

Arceus 331

Chapter 331 The Battle to Destroy the Country

"Loto, the time is only three hours, please leave the royal city as soon as possible, Loto, please hurry up."

Rotom in the form of a loudspeaker conveyed this sound everywhere. This is the order given to them by Arceus. Three hours of evacuation time. According to estimates, three hours are enough for these people to leave the royal city. As for those who do not leave, then and He's okay.

The sun that dispels the fog and the beam of light that destroys the city walls are all the work of Arceus, and the sunny day he releases can completely change the sky.

Wano Country is now in such a situation, Arceus can interfere with the climate there with his own power, whether natural disasters continue or good weather depends entirely on his mood.

After the sunny day comes the flame of the sun, and white smoke rises beside the ravine, which is the trace left by the high temperature of the flame of the sun. Although the surrounding land seems to be no different at this time, it has already become like a mountain of flames.

This is what Arceus did after his arrival. His lack of indiscriminate attack is the last limit. According to Mandelfish's intelligence, he targeted the royal family and the Praetorian Guard. Others, even soldiers, as long as Drop the weapon and he can ignore it.

The kingdom army is still in order under the orders and jurisdiction of their respective leaders, but ordinary people are different, especially those who have seen how the city walls are destroyed.

There were still tears in their eyes, caused by the sting of the bright light of the sun's flames, but they couldn't care less about it now, the previous war didn't make them flee, because the rebels and the king's army were still fighting. within the acceptable range.

But what happened at this time was beyond their comprehension, and in the face of incomprehensible things, escaping was the first thing they thought of.

That beam of light can destroy the city wall, and it can destroy the city. They don't think their body will be stronger than the city wall.

"Get up! Don't fall asleep! Hurry up!"

"What... what happened?! The rebels came in?!"

"It's not a rebel, in short, leave quickly, we can't stay here anymore!"

At the same time, the news was also spreading in the city. More and more people chose to carry gold and silver to start running. Although those people outside the city were the so-called rebels, they were not afraid of anything. Many people were even in the rebels. And relatives.

was originally a group of civilians who were forced to oppose, and what they opposed from beginning to end was only the royal family.

Most of the army was still under control, but the sentinels on duty were different, even the superior didn't stop them because he himself had already run away.

This kind of non-human attack made them unable to resist at all, and the sound of Rotom's voice could also be heard in the royal city. Sikai V didn't believe in the so-called divine punishment at all, and even picked up a gun and shot him. Rotom in the sky.

"Shut up! What are you monsters shouting! This king is the only king of the Kingdom of Sikai! Here this king is the god!" NoVELusB.com

The bullet left a dent on Rotom's body, but Rotom didn't care about it at all. This kind of body was just a piece of clothing to them, and it didn't matter if it was crushed.

"The ignorant, Loto, the ignorant who covets the Lord's treasure, Loto."

Rotom in the sky did not get angry because of this, but instead increased his ridicule to Sikai V.

But at this time, another change completely collapsed the relatively stable situation. Arceus just released his attack on the clouds and gave them time to evacuate, but Kaido didn't have so many thoughts.

The body of a huge blue dragon appeared in the sky, and it was hot towards the royal city. The high temperature flames divided the royal city into two parts.

"Hey, Kaido, it hasn't been three hours yet!"

"I know, but didn't you leave time for those commoners? These guys in Wangcheng obviously don't count, I can't help it, hey, you are the fifth generation, right? It's that boy who moved Laozi's subordinates. ?"

Kaido's huge body lowered slightly, and with a breath, Sikai V slumped on the ground.

"Che, who did I think I was, but turned out to be such a coward? What about your previous courage?"

Dare to attack Mandelphish, Kaido thought that this man was at least a bit daring, not saying that he would die indifferently, but at least he could talk to him for a few words, but he was so intimidated.

"What are you all doing, everyone other than the royal family and the Guards can leave, but I remind you that if any of the Guards or the royal family joins among you, the entire island will die!"

Kaido's voice spread almost all over the island through Rotom's loudspeaker, and his sabotage accelerated the escape of those people and caused some civil unrest.

For example, some Praetorian Guards also wanted to run away quietly, but they were directly beaten back by other people who were recognized. They didn't think that the monster in the sky was joking, and no one wanted to cause them to be implicated.

Looking at the chaotic royal city, Kaido did nothing, he was waiting for three hours, after all, Arceus promised these evacuation times.

Kaido's attack also made Xikai V realize the reality. He tried to explain, but whether it was bait or flattery, Kaido ignored him at all, and when he tried to escape, he would definitely be blocked by Kaido's attack. retreat.

Kaido's attack can kill him directly, but Kaido just doesn't do it, and Rotom in the sky is still counting down, which is like a death announcement for him.

A definite time of death is more frightening than sudden death.

"Senior, senior, you have a way, right? You and my father have an agreement."

The swordsman next to him became the last person he could rely on, but the swordsman did not speak. Someone had already recognized Kaido's identity just now. His image often appeared in the newspapers, and monsters with ten-digit bounties were not at all. Not that he can match.

The countdown to Rotom came to an end, most of the people also evacuated, and Arceus also passed over.

"You don't seem to know what sin you have committed? Then let me tell you, greed is your original sin."

He felt the familiar atmosphere in the palace, and under his inspiration, another slate returned to his position.

"The things that touch me are your sins. The Kingdom of Sikaia will be erased from history because of your actions. From now on, you are just a piece of history."

As time was completely exhausted, Arceus's sanctioned light gravel had also been condensed, and the light of judgment swept the entire royal city with him as the center. Just a moment of effort turned this place into a piece of dust in history.

Whether it was the Janissaries or Sikai V, all the lives left in the royal city were completely wiped out, and nothing could prove that they ever existed.

Chapter 332 The Evolutionary Light of Mandelfish

The outside of the king's city is full of ruins, which are the traces left by the royal army and the rebel army for many years of fighting, but the inside of the king's city has turned into a sea of dust.

Under the annihilation of Sanction Guangli, there is nothing left but dust, and the components of dust are also very complicated, Xikai V and his royal city have been completely integrated.

As for the so-called swordsman, in the face of the final attack, he did not run away and beg for mercy like Xikai V did. He tried to fight back with his sword, but let alone the one who had just learned about cutting steel, even if he was a great swordsman, he did not fight back. The power of this catastrophe.

In the face of the trampling of giants, a nest of ants will not make any difference, whether it is a king ant, a worker ant, or a larger soldier ant, the outcome is the same.

The people who escaped slowly were thrown to the ground by this air wave, and then, when they got up from the ground, the tall royal city behind them had long since disappeared, and a basin was created out of thin air on Kraigana Island.

The expressions of the Royal Army who once guarded here and the rebel army who wanted to attack here were completely dull.

Many of them who lived in the first half of the Great Route never left Kraigana, and today they saw what the ultimate force would do.

Relying on the wall of the royal city, the royal army has been sitting back and relax, because the rebel army was very weak in attacking the fortress.

Similarly, in order to capture the city wall, the rebels also paid huge casualties, but this made the royal city they had been fighting over for a long time like a toy in the opponent's hands.

The dragon breathed out the breath of the dragon, and judgment fell from the sky, turning the majestic city into a bubble.

At the same time, a bigger fear appeared in their hearts, especially some well-informed people in the Kingdom's army.

They knew that after the raid that night, a group of powerful reinforcements had been added to the insurgent army, accompanied by fierce artillery support.

That ship was more mobile than them, and the power and range of its guns far exceeded the weapons of their kingdom. If it weren't for the large number of shells, they would have nothing to do.

And a few months later, such a terrifying existence also came to Kraigana Island, which is obviously someone who has been provoked by the action that day, if these people are in the same group as the insurgent army

Thinking of this consequence, many of the Royal Army retreated. While most of them were still staring blankly at the sight of the Royal City, they took off their armor and fled from the Royal Army.nOv&lUsb.Com

But what they didn't know was that the rebels were also very confused at this time. Mandelfish had inexplicably brought people to join their team. According to him, it was because they had become enemies with each other.

Although the battle situation was not smooth, the people of Mandelfish were very calm and just waited with confidence every day. Cerf thought it was just an ordinary reinforcement, but he did not expect such a terrifying existence.

Then he can't imagine what this country will be like next. In the face of Xikai V, they can resist, but in the face of these people, he doesn't know how to resist.

Compared with the sluggishness or panic of these people, the pirates on board of the Beast Pirates roared excitedly. There are very few old people among these people, and many of them are pirates that have been expanded in recent years.

Although is still called pirates, the development of the beasts is getting closer and closer to the local warlords under the control of some disciplines formulated by Arceus and Asier, and there is almost no objection to the occupation of the beasts in the territory.

And these newcomers are also the people who came to the pirates after being reviewed. The cult of personality in the pirate group has a strong influence. They may not like it, but the command from the captain can change their habits. .

These people have almost never seen Kaido take action because of the new arrivals. This time, the cadres stationed on different islands were specially asked to bring new people as much as possible when they received the order to rectify their manpower.

Take back the slate, take revenge, stand up, show force to the newcomers, Kaido and Arceus's harvest is far more than what they see.

Although they didn't do anything, they were more excited than they were watching the destruction caused by Kaido and Arceus.

Arceus's business is done, and next is Kaido's home court. As the governor of the Beast Pirates, he is still very face-to-face outside.

"Well, you guys have seen it! This is the price of ignoring Lao Tzu's banner, hurting the cadres I value, and robbing me of my things!

Remember what happened today, unless you also want to experience the feeling of destruction! "

After destroying the capital of the Kingdom of Sikaal, the beasts have no interest in this country at all. According to their investigations here, this country has no meaning to occupy at all, and they are not even qualified to join themselves.

The location is too remote, not on the main route, the economic development potential is not high, the soil environment is not good, and the foggy climate is not suitable for the development of agriculture and animal husbandry under the beasts.

And it's still far in the first half of the Great Route, and it doesn't have the massive gold resources and shellfish specialties like an empty island, so it's not worth the beasts' occupation at all.

Moreover, given the economic situation, I'm afraid they can't afford to use the banner of the beasts. After all, even those weapons were given by Mandelfish at half price.

There are many islands in the New World that even actively seek the shelter of beasts, but Kraigana Island does not have this qualification.

The Hundred Beast Pirates temporarily renovated the coast of Kraigana Island. For these ordinary pirates, this action was like watching a movie, allowing them to experience the power of their captain.

Pirates' carnival sometimes doesn't need a reason. For example, the reason now is to celebrate the strength of his own captain. At the same time, Mandelfish has also obtained something that belongs to him.

"Menderfish, come here."

In the carnival of the pirates, Mandelfish was called out alone.

"Master Arceus."

"You did a good job. Although you couldn't bring the things back directly, you also found what I needed, so you will get the reward you deserve."

A group of power was separated from the water drop slate, which was very similar to the light group Yamato obtained back then, and then the light group slowly merged into Mandelfish's body.

"This is the light of evolution, what you do is worthy of this reward, your ability will become stronger and more comprehensive, keep working hard."

The light of evolution broke the limitation of his ability of the carp king, allowing him to have the qualification to evolve into a tyrannical carp dragon.

Compared to the carp king with only scales, the tyrannical carp dragon has more comprehensive strength while inheriting the hard scales. It is an epic enhancement belonging to Mandelfish, but there is no change for the time being after the light of evolution is integrated into the body.

"Master Arceus, this evolution."

"Use your abilities more during this time, and when the time comes, you will naturally evolve."

Chapter 333 The Name of the Sea Emperor

The development of fruit is also a part of his own training, and the conditions for evolution have been opened. With the enhancement of Mandelfish's own strength, evolution is a matter of course, and sometimes some opportunities can also increase his evolutionary trend.

"Listen to all of you! Mandelfish got this for no other reason than because he found something corresponding, and this condition applies to all!"

Mandelfish is just the beginning. Pearman, who discovered that the tabletop was suspected of being a slate, and those who accompanied Mandelfish have corresponding rewards, and the dead also have corresponding pensions.novelusb.Com

While the beasts were resting, the Royal Army and the rebel army started a new round of negotiations away from the residence of a duke in the royal city. Sikai V was the only son of Sikai IV. He had no heirs when he was young, but he did. It didn't work anymore.

After all, Arceus destroyed the entire royal family, and he had no heirs, which reduced the number of people involved.

Now that the bloodline of the Sikai royal family has completely disappeared, then the future of the kingdom of Sikai has become a problem, and who will rule this country has become the biggest problem.

And the existence of the Beast Pirates is also an unsolvable problem for them, they don't know what the other party wants to do.

But in the early morning of the next day, the people of the beasts left here directly. After confirming that the people of the beasts had really left, the remaining people who commanded the kingdom's army and the rebels started a new conflict.

This time, it was not to maintain the so-called kingship, but to fight for its own interests. Not long after the beasts left, two different groups of people arrived on Kraigana Island, one of which was the navy's investigation team.

They knew that Kaido and the others had landed on the island, but they didn't respond. A war-torn non-joined country was not worth their military strength.

In the face of a flying enemy, a surprise attack makes little sense.

The second group of people are not people, but a group of baboons. These baboons are called human imitators. They always imitate some human behaviors. They imitated some crew members in the place where they lived before. They came here by coincidence after sailing.

Although the navy had not dispatched personnel before, photographers from the World Economic News Agency sneaked in. Morgans was addicted to big news, and he naturally had many such reporters.

Quinn's news of the air closure through Umit spread almost all over the underground world, and Morgens naturally received the news, and his intuition told him that big news would definitely happen.

So he sent some capable subordinates to get here before the closure of the flight. The World Economic News Agency has its own branches in various sea areas. At this time, he has already sent the photos back with the help of special equipment.

The razed royal city, Kaido breathing flames in the sky, and his most satisfying photo this time - the photo of Arceus.

He was so shocked when Arceus unleashed the flames of the sun that he forgot to press the shutter, but in the end it worked wonders.

Arceus stands above the clouds, and the sunlight enhanced by the clear sky forms a perfect halo.

Coupled with the condescending figure, although the size of Arceus in the photo is not as large as Kaido's blue dragon's body, compared to the "pet" photo captured by the CP agent at the bow, this photo highlights the opponent's body even more. style.

"It's like punishment.. This is a work of art, but unfortunately it is a pirate, otherwise this photo will definitely win the world government's photography award."

The official competition does not advocate this kind of behavior to promote pirates, so his photos are at most involved in some private activities.

And the confidence of winning is his confidence as a photographer. Just when he was immersed in his work, on an island in the New World, Morgens laughed wildly when he saw the photos and news papers sent back by his subordinates.

"Wow, hahaha, that guy Kaido really made a big news, guys! We've started writing, and who's going to get the bonus for this issue depends on your performance, this is a feat of "destroying the country"! "

In the form of an albatross, he looked at the reports sent by the frontline reporters and began to think about how to write the news headlines. Violent news can always attract the attention of others, not to mention the act of destroying the country.

Panic, shock, these complex emotions are bound to set off a big news.

"Change it here, only mention the destruction of the country, not to mention the casualties, it's better to let them think that everyone is dead, wow ha ha ha ha."

Morgans is very good at false propaganda. The original information of the incident has not changed, but he only said part of it, and then he said some ambiguous words, so that they would make up some pictures by themselves.

"As for the reason. Change it, say they offended the beasts, um, that's it."

Morgans does this kind of exaggerated behavior every day. According to his understanding, Kaido will not settle anything because of this matter. After all, his behavior is making him famous.

Moreover, the headquarters of the World Economic News Agency looks like a huge teapot, but above it is actually a giant hot air balloon. Their headquarters will move, and Morgans will often change positions, because the news he reports will sometimes cause confusion. Little trouble.

There are some people in the world government and pirates who hope that he can shut up completely. He even has a lot of fighting skills, but no one knows it.

These reporters at the headquarters did not have to say anything about their writing, and soon they wrote four or five manuscripts and sent them to Morgans for review.

"Yes, yes, very well written, replace the front page headline of the next issue, what is the singer who released a new song? Compared to Kaido who destroyed the country, no one cares about a song at all."

"President, what is the headline of the newspaper?"

"Well, you're right in reminding us that we need an exaggerated name to destroy the country and the king is not worth mentioning in front of them. There! The sea emperor who reigns over the world! Just write it like this!"

Morgans' mind was spinning, and he finally came up with such a name.

"Wait! It's not enough, one Kaido is not enough, we have to add some competition. Lingling and Whitebeard, bring the pen, I will write this issue myself!"

The following description appeared in Morgans' newspaper the next day

The Pirate Queen of the Totland Sea-BIG-MOM-Charlotte Lingling.

After Roger's death, he was known as the person closest to the position of One Piece, the strongest man in the world - Whitebeard - Edward Newgate.

Beast Kaido - A terrifying pirate who directly destroyed a country because of his anger.

They are like the emperors of the sea, who come to the new world, divide up most of the sea area of the new world, and compete for the legendary treasure.

It is Morgens who is not afraid of big things, he is not afraid of big things, but also tries to make things more influential, such as the name of the emperor of the sea.

Chapter 334 Heaven Punisher

These three people didn't promote this kind of thing themselves, but Morgens directly crowned them, especially Whitebeard and BIG·MOM, and their children suddenly saw the news.

The result was just as Morgans expected, the title of the emperor of the sea made the next day's newspaper a big sale, and the result of the newspaper's big sale also triggered a lot of consequences, and different people had different reactions to it.

"Mom! That guy Morgans has another news, he called you the emperor of the sea this time, lick lick~"

Perospero took the newspaper and reported the situation to Charlotte Lingling.

"But Mom, that guy Morgans is really restless, and the situation in the sea area will become more complicated. Those newcomers who don't know the sky and the earth are afraid that they want to ascend to the throne."

Katakuri is more concerned about the impact of this incident. Whether it is the BIG·MOM Pirates or the Beasts Pirates, even the Whitebeard Pirates have one thing in common, that is, the second-in-command is very busy.

Because their captains are always on the wrong path, most of the BIG·MOM pirates are now arranged by Katakuri and Perospero, and Charlotte Lingling is adding to them most of the time younger siblings.

"Well~ Well, it doesn't matter, those guys will understand what horror is."

"Of course, after all, there is a mother in the world."

Although Perospero said so, but Katakuri could see the helplessness in Perospero's eyes. For the world today, the most dangerous thing is not outsiders, but Charlotte Lingling herself.

If those newcomers fell ill and robbed BIG·MOM of food, and then caused her to have an eating disorder, that would be the real big trouble.

Perospero has already made up his mind to increase the * force, but he has to find a way to persuade BIG·MOM to create more Soldier Homitz.

At the same time, in the New World waters, a large ship that looks like a beluga whale is having a banquet like the pirates on board.

This is the Moby Dick, Whitebeard's ride. Compared to Kaido and Charlotte Lingling, Whitebeard stayed on the ship for more time, and he enjoyed the feeling of sailing with his family.

"Dad, it's time for you to take medicine."

"I'm not sick, what medicine should I take?"

"Your body needs to be recuperated, Dad, listen to the doctor. It's just a small problem now, and it will be worse if it gets worse."

Although Whitebeard has not yet reached the point of inhaling oxygen, his body has begun to need medication, and some minor problems have begun to appear in his body.

"Gu la la la, alcohol is the best medicine, and drinking is enough for this minor illness."

Just as two nurses dressed in leopard print were coaxing a child to let Whitebeard drink medicine, Marco also came over with a newspaper.

"Dad, big news, you've become an emperor."

"emperor?"

Taking advantage of the fact that Whitebeard was attracted by the word "Emperor", the nurse also directly put the medicine into his mouth. Fortunately, Whitebeard was sitting on the reclining chair, otherwise this action would not be too difficult.

Scenes like happen from time to time, and the people on the boat are used to it. After taking the newspaper, Whitebeard also read the report.

"Tsk, that kid Kaido has made a lot of noise, the emperor of the sea, the old bird of Morgans really dares to say it."

"But Dad, isn't this cool? If you are the emperor of the sea, we are also princes."noveLuSb.Com

"Gu la la la, that seems to be correct? What, do you want to be a prince?"

"No, I'm not interested in that, I just want to be with you, Dad."

"Stupid boy, but this is good news, little ones! The banquet continues! But be careful in the future, trouble will come soon!"

"Oh!"

Whitebeard doesn't care much about this false name, but this name seems to allow him to better protect his family. At this time, the Moby Dick is heading for the direction of Chambord, but Whitebeard is not going to the first half, but Go to Fishman Island to meet your old friend.

Whitebeard and BIG·MOM have no negative emotions in general here, but the Navy who saw the newspaper is different.

"That * of Morgans! The emperor of the sea? Is he naming pirates! Pirates can become emperors, so what is our navy?!"

There is more than one similar voice, whether it is the hawk or the dove faction, they are very angry about the behavior of Morgans to promote the pirates, but they have nothing to do.

The World Economic News Agency is a legal enterprise, and the world government has not objected to this news. They believe that there will be more pirates to challenge the so-called emperor position and increase the civil strife among the pirates.

As for the more pirates and navies who went out to sea, they never took it seriously. Things have two sides, but the officials of the World Government can greatly magnify one side for the sake of profit, and let people ignore the other side.

Although the damage caused by Kaido and Arceus is terrifying, they are not the only ones who can do such a thing. The photos recorded due to the mistakes of the journalists do not contain the scene of Arceus' attack.

The word of mouth is also much less informative, and they just continue to increase its danger level.

For the world government, destroying the capital of a non-joined country is nothing at all, and even destroying all the alliance countries and islands is nothing. There are not one or two such islands in the long history.

It wasn't Joey Boy who was resurrected. In addition to the name of the emperor of the sea, the result of this incident was the change of the reward order.

Kaido's photo has not been changed, it is impossible to put Kaido's dragon form on it when they know the real face.

And both the title and the photo of Arceus have been replaced, the photo taken by the reporter replaced the original photo, and the former hider has also become the punisher.

Hundred Beasts Kaido - Bounty 3.579 million Bailey.

The Punisher Arceus - Bounty 2.58 billion Bailey.

And this change in the bounty also led to a special situation. The Beast Pirates became the only pirate group in the sea with a bounty of more than 2 billion for both of them.

Although Whitebeard still has the highest bounty among those who are alive and have not been arrested, the Beasts Pirates, as the youngest pirate group in the imperial group, has shown a strength that is no weaker than any pirate group. with status.

Beasts have no opinion on this title. The King of Beasts directly launched a new carnival on the way, and the religion of Arceus has also undergone certain changes.

The photo of the reward order is really good. After zooming in and cropping, the photo was decorated in many places, such as Shaina's ship, ghost island's office and so on.

And while Yamato in Onishima looked at the newspaper that came back, he seemed to have discovered something extraordinary.

"Foster father and father actually sneaked out behind my back?!"

Chapter 335 Yamato's Ending Vacation, Lieutenant Commander Doro

"The Beast Pirates destroyed the capital of the Kingdom of Sikaar, and there is a piece of soil on the island? How do you pronounce this word?"

After finding out that Arceus and Kaido were secretly out to play behind her back, after a brief meditation, she also read the content of the newspaper, and then she found that there seemed to be a lot of uncommon words.

"Maria, please read it for me, those words are so complicated." Endorsement and training by Kaido, she would rather choose the latter, Kaido's training brings physical fatigue and pain, but the words are simply Physically and mentally exhausted.

Although no one intends to let her engage in scientific research, she still has to learn basic mathematics and writing, and cultural classes will always be a part of her pain.

Maria took over the newspaper and read it. The newspaper written by Morgans has a strong literary foundation, and the description of only a few words makes people easily think of some scary things.

For Maria and Jack, this kind of thing doesn't matter at all. It seems to them that the country that has offended the beasts is destroyed. It's just that Robin on the side listens to the content of the newspaper and his face gradually turns pale.

This kind of thing seems to be no different from the Demon Slaughter Order.

"Robin, what's wrong with you?"

"It's nothing, I just feel like destroying a country or something"

Yamato suddenly remembered that Robin's hometown was destroyed in the same way, but she and Maria and Jack had completely different views.

"Don't worry, the newspapers always like to exaggerate, didn't they have all kinds of rhetoric when O'Hara was destroyed before?" noVelusb.Com

Believe me, this is definitely not the case. If it was my father, I might have done it, but it is impossible for the adoptive father to affect so many innocent people. "

This is Yamato's inherent cognition. Since she can remember, Arceus has been very rational most of the time. Except for things related to the slate, he is rarely angry, and she already knows the gap between the newspaper and the facts.

"And look at these people in Wano, how well they live, if you don't believe me, I'll take you to say hello when they come back. There must be a difference between news and facts, and from the beginning to the end they only said that the capital was destroyed, don't do it. It's all ambiguous words."

As long as she thinks she is a friend, she will pay attention to each other's situation, and she doesn't think there is anything wrong with what she said.

Associating the situation of living and working in peace and contentment in Wano and the world government's daily falsification in newspapers, Robin felt that Yamato had some truth.

At this time, she also had a new idea. While researching the history, she went outside to see what the real world was like.

"Okay, don't think about it too much, hurry up and play, or you won't have a chance when father and the others come back."

Yamato's reminder made Maria and the others react. Now the game time is very precious, and it really shouldn't be wasted any more.

According to Yamato's knowledge of Kaido, he will definitely have a raid test when he comes back.

But she only guessed half right. When Kaido came back two months later, he did hold a surprise test, but the difficulty of the test, or the level of death, was not what she thought.

Because Kaido was the only one who came back.

"Father, Father, has he not come back?"

"He? He's looking for his things outside. I'm the only one who came back first. Now let me check your practice results. It's better that you don't waste your training in the past few months."

He opened his mouth and started breathing fire. He wanted to see how Yamato's abilities were applied. However, although Yamato could spit out some freezing air after playing for a long time, he couldn't compete with Kaido's flames and was finally burned by Kaido. run around.

"Father! Are you going to kill!"

"How is it possible, I have prepared tree fruits for you to treat burns. Now hurry up and find a way to fight back! You have been wasting time these few months!"

On the way back, the fleet of Hundred Beasts separated. Only the Hundred Beasts returned to Wano, and the other ships scattered around Kraigana Island to search for the slate.

Since there are stray slates on Kraigana, there may be other islands as well.

So several ships went to other directions, and the direction of the ship led by Shaina was the first half of the great route near the Upside Down Mountain.

The news effect spread by Morgans also began to ferment. After One Piece, the title of Sea Emperor appeared in their cognition, and Morgans called them the closest person to One Piece in news reports.

And this also gave many pirates a clearer direction. For example, before becoming the pirate king, they set a small goal to become the new emperor of the sea. Some naive pirates tried to replicate Kaido's feat of destroying the country, and then they Experience the terror of the state apparatus.

Except for a very small number of pirates, most pirates do not have the ability to challenge a country.

All in all, the tide of the great pirate era started by Roger has become more turbulent at this time.

"Big sister! There is an island in front of you. Let's go and supply. We are running out of supplies on board."

On Shaina's ship, the pirates in charge of logistics reported the situation of supplies and made a request for supplies.

"Well, let's get to the shore." Looking at the silent slate radar on her wrist, Shaina showed no expression. Mandelfish found a slate by chance, but she and Jhin didn't gain much. Help The biggest task in the past was the information about the empty island at the beginning.

This naturally made her not satisfied, so this team sailed the farthest distance, but under the temptation of the reward, they did not complain.

Mandelfish is almost the chosen son of the gods of Arceus. So far, he has received most of the rewards, which makes everyone admire his good luck.

And Mandelfish himself can be considered a responsible person, most people are just envious, a few people are jealous, but no one has done harm to his teammates.

In order not to be delayed by messy things to find the slate, Shaina ordered people to hide the boat in a hidden place, leaving some people to guard the boat and then set foot on the island with others.

Anyway, you have to replenish the supplies, so there is no problem in simply exploring.

It was just that at the regular port of the island, she saw a brightly dazzling ship with a pirate flag parked here.

"The pirates in Paradise are really big, and they just stand in the port so brightly."

"Otherwise, there are a lot of idiots here, let's go, hurry up and replenish the supplies, the eldest sister is watching from the back."

A few pirates in civilian clothes walked towards the market, but soon there was a row of footsteps behind them, and the figure of the navy appeared here.

"Get out of the way, out of the way! Make way for Major Dolo! Don't interfere with the Navy's mission!"

Chapter 336 This table seems suspicious

This island has more than one port. This navy team landed from another port. Now they are holding guns and heading towards another port where the pirate ship is docked. At the same time, there is also a warship approaching in the direction of the port.

"Those pirates are going to be out of luck. It seems that this group of navy is going for them."

This posture is obviously a prepared encirclement net, it seems that they have been targeted for a long time.

"Deserved, who made them so blatant." Dare to openly park the pirate ship flying the pirate flag at the port of the island, even if it is an island that is not under the command of an allied country, it may attract the navy.

In that case, whether to arrest or not depends entirely on the interest of the leader of the team. If it is an allied country, the situation will be more complicated.

Even they hide their ships in hidden places in the open sea in order to avoid unnecessary troubles. The behavior of pirates in these paradises makes them feel too pretentious.

"Not necessarily, there are some amazing guys among the newcomers these years. Maybe the unfortunate one is the navy, a mere navy major. Those who don't know it think he is a major general."

The major of the headquarters is also a low-level officer in this sea, and there are a lot of them. They form the basic command system of the navy.

They don't pay attention to this level of navy. Although they may not be the opponent's opponents themselves, they are not the leaders of the team. If you want to win them, you must at least have a lieutenant general to lead the team. It must be those monster-level lieutenant generals.

"Forget it, it has nothing to do with us, hurry up to replenish supplies, they can fight if they want."

continued walking towards the defense line of the town, and took out a phone bug halfway.

"The weather is not very good, a seagull just flew by, but it's not big."

Phone worms are not a rare material. The snails used to make phone worms exist widely in the sea. Some people with strong hands-on ability can make phone worms by hand.

And the accessories and decorations of the phone bug have formed an industrial chain. The required parts are very cheap and can be found in not very remote islands.

As for domestication, it is not a problem. The biggest interest of this species is to find a human to feed them and live a flat life.

It is not strange for civilians to use telephone bugs, but it would seem strange to emphasize the navy. After all, most people don't pay attention to where the navy goes. When they encounter a situation outside, they will use this method to transmit information to prevent the partition wall from having ears.

The seagull refers to the navy, and those who do not say that they are not a threat continue to embark on the road of replacing materials.

And the navy that rounded up the pirates did not gain much. Although the pirate ship was blocked, there were only a few pirates left behind.

"Major Doro, learned from the captured pirates that the rest of the boat went to the village on the east side of the island."

There is not only one village on an island. There are some villages and towns in the habitable plains. The village on the east side of the island is also a relatively rich gathering place for residents.

"Major Doro, they seem to have just left, what should we do?"

"Doesn't it need to be said? We are the navy and the partners of justice. Of course, we must bring those pirates to justice. Let's go out and destroy all the pirates!"

He took out his pistol and caught a few pirates. He didn't intend to keep alive such ordinary pirates.

This group of navy and the previous batch of buyers were staggered. The pirates of the beasts went to the town in the center of the island, where commerce is more convenient, although the price will be more expensive than the surrounding villages, but the variety of goods is more comprehensive .

What they need to supplement is not only food and fresh water, tobacco, alcohol, medicine, and some raw materials for making gunpowder are also necessary materials.

When these pirates returned to the gathering place with their supplies, they did not see Shaina.

"Where's the eldest sister? Why is she gone?"

"My eldest sister will definitely explore the whole island every time she goes to a new island. Have you even forgotten this? I'm going to spend the night here today."

Looking at the sun starting to go down, a few pirates started to set up camp and make a fire. It would be good to have a rest on land. Although the cabin is relatively spacious, they also live in bunk beds at the grassroots level, and only the cadres can live in separate rooms.

On land, they can find some more spacious places to rest.

As for when Shaina will come back, that's not something they should worry about at all. Putting them together is not enough for Shaina to fight alone.

"Let's go, I think the soup will be simmered for a long time, go explore in the nearby mountains and forests, in case there really is something from Lord Arceus, Mandelphish is lucky enough to be able to find something in the delivery, I I can't believe my luck is so bad."

According to Shaina's habit, she will start exploring from a distance, hand over the close range to her subordinates, and then check the gaps when she returns, but it turns out that Mandelfish's kind of luck is difficult to replicate.

The slate was not found, but they brought a wild boar back.

"What are you doing back with this thing? The meat of this thing is unpalatable."

"Try your cooking skills, in case it's not bad, but then again, is there any fireworks show here?"

"I haven't heard of it. This is not an island with a developed tourism industry. How can there be such an activity? Haven't seen enough of the fireworks on the ghost island?"

"That's not true. It's just that there is a fire on the side of the mountain, which seems to be quite lively."

After the team that went out to explore finished saying this, the camp suddenly became extremely quiet.
noVELuSB.com

"Did the eldest sister also go to the east?"

"Does the eldest sister often use fire?"

A group of pirates looked at each other, and finally got up and ran over there in unison. Although they may not be able to help, it is still no problem to clear the scene.

In the village on the east side of the island, Shaina felt that she was inexplicably involved in some troubles. She just went for a walk in the village. Mandelfish's experience showed one thing, although others could not use the power of the slate, but can be used in other ways.

For example, as a table, as a grinding table, maybe it will be built into a house. If you think about it according to this way of thinking, the difficulty of exploration will be higher than a star.

So she just wandered around the village with a radar, but inexplicably met a group of pirates who had nothing to do with her, and she was always indifferent to this kind of unrelated foreign affairs.

This is the character caused by the escape life in the past. At that time, it was easy to kill yourself by meddling with your own business, but just as those pirates started to loot, a fire immediately surrounded the village.

Chapter 337 Naval Sophistry

"Are these guys crazy?"

Even if she doesn't need to perceive, she can be sure that the fire has nothing to do with these pirates, because it is impossible for pirates to burn themselves when setting fire. novel.usb.com

Flames cannot harm Lunaria people. They are born to be the darlings of flames. In addition to controlling their own flames, they also have extremely high resistance to external flames. This kind of flame is no different from normal temperature to her.

But in the air she smelled a smell similar to gasoline, which seemed to have a strong accelerant, and what happened next explained the reason for it all.

Intensive gunfire sounded from the periphery, and the targets of all activities on the street became targets. Whether it was civilians or pirates, people outside were shooting indiscriminately.

An old woman and a young man beside her fell in a panic. Although her heart did not fluctuate at all, she still spread the wings on her back to block the incoming bullets.

Many times Shaina's performance is more like a contradictory aggregate, indifferent, showing indifference to things that have nothing to do with Arceus and herself.

In the beginning, Momo was successful because of her sense of smell, but when something happened right under her nose, she wouldn't ignore it at all. For example, she saved Momo at the time.

Although that wasn't her goal, she also loosened the opponent's chains and let him hide in one place.

She won't save someone deliberately, but when the ordinary person next to her is dying, she doesn't mind pulling a hand.

"Find a place to hide yourself."

Shaina's wings were wrapped in scorching flames, and her body was full, and these bullets could not cause any damage to her at all.

"Thank you"

"Come on, I don't have time to take care of you all the time."

He raised his hand and slashed forward, clearing a path in the sea of fire.

From the day she regained her freedom, her goal was to make herself more rational, but nothing came of it. In most cases, she was still a perceptive creature.

"You were the ones who attacked me first."

being attacked by herself means that this matter no longer has nothing to do with her, and she has a reason to act.

The fire blocked the entire village and spread rapidly under the action of accelerants and wind. The pirates who were originally on the street were the initial targets, but as the fire spread, the entire village was affected.

"Major Doro, aren't we going too far?"

Most of the navy was on alert from the outside, and only a few cronies followed Doro into the burning village, and they came to further purge the remaining pirates.

"I ask you, what is the crime of this group of pirates we are chasing?"

"Robbery, murder, many villages and towns were looted by them."

"Yes, we finally blocked them. If we let them run out again, will there be more victims? Sacrifice the people of this village to save more people from danger. What's the point of doing this? wrong?"

Looking at the flames burning around him, Doro didn't feel the slightest fluctuation in his heart.

"It's the pirates who are to blame. Since the beginning of the era of the great pirates, so many people have been hurt. I'm just working hard to get rid of the pirates.

As long as pirates remain in this world, many innocent people have to live in fear. In order to destroy them, the necessary sacrifices are inevitable. "

He raised his right hand and pressed the switch toward a suspected pirate. A flame shot out from his hand. The red flame was like gangrene, which directly burned the struggling man into coke.

The strange object originally hidden under the coat was revealed. Doro's arms were carrying cylindrical weapons, which looked a bit like a rocket launcher or a spinning stick, but two pipes extended from the back of the cylindrical object, each with the hanging weapon. Containers on both sides of the waist are attached.

Starting from the lieutenant, the members of the navy will get the justice coat issued above. In addition to the justice coat, the school-level officers can wear other outfits according to their preferences, and Doro's coat is such a strange set of devices.

"The stuff of the scientific research team is really easy to use. It should be equipped with more of this kind of stuff."

This set of flamethrowers is also a test item for the scientific research unit. It was originally used by the biochemical unit to destroy dangerous goods. However, this weapon has good combat performance, so a batch of them was dispatched for testing, and Doro was one of the testers. .

A strong flame shot out from the tip of the barrel.

The fuel in the fuel tank connected to the other end of the conduit was continuously transformed into flames, and some houses that were not burning were also ignited, and the surroundings were surrounded by flames in the blink of an eye.

Along with the burning of the building, some screams came from it.

"Major, this is too much. Those people may be ordinary villagers."

"Are you all fools? The people in this village have been killed by the pirates, and we are destroying the pirates."

Doro said ruthlessly, this kind of thing cannot be stabbed out, otherwise his work will be finished, so both pirates and insiders will be eliminated here.

And there are more achievements to destroy the vicious pirates.

"This is not the first time, we are all grasshoppers on a rope, keep your mouth shut, or no one will end well."

"Yes"

"And I told you before, don't think about it, these pirates can bring military merit.

Only by getting a higher position can we better destroy the pirates. For the safety of most people, the deaths of these people are worth it. This is all the fault of those vicious pirates.

If you feel bad about it, then it's better to destroy a few more pirates in the future. "

Doro's flamethrower kept releasing flames, and he was explaining this to his henchmen.

"Only by destroying the pirates as soon as possible can peace be restored on the sea. We are here for justice!"

If he wants to climb to a higher position, he can't be a bare commander. Garp has his own faction, and he doesn't have Garp's strength. Of course, for these people who have long been bound by interests, of course, he must pay close attention to training.

At this time, the house next to it collapsed due to the fire, but just before the collapse, a thin figure was pushed out of the window.

Looking at the little girl whose skin was on fire, Doro frowned.

"Give her a bandage."

"Major.. this?"

"What's the matter? We are the navy and partners of justice. How can the injured child ignore it, she is not a pirate at first glance, and she has no idea what happened."

But looking at the collapsed house and the arm that seemed to be struggling, he still aimed the flamethrower there.

Chapter 338 The Continuation of the Tradition of Hundred Beasts

Flames spewed out of the jet, and the ruins were completely enveloped in flames. During this period, he naturally encountered real pirates, but Doro didn't just talk about it. In addition to the flamethrower he carried, his physical skills faced These pirates are also very strong.

And at this time, the phone bug on Doro also rang.

"Major Doro! It's not good, there is a gap in the fire wall, and many people ran out of it! What should I do?!"

"What! Kill them all, those people are pirates and comrades!"

Hearing the report from the outsiders, Doro was shocked for a while. If there were witnesses who saw him setting fire, then he would be in big trouble, so he immediately issued an order to kill for this reason.

However, there was a new situation before answering the instructions over there.

"New situation, Major Doro! There are pirates behind us, they are attacking us, and the leaders are the capable ones!"

In his eyes, he could see two green knives popping out of a female elbow, constantly harvesting the lives of the nearby navy, that is Shaina's cadre.

Most of the female members of Hundred Beasts are under the command of Shaina and Olga. There are many gender factors, but they can beat other people to become leaders with female bodies. Their talents are actually stronger than those of male pirates. .

"Reinforcement? Destroy them."

"No, no! Major, those people are pirates of the Beast Pirates, please support"

Before the word "support" was uttered, there was no sound from the phone worm. Although there are many newcomers among these pirates, they are also newcomers who have fought in the new world, and the leaders are old people, many of whom are still Shaina's direct subordinate.

As a manpower led by a major cadre of the imperial regiment, the highest rank is the major, and the navy in the first half of the great route is basically crushed.

After seeing the fire here, the Beast Pirates hiding nearby moved. They mistakenly thought that these navy and Shaina had a conflict, so they attacked directly.

"Hello, hello?! Are you still there?"

The busy tone from the phone bug gave him a blow to the head. As a colonel of the headquarters, the aftermath of the Sea Emperor preached by Morgans is still there, and he is naturally familiar with these.

"Pirates of the New World. Didn't the group of beasts go back a long time ago?"

Originally, it was just a group of pirates with a reward of more than 10 million, but now there seems to be more trouble.

The enemies inside the village have not been completely eliminated, and more powerful pirates have come from outside the village. The original wall of fire that blocked this place still has loopholes. figure.

He is a short two meters tall compared to Shaina, but looking at the figure in the flames, he flipped the switch of the flamethrower in his hand without hesitation.

Even an ordinary person will not affect his attack. After all, being able to move means that the opponent still has a relatively clear consciousness, and the shadow with wings does not look like an ordinary person.

But this time, there was no sound from the flames, and there was no screaming or falling. Instead, the shadow was getting closer and closer to him.

Although Doro couldn't see the opponent's face because of the flames, the gradually getting closer figure made him more and more nervous. He further opened the valve to increase the flame injection force, and he also stepped back a little bit.

But the flamethrower that made him sigh just now was completely useless at this moment, and a brown palm stretched out in the flames and grabbed the muzzle that was still breathing flames.

"Fire is not used in this way, it should be used in this way."NoVeIusB.coM

A flame suddenly ignited in his palm, and the high temperature-resistant muzzle gradually softened under the burning of Shaina's flame.

then twisted into a ball under Shaina's grip. If the flamethrower had not had perfect protection measures and cut off the fuel delivery in time, it would have been directly killed.

"Why are people like you here!"

Compared to Jhin and Zeraora, who have often appeared over the years, Shaina has a very low sense of existence. She spends most of her time on Ghost Island handling official business or taking people to search for things.

Although she is also a person with a reward of over 100 million, but her intelligence is much less than that of other cadres, and her focus has gradually declined, so Doro didn't recognize who the other party was for a while.

But it is impossible for the pirates of the beasts to appear here to attack them out of thin air, so there is no doubt about Shaina's identity. It is impossible for ordinary pirates to stand in front of his flames and crush his flamethrower.

"It's not important, but I'm very upset now, this village is innocent, right?"

"When is it your turn to take care of this kind of thing? If it weren't for you, this kind of thing would never have happened!" He smashed the girl in his arms at Shaina.

Shaina crushed the flamethrower on one side of him, and with the other hand holding the girl, he couldn't make it, so he threw the girl as a throwing object directly at Shaina, and at the same time the flamethrower was raised.

"The reason why I want to burn this village is because you pirates got in!"

Shaina had no intention of arguing with him. Dolo made her very unhappy. This sense of disregard for life made her naturally think of the group of people in the laboratory.

After raised his hand to catch the girl he threw out, Shaina opened her mouth slightly, and she spat out a flame. She was not a special attack type, but the jet flame she released forced Doro's flames back.

While igniting Doro's clothes, he also detonated his fuel tank. Although there is a safety device at the muzzle, there is no such thing in the back.

Doro, who was ignited, understood the pain of those who had been burned before, and then the fuel tank was ignited, and the martyrdom occurred.

The few cronies around Doro started to flee out of fear when Shaina appeared with the flames on, but they were not affected by the martyrdom.

Shaina did not chase them, because the pirates of other beasts who had broken through the outer encirclement had already appeared in front of them.

They attacked those pirates with the purpose of breaking through from the very beginning, and they were simply unable to stop the pirates of the beasts under the command of only one captain.

In the battle, those navies were quickly killed, and the leader came to Shaina.

"Miss, are you in any trouble?"

"It's okay, you all wiped out the navy outside?"

"This. There are too many of them, and they should have withdrawn a lot."

"Forget it, the supplies are over, right? There's nothing you need on this island, so let's retreat after the fire here is extinguished."

Since not all of them have been eliminated, it means that the news has already spread. There are far more navies stationed in the first half of the Great Route than in the New World. In order to reduce trouble, she gave instructions to retreat after extinguishing the fire.

Because of the passage that Shaina opened up, many villagers managed to escape. After seeing someone putting out the fire, they also returned to the village to join in the firefighting.

It took them a lot of effort to extinguish the flames mixed with the accelerant. In line with the principle of good people, they treated the wounds for some people who were burned, and then left the island, but the next day, it happened. Something not right.

"Why is this little * the boat?"

Chapter 339 Isca and the Steel Slate

The strange tradition of the Beast Pirates, people who go out often pick up a few children, especially Kaido, he often does this kind of thing.

Although she went back for a while last time, it was a special reason, and this time she was not interested in picking up children.

But when she practiced the next morning, she found a little * the deck.

"Emaline, explain to me what the * is going on"

Emmaline is the giver on her ship, the owner of the blade ability, and one of her direct subordinates. She is responsible for some small things on the ship.

Blonde short hair, slightly cool Viking-style clothing, which is also what most of the members of the beasts wear. NOVELUSB.COM

"This... eldest sister, didn't you let us treat her yesterday?"

"I asked you to treat her, but I didn't ask you to take her on board."

Looking at the bandage on her right hand, Shaina saw that Emmaline had fulfilled her order, and even tied a bow on the bandage, but this had nothing to do with her appearing on the ship.

"That. Her parents died in the fire yesterday, and there seems to be no relatives in the village. And this little girl seems to want to follow us, so I'll bring her up, or shall we send her back?"

"Forget it, we're all here, but does this little girl really want to follow us?"

"Eldest sister, wait until she wakes up and ask her if she's okay. When I woke up last night, I watched the little girl secretly shed tears. I guess she didn't sleep well."

Slightly red and swollen eyes have explained her situation last night, she heard that Shaina didn't say anything, just motioned Emmaline to go on and do her own thing.

And she also went back to the room to play a wooden pile, or a stone pile, which is a training prop made of Hailou stone. detain each other.

In the undulations of the waves, the little girl with dark orange-red hair woke up. Her name was Iska, the survivor of the fire. If the development of the original timeline was followed, she would be the only survivor in the village.

And Doro will take her away, she'll join the Navy as an adult, make a name for herself as a nailman, and get acquainted with Ace.

However, because of the appearance of Shaina, there were many more survivors in the village, but she still became an orphan. As for Doro, he could no longer become a lieutenant general, but he became a colonel.

Iska, who had just woken up, heard some scolding from the pirates on the ship.

"These guys are really shameless. It was obviously the navy who set the fire, so how could we set it?"

"That's right, who is this Doro? The heroic fight against the Beast Pirates was unfortunately killed, and he was awarded the rank of colonel?? Is that guy worthy of fighting with the eldest sister? I think I can solve him."

That was the unhappy sound of the pirates on the boat when they saw the newspaper delivered by the newsbird. Those pirates chose to retreat and reported the news, but only he and a few cronies knew what Doro did.

Those people died in the battle last night, and the rest of the navy thought that Doro was really fighting against the pirates, and they didn't know that there were civilians among the targets they shot.

The Navy published the report without much investigation, but even if they knew the truth, the dead Doro could only be a heroic navy, not a madman who burned civilians.

The navy has done something worse than some pirates, and it would be a shame to spread it out.

"Big sister! That little girl woke up!"

"Little guy, what's your name, do you want some candy here, uncle?"

These pirates are relatively kind to children. Based on past experience, this little girl may not be sure what role she will play in the future.

Most of the children who were picked up in the past became cadres or cadre reserves, and even the few Olga bought back became housekeepers or research assistants.

The only exception may be Robin, but although she has little relationship with the beasts, she has become a best friend with their eldest young lady. Now this little girl looks ordinary, but the future is also a question mark.

Now there is no loss in having a good relationship.

"Iska."

These overly enthusiastic pirates startled her, and a wave just hit and made her fall directly on the deck, but before she landed, a wing was picked up by her, and then she was thrown up by the wings It was taken by Shaina.

"Iska, isn't it, Emmaline said you were going to board the ship yourself."

"Because you saved me"

"It wasn't me who saved you, it was your parents who gave you a chance with their lives."

It was seen by Iska's neighbor. Because the fire was extinguished in time, her neighbor was seriously injured, but she was still alive. He saw the picture of Iska's parents pushing her out, and later told some people, Finally, it reached Shaina's ears.

"But you beat the man who set the fire"

She just woke up when Dolo threw her out, so she saw Shaina catching her and heard Dolo's words.

"This is a pirate ship, do you know what a pirate is? The pirates who robbed you in your village before, we are not messengers of justice, little guy, don't follow the wrong person."

That group of pirates was really looting, and as a result, many people hid in the house, causing the fire to cause even more casualties.

In Shaina's view, Iska's life trajectory had nothing to do with pirates, so she would say that.

"You are different. I want.. the power to avenge my parents, I want to save others"

"As you like, but this road is very hard, you little girl may not be able to eat."

"I'm fine, I'm five years old this year!"

When Shaina just started to return, Arceus had already returned to the ghost island. The route he was searching for was a brand new route back to the ghost island, and he just set foot on the ghost island when he heard a scream.

Seeing that the roof of the ghost island seemed to be on fire, he felt that he had discovered the truth of the matter. When he came here, he happened to see the three lying dead.

"Kaido, you are."

"Oh, it's just ability training, Yamato has been able to use frozen air stably, and the training is very effective."

Kaido's training method is absolutely quick, after all, if you can't use the freezing air, you will be burned. Although the tree fruit has a miraculous effect on burns, it will still hurt.

No need to speak, he already saw the word "holiday" in Yamato's eyes.

"Just come here today, I think you haven't given them any rest during this time. By the way, Jack, come with me, you can get your ability."

The property of the newly found slate is steel, plus Jack's own preferences, the King's Bronze Elephant has become an ability prepared for him

Chapter 340 The Bronze Elephant of the Great King and the "Sinking" Jack

Kaido did not leave them any time to rest. According to Kaido's theory, they had enough rest during the time he was out. This was an act of overdrafting their vacation in advance.

So during this time, they almost spent in the burning of flames. In order to control the power and scope of the flames, Kaido even brought in King Yanwu and the dog of Kojiro.

Let Xiaoka turn from a comfortable harem life into a working dog again. The breeding speed of Pokemon and ordinary animals is slow, but Kojiro's dog guard has begun to be established.

The most dog breeds are Akitas. Compared with ordinary dogs, their physical fitness, sense of smell, and intelligence are slightly higher. Very few individuals can occasionally spit out some black smoke or flames, but the proportion is very low.

Now that Arceus is back, they once again have a long-lost vacation. In a sense, the potential of human beings is unlimited. The originally weak Yamato quickly recovered his physical strength under the dual blessing of the super real newbie and the big mouth real god.

Soon she had the strength to get up again, but this planted a disaster for her. Although Kaido stopped training, he still looked at him.

"This girl's recovery is faster than I thought. It seems that the training intensity can be increased a little more."

flexed his wrist, Kaido looked at King Yanwu, who was the assistant teacher.

"Come on little guy, we two have practiced."

There are not many people who can call King Yanwu a little guy, Kaido is one of them, but Kaido's words make King Yanwu confused.

"Wow?"

It was obviously here to help, but it seemed that he had become the victim in the end.

"Father, why did you go so long this time?"

"Just a few more islands along the way, but I think you're doing pretty well."

"It's not! My father has all kinds of strange thoughts every day. If you don't come back, you may never see me again."

"That guy is still a little bit sensible, let's go take a shower first, what's so dirty?"

"That's because of my father's training."

Saying that, Yamato began to accuse Kaido of what he did. In addition to the most basic training and previous intensive training, her subjects had more control over her own abilities and resistance to flames. She personally had to practice against Shanna. .

Because the main body of True God Dakou is still a wolf, the human and beast form is the same as a werewolf. As a wolf fur, he is more familiar with how to fight a werewolf's body. Lucario made up for her weakness in melee combat, and even let her develop a How to use waveguide arrows.

Now, in addition to the special Hailou stone arrows on her body, ordinary arrows have been abandoned.

She is not as powerful as Kaido, but has a more unique understanding of werewolves' weaknesses and strengths.

Although Moan's special training wasn't that difficult, when combined with Kaido's training, it was quite a terrifying amount of training.

"Go, you can rest for the rest of the day, and let you rest tomorrow. I'll prepare Jack's abilities first, and you and Maria will clean up."

"Hooray!"

No student will despise their vacation too much, especially when the teacher's name is Kaido.

Yamato and Maria walked into the cadre's bathroom on the top floor, while Jack was taken directly to the seaside of the ghost island.

"Originally your ability has to wait, but Mandelfish has accelerated the process."

Arceus refers to the steel slate. There are not many elephant-like Pokémon, and many of them just look similar, and are essentially just pigs.

The data of The Great King's Bronze Elephant can't be said to be excellent, but the body resistance composed of bronze is much stronger than that of flesh and blood creatures. Jack's development route has been gradually explored. He is obviously a type of anti-war.

His own speed is not superior, but his stamina and strength are excellent. Defensive counterattack is his main fighting style. The great strength contained in the trunk of the king's bronze elephant is also very suitable for Jack's style of play.

Relying on the trunk, the King Bronze Elephant and the Pangyan Monster have always been good helpers in the human mine. Compared with ordinary elephants, the King Bronze Elephant has a wider trunk, and the front bucket-like structure can play a lot of unique roles.

And Jack also likes elephants very much. If there is a fly in the ointment, the tusk of the king's bronze elephant is a little shorter, but it can also be used as a sharp weapon after polishing.

"Brother Mandelfish?"

Because of Mandelfish's similar abilities to murlocs, he gets along quite well with Jack. Excluding the admiration and respect caused by strength factors, Jack has the deepest feelings for Mandelfish.

"Okay, get ready to accept your abilities."

The steel slate showed its power for the first time after returning to the body. The data genes belonging to the king's bronze elephant began to enter Jack's body, transforming his original body little by little.

When the transformation was over, Jack's height also grew slightly.

"Feel it, mobilize that power and accept it's changing power."

"Understood."

said that Jack's body also changed. The color of bronze covered his skin, and there were some suspected patina-like things inlaid on it. Those parts contributed to the pattern on the bronze statue of the king.

It was like a bronze elephant man wrapped in heavy armor just appeared in front of Arceus, the collision of his fists made a metal collision sound, and even the ground under his feet sank a few centimeters.

"Jack, try it in the water." That's why he brought Jack to the beach. The bronze elephant of the king is not afraid of water, and the bronze skin on his body is even highly resistant to water.

But there is another problem. It is too heavy. Although it is not afraid of water, it is unknown what state it will be in after entering the sea. This is the reason why he brought Jack to the sea.noVELusb.com

For the murlocs, swimming is as simple as breathing, but Jack, who maintains the ability to enter the water, has a problem. Although he can still float on the water, it is much more difficult than normal.

"Master Arceus, you can still swim, but it's a little harder."

"Try it in beast form."

"As ordered."

Jack in the water changed his form and became a complete bronze statue of the king, and then he sank to the bottom. Although he could walk and move without losing his strength, he could not float.

This is just the opposite of Mandelfish. He can only use his abilities to move underwater. The fish form swims the fastest, while Jack can swim in the beast form, and the beast form will sink directly to the bottom, but the murloc race The talent makes him less concerned about this.

Even this can better perform his bottom-sinking tactics. He is still young, and when he grows up, the shape of his transformation will become larger. At that time, a metal giant elephant of more than ten tons will entangle the enemy underwater. horrific situation, almost devastating for non-aquatic races.