

Arceus 401

Chapter 401 The White Town of Frevans

However, in Yamato's eyes, the so-called trial and play are not very different. No matter how dangerous the trial is, it is not as dangerous as her biological father. With the increase of time, Kaido's training intensity has also increased little by little. The special training is often killed by Kaidoka.

Although she can't die, it can make her feel like she is on the verge of death. That is Kaido's murderous aura honed after fighting on the battlefield, fighting on Rox's ship, seeing and participating in many battles between monsters and naval elites.

That killing intent was completely different from the domineering arrogance of the overlord, that is, when Yamato was locked by Kaido's killing intent for the first time, he felt a sense of fear in his heart.

Arceus will stop Kaido's superclass behavior, but knowing that there will be no danger to his life does not mean that he will not be afraid, but this kind of training also has a little benefit. In a sense, she seems very fearless.

"Well, where should we go? We've already been to the West Sea, and the new world and Paradise's foster father said it's too dangerous. Maria, Robin, do you have any opinions?"

Looking at the atlas in front of him and scratching his head, Yamato still hasn't decided where to go.

That danger is relative to what he said. This time is different from before. Arceus does not plan to take action unless he encounters a fatal crisis. In fact, it is enough to let a cadre follow at will.

Jack was safely handed over to Mandelfish. He was not even a disaster-level cadre, but there was still a big difference between a righteous daughter and a cadre reserve. He didn't plan to do it, but it didn't mean he didn't go.

However, if you choose an island to sail in the new world, your own territory is meaningless. The probability of a crisis in the hinterland of the beasts is infinitely close to zero. If you go to someone else's territory, then the current Yamato will not be able to deal with it.

Although she is far stronger than her peers, she still has a long way to go before she truly grows.

The most ideal activity area is the four seas, where there may be trouble, but the intensity will be more suitable.

At the beginning, the scope of her choice was from all over the world.

"I can, as long as you like it."

Maria did not express her opinion on this matter at all, and massaged the frost milk fairy on her own. It was the same for her wherever she went.

"Me too, if possible, preferably somewhere related to ancient ruins."

Actually, Robin has some goals, but with her knowledge of Yamato, she would not be interested in those countries, after all, most of them are archaeology and literature research.

Although O'Hara in the West Sea is a holy place for archaeology, there are archaeological places all over the world. They may not be as good as O'Hara in some aspects, but they also have their own uniqueness.

But this is Yamato's trial, she is just a passerby.

"Ah, I'm so confused, I don't know where to go when I look at the map."

Looking at the names of the islands, Yamato tried to choose a more pleasing name, but it looked the same.

"I remember that there are some introductions about the customs of the world in the documents of the New Tree of All-Knowing, why don't you go there and take a look?"

In the huge vines derived from , the surviving scholars of O'Hara built a new library, and the reason why the name of the past continued is just a nostalgia.

As Robin said, O'Hara, who stores the world's data and documents, also has a certain research on world geography, which is also a part of history.

"Great idea! Let's go!"

Yamato is an activist, so he directly dragged them to find a resting thousand-year-old dragon, and took advantage of the trend to come to a small empty island in the sky.

Robin knew very well about those books and materials. After talking to the people inside, he came to the third floor. An arm grew on the bookshelf, and soon several picture albums were taken down.

"That should be it. If you are not interested in the West Sea, most of the island records in the East China Sea, South China Sea, and North China Sea are here."

The atlas is very comprehensive, but Yamato has overlooked a problem. This is the archive of the History Museum, not the newspaper of Morgens, and after coming here, this document has not been supplemented.

So the most recent of these atlases are also years ago, time doesn't stop, every island is changing dramatically as time goes by.

For example, Kraigana Island is still recorded in some documents as the island of fog, but now it has gradually disappeared due to the war, and the number of baboons on the island is increasing day by day.

"Freyvans, the country of fairyland, the ground and trees in the country are as white and flawless as the country of ice and snow in the fairy tale world. A country that is as beautiful as a fairyland on earth is good. If you decide, just go here."

Looking at the photos in the album, Yamato decided on the first goal of the trip, the kingdom of Fravans, known as the white town.

"Freyvans? Has she made up her mind?"

"That's right, what's the problem?"

Kaido asked a rare extra question after hearing the destination Yamato decided to go to.

"Some information that the ammonite beast had eavesdropped on before, the distance from here to Frevans. According to the route you set, if nothing else happens, what you see should not be a fairyland, but hell."

Kaido handed a piece of information to Arceus, which was the World Government's evacuation plan for the Fravans royal family. If it wasn't for special circumstances, the royal family would not choose to leave their country. This kind of thing means that disaster is coming.

"Let that girl see the truth of the world. You have protected her so well. I told her that a few years ago, she should have seen what * is like."

As it turns out, Kaido still thinks Yamato's training is a little light.

"She'll be rebellious like you do. Children can't be pushed too hard. It's pretty good now."

"It's up to you, by the way, since it's Frevans, let's get another batch of platinum and lead back. Recently, this thing has become more and more expensive on the black market. I'm afraid it will be more difficult to get it in the future."novelusb.COM

Platinum and lead is an important mineral in Frevans. It is a special lead ore in the earth's crust. This platinum and lead can not only be used to produce tableware, paint, sweet seasoning, cosmetics, but also an important raw material for some weapons.

This platinum lead bullet can be said to be quite high-quality ammunition.

That kind of platinum and lead can't be found even in Wano country. I originally planned to send a cadre to go there. Since Yamato has decided on Freivans, it's good to finish it together.

"I see, I'm going to deal with the Nine Snakes first."

The time of three years has almost come. Since it was three years at the beginning, it is natural to send them back at this time. This matter is also related to the second half of the members of Hundred Beasts.

Chapter 402 Return to the Nine Snakes

The incident of the robbery of the Tianlong people did make a lot of noise. With a lot of energy, they seemed to grab Priert's tail, and they just grabbed the tail.

The other party is just like the lizard, directly docking his tail to survive, and he does not know where he has escaped.

Some people suspected that this identity was impersonation, but all the witnesses at the scene saw the same situation, and even his figure was captured on some subsequent routes, and even the ships and flags were described in great detail.

On an island in the New World, the wreckage of the ship that was suspected to have been burned was even found.

The evidence is very sufficient, but they can't catch the figure, and the Tianlong people also have a characteristic. Although most Tianlong people combine the inferiority of human nature, these guys are very big-hearted in individual cases.

Although they kept urging them to arrest the robber at first, they forgot all about it in a blink of an eye.

So this matter has become the initial state again. The World Government is still searching Priert, but it has not put so much energy into it.

Now it's not a problem for them to return to the Nine Snakes.

In the room of Onishima, Olga had told them this in advance, and they would be sent back to Nine Snake Island along with Yamato's voyage, but some people didn't seem to want to leave.

"Sister, we should go."

"Yeah, sister, it's been three years, everyone in Nine Snakes will be worried."

Marigold and Sandasonia are comforting Hancock. In fact, she is also in a tangled stage. She wants to stay here, but she was born in the Nine Snakes and misses the Nine Snakes very much.noVeb.usb.coM

As a pirate country, Amazon Lily's national education is relatively successful, at least in terms of national belonging.

Most of the people who go out will return to the Nine Snakes. Even if they leave the Nine Snakes and live outside, they will still go back to help when the Nine Snakes are in danger.

Moreover, the emperor of the Nine Snakes is more responsible for the country than individuals. Until there is a suitable successor, the Emperor of the Nine Snakes will still assume the responsibility of protecting the safety of the Nine Snakes.

Even a willful person like Hancock has compromised, such as the position of Qiwuhai. According to the estimation of the strength in the original time, if she insists on rejecting that position, no one in Nine Snakes can force her.

"Sandar, Mary, is there a way to get the best of both worlds."

"Sister. It's unlikely. Even though Sister Olga is also a woman, it's fine if she wants to go to Nine Snakes, but she won't agree to such a thing."

Nine snakes don't reject outsiders, to be precise, foreign women, but Olga's father and daughter are both very good at Beasts, and obviously they won't do anything about leaving.

"It's alright, sister, it's good to come back later if it's a big deal, and sister Olga often goes to the shampoo place, you can visit her there when the time comes."

Although she is an older sister, Hancock is more like a younger sister to some extent, and when it comes to this, Olga also came here.

"Sister Olga?"

"Well, you guys are leaving soon, here are some parting gifts for you."

The members of the Beast Pirates are very complicated. Even the leader of the pirates will not have a very close relationship with everyone. The three Hancock sisters were brought back by Olga, so they maintain a good relationship with them. The relationship was also handed over to Olga.

The three fruits are the fruits that belong to them, but no changes have been made. Before the nine snakes hoisted the banner of the beasts, this kind of reward was not in their turn.

The people inside the beasts are still lining up, taking out these three is already a big investment.

Although the type of fruit may be reminiscent of the original Priart, but at this time, even if there is no change, it will not cause too much suspicion.

You don't have to eat Devil Fruits to get them, and you may exchange them for money. For example, Brother Doflamingo, many powerful fruits flowed out of his hands, although that was not his original intention.

But self-defeating, some powerful fruits are usually not kept.

"Devil Fruit?"

"That's right, Lord Arceus meant that tomorrow his ship will take you back by a detour."

Then Olga seemed to see that Hancock was not very happy, and then said to her: "Don't worry, the separation is only temporary, and I will also go back with you, there is still some time to get along."

An envelope was brought along with the Devil Fruit, which contained some questions about the future development of Amazon Lily.

For the beasts, this kind of news is not worth much, but for Amazon Lily, this news is very important.

This time Olga was the accompanying messenger, and there was another question about the lone warrior at sea.

It's not because he's lucky or strong that he's still alive now, but because there's more than one person who found him, Scotch, that Muir almost discovered him one after the other, and the people sent by BIG MOM followed closely behind. .

Although the result is the same no matter who it falls into, it is a matter of face, so each pirate group has begun to gradually send more people, the purpose is to take this face.

The route from Wano country to Chambord is already very familiar with the beasts, and they soon arrived at the predetermined location. Yamato and the others are revisiting their old places and came to the Chambord Islands again. Olga brought Hancock and the others. Came to Amazon Lily.

But just after landing, Hancock and the others received an incredible news, because at this time the empress of Amazon Lily passed away due to illness, the previous emperor Xia Qi had left the Nine Snakes, and the current Nine Snakes were replaced by the previous emperor. Gloriosa is temporarily in power.

committed a lot of mistakes when he was in power, so he has been living alone and low-key in a corner of the village.

However, she has a very high status within the Nine Snakes, and even the Emperor of the Nine Snakes will respect her opinions on some important matters.

Soon, surrounded by the Nine Snake Warriors, Glorioza came here.

"The three sisters have been taken care of for the past three years."

The three Hancock sisters disappeared on the pirate ship, which was almost unacceptable to the warriors of the Nine Snakes, but when they found out it was too late.

But soon after, they called to report safety, but until today, they didn't know where Hancock and the others went, and the sign of the pirate flag on the ship was even in the inconvenient Amazon Lily. All know.

Afterwards, Olga came to the palace of the Nine Snakes at the invitation of Glorioza, and she also saw the letter from the beasts about the fact that the navy gradually mastered the technology of passing through the windless belt.

I'm sorry, I'm temporarily busy with something, two updates today

Chapter 403 The Proposal of the Seven Martial Seas under the King

"Navy. Has this technology been mastered?"

In the palace of the Nine Snakes, Glorioza looked at Olga's letter and fell into contemplation. This kind of technology may not matter to other people, such as the beasts, who don't care about this kind of thing at all.

Morgans called them emperors of the sea for a gimmick, but they really deserved the title.

After the hype of Morgans, countless pirates tried to challenge the emperor's status, but the result was the same, and no one ever succeeded.

Joining, dying, being sent to the navy for a bounty, and those who can leave behind some parts are considered a good end, and many people have been beaten to death.

They rely on their strength to defend their territory, but the Nine Snakes are different. They are also the kingdom of pirates. Although the Nine Snakes are not weak, they do not have the strength of a sea emperor.

There is a huge gap in the strength of the high-level cadres in particular, which is incomparable between them and the imperial regiment. The Nine Snakes can survive safely and steadily, and the residents of the island are not disturbed by the outside world. They mainly rely on the windless zone outside.

This is their natural danger. If the ancestors of the Nine Snakes had not mastered the technique of training snakes, and without the help of the highly poisonous sea snakes, they would have difficulty getting in and out by themselves.

This barrier is really broken, which means that the era of the nine snakes is over, and the navy can arbitrarily cross the windless belt to attack them.

"Why do you know this kind of thing? It should be a secret within the Navy too."

Glorioza's position in the Nine Snakes is biased towards the think tank, and she won't believe what others say. Although this kind of early warning news won't cost them anything, it doesn't affect her curiosity.

"This, of course, there is a special channel, and we sell their sea floor stones."

Although Quinn was about to be consecrated in the naval intelligence department, the top officials of the beasts still knew the truth. The craftsmanship of inlaid sea tower stones is not complicated.

Even if Arceus hadn't told them, Quinn and Vegapunk had worked together for so long, they could have guessed it.

And because the cutting of the sea floor stone is too difficult, the world government asked the beasts to make the sea floor stone into a specific shape when purchasing. After paying a large processing fee, the beasts happily took over the job. .

"you sell it"

Hearing this, Glorioza's old face became a little strange, and the reason was that she never thought of it.

"Don't pay attention to such details. It's not surprising that pirates and the World Government have some business dealings. Anyway, the news is true, you better prepare."

A pirate kingdom is naturally impossible to be self-sufficient like an ordinary country, and the territory of the Nine Snakes cannot do this, so the Nine Snake Pirates were born.

In the past, their style was to run away after robbing them, returning to the Nine Snakes with supplies, and then rejecting the enemy with a windless belt. This change had a great impact on the Nine Snakes. NoVēlUSB.cOm

"Of course, we also have solutions, should we consider moving."

"move place?"

"Simply put, move the entire Amazon Lily away and use the banner of the beast as a shelter, so that even if there is no windless navy, it will not act rashly."

"So. You want the Nine Snakes to be your vassal?"

"That's pretty much what it means. It's nothing strange in the world of pirates, right? Some people don't have a chance to fly our flag yet."

Today's beasts are not the beasts who fought hard in the original timeline. In terms of logistical development, the territory of hundreds of beasts is better than that of BIG-MOM.

In a sense they are a small world government with absolute dominion over the islands they rule.

And what Olga said is no joke, there is indeed no chance for someone who wants to fly this flag.

"this kind of thing"

Glorioza was thinking about how to return to the absolute side. She couldn't merge the Nine Snakes into a force that was very unfamiliar to her because of a few words, but a cadre of the other party said such a thing in person, and it directly explained the new status of naval ships. technology.

Since the navy can do it, then they can do it as well. The Nine Snakes are not the opponent of the navy, nor are they the opponents of the beasts.

Moreover, it was too difficult to relocate the family. At this time, Glorioza did not expect that Olga meant to move the island directly.

"Don't be so impatient, this is just a suggestion. In fact, you have another choice. The so-called Qiwhai under the navy has not yet been fully recruited."

The King's Under the Shichibukai was proposed very early, and Crocodile won the Shichibukai place many years ago because of the battle with Barrett.

The purpose it proposes is to balance the forces on the sea. As a legal pirate with legal plundering power, Shichibukai naturally cannot be elected arbitrarily by anyone.

Sufficient prestige and strength are what the world government values. Crocodile was invited to become Shichibukai because of this. He also accepted this invitation with a special purpose.

"The King's Seven Seas"

"Yes, in the first half of the great route, this identity is the best cover. After obtaining the legitimacy of the world government, ordinary pirates can't deal with you."

"What is your purpose?"

"Friendly assistance, such as holding a sorority from time to time, and Shichibukai should also have access to some special news, we need that information.

There is also the thing I said at the beginning, you may be hesitant now, but you may join in after a while. "

Glorioza did not give any reply to Olga's words. Now she is talking about the possibility of the future. Even she can't directly veto the possibility of such a thing happening. Moreover, Olga gave the two This proposal is indeed very important for Nine Snakes.

Without the protection of the windless belt, they really have to find another way out.

The matter of moving directly is not considered for the time being, but the location of Shichibukai also makes Glorioza feel very troublesome. After all, Shichibukai is not Chinese cabbage, and it is not something you want.

"If you agree, we have a way to help you fuel the flames. If it goes well, the world government will soon invite you."

"Thank you for your suggestion. Come from afar and take a break for a while. Some things need to be discussed before you can give an answer. Take this Your Excellency to rest for a while."

The people are here, but Hancock is here. She has been outside since she came back. She also has a certain position in the Nine Snakes. When she left the Nine Snakes, she was the strongest warrior in the new generation.

"Let's go, Sister Olga, I will show you the mountain spring baths of the Nine Snakes."

Chapter 404 A scheduled drama

"Huh, it's really comfortable here, you say so, Elizabeth."

"Indeed, it's different from the hot springs in Wano country."

In the bathing area of the Nine Snakes, all kinds of women are enjoying life in it. King Kong Barbie, petite loli, large sumo wrestlers, and all kinds of women can be seen in the Nine Snakes.

Elizabeth and Olga were almost inseparable, and Elizabeth was not very interested in her own egg, and it seemed that it would not hatch for a while.

This is related to the reproductive ability of the basilisk lizard itself, with a small number of eggs laid and a long incubation period. This factor has a lot to do with the basilisk lizard being defined as extinct by the outside world.

The unique geological environment of formed a completely different experience, but the only problem was that she was very dissatisfied with the sign next to her.

"This is the depth of water ahead."novelUS&.Com

"No way, kid, there is a deep water area ahead. You should wait two years before swimming there."

The influence of pure gold still exists. Although she has been growing slowly for more than ten years, it is much slower than normal people.

's face has receded a little bit of innocence, and gradually moved closer to her mother's direction, but her figure has almost no development.

"I'm not a kid, I'm 25 this year."

25 are based on an eight-year-old cycle, plus the nearly 17 years since he left the belly of a sea king, so if you calculate her real age, Glorious would have to call her sister.

Facing the negotiation between some so-called senior people, the beasts always sent Olga to deal with it, and relying on the old to sell the old is ineffective for her.

Three words and a few words fooled the other bathers, and Hancock appeared here again, but unlike before, she still had a python wrapped around her.

"Sister Olga, this is Salome, my friend."

Many Amazon lilies carry a snake, and Hancock's python with red flowers on a white background is also very beautiful among those snakes, because there is no mark of the Tianlong people, the three of them walk here without any cover. , Anyway, there are no men in the Nine Snakes.

Her growth is much ahead of Olga, and the biggest difference is that she can float.

"Nice pet, it seems to be watery?"

"Well, Salome likes swimming."

"That's a good hobby. For those who are capable, such a partner is very important."

Pirates are sailing on the sea after all, so there must be certain precautions against falling into the water. Almost no ship will do stupid things with only capable people on it. If the ship sinks, everyone can say goodbye together.

As a non-flying person, Olga relies on Elizabeth to prevent falling into the water. Whether it is the ability of the basilisk lizard to run on the water surface or the ability to slide and dive in a thousand-faced avoidance, it can effectively prevent this kind of thing.

Otherwise, she wouldn't soak in the bathroom to the extent that only her head was exposed. That feeling of powerlessness in danger would cause her body to respond very slowly.

But danger has sometimes come quietly. For example, for her, Hancock is now a danger.

"Wait, what are you doing?"

"Wipe your back for you."

"Hey, how many times have you said it, be honest with your hands!"

Because the water was too deep, Hancock's careful thinking succeeded a little, but the strength gap was placed there, and Olga successfully achieved a countermeasure soon, and Elizabeth did not interfere with the playful Elizabeth here, after all, this is also considered No danger.

The next day, some dark circles could be seen on Gloria's eyelids. It seemed that she was not resting well, but she had already made a decision. It was too dangerous to relocate. Qiwhai was a good idea. .

"What do you want to do?"

"Do you have any rules for the succession of your nine snake emperors?"

"Amazon Lily has several emperor candidates selected for each generation. These are powerful young warriors. Hancock was originally a candidate for the emperor's heir."

is very in line with the culture of pirates. The emperor does not need to be in the same line, but it must be strong. Only such a pirate kingdom can survive.

"That's a lot more convenient, we can push Hancock to that position."

"But isn't that decided by the World Government?"

"Yes, it is up to the World Government to decide, but there are too many vacancies in their so-called Qiwuhai, and they are probably looking for more candidates."

In fact, this is also the case. When the Qiwuhai system was proposed, the situation in the sea was not so chaotic, but as Roger opened the era of the great pirates, and now the sea emperors who have reached the top have appeared one after another, the world government has also begun to increase this aspect of finding strength.

"They need deterrence. Is there any greater deterrence among the pirates today than the sea emperor's deterrence? So as long as she can show her fruit ability in Hancock's maiden voyage discovered by the world government, and at the same time defeat a sufficient strong enemy, then the invitation letter will come soon."

"what do you mean"

"Let's play a show, the big cadres under the emperor of the sea, this victory is enough, but there is a question, that is whether Hancock can become the emperor of the Nine Snakes, and whether she can afford seven The location of Wuhai."

The position of Qiwuhai is no child's play. Although it is not as easy to be provoked as the position of the emperor of the sea, it must have real strength.

According to the normal timeline, she took over the position of Shichibukai soon after she became the emperor of Amazon Lily at the age of 18.

And she is 15 years old this year, although she is three years younger, but the three years of the original slave were spent in normal training.

Even if she eats fruit earlier in the time line of being a slave, the purpose of the Tianlong people is not to make her petrify others. If she insists on strength, she is not much different from the 18-year-old in the original time line, and she has already touched seven. The lower limit of Wuhai.

However, it is not clear whether Hancock can take on the position of Qibukai and Nine Snake Emperor.

In the end, they reached an agreement. After that, Nine Snakes will test Hancock's strength in her own way. After confirming that she can do it, they will notify the beasts and agree to the other party's request.

Amazonian lilies are a whole country and there is nothing wrong with not putting your eggs in one basket.

And Olga also left Amazon Lily in Hancock's farewell, and the ships of the beasts went north to the direction of the North Sea.

After a period of sailing, they have approached the sea area of Freyvans, but the atmosphere here is completely different from what Yamato imagined.

According to the records of the atlas, there should be an endless stream of ships entering and leaving Freivans, but the neighborhood is very depressed now, and no ships enter, even if some ships with other flags want to come out Only after a detailed review.

is still four.

Chapter 405 The Tragedy of Fravans

There are search ships scattered on the sea, and the people above are wearing heavy chemical protective suits and gas masks like the biochemical troops, and they seem to be worried about what dangerous goods are on board.

Yamato, who was holding a telescope on the bow, was a little puzzled by all this.

"Strange, doesn't it say that the tourism industry in this country is very prosperous?"

But no one answered her this time. This is the biggest difference between her voyage and the previous one. The ordinary crew on the ship will listen to her orders, but these people are at most ordinary givers. Whether it is Arceus or Olga, both will not interfere.

Arceus was worried about accidents, while Olga was because her abilities were the most convenient to use. No one was better than Olga's abilities when they weren't fighting head-on.

Yamato will sail alone in the future. Arceus's requirements are not high, at least she must be able to survive alone, she can't be like Luffy, but if the luck is bad, the bucket will be the destination of his life.

does not require her to master all skills, but she also has to have basic judgment.

"Forget it, forget it, move on!"

At the same time that Yamato made a decision, Olga was also instructed by Arceus to put a cross on a small book, obviously this behavior was not recognized.

Yamato didn't know that someone was quietly giving her a grade where she couldn't see it, and this grade would affect her later courses and sailing time.

However, those people did not check the ship, because now the standard of the waters near Fravans is determined to allow entry and no exit, and they searched the outgoing ships just to worry that the Fravans would go out with them.

According to Yamato's order, the navigators and sailors on the ship continued to control the ship. They were not worried about anything from Yamato. There were still people on board anyway.

But as the voyage continued, there were a lot more forks on the small book.

"Master Arceus, I think Miss Yamato... just needs more training, after all, she is the first time to direct such a thing."

"No, she is very similar to Kaido in this respect, but Kaido is too lazy to use his brain, she is basically helpless in this regard."

However, when she docked, she finally got a mark other than the fork. At least she learned from the previous practice. After hiding the boat in a hidden place, she took a small boat to dock, and the location where the boat docked was not Fravans. But the neighbouring country of Fravans.

Because the port of Fravens has been blocked, and it is its neighbors who have done this.

Freyvans faces the sea on both sides, and the land area is not large. On the contrary, its neighboring countries are not small, and it is more convenient to find a docking location here.

The people on the boat did not follow them. Even Olga and Arceus had already hidden their figures. From the moment they docked, this was her journey. Except for Maria and Robin, she was only by her side. Anxi.

Pokémon is also one of her powers at this time. The reason why she only carries Dianxi is because Dianxi's ability is more convenient in mining, and Quinn's chemistry class is still somewhat useful.
novelsb.com

And Dianxi's strength is much stronger than other Pokémon.

Yamato has basically failed in sailing, she has no talent in this area, and her next goal is whether she can successfully enter Fravans without Olga's help.

Freyvans was not only blocked at sea. At this time, even the land was surrounded by barbed wire. The soldiers who were guarding could be seen at intervals. This was because Freyvans' platinum-lead disease had broken out.

Although platinum and lead has its own uses in various places, it is a toxic mineral.

This poison will not harm the user, and it will not be released if it is not mined, but as long as it is mined, the poison contained in it will affect everyone in this area.

As early as 100 years before the development of the Fravens platinum and lead industry, the geological exploration team of the world government had probed this place and had discovered the truth of platinum and lead.

But in the face of huge interests, the world government and the royal family concealed all this, and let the ordinary people of Freyvans devote themselves to the platinum and lead industry, and kept mining platinum and lead for them.

The people have gained a lot of wealth, the per capita income of Freivans has skyrocketed, and the national happiness index has also risen for a while, but they don't know that this money is exchanged with lives, not the lives of one or two people, but all human life.

The toxin content of platinum and lead is very small, and this is the most dangerous place of platinum and lead. This trace toxin will continue to accumulate and will be passed on to future generations, making the lives of future generations shorter and shorter.

Today, the mining of platinum and lead has a history of almost a hundred years, and the accumulation of platinum and lead has also reached the time of disease.

Due to the accumulation of platinum and lead, three generations of the family had the disease almost simultaneously, white spots appeared on the body surface, the whole family died in pain, and many families could not even find a person who collected the corpse.

This disease is like the South China Sea Emperor Fever, and there is no cure. Today, no doctor knows how to treat platinum-lead disease.

And the neighbouring countries regarded the disease as a contagious disease, locking down all areas of Fravens, and anyone who tried to go out would be shot.

The royal family escaped with the help of the world government, but ordinary people can only wait for death.

The world government and these royal families all know that platinum-lead disease is not contagious, but a deadly ore disease, but they choose to hide the truth because they still need people to mine platinum and lead for themselves.

If this news is exposed, the mining of platinum and lead will become very difficult. As long as these people are dead and after disinfection, ordinary people will consider it safe.

And the deserted Frevans will be settled by new people, and in the face of huge profits, some people will continue to mine platinum and lead.

In this way, other royal families can continue to reap the benefits, the world government can continue to get platinum and lead, and make a fortune in the transportation industry, and the lives of those ordinary people are what they gave up.

Yamato hasn't decided what to do next. Years of education also played a role. Facing this strange Frevans, she didn't rush in, but decided to investigate the situation before entering.

But at this time, something that was difficult for her to accept happened in her line of sight. Someone in the barbed wire was approaching the border. The unarmed ones seemed to be asking for help, but the soldiers outside seemed very scared and repeatedly ordered them to retreat.

But there were no people inside, because at this time, Fravans' medicine and food began to be in short supply, and the pain had become unbearable for them, and the only thing they could do was to die if they continued to wait.

In this case, the people on the outside finally chose to shoot, and the tragedy of Fravans began.

Chapter 406 I don't know right or wrong, but I can't do nothing

"Hey! What are you doing?!" ηουελυ&b.c0m

There is still a hint of kindness in her nature. She can think about some things under the premise that nothing else has happened. When she sees this kind of thing, she instinctively stands up.

According to her estimation, there is likely to be a battle next, but the opponent's actions are beyond Yamato's expectations.

"Wait! Little sister, don't come here! It's dangerous here, it may be contagious!"

They didn't attack her. Seeing that she came from outside the barbed wire, they shouted that it was dangerous here, but the other two soldiers also took flamethrowers and burned the corpse. The huge contrast made her wonder for a while what happened. thing.

"you."

Originally, she thought that these people were cruel and vicious gangs, and they were all ready to attack, but this time she didn't know what to say, but the soldiers in front of her thought she was frightened.

The soldier who scolded Yamato for stopping looked back and saw that his companion was burning the corpse.

"Little sister, stay away from here, it's dangerous here, don't you know that there is an outbreak of infectious disease in Freivans?"

The soldier did not know that what he was doing was a massacre. The order he received was to prevent the spread of infection and protect his country. His king did not tell the truth at all. As for the explanation of the Frevans themselves, they also unbelievable.

In order to prevent their family members from getting that horrible disease, they chose to execute orders to eliminate these infected people.

What happened here is not an isolated case, similar things are happening all around Fravans, and it is getting worse.

Although the royal family of Fravans has fled, a large number of lead bullets are still stored in the warehouse. No one will sit still in the mortal situation. Those who can still move in Fravans took up arms and started to resist.

Because of this kind of resistance, the surrounding countries got the righteousness of self-defense and counterattack. Under the righteousness of preventing the spread of the plague and protecting their own national security, the surrounding kingdoms have issued new orders, but the soldiers here are responsible for guarding the outside.

"Olga."

"clear."

In the eyes of those soldiers, Yamato and the others seemed to have followed his persuasion to leave here, but in fact they were still there and had entered the quarantine area ahead, but they didn't see it.

Reality always makes some changes to the plan. Originally, he did not intend to come forward, but now the time is just right.

Strength can be tempered anywhere, and Yamato can't find a more suitable opponent than Kaido. What training is not effective in actual combat sometimes doesn't work for her. After all, Kaido's training is no different from actual combat.

But she couldn't grow in her mentality if she stayed on Onishima all the time, not to mention the real Lysiram in the current situation, even the ideal Zekrom would not necessarily recognize her.

There is a difference between naivety and ideals. She has never seen the real world, and she doesn't understand anything at all, and this is just a training for her.

"Father, the words of those people..."

"It's fake, but it's not them who are wrong."

Arceus explained some of the origins of platinum and lead to Yamato, and also explained the ore disease and the concealment of the world government.

"Yamato, now the question comes, what do you want to do now?"

"I want to save these people away."

"The soldiers outside have their own orders. If you want to save these people, those soldiers are your enemies, and they are only "protecting" their own country. If you want to save the people of Fravans, you have to hurt them.

Do you still want to do that now? "

Yamato failed to give an answer this time, and Arceus continued to walk forward with them. The scattered corpses before were just the beginning. When they continued to go deeper, the corpses almost covered the street.

"How. How can this happen."

"This is the world. Without strength, people can only be slaughtered. Yamato, the people of Freivans are innocent. They will encounter these because of the greed of the upper class, but those soldiers are not evil parties.

Justice and evil are never absolute. In the eyes of the navy, your father and I are both wicked gangs, but in the realm of beasts, we have the same status as protectors.

When you help what you think is weak, you are bullying another weak person as a strong person.

So remember, only the strong in this world can decide good and evil according to their own values, decide the right or wrong of a thing, everyone can say the big truth, but there is no force as a guarantee, the truth will always be the truth. "

At twelve years old, she is no longer an ignorant age. At this age, she has begun to understand the truth. The tragedy of Freivans has dissipated a lot of innocence in her heart.

"You may be doing something wrong, nothing will please everyone, but as long as you have a clear conscience, that's enough, so now, make your decision, there should be some survivors in the Northeast. "

Yamato's body began to change, and the appearance of Oguchi Shinshen replaced her original appearance. Compared with the previous hesitation, she seemed to want to understand something.

"Decided?"

"I don't know if I'm doing it right, but if I don't do anything, I'm sure I won't be able to sleep when I go back. Maria, Diancie, come and help me, as long as you don't kill those soldiers."

That innocence still exists in her mind, but if a few words can make her give up this nature, then she is not her.

As she said, she pulled Maria and ran over to the direction that Arceus provided, and Dianci also flew over silently, but she did not go with Nicole Robin, who was not very capable of fighting.

She can't let her incompetent companions be in dangerous places because of her own willfulness. This is something she has understood before.

After Yamato left, Arceus told Olga:

"Still a little impulsive, Olga, you follow, don't put her in any danger."

"Leave it to me, Lord Arceus."

After Olga took Elizabeth away, only Nicole Robin was left here. Although her ability to accept is not weak, this scene had a big impact on her.

At this time, her face couldn't help being a little pale, all of which were very similar to the original O'Hara.

"I see, this is what happened due to the laissez-faire of the world government. Their protection of the allied countries is limited to a few members of the royal family. Guess how their newspapers will report on this this time?"

At the beginning, she had doubts about the affairs of the Sikaar Kingdom, and she just took the opportunity of Frevans to let her understand something, so as not to affect her relationship with Yamato future.

And at this time, Yamato has also reached the predetermined position, looking at the sea of fire, an icy blue breath spit out from her mouth.

Chapter 407 Arceus needs a professional nun

"No waiter Bingya!"

The icy blue breath was spit out from Yamato's mouth. This unserved ice tooth has her four years of training. From the beginning, the power of the air conditioner is the same as that of the air conditioner to the powerful freezing air that can freeze the sea of fire. She has paid too much. s hard work.

To be precise, it should be torture, from the flames of Xiaoka and King Yanwu to Kaido's heat, in order to break through that hot environment, she is forced to break through the limit every day.

The river in front has long since dried up, and the arch bridge above was swallowed up by the fire. Under the cover of No-Servant Bingya, the burning flame has just been extinguished, but all you can see is more corpses.

And more are the corpses of children. Many corpses have become unrecognizable. The flame can burn so vigorously because these corpses have become the fuel of the flame.

"these people"

When they should have grown up happily, they suffered the greatest misfortune in their lives. They were people living in a monastery, which also had a school in Freivans. The parents of these children fell ill and died of platinum-lead disease. The nun took it back.

Unlike the Carmelites who wore the skin of a nun and worked as a trafficker, this was a real nun, but she was deceived by soldiers.

Because some soldiers promised her to let the children go, and lied that there was a refuge ship to leave here for them. This was a lie from the soldiers. Under the deterrence of "infectious diseases", they did not dare to do such a thing at all. novelusb.com is just a reason to bring them together and eliminate what they think is the pathogen at the root.

"Maria, check it with that."

"Okay, but Yamato, don't get your hopes up."

The fingertips swayed several threads of spider silk, and most of the victims on the ground were shrouded in spider threads. Most of the owners of these Pokémon abilities were not limited to their own inherent power.

Combining their own abilities and talents, they all have similar developments. Babanuki's gun cutting mode is the most typical feature, and Maria also has special applications for the ability of electric spiders.

Electric spiders are particularly sensitive to vibrations from their webs. Even if they cannot be seen, the size and size of their prey can be judged by the vibrations of the webs, and they will not be affected by natural winds.

Maria doesn't go to catch insects and birds, so her development of spider silk is similar to diagnosing the pulse by hanging silk, using spider silk to judge whether a person still has signs of life, even if the body still has the weakest breathing and heartbeat, Her silk also provides feedback.

This was originally developed by her to find and fill gaps on the battlefield, to prevent someone from pretending to be dead in the corpse pile and reduce the time to make up one by one.

But now, Yamato has thought about the use of this ability, her brain is still very good sometimes, but it is not good.

Those charred corpses were not tested, and it was not necessary at all, but she did find a weak reaction in the remaining corpses.

"Yamato, that nun is still alive, other people's words"

The physique and vitality of adults are much stronger than those of children, so the nun is still alive, but the vitality is gradually running out.

The cross, which was always in her hand, fell aside, her fingernails were full of silt, and judging from the scratches left, she was still crawling towards the child beside her before she fell into a coma.

He took out a small bottle of green pills from his pocket. Nanaiqin's special life-threatening pills are exclusively for use inside the animal. They are not for sale. They can be used for external application or internal use. They have a very strong hemostatic effect. The degree of hanging is second only to the resurrection grass.

"This should be almost the end, Maria, I'll trouble you."

The sound of gunfire in the distance has stopped at this time, but this is not good news. The stop of the gunfire means that the soldiers have not found a new target, and it also means that Fravans has become a dead city with a high probability.

It was basically the end when they came here, so all they could do was to end it.

Yamato's trouble refers to asking Maria to help take people away. It's not that she is not strong enough, but that her current body carrying an adult will greatly affect her mobility, but this is not considered to be Maria at all. what is the problem.

She is much taller than a normal person, and it doesn't matter whether she is carried on her shoulder or in her arms, but considering the condition of the injury, she chose to enter the human-beast form and put the nun on the spider's side. physically.

Then they continued to walk towards the building in front of them, which was Fravans' hospital, and the fire also started to spread in the hospital.

The scene in the hospital was equally appalling. Some people were shot directly on the beds, and some medical staff fell to the ground.

But there are not many people here, and many beds are empty.

In fact, some people were not killed by bullets, but died of platinum-lead disease. When platinum-lead disease broke out, those people were already concentrated here. If there are sufficient medical drugs, these people will probably survive for a while.

However, with the blockade of neighboring countries, the medical supplies in the hospital began to be consumed in large quantities, and targeted medicines were lost. Many people could only die in pain, so most of the people who could still move chose to escape.

There are not many people left in the hospital, and there are hardly any living people in this part of the people, only a little girl was found in a wardrobe.

Although there is no trauma, the vital signs are also not strong. This is a sign of the onset of platinum-lead disease. Although Fravans' platinum-lead disease occurred in large numbers in almost the same time period, depending on the physical condition, the impact of the disease is also Different.

Then Yamato asked Maria to take the other party out of here first, and continued to search here by himself.

"Master Arceus, Yamato is still inside."

"I know, let her try again, but it's pointless."

There, he couldn't detect any breath of life except Yamato. Those soldiers were professional soldiers, and only a few were left with a breath like a nun.

The condition of the nun is not bad, Maria used spider silk for first aid, and the special medicine has stopped the bleeding.

In fact, she has just woken up once, but as a nun, she naturally believes in gods, there is no despair in the world, and the light of redemption will definitely come is what she has always believed.

So when she woke up and found herself on the back of a giant spider, she thought she was going to hell.

This made her as a nun unacceptable for a while, so she fell into a coma again

Chapter 408 When Diancie studied the Periodic Table of the Elements

The religious beliefs of the pirate world are very complicated. No matter what they believe in, no one interferes, provided that the rules made by some people are not touched, but no matter which religion, spiders are mostly the camp of evil gods due to their own image problems.

This nun is not a member of some strange sect, so this reaction occurred. However, most religions do not have unified management. As long as the religion conforms to the characteristics of the local kingdom, then they are legal locally.

It is very possible that two people believe in the same god, but because of different birthplaces, their teachings are also completely different.

If you want to find a sect with a large influence and a unified command on the sea, Arceus is one of them.

The agents of the world government of this sect also noticed it, but they just regarded it as a companion product of the Beast Pirates, thinking that it was something Kaido made to dominate the Pirates.

Because the meaning of religion exists, in most cases, it is the ruling tool of those in power, especially the doctrine of Arceus theology is too simple. They don't seem to matter at all.

After a while, Yamato came out with a disappointed look, and she didn't see any other survivors.

"You don't have to go there. I came from there. This kingdom has been destroyed. Apart from the royal family, there is basically nothing in this kingdom."

Arceus stopped Yamato's plan to continue exploring, seeing this is enough, there is no need to continue watching.

In fact, it didn't take long for them to come here. This is because the land area of Freyvens is not large. The country in this world is sometimes comparable to the medieval village. The reason why Freyvens is called a white town It is because of its small size.

Otherwise this would not be a white town, but a white kingdom.

"But."

"No but, this is what you are seeing right now. Fravans is an example, but there are far more than one such country. There are more than 200 member countries of the World Government, but do you know how many non-member countries are there?"

"But the world is not what I thought."

Although she didn't ask why she didn't eat minced meat, she didn't think that someone would let a country die for the sake of profit.

"You can't control these things now, and Yamato, you've got the rating for this trip."

"Huh?! Is there such a thing?"

She didn't know that there was such a thing as a rating when she traveled, and at this time, she said that her rating question was not in line with Arceus's previous habits.

"The strength is not bad, and the fruit ability has also improved, but it is too reckless, and you have put yourself in a dangerous environment more than once. You are far from qualified to sail alone. In a nutshell, it is not qualified."

"But... that's what my father does sometimes."

"Where did you know that?"

"Father is drunk and will talk about his past experiences."

Yamato's answer was a bit unexpected, but it didn't change the ending.

"You should learn what you should learn."

Apart from Kaido's monster physique, she didn't inherit Kaido's shrewdness at all, but learned Mang thoroughly.

"You're not allowed to learn anything about him after you go back, plus half an hour of common sense theory class every day."

"Wait, foster father, can you change the theory class?"

To be honest, she doesn't want to take classes, whether it's Kaido's martial arts or ordinary theory classes, but if you have to choose one, she'd rather go to the training ground than take theory classes.

"No, let that guy Quinn teach you a little more insidious tricks. You have to neutralize your naivety. It's okay if you don't want to go to class."

"Really?"

"Really, your father or me, you can pick one, as long as you can win. No, you can hold on for 1 hour with our full force, and you can sail alone."

Kaido seems reckless, but he has always controlled the risks to a certain extent. For example, when he was young, he always chose prison ships, because that kind of ships could not trap him. Netted.

Later, when he started to act recklessly, he already had enough strength. Yamato had two options, either to make himself smarter, or to have absolute strength to ignore the consequences.

Kozuki Oden has been dead for several years. If he can hold on to Kaido for an hour, he must at least reach the level of Oden back then. Although Yamato is now a monster among his peers, it is impossible for her in this situation. did it.

After thinking for a while, she still accepted that she had another course.

"Olga, take them back to the ship and let the doctor deal with these two people, Diancie, come to the mine with me."

The number of survivors is comparable to that of the Lunaria, but this is not what he should care about. Although the world government has covered up the fact that platinum and lead exist on the grounds of infectious diseases, Fravans will inevitably become a city in the future. Empty city.

Even if the surrounding countries want to mine, they will have to wait for a while, so the price of platinum and lead will inevitably skyrocket in the future. Taking away a large amount of platinum and lead at this time is very meaningful for the future.

"Tiancie, let me see what you learned from Quinn."

"Yes, Lord, you will be satisfied."

Tiancie makes diamonds by compressing carbon atoms in the air. Because of her race, she is naturally familiar with that composition, and Quinn's teaching is to let Diancie understand more elemental structures, so as to extract other substances.

However, Quinn's use of this ability is a bit biased. In addition to extracting special ingredients, he has created a special chemical fertilizer that contains all kinds of ingredients that bananas need.

"But Lord, I would like to ask you to do me a small favor. That matter is beyond my ability."

She can compress the ingredients in the air, but she can't mine directly. If she is asked to mine the minerals in the earth's crust, she can only dig a little bit.

The mine here is ready-made. Along the opening left by the mine, the high-temperature flames were released by Arceus. The endless flames almost filled the mine, and the platinum and lead inside also started under the influence of high temperature. vaporize.
noVeU.com

This is what Dianxi needs. A pale pink light emerges from her hands, and the floating platinum-lead gas recondenses into pieces of platinum-lead ingots under her control. These are refined platinum-lead, and the purity is higher than Fravans used to be even higher.

As long as the purification process has passed, the platinum and lead will become harmless to people, and under the control of Dianxi, there is no excess platinum and lead spilled, and now the only thing to consider is how to remove them.

Chapter 409 The smelly mud therapy and the new plan of all kinds of animal fruits N O v e L U S B . c O m

The properties of some slates actually have a certain extension. For example, steel slates not only refer to steel, but also contain a lot of metal minerals.

The fireball slate doesn't just refer to fire either.

High temperature, magma and other fire attribute attacks are included, but there are some complex attribute attacks in reality, for example, magma has the characteristics of fire and rock at the same time.

It takes about two slates to be completely immune to this attack.

The smelted platinum lead ore belongs to the control range of the steel slate, so the platinum lead ingots left here as if they were suspended, and the surrounding barbed wire was useless to them.

There are three people who survived in the entire Fravans now, the nun and the girl who were discovered and taken away by Yamato, and Luo who was hiding in the scorched corpse and sneaking out of the border.

Yawa and the others came here at the end of the time. At that time, Luo had already experienced despair. He fled from the hospital on the principle that no one could believe it, and lived to take revenge and revenge, which was his only belief at that time.

At this time, the Siwon has started a new voyage, but the destination is not the ghost island, but the East China Sea. After seeing the tragic reality of the world, Arceus intends to take them to change their mood.

Because not the whole world is so cruel, and beauty still exists, his purpose is to make Yamato not so naive, not to make her passive and world-weary, so a treasure hunt before the return trip became her extra pastime.

But it's not Yamato's character to be depressed because of this kind of thing. She never gets caught up in the memories of the past and can't extricate herself from it, and now she's concerned about the doctor's rescue.

"How's it going?"

"Miss Yamato, we have taken the bullet out of the woman's body, and their vital signs are currently stable, but there is nothing we can do about the problem of heavy metal poisoning."

The poisoning of platinum and lead is not a conventional poisoning. The reason for their poisoning is not that the cell structure is destroyed by the toxin, but that the component exists in every part of their body, even the fetus will be infected because of the mother.

There is no way to do it by conventional means, because the antidote cannot be effective in this situation at all. Their existing means can temporarily stabilize the lives of the two, but there is no other way.

Nowadays, every flagship of the Beast Pirates has a complete set of medical equipment, and those ship doctors will be sent to the Beast Pokémon Center for further training when they are not sailing.

The accompanying doctor on the Siwon is a top surgeon who can perform most operations, but even so, he has no way to deal with the platinum and lead that is distributed all over the body.

"What happens if it's not cured?"

"Will die. That woman should last a year, and that girl a month at most."

This is by conventional means. For people in the pirate world, there is no cure for platinum-lead disease, unless you find the fruit of surgery or a fruit with similar abilities to peel it off.

But this ship has the ability far beyond the world's understanding, but it is not Dianxi, although Dianxi has a method to extract platinum and lead, but the premise is that the platinum and lead are turned into gas, then the two people must be burned into ashes first. .

So Arceus prepared a very special treatment for them - the stinky mud treatment method, he had guessed that Yamato would ask for this, so he came up with such a method.

Smelly mud has a feature that it is invulnerable to all poisons. No matter what toxic substances are eaten by them, they will become part of the body. Whether it is neurotoxins or protein toxins, whether it is toxic metals or what, it is the same for them.

And because these stinky muds are in the form of Alola, they are not easy to smell, but the treatment process is not beautiful. The platinum lead is slowly absorbed.

If it was Yamato who was poisoned, then Arceus would probably do it himself, even if the members of the beasts had a problem in the battle, he could do it, but now these are two irrelevant people, he didn't need to do that.

The two stinky mud medics are already looking at Yamato's face.

In this process, they can only live by nutrient solution. In order not to make them feel physically uncomfortable, they also used that kind of powerful sleeping agent.

Anyone who wakes up and finds himself in a puddle of moving mud may not be able to cross that threshold in his heart.

"Father, why am I not allowed to watch it?"

"The picture is not very beautiful, it is not suitable for you now, go and study that treasure map with Robin."

used this reason to convince Yamato that Yamato would still listen to what he had banned, otherwise she would probably lose an umbrella when Kaido was training.

Saving those two people is for Yamato's personal psychology, and on the other hand, he intends to do something with the help of the beasts.

The matter of Fravans was covered up by the use of infectious diseases as an excuse, and Arceus's purpose was to break this layer of window paper. There is a pharmaceutical industry under the beasts and fruits, and platinum and lead are just an opportunity. Opportunity.

The richer people are, the more they cherish their lives, and they are reluctant to enjoy the beauty of the world, so Arceus wants to impose a sense of crisis on them, that is, they are also infected with platinum-lead disease.

Because platinum lead exists as a luxury, its price is very high, and ordinary people can't afford it at all. In the past, the nobles of many kingdoms used platinum lead as a symbol of their status.

As long as this matter is pointed out and told them that Frevans is not an infectious disease, but metal poisoning, then they will inevitably have a self-threatening mood.

Although the use of platinum and lead is harmless, but they do not know, the truth of platinum and lead is only known to the royal family and the world government of Freivans. In order to better sell them, the royal families of other kingdoms are also unclear about the details.

After all, it is a poisonous thing. Anyone who uses it must think carefully. Puffer fish is poisonous, so even if they say it is delicious, many people dare not try it. No one knows if it is themselves who are unlucky.

Faced with the terrible impact of platinum-lead disease, even if the world government is willing to tell the truth, they may not believe it. At this time, a famous doctor appeared. After several years of research, he found a way to treat platinum-lead disease. Special medicines have been developed.

And a patient with platinum-lead disease successfully healed himself under his treatment. Those royal families and nobles are naturally willing to spend a lot of money in the face of this situation.

And the medical companies under the animal fruit products will also become famous because of this. This is the most effective advertisement for the sales of some subsequent drugs.

Those tree fruit medicines are real medicines of conscience. As long as you use them, you will know how useful they are, but they are a bit expensive. At that time, all kinds of animal fruit products will be able to play a pillar industry again.

Chapter 410 "The Carp King Repaying Gratitude", the nun who tried to preach was preached in reverse

"Olga, are the pictures ready?"

"Ready, but Sir Arceus, would anyone be willing to publish this kind of news?"

Olga had received an order to take pictures before, and it can be said that she recorded the tragic situation of Fravans.

But she who knows the truth understands one thing, publishing this kind of news is likely to be targeted.

"Yes, that guy from Morgans won't let such big news go unnoticed. If the World Government is taken into consideration, that guy's newspaper office will not be able to get to where it is today."

The two main reasons for Morgans to start are the flocks of news birds and the courage to report big events. In the beginning, reporting big events was his hobby and fame, but now this is also his way of saving his life.

If he loses his popularity, then the attitude of the world government towards him is not a possible assassination, but a positive wanted.

These photos plus the truth of the content, Morgans will inevitably report it, and then their purpose will be achieved.

Especially the royal family of Frevans, who live in Frevans will be affected by platinum and lead no matter how careful they are, and they know the truth, so they will only spend more money to clear this hidden danger.

This operation also has a special code name - "Put the Rich People".

"Fix it and use Rotom to send Tezzolo a message, he'll figure out what to do, but don't worry, we'll start planning when we go back, he can work this thing slowly during this time.

In addition, notify your father and the others, and let the Onishima side also make some preparations. "

For example, the treatment report of platinum-lead disease, this stinky mud therapy will naturally not be stabbed out, so they need to plan something that outsiders can't understand but is very reasonable, making people feel unclear.

The same is true for the drug part, because there is no specific drug in the first place, so the requirement of this drug is an unknown health product that is harmless to the human body. enough potency.

At the same time, Naiqin's talent in traditional Chinese medicine can be used to figure out some pharmacology, and then use Assie's mineral knowledge to explain the problem of platinum and lead. The abilities of these three experts can just come in handy.

"Understood, but do you also want to record the healing process of that nun?"

"Just take a photo of the face, the healing process is still very long."

In the process of waiting, the people on the ship also have their own way of pastime. For example, the doctor on the ship became obsessed with the treatment of smelly mud, and wrote observation reports every day.

On the other hand, Yamato became a fisherman temporarily. This is her new training. The purpose is to cultivate patience. If she is too impatient, she will act very irrationally in some cases.

Fishing is a big test of patience. Although the moment you catch the fish is very happy, but for this short-term happiness, you have to endure a long time of loneliness.

Successfully catching a fish is her goal today.

"Miss Yamato, you can't do this."

"Yeah, we are not a fishing boat, and there are no reefs around here. There are very few fish, you need more patience."

At this time, Yamato was holding two fishing rods in both hands, and from time to time, he would carry them up to take a look. Not to mention sea fishing, even in a fish pond, he probably wouldn't be able to catch them.

Relatively speaking, Robin is much more relaxed. She is reading a book herself, and fishing is only her outstretched arm. This is her cooperation with Maria. Maria uses the compound eyes of the spider to catch the movement of the fish float, while she is the Control the fishing rod.

Both of them can stand loneliness, so what they get is much richer than Yamato.

But in the end, she succeeded. When she was about to fry, a carp king gave her this face and was successfully caught.

"Remember not to bite the hook in the future, and the fishing net should also stay away, remember to evolve early."

Looking at the carp king who had finished her painful lesson today, Yamato used the power of Vibran to teach it how to avoid risks, and then threw it back into the sea again.

At the same time as she ended her fishing career, the long course of the stinky mud treatment plan finally came to an end. At this time, they were already close to the location of the East China Sea. It can be said that this was a treatment that traveled halfway across the North Sea.

"The platinum and lead levels have been cleared, and the injections of the sleeping agent have stopped. They should wake up soon."

Looking at the test report in his hand, the ship doctor made his own judgment, and the fact is as he said, the nun woke up soon, but the long drowsiness made her mind not sober.

"Is this hell? I remember as if I was taken away by the messengers of hell"

Her last impression was that she was carried away by a spider's silk wrapped around the back of a humanoid.

"No, this is a ship. We have already left Freivans. According to the voyage, we are almost in the East China Sea. How are you feeling? Is there anything uncomfortable?"

The doctor asked about her physical condition, and he still had to write an observation report.

"On the boat. So those were just dreams right? Are the kids saved? Where are they?"

"Right next to you."

The nun turned to look aside and saw the girl who was also lying on the hospital bed.

"Rami?! Where's her brother? Where are the other kids?"

Only then did they know the girl's name - Lamy, her full name was Trafalgar D. Watier Lamy, where D was an incognito name, "Watier" was a taboo name, and the external name was just Trafalgar Lamy.

is also Trafalgar Law's biological sister.

"Unfortunately, there are only you two survivors in Freivans. Miss Yamato has not found other survivors. Don't get excited yet, your body is not very healthy now."

The nutrient solution replenishes the substances needed for life, but this nun will not return her life. It is good that the muscles have not atrophied after lying down for so long.

Under the description of the ship doctor, she still accepted the fact that she didn't want to believe that the only child left in the monastery was Rami in front of her.

And Rami woke up right after, but unlike the nun, she had no memory of what happened before, and even the nun didn't recognize it.

"She is"

"Amnesia caused by heavy metal poisoning, but with all due respect, it's a good thing that she forgot all that, what do you think?"

After the examination, the ship doctor moved Rami to another room, and then told the nun.

"really."

Remembering that everything about Fravans was that the nun felt chills all over, and it was a good thing that Rami forgot those things.

"Doctor, you are a good man, may the Lord bless you."

"Farewell, I'm not a good person, and I believe in Lord Arceus more than your master. He and Miss Yamato brought you back. Don't forget this kindness."

Originally, she only mentioned the Lord habitually, but as a nun, she encountered the preaching of others

In the latest episode, Luo's sexual transformation appeared, so it can be understood that Lamy's sexual transformation is very similar to his