy, but the main color is light yellow with a little green on it.

"It worked! It evolved too!"

Jack raised his own frost milk fairy, male murlocs can also have a little girlish heart when they are young.

"Awesome Robin, you guessed it, you have to roll with candy."

Maria looked for it. She only had some matcha snacks on her body, but she thought she could give it a try.

So I also plan to replicate Jack's behavior. Since her physical fitness is not that strong, she has become a big spider in the form of a beast, and plans to roll down in this posture.

"Wait! Don't roll the stairs, I think the rotation is enough, you don't need such a big range, just take it and turn it around a few times."

Hearing that, Maria tried it, and the third green cream milk fairy appeared here.

Chapter 254 A Completely Different Life

Xiaoxian milk is an indeterminate evolution, and some are not even the types that have appeared in the past. The new similar candy decorations have given them the new form they are today.

Vanilla Chocolate, Lemon Mint, Milky Matcha, the colors of the three creams represent three distinct flavors.

Although they are not able to float around like before, they have no inconvenience when they have hands and feet.

Frost Milk Fairy can produce cream at will in the palm of their hand. They just evolved and the children who saw their evolution had a crazy play, which led to a period of time later, they each held a linen and bucket in their hands.

In a sense, Yamato and Jack started the world's first Pokémon showdown, and the way of showdown was to throw cream at each other.

The cream itself doesn't hurt, but it results in cream all over the place.

Cleaning up the cream on the wall is what they will do next. Even Robin on the side is affected. Although she does not have a cream fairy, the cream flying around has not spared her.

Jack and Yamato are cleaning the floors and lower walls, while the higher walls and ceilings are where Maria and Robin are cleaning.

One of them can climb high through the ability of the spider fruit, and the other one extends a lot of arms through the flower fruit.

Let ordinary children do this work and they may be tired, but for these children, this does not exist at all. Compared with Kaido's training and usual physical training, this work is nothing at all.

But this is nothing, it means nothing in terms of physical strength, they are required to clean every corner, this is the most difficult.

But while cleaning up, Yamato discovered something was wrong.

"Robin, why are you smiling?"

"Laughing? Am I smiling?"

"Of course, the smile on the corner of your mouth never disappeared."

Robin's housework is much more convenient than them, and she only needs to stand in place and activate her abilities when they run around with sackcloth.

A dozen pieces of sackcloth are working at the same time. After clearing an area, you only need to use the ability to summon a new arm.

"Because. Interesting, right?"

"Interesting? Your hobby is weird."

It's not really weird, but she got what she lacked in her childhood. She did a lot of housework when she lived in Olvia's younger brother's house. As Olvia's younger brother, he did raise Robin.

But things changed after a long time, they didn't expect Olvia to be gone for six years.

Although her younger brother did not drive Robin out, she also began to feel that Robin was dragging her feet under the complaint of her wife, and her daily housework was never less.

But doing housework alone is a completely different concept from doing housework playfully here. She seems to understand what it feels like to have friends of the same age.

People here will not think she is a monster or a weirdo because of her abilities.

Interesting, practical, and good ability is what she gets.

The internal culture of the beasts is still dominated by competition, but this competition has eased a lot, but as long as competition exists, power is what others envy.

After cleaning, Yamato and Maria went to the cadre's bathroom on the top floor, Jack went to the big bathroom downstairs, and Robin returned to the sky above the sky because of sunset time.

On the edge of the sky island, Sauluo wore a big straw hat and watched the sunset in the distance. The safety of those scholars was no problem, but their freedom was limited to a certain extent.

This was also his original view. He believed that scholars broke the law, but the crime did not end in death. It was enough to study under supervision.

The Beasts told him that he would not be able to leave here in a short time, he accepted this, and he understood the current situation very well.

The basic lifespan of the giant clan is three hundred years. It doesn't matter if he delays some time here. He plans to watch Robin grow up first, and he doesn't want Robin to be full of pirate thinking.

There is nothing to do on the empty island. He just watches the sunset and thinks about life. He recently got some philosophy books from the newly established library and is studying the issue of human nature.

The various living conditions on the empty island have been met. According to the requirements of the scholars, the Beast Pirates made a big clock on the empty island to indicate the time.

Watching the hour hand move to the seven position, Sauro also knew that Robin was coming back soon.

A few minutes later, a thousand-year-old dragon rushed out from under the clouds of the sky island, and Robin was brought back.

Those clouds are not ordinary clouds, but newly generated sea clouds. The ordinary clouds in the sky and the clouds on the empty island are different manifestations of clouds, and the sea clouds near the island clouds will also evaporate and disappear.

It's just that the characteristics of the island cloud will make it gather ordinary clouds and convert them into sea clouds. If nothing else, new sea clouds will be generated around this small empty island in a few years.

"Sauro! I'm back!"

"Did you have fun?"

"Happy, those creatures called Pokémon here are really interesting"

This is something Sauro didn't expect. No one from the beasts instilled any thoughts on Robin, just let her play with Yamato and the others, and if she wanted to, she could also participate in some training.

Because in the eyes of the beasts, that kind of thing is not necessary, it is enough to influence it subtly. Friendship in childhood will affect many things, and there is no need to rush it.

In the library of the New Tree of Knowledge, Olivia also prepared dinner and waited for Robin to come back. The giant vines spawned by Arceus not only tied this empty island, but also extended a large part.

With the help of Sauluo, the scholars hollowed out part of the vines and re-stored those books, and many people's residences also lived directly in it.

There are also some houses under construction around, but most of them are tents and other objects. They have absolutely no experience in how to build buildings on the island clouds in the sky.

The foundation of the sky island is completely different from the foundation on ordinary soil. Before the corresponding experts arrive, they can only learn how to set up tents from the Shandians.

The people who just went to Angel Island to collect shellfish have already set off, and they have also received an order from Arceus to learn how to build a house from there, or directly bring back a few people who can build a house.

I live in a tree house and tent, but everything else is fine, some rooms have lights on, which is completely different from the Wano country below.

It gets dark late in Wano Kingdom this season, but it is already dark, but there is no artificial light in most places.novelusb.com

Chapter 255 Electric Shock Monsters and Scholars

From the sky island, you can look down on the whole Wano country. The brightly lit flower capital and the surrounding villages with only scattered lights form a sharp contrast.

Except for the flower capital and the place where the general lived, most of the places were dim, and only the place where the Beast Pirates lived was lit up differently.

This is the result of the decoration led by Arceus. He obviously has the technology of generating and storing electricity, but at the beginning, Kaido planned to have a retro style on the ghost island, but Arceus felt that it was stupid to use torches for lighting such a big house. .

So there is a large power storage device below the ghost island. In this unscientific world, the conversion rate of many energy sources has become extremely high, such as human power generators. At the beginning, the power supply of the ghost island basically depended on human power, and then some solar energy was added.

The "universal" Quinn has shown his role again. At first, he wanted to build a hydroelectric power station at the waterfall behind the ghost island, but the flow and location of the waterfall were not enough to meet this demand.

If a power station is built there, it is easy to reduce the flow of the waterfall outside the diving port, resulting in the exposure of the cave, so I gave up this matter, and the factory in Wano country is mainly manpower, and there is no need for electricity.

However, with the increasing intelligence of the equipment in the ghost island, the requirements for electrical energy are gradually increasing. Rotom can meet the energy consumption of his home appliances, but not all appliances are hosted by Rotom.

So some time ago, probably shortly after the empty island was brought back, the power supply of Onishima also entered the Pokémon era.

The power-supplying Pokémon varies according to the region, and there is an electric monster living on the empty island above and the ghost island below.

As the evolution of the electric beast, the electric beast is bigger, with thicker arms and a special pattern on the back. From the back, there will be a feeling of a double-ended socket.

Unlike the electric shock beasts that steal electricity from power plants, they no longer need to do so after evolution, and can also generate electricity for other electrical appliances.

It's just that their voltage is not controlled, so they are all charged into a giant battery.

Although there is only one , the power supply of the electric monsters is very terrifying. Only one electric monster can provide all the electricity required by the buildings of a large city for a year.

Electric Beast's power generation is proportional to the heart rate. When the heart rate increases, the power generation will increase, and the power generation is the highest level among Electric Pokémon.

Theoretically, if there is an electric monster, there is no need to worry about the power outage in summer, and there is no need to worry about the scene like the battle of the two cities.

And the power consumption of ghost island is easy for the electric monster, it can't make itself too excited, otherwise it will easily burst the battery.

In fact, one electric shock monster can satisfy the power supply of both the ghost island and the sky above. Arranging two is not only for convenience, but also for safety without arranging people to run up and down when the battery is dead.

The Pokémon like the Wind Fairy have average combat power, but the Electric Monster is different.

When fighting, the voltage in its body will rise rapidly, and it is used to holding the tail that is emitting electric sparks to make a charged attack on the enemy. It will use the tips of its two tails to hold the opponent and release more than 20,000 volts of electricity to attack.

Although this voltage is not enough for some people, it is enough to threaten the ordinary residents on O'Hara, and there are also Millennium Dragons and Olga who appear from time to time.

Her ordinary physical training can no longer play much role, and actual combat is the fastest way to increase this level.

The main power supply is the Beast Pokémon Center, where the equipment does not allow power outages, and Zeraora has no power supply, and he is still exercising himself from stepping on the generator.

The working hours of Electric Shock Warcraft are very free. He can complete his workload in half an hour every day. The rest of the time is his reasonable fishing time, such as picking fruit in the forest. Although they can't build a house on an empty island, they can grow Trees are fine.

As long as the seeds are sprinkled and the saplings are planted, the trees on the empty island are more likely to survive.

Although it is getting late, some scholars are not idle. Although they are studying history, they are not studying history all the time.

Some scholars among those people are just here to help. Their main research direction is actually ancient creatures, but there is a big gap between ancient creatures and electric monsters, and this magical creature has aroused their interest more.

"How exactly does it generate electricity? The electricity that can be generated by swinging an arm? Such a large amount of power supply is unscientific."

"Science? Can normal creatures grow like this? I don't think any creature will evolve into this shape. It is probably the result of transformation."

"I don't think so. Although its structure is rather strange, every part can be used, and its own intelligence is very high. No one can transform this kind of creature."

The two had a disagreement in this regard, and neither could convince the other, and the Electric Shock Demon had no intention of paying attention to them. In its view, they were just two scholars with very strange brains.

And today, a trouble happened in the library of the New Tree of All Knowledge. When Robin returned here, all he saw was cotton scattered all over the room, and Dr. Kroba was already submerged in cotton.

This is because just before Robin came back, a wind goblin drifting in the wind came here. Due to the unique cyclone environment outside Wano, they would not fly out of Wano.

But this small sky island belongs to the Wano country cyclone, so a wind fairy floated here by the wind, and slipped in here through the window.

Mischief is the nature of wind goblins. Every time they go to a new room, they will get their sun-dried and fluffy hair everywhere. Those cottons are proof of the existence of wind goblins.

At first, the scholars didn't understand what happened, they just thought that someone's quilt was leaking, and the altitude of 2,000 meters was relatively cold at night, so they all had clothes to keep out the cold.

But when the cotton became more and more, they also began to perceive the problem, and finally found the wind goblin on the roof.

It has the identity card of the Beast Pirates on its neck, which shows its ownership. There are no weapons on this empty island, and these scholars can only climb the ladder to try to catch it.

But in the eyes of the wind fairy, the scholars are fighting with it, not only is not afraid, but also jumped around with a smile.novelusb.com

The dexterous body jumped around, and the scholars couldn't touch it at all, and the cotton was still floating in the process, which eventually led to this result.

A group of scholars drowned in the sea of cotton, and the wind fairy was laughing at the top of the bookshelf, but at this time two hands suddenly appeared from its side and grabbed it.

Chapter 256 The Arrested Red Earl, the Slate of the Dragon People

"Good job Robin! Finally got the little guy."

Everyone breathed a sigh of relief when they saw that this little guy who swayed cotton was caught. The volume of cotton in the room has exceeded that of the wind goblin by many times. It is difficult for these scholars to understand how this happened.

After all, this kind of thing is very unscientific. In fact, it is not a scientific thing at all. Strictly speaking, it belongs to theology.

The caught wind fairy felt a sense of frustration and stopped swaying the cotton. For it, if it loses, it can't continue to play pranks.

"What about it?"

"What else can I do? Send it to them. There are signs on them, but now there is no shortage of cotton. It's definitely enough to make a few more quilts."

They are not useless people who are useless except for research. These scholars have the experience of exploring history in the past, and they have mastered some wild survival skills.

Some of the little tricks in life will naturally not be difficult for them.

"To produce cotton and generate electricity, the creatures here are really strange."

"They are called Pokémon, and the islands below will produce cream." Robin shared his experience on the ghost island, which also made these scholars more curious about Pokémon.

The wind goblin didn't stay here for too long, and was soon taken back by the people from the pasture, and Robin and Olivia returned to their residence after helping to pack up the cotton.

After two days of delay, Kaido also returned to Onishima with Quinn and King Yanwu. Everything was the same as usual, and there were more Pokémon in Onishima and Wano Kingdom.

Arceus or Kaido sailed out periodically to find the slate, and the cadres' exploration didn't stop, but there was nothing to gain for the time being.

And after the Golden Lion escaped and made the Navy lose face, they finally made a chance to save face, Baroric Redfield, arrested!

The incident made headlines for three days in a row, and both the Navy and the World Government were spared no effort to publicize it.

"The Lonely Red" and "The Red Earl" went hand in hand with great pirates like the Golden Lion and Whitebeard, and they were also the legendary pirates in the Roger era.

He was alone and had no partners, which brought great difficulties to the navy's roundup.

After all, this means that he has no worries in the future. Once the roundup fails, he may usher in his revenge. If the combat power is not enough, he can't help him, and if it takes too much combat power, he may not be able to wait for him.

But the lack of people also has shortcomings. He can't deal with the wheel battle. After the navy spent a lot of effort, he finally found the trail of Redfield.

The then Admiral, known as Cyborg, fought against him for several days and nights. In the end, both Redfield and Sora were exhausted, but Redfield had no companions, and behind Sora was an entire navy.

Karp, who went with him in the end, successfully arrested Redfield and sent him to prison, which is a rare big result of the Navy recently.

However, the results obtained are not great. The pirates' rise has not been curbed. If the root causes are not resolved, it is useless for them to arrest more people.

Among them, the number of criminals who are capable is also increasing linearly. Not only the navy, but also some big pirates and local kingdoms have begun to purchase Hailou stones from the black market, and they also have a demand for Hailou stones.

Now that the price of Shanghai building stones in the black market has tripled, businessmen in the black market don't talk about morality. Whoever gives more money is the big truth. In this case, Kaido, the largest supplier of sea building stones become more and more important.

According to the analysis of Kaido by the intelligence department, they finally saw the draconian of Marijoa.

Marijoa, in the city where the dragon people live, a dragon person is walking around the city, the main purpose is to show off his newly acquired slave.

The dark green hair was combed into the style that the Dragon people are used to, and he was wearing something like a space suit, but without a helmet.

They wear helmets just because they don't want to breathe the same air as normal people, it's different here.

"Holy Musgarud, officials from the World Government are coming to you."

An agent of the World Government bowed 90 degrees beside Musgarud and spoke very humbly about the situation. The male name was followed by the saint, and the female name was followed by the palace. This is the honorific title of the Tianlong people.

It is not a good job to do things here. They are still officials, but if they get it wrong, they will be dead or slaves.

"Ah? What are those people doing to Young Master Ben? Two of Young Master Ben's slaves have just died, and they are going to replenish."

"It's the Musgarud saints who brought exactly what you need."

"Is that so? Then go over and take a look, trash, get up quickly!"

Saying that, he hit the slave under him with a whip. It is also the hobby of Tianlong people to use strong people as their mounts. Human life is just a consumable in this city. Every day, there will be slaves who are toyed to death, and there will be new ones. Slaves were sent in.

Then Musgarud saw the official, and behind him was a member of the Knights of the Gods, who came here to ensure the safety of the official.

Ordinary staff can be replaced at will, but people with certain status in such departments cannot be replaced at will, and it is a troublesome task to assess their credibility.

The Knights of God is the exclusive bodyguard of the Tianlong people. The leaders are also Tianlong people. They are not only responsible for the safety of the Tianlong people, but also responsible for dealing with the Tianlong people who violate internal discipline. Novelus8.Com

It was not very happy to see Musgarud's expression on those people.

"Why are you looking for this young master?"

"Sage Musgarud, I heard that you are collecting murloc slaves, and we just got a batch of high-quality murloc slaves, so we want to exchange something with you."

This is Musgarud's interest. He is particularly fond of murloc slaves. Of course, it would be better if mermen slaves. Unfortunately, this time he did not see mermen or the like, but several robust murlocs also satisfy him.

"Well, yes, this young master is very satisfied, so what do you want? How about 200 million Baileys?"

"Saint Musgarud, after our investigation, there was a mysterious stone in the treasure house of the ancient sage Huo Ming. After he gave up his identity as a dragon man, that part of the property was divided by other members of Don Quixote, And that stone is in your hands."

"Oh? That, it should be in the treasure house. You can find it yourself. It's useless anyway. It's okay to change these slaves."

Musgarud did not make things difficult for people in this regard, which made the people of the world government relieved

Chapter 257 Rock Slate and New Ideas

Except for the so-called indestructible slate that Kaido has been looking for all over the world, the world government doesn't know what else can make his heart move, and the ordinary animal system may not be able to impress him. enemy.

The abilities of the phantom beasts have not yet appeared to the weak, the Warring States period and Kaido, the new generation of Marco, these people who have obtained the ability of the phantom species are rare powerhouses, not to mention the group of "phantom beasts" under Kaido. Seed" cadres.

In addition to the shame of the phantom beast species, the black charcoal serpent, the ability of the phantom beast species in the sea today is all strong.

They thought it would be complicated to get things out of the hands of the Tianlong people, but they didn't expect that Musgarud didn't embarrass them this time, and happily agreed to the exchange.

But they don't know that this kind of behavior is the biggest act of financing the enemy.

Although the outside rumors are that Kaido wants to build an indestructible armor, this behavior is stupid in the eyes of the world government, but a slate can enhance the current Beast Pirates far more than a devil fruit.

"Thank you for your generosity, Holy Musgarud, you have helped the government a lot."

"If you have nothing to do, don't waste this young master's time. I don't know what you want from a broken stone."

The stone was originally not in Musgarud's hands, but a few days ago he waged a fight with others with slaves, which was the money he won back.

In the hands of that celestial dragon, it is very difficult to exchange it, and even the celestial dragons of a family have very different preferences.

The approachable Huo Minggu, Musgarud who likes murloc slaves, and the rock-gathering Don Quixote member are examples.

With that slate, the officials of the World Government left here and handed the things over to the CPO members who were waiting outside.

"The things have already been given to you. If you can't do it this time, you won't come back."

Exchanged things with the Tianlong people, even if things went well, he was sweating, and if it wasn't for an order from above, he wouldn't want to do it.

Since they were in face-to-face contact this time, Ammonite did not eavesdrop on similar news until they called Kaido again.

In Onishima, Kaido is still training against Yamato. At this time, it is not only dodgeball training, but Yamato also has a new task. At this time, she is standing in front of Kaido with Akin No. 3 in her hand.

"Listen to Yamato, your task is very simple, as long as you can let me move a second finger, I will consider you qualified, and now you can attack."

She still got to this point, training with Kaido, but with the domineering blessing, Kaido is not something she can handle with a single finger.

At this time, the world government also called, Kaido flicked Yamato aside with a random finger, and then answered the phone.

"Kaido, old place, goodbye, this time we brought what you need, and exchange stones for stones. You should be able to accept this deal, right?"

After a long period of price negotiation, Kaido and Arceus got what they needed as they wished, so the transaction can naturally start, but what Kaido said next was completely unexpected by CP0.

"Yes, if it is true, then it can be traded, so how much are you prepared to pay per kilogram of sea floor stone?"

"Kaido, what do you mean by that?"

"What do you mean? It costs money to buy things. Don't you understand such a simple truth?"

Kaido's words made their scalps go numb, and they naturally knew that it cost money to buy things.

But they took so much effort to change things out of the hands of the draconian, and as a result, Kaido charged extra money, which made them feel that Kaido was watching the food.

"Don't you know what bartering is?"

"Of course, I know that I am very honest in transactions, but you guys in the world government are different. If you don't have this thing, I would be too lazy to care about you. This just makes you qualified to trade, understand?"

They were very angry, but there was nothing they could do. Kaido's business was almost a monopoly, so they could only agree when they desperately needed Hailoushi.

"By the way, I don't want money, I want gold, I don't want to see new money printed by you"

It's not that the world government has not done this kind of thing, which usually means that Bailey will depreciate, or that gold is more insured.

In this regard, CP0's agents have no choice but to prepare to apply for funding again, because Kaido directly hung up the phone.

After Kaido hung up the phone, Yamato stood up with the bag covering his head.

"Father, who's on the phone, I hate that guy." A phone call made Kaido change his attitude. For this growing child, most people won't hold grudges against their parents until they give up.

The reason why is the majority is because some people are born evil, and have nothing to do with acquired education.

Most people will transfer the conflict to the person who caused his parents to do it, and Yamato has already done it at this time.

"CP0, the lackey of the world government, is also your future enemy."

"Understood, in the future I must kill them with my own hands."

CP0 in the distance doesn't know, he has offended others invisibly

A few days later, it was still the island in the windless zone, Kaido appeared here again, this time he didn't bring anyone else, just some processed Hailou stone products.

Of course, you have to pay extra to do this, but it is difficult for people other than Wano to process Hailou stone products. Saving this processing fee will cost you more things.

As for why Arceus didn't come, he just felt that it was inconvenient for him to show his face in front of these people.

Actually, Kaido thought about grabbing the slate halfway, but in order to prevent the World Government from holding more than one slate, they gave up the idea.

"The Hailou stone you want, where is Laozi's stuff?"

The two large cargo boxes were thrown aside by Kaido. Inside were some sea stone handcuffs and chains. The purity was not very high. The outside world had never asked for the purity of sea stone, as long as it was sea stone. Lou Shi did enough.

After all, the sea floor stone with the lowest purity is not something that ordinary people can compete with.

"Here, you want gold and stone."

Kaido looked at his own slate radar, the last time the big snake incident taught him a lesson, after seeing the reaction of the slate radar, he calmed down, and spit out flames to burn the gold.

This is one of the effective ways to test gold, and then he got a golden ball and left here with something.

He returned to Wano at full speed without delaying on the road, and the stone tablet also returned to Arceus.

"how?"

"Not bad, so there are only nine dollars left, and this one... I have some new ideas."

Then Arceus and Kaido came to the Rabbit Bowl quarry, because the property of that slate is rock, and the Rabbit Bowl quarry has a lot of sea floor minerals.

Pokémon are not static, they will evolve new attributes and characteristics according to the different living environments.

And many of the rock-type Pokémon are bodies made of rock, granite, shale, obsidian, and many minerals are a kind of rock, and Hailoushi is no exception.

Arceus intends to make a new creation, and if successful, they will be new Pokémon in the form of Wano Country.

Chapter 258 The Birth of Hailou Stone Pokémon

The birth of Pokémon is extremely magical. Birds, beasts, and swimming fish are just the most basic types. Humanoids, plants, ghosts, machines, and Pokémon exist in various fields.

And rock-type Pokémon is also a member of the Pokémon family, although a large part of Pokémon is a composite attribute of rock and ground, which makes their weaknesses very obvious.

But there are no exceptions, such as the surfing iron armored tyrannosaurus, but it has been expelled from the dragon and became a rhinoceros.

In addition, there is a large crystal rock snake. Because of the change of the living environment, its body structure has become a crystal, and the change in structure has made it have a huge change in properties.

Although it is still rock-type, it can live in water, and the thing it fears most has changed from water to fire. It can be seen that the living environment can have a great impact on rock-type Pokémon.

The sudden arrival of Arceus and Kaido made Babanuki, who was guarding here, a little overwhelmed, and quickly ordered all those who had been reformed to go back.

"Hurry up and take them away, didn't you see Lord Arceus and Governor Kaido coming! Move quickly!"

Then he opened the door of the rabbit bowl.

"Why did the two adults come here all of a sudden, the little one didn't prepare anything."

"You don't need to prepare anything, just bring me some raw ore of Hailou stone."

"clear!"

The mining work of the Rabbit Bowl mining farm has not stopped. Wano has been closed to the country for hundreds of years. During these hundreds of years, the amount of Hailou stone that has flowed out is very small, and the amount of mining in Wano country is also very small. It can be said that the entire rabbit Below the bowl area is almost all kinds of ore veins.

Moreover, the speed of condensing sea floor stones in this ore vein is faster than that of ordinary minerals. Today, the reserves are still very sufficient. Even if a lot of them are sold, there are still a lot of raw ore stored here.

Raw ore is not pure sea floor stone, but a primary ore wrapped by various impurities, in addition to sea floor stone, there are many other components.

"You shouldn't. Would you like to use Hailou Stone to transform them into your Pokémon?"

Arceus' ability to transform and create Kaido has also been seen more than once, whether it is fabricated out of thin air or transformed real creatures many times.

So when Arceus found a new slate, he came to the mining field specially, and asked Babanuki to bring some raw ore, he had his own guess.

"How do you know if you don't try it? Let's try something simple first."

Then Arceus picked a moderately sized piece of sea floor stone ore, into which the power of the rock slate was injected.

Even if it is raw ore, the raw ore of Kailou stone is one of the hardest objects in Wano Kingdom. It is a very complicated process to crush it and purify Kailou stone.

But the rock slate represents the origin of the rock, and all ores are under the influence of its power.

With the injection of power, the original piece of raw ore split into four or five spherical rocks, and those rocks shook themselves, and two arms gradually appeared.

Although it is a rock arm, the lines of muscles can be vaguely seen on it. The round body begins to show facial features, and it floats up from the ground, about a few punches from the ground.

"Lathiae!"

Small Fist Stone, the most basic rock-type Pokémon, the way they float has always been a mystery.

The hard body is the pride of the small fist stone, and the wild small fist stone will use its strong body to collide with its partners to compete harder than anyone else.

Rock-type Pokémon have a very long lifespan. After all, their body is just a stone. How to determine the age of the Little Fist Stone is a mystery.

However, the longer the longevity of the small fist stone, the more edges and corners will be worn away, and the rounder it will become.

These are the traces left on them by a long time. These newly born little fist stones have sharp edges and corners, and they are even sharp. This is the proof that they were just born.

Unlike ordinary small fist stones, it is a stone with a human face and arms, and it does not have magnet eyebrows like Alola's small fist stones. These small fist stones are distributed with camouflage-like patterns.

Black and dark blue markings appear on their bodies, and that is proof of their combination with sea floor stones.

"Are you a success or a failure?"

"I don't know, it's theoretically successful, but the specific effect needs to be tested, Kaido, stretch out your hand."

After that, Arceus ordered a small fist stone to jump into Kaido's palm. As an ability person, he is the person who can feel the sea tower stone the most.

"What does it feel like?"

"Well, just like Hailoushi, there is a sense of powerlessness. It seems that you have really succeeded. You really have come out with something incredible!"

According to different physiques, the effect of Hailou stone is different. These small fist stones are rich in Hailou stone, but it is not enough to limit Kaido.

But the sea tower stone that can run is undoubtedly a deadly threat to the average ability.

"It's half the battle, Little Fist Rock, use the falling rock against the open space over there."

"Lathiae!"

At the order of Arceus, a group of stones appeared out of nowhere around Kaido.

The body of the small fist stone has been determined to contain the sea floor stone, but it is still unknown whether the skill it releases is the sea floor stone.

Still the same, Kaido grabbed a small fist stone and summoned something with his skills, but his face was a little wrong.

"What's wrong?"

"It feels like a sea floor stone, but... a little weird."

Those stones still gave him that feeling of powerlessness, but there was some difference in quality, and he could feel that feeling slowly dissipating.

"and many more."

After waiting for half an hour, Kaido crushed the stones into powder.

"About half an hour, the stones they make have the same effect as Hailou stones, but after about 15 minutes, the power begins to dissipate, and half an hour later, it's just ordinary stones."

"Is that so? Little Fist Stone, how do you feel when you use your skills?"

"Lathione..Lathiazine!" Novel uSB.coM

"Um"

Arceus succeeded, these little fist stones do have new properties.

But they can't make sea towers out of thin air, but the rock-based attacks they release have the same effect as sea towers at the beginning, and then they will dissipate over time.

This is enough, as long as it has the same effect as the sea floor stone at the moment of attack, these Pokémon are the natural enemies of the ability person. When they reach a certain number, the released rocks can make the ability person helpless.

And their body is the sea floor stone, as long as they knock down the enemy and press on the opponent, they can achieve permanent suppression.

At the same time, they are no longer afraid of water. Hailou stones have the same properties as the sea, which makes them highly resistant to water.

Chapter 259 Big Rock Snake and Coco Dora

After the successful manufacture of the small fist stone, Arceus decided to make a few more big ones to see. Babanuki brought a lot of raw ore, and these ore can do a lot of things.

Arceus repeated the same behavior as just now, but the output energy was greater, and the ores did not split into **** like small fist stones, but were combined together.

The body is made up of multiple huge gray rocks. The boulders are linked together like a big snake. The body has dark blue and black spots like the small fist stone, and there is a horn on the top of the head that looks completely composed of sea floor stones. .

Hailoushi Big Rock Snake is also a rock-type Pokémon that has been active in various generations, and as soon as they appeared, they made two big holes in the ground. Novel uSB.coM

This is their living habit, the big rock snake can dig underground at a speed of 80 kilometers per hour. Because there are magnets in the brain, even if it digs a hole in the ground, it will not go in the wrong direction.

The age is the same as that of the small fist stone. The older you get, the more rounded your body will be, and the younger you will be, the sharper the edges and corners will be.

Such a large rock snake can easily grab a capable person with a binding, and there is no need to worry about them escaping.

"It's great."

Babanuki sighed at the big rock snake who had punched a big hole directly on the ground. He was guarding the mining field, so he knew more about how solid the ground here was. It took a few strong men more than half a day to make a small hole. .

But the big rock snakes can easily drill two big holes here, and they are still very excited. That is the way the big rock snakes exercise themselves. They will drill around in the hard rock formations, and exercise their own skills by squeezing. Body.

When enough metal minerals are attached to their body surfaces and they reach a deep enough position, the high temperature and high pressure underground will give them a certain chance to evolve into large steel snakes.

After that, Arceus stopped him. It's not that he can't continue to create, but that he can't afford to create too much. These rock-type Pokémon usually have to eat some ores. Judging from their body composed of sea floor stones, Hailou stone can become their food.

It is too much to keep, but you can consider getting some ordinary big rock snakes to mine on other islands, or go directly to the red soil continent and dig an underground palace.

Five small fist stones and two big rock snakes are their result this time.

Newly born Pokémon will inevitably feel hungry, and the remaining raw ore becomes their food, but they only eat a small amount of raw ore containing sea rock, and most of them eat ordinary rocks.

However, some of the ores were left behind by them, and they did not touch them.

"Babanuki, what is that?"

Looking at the strangely colored ore, Arceus asked the manager here.

"That's the ore of the wine iron ore? Who asked you to bring this over!"

The precious minerals of Wano country are not only the sea floor stone, but the wine iron ore is also a special mineral here, and the ghost sword of the ghost series contains this ingredient.

Hailou stone products are mainly prison props, and the reason why Wano country weapons are excellent is that wine iron ore is mixed in them. The texture of this iron ore is better and can improve the performance of weapons.

The mining and smelting of this ore is much more harmful than the sea floor stone. The poisonous gas and waste water generated in the Rabbit Bowl factory have a great connection with the wine iron ore.

The people who work in the mining field are also divided into different levels. Ordinary people are only mining ordinary minerals, which are not very difficult, and they are slightly more serious mining Hailou stone.

Those minerals are more labor-intensive and consume more physical strength. The most serious crime is the mining of wine and iron ore, which is not only difficult, but also easily endangers their own safety during the mining process.

Small Fist Stone and Big Rock Snake are not interested in these iron ore, but Pokémon of the sea floor stone type have already appeared, so there is no reason to ignore the wine iron ore.

Based on these wine iron ore and sea floor stone, a little guy in an iron shell appeared here.

Iron Armor Pokémon, Coco Dora, Attribute, Steel + Rock.

looks like a large insect, with an oval head and body, but only four stubby feet.

Its body is gray-white and has a metallic luster, but this Kodora has two ghostly lines of wine red and dark blue on its body.

That is the embodiment of wine iron ore and sea floor stone in its body.

A pair of big blue eyes is a little cute, but except for the abdomen, head, limbs, and back are all wrapped in a thick layer of steel armor, and there is a horn-like thing on the back.

The body armor has holes left for their vents and eyes.

As soon as it appeared, it began to eat the remaining iron ore. In order to build a body of steel to protect its body, the wild Coco Dora would dig iron ore from the mountain to eat.

The quality of iron ore determines their future strength, not just iron ore, any metal product can be their food, even the rails will be eaten when they are hungry.

But they are not without feedback. Like crustaceans, they will shed their skins during the growth process, and the armor that falls off is the best metal material.

"Babanuki, it will be handed over to you, remember to feed it, the main food is the ordinary metal outside, and the wine iron ore should be a snack."

"Understood, leave it to me!"

Liquor iron ore is only an additive, not the main body. A large amount of metal is brought in from the territory outside the Beast Pirates. A cocoa dora can still be raised. Although the food intake is not small, it is better than the young Kiras Its food intake has been much smaller.

"Well, the small fist stone and the big rock snake are also here. They can help you solve some difficult mining minerals. If you open a mine, you can also find the big rock snake. They are very good."

"Nice?"

Babanuki looked at Xiao Quanshi, who had already started fighting each other, and fell into contemplation. This behavior has nothing to do with being good.

"That's their nature, don't be surprised, they like to play with each other like this.

The big rock snake will forage underground by itself, and the small fist stone is enough to eat the leftover **** on weekdays, mainly Coco Dora. If the child is hungry, he may eat something. "

After leaving several Pokémon behind, Arceus and Kaido just left.

"Brother Babanuki, how do we arrange them?"

"Don't worry, Lord Arceus said, they will find their own accommodation, remember to send someone to deliver food to them tomorrow morning."

At this time, he had already seen some small fist stones crawling towards the heights of the mining field, and dug a hole in the ground and embedded himself in it, and some found a nest for himself in the ore heap.

Chapter 260 Musashi and Geely Eggs

In the ghost island, I met Yamato and the others the moment they returned from Taoyuan Farm. There were four little fairy milks at the beginning. Yamato and the others evolved into frost milk fairy one after another.

Although she insisted that she was not a child at that time, she was still very happy with the little fairy milk. After learning the evolution method, her little fairy milk also evolved into a frost milk fairy, but the color was different. Pure white.

Milk Fragrance Snow Salt is the taste of this frost milk fairy. It is a rare salty taste among frost milk fairy, and it also produces salted butter.

This is more in line with her taste. The beast genes in the bones of the fur tribe make her pay more attention to the intake of salt, but she also noticed a look at her.

"What are you looking at? Haven't you seen the fur tribe?"

"I haven't seen it."

O'Hara is a holy place of archaeology, not a holy place of biology. Before meeting Sauluo, Robin had never even seen a giant clan, let alone a fur clan who are very mysterious in the New World.

Although the O'Hara incident has been over for a few months, it has been a long time since they came to Ghost Island.

But she also can't get in touch with the cadres of the Hundred Beasts. The thousand-year-old dragon in the form of the archaeopteryx, the electric monster that generates electricity on the empty island, these are the creatures she contacts the most.

At the beginning, Olga's human-beast form was still human, and Maria's drug transformation was still in progress. At most, she would turn into a spider, and she would never become that spider-man, so she was the former orc in that instant. not seen.

"You're really. Honestly, you don't need to peek. I'll tell you what you want to ask."

This is not the first time she has seen this kind of vision. She has been away from Zuowu for so many years, and she is almost used to it.

"But don't do this when you see other fur tribes. Most fur tribes are friendly, but some guys are very annoying, such as some very fat cat fur and the like."

Hundred Animals Pokémon Center Training Office, an outside doctor is teaching some medical knowledge of auspicious eggs. Because of different abilities, almost dolls, garland rings and auspicious eggs are divided into three medical groups.

Geely Egg is a nurse in the emergency department, who needs first aid and reassurance for patients. Huahuahuan is a Chinese medicine physiotherapy department responsible for post-operative rehabilitation or recuperation, while almost dolls are physician assistants, checking patients' conditions instead of electrocardiograms and stethoscopes.

The job of auspicious eggs seems to be the simplest, but it is actually the most complicated, even if they combine their skills, but a human is mixed into these auspicious eggs. NOvelusb.com

When Musashi and her mother came here, her mother easily passed the examination. The more than ten years of medical experience is not a decoration, at least she has sufficient proficiency in Chinese herbal medicine.

But Musashi is different. Although there is no problem with bandaging and rescuing her, her personality is a bit impatient, not particularly suitable for the profession of nurse, but more suitable for the profession of security.

There are some things that people with beasts are not easy to do, and she was also the eldest sister of the bad girl after Ling, and she has an innate deterrent force to the people of Wano country.

And the reason why she is still here is mainly because she is familiar with Geely Egg, just like the person who studied how to massage Geely Egg, Geely Egg's appearance has attracted many fans, and Musashi is one of them.

In a sense, Musashi has shown her own outstanding talent. She is already learning Geely Egg by herself. Those doctors who came to the hospital to work at the beginning may not be able to communicate so smoothly with Geely Egg.

And Musashi also has a talent, her impatience is for some people, but she has enough patience for these auspicious eggs.

Geely eggs are also talented. Some Geely eggs are good at dressing and some are good at drip injection. Geely eggs who fail in some things will inevitably raise a sense of frustration. At this time, Musashi can very well appease the emotions of those Geely eggs.

This is probably a human talent, and others cannot envy it.

The body structure of auspicious eggs is different from that of humans. They do not have blood vessels on the surface of humans, and intravenous injection is the most commonly used treatment method. They need to master this skill.

This requires hands-on practice. At first, they practiced with plastic dummies, but after that, they had to go through some actual combat. They couldn't let the patient come at the beginning, so the nurses had to stab each other.

Many nurses and doctors offered their hands, including Musashi, but this made those auspicious eggs hesitant.

"lucky"

This auspicious egg pierced its own needle for the third time, looking at the tiny needle eye in Musashi's hand, it felt a little inferior.

"It's alright, it's like this at the beginning of practice, it doesn't hurt at all."

Listening to Musashi's explanation, Gili Egg didn't believe it because it pierced itself with a needle.

"lucky"

"Don't be discouraged, you've made great progress, this time it's just a little bit, come, try again, this time you will definitely succeed."

This kind of situation doesn't just happen here. Geely eggs that can't remove the bandages well, Geely eggs that debride too hard, this happens from time to time, and the newly recruited nurses are similar.

Encouragement or accusation happens from time to time, but overall the skilled nurses are helping the auspicious eggs and new nurses to grow up as quickly as possible.

After several attempts, the auspicious egg accompanied by Musashi finally succeeded.

"lucky!"

An egg was taken out and stuffed to Musashi, and then ran out happily.

"what is this?"

"Geely Egg's egg, it's a great food. Only those who approve of Geely Egg can get its egg. It seems that it has recognized you." The doctor next to him explained all this to Musashi, that is, they only have individual Talent is recognized.

As August is approaching, the temperature of Onishima has become a lot hotter, but with the help of the air conditioner Rotom, the temperature in Onishima is still very comfortable.

After an unknown amount of training, Yamato successfully made Kaido use his second finger at the cost of A Jian 3.0's death.

Because of her previous promise, she got the opportunity to go out to play, and just recently came the day when the Beast Pirates went to the Chambord Islands.

A grand auction will be held there every year in this month. To be precise, there will be auctions all the time. Because of the geographical location, people from New World and Paradise can go there.

The special location makes some areas there very prosperous, and the beasts will visit there every August.

Collections from all over the world will be sent here, which may be mixed with news of some slates, and it is not ruled out that there will be slates themselves.

Yamato also saw an introduction to the Shampoy Islands when she was reading the atlas, and she was very interested in the soap bubble theme park there