

Arceus 511

Chapter 511: Huang Quan also bows his head

As the world of great voyages, ships have always been the most mainstream mode of transportation, so no matter which sea area these people come from, the topic of ghost ships cannot be avoided in childhood ghost stories.

The appearance of this ship at this time made them inevitably think of similar legends, and they talked about the legends of their hometown one after another.

「No...there won't be a ghost ship, right?」

"Yes, my grandma told me when I was a child that sometimes the messengers of the underworld would extradite the living to the world of the dead with their ships, but they would not recognize the wrong person, so the people extradited by these people would all become dead. "

Seeing that someone was afraid of ghosts, he continued to talk about supernatural events in his ears without fear of serious troubles.

According to him, this is the mistake of the messenger of the underworld, but in order to avoid being punished, the messenger of the underworld will kill all the living, so it is not considered a mistake.

「It is said that the coldness of the underworld will take the living away...」

「Just... like that?」

A pirate pointed to the side of the Shiyuan ship, which had been covered with frost at some point, and the frost was still spreading, and there were figures floating on the ghost ship-like ship.

Gollum...

Several sounds of swallowing saliva came from the side, even if they were pirates fighting in the new world, they would inevitably have a sense of fear in the face of this situation.

"Stop... stop pretending to be a ghost, who the * is it, come out to me!"

He threw a ball of energy out of his hand. There were many givers on this ship, but the ball of energy failed to defeat his enemies as before, and instead disappeared like a mud cow into the sea.

And the things on that ship also squirmed like sea waves, and the frost on the Shiyuan ship spread more rapidly, and unknown cold air flowed on the deck, just a single contact, severe frostbite appeared on the bodies of these pirates .

「Hey! Your grandma never said what to do in such a situation!」

「I...I hated grandma's nagging at the time, I didn't finish listening...」

「You bastard...」

「Who knew such a thing would happen!」

The sudden abnormal scene made them a little flustered, but they did not sit still, but poured their own firepower on the enemy ship. Ordinary guns and skills given to the giver attacked the opponent like rain, but all of them disappeared out of thin air up.

What was exchanged was only more crazy frost spreading, and those frost seemed to form a new ladder, a group of fluorescent people with complete bodies were running along the rope to the Shiyuan.

Sharp-eyed people even found a weird cloaked man on the side of the ghost ship, and the weird roar reached everyone's ears, and the people in the cabin even saw those things rushing up through the wooden boards like ghosts .

But the next moment, all the monsters stopped their movements. Although they were still roaring, they kept retreating.

「Arzeus-sama is here!」

When he found that the situation was wrong, someone ran to the cabin, and he happened to meet Arceus who wanted to come out to check the situation. stability.

「Stand back, don't make trouble here.」

"Yes!"

A group of pirates retreated behind Arceus. Their weapons and attacks were completely ineffective. Even the domineering arrows couldn't hurt each other. Now they don't know what to do except look at them.

「Can Master Arceus deal with this monster?」

"What are you talking about? That's Lord Arceus. How could there be something he can't handle? It looks like a newcomer. You should let the elder sister teach you when you go back."

The pirates around whispered about this situation, and there were a few more cloaked men on board. They seemed to communicate for a while, and then waved their arms towards Arceus.

The next moment, those weird fluorescent people who had already stopped rushed over again, but the next moment, a terrible malice enveloped most of the deck, and the wave of evil released by Arceus swept everything in front of them.

Those ones

The strange creature, fearless of bullets and skills, seemed to have encountered its natural enemy, and let out an incomparably piercing scream, before disappearing completely under the baptism of evil waves.

「These are my people, who gave you the courage to move them?!」

「The living, this is not your world, this is the underworld, only the dead come here...」

The slightly distorted voice reached everyone's ears, and they didn't know where they had come until now.

「Don't you guys know why this ship entered the underworld?」

Those weird creatures did not speak, and the cold frost surged again, rushing in the direction of Arceus, just like the story told by the pirate at the beginning, this was the mistake of these emissaries of the underworld.

In the process of introducing the undead into the underworld, they mistakenly opened the passage, causing the Siyuan to appear here, and they wanted to silence them in order to cover up their mistakes.

This is an extremely small probability, and the rules of Huangquan will not allow this kind of thing, so there will be survivors who will bring this kind of rumor back. Although no one stopped these Huangquan people this time, they picked the wrong opponent.

The power of the evil-faced slate turned into an indestructible barrier, and the coldness of the underworld was blocked outside. At the same time, the behavior of these people has already angered Arceus.

In the dark sky of Huangquan, a power that does not belong to this place appeared. The evil-attribute sanction light has been condensed, and the dark power cut through the cold air of Huangquan, and blasted towards the ghost ship.

It was not immune to the bombardment of Arceus. This ghost ship sailing in the underworld encountered things that had never been experienced for thousands of years, but it did not sink like an ordinary ship, but burst out with a strange force.

After the huge flash, the people on the Siyuan found that the dense fog on the sea had disappeared, and they appeared in the sun again, but the frost on the ship and the frostbite on their bodies told them that everything just now was real.

"Master Arceus, that was just now..."

Several people looked at each other in blank dismay, and finally the second officer bravely stepped forward to inquire about the situation.

"It's Huang Quan, but you don't have to worry about it, those things have already gone away."

As soon as this remark came out, the boat fell into silence first, and then there was a burst of deafening cheers. Even the envoys of the underworld would flee in the face of Arceus, which was a great thing for them.

It's just that Arceus was different from their ideas. Under the control of his power, a small black hole-like object gradually appeared in midair, and it appeared like a human figure.

「Go find the whereabouts of those guys, and bring me back the location of Huang Quan.」

Originally, Arceus meant to let those guys open the exit channel. This is not the world of the living, and he has no interest in staying here, but those guys actually wanted to silence them directly. If this is the case, don't blame him for using violent means.

Although they left there in the end, those guys chose to evade because they felt scared after seeing the power of Arceus.

Going up to provoke first, and then wanting to escape after finding out that he is not an opponent, this kind of thing is not feasible with Arceus.

It's just that Huangquan is not an ordinary island, it is everywhere, and there is no trace to find it. It is not easy to find the real entrance of Huangquan, so he has to create a special envoy to search for that place. He has plenty of Time to play with them slowly.

The black sphere gradually expanded, and finally a shadow creature resembling a human was presented.

The white hair covers most of the face, only revealing a pair of bright blue eyes.

A red jagged tie wraps around his neck. A long black rag hangs from each shoulder.

Two pure black sharp claws constitute his arms. The black sharp claws are extremely dark, but no one will question its power. At this time, it is just floating in mid-air, making the pirates around looking at him feel a sense of urgency. Inexplicable heart palpitations.

Phantom Pokémon with evil attributes, Dark Pokémon-Darkrai, also known as the God of Nightmare.

"Darkley will follow your will."

Darklayi's nihilistic legs are two black legs constructed from shadows. He did this only to express his loyalty by making a gesture of submission.

After the eldest son Zeraora, the second son Manaphy, and the third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh sons, five original Genesects, Darkrai can only be ranked eighth in the Arceus family .

After all, there were a lot of Genesects manufactured back then, even if they were complete, there were seven of them, among which GT-2 and Yamato's small Genesect were all female, and the remaining five were male by default.

「Go, find out where those guys are, and bring them back.」

"Of order."

Like a black hole distorted, Darkley disappeared in front of everyone. He had already followed Arceus' request to find the location of the underworld.

Although there is a Brook who has been to the underworld in the devil's triangle sea area, but now he does not have the ability to leave the body, even if he is found, he cannot find the entrance to the underworld.

It is better to count on Perona's negative ghost than to count on him now.

In a sense, Huangquan is everywhere, because it belongs to the soul world of the dead, but although it is everywhere, the two-way exit is the only one.

That is not a place where the living can enter indiscriminately. Darkrai's power is very special, but he is a living Pokémon, not a dead ghost. It takes a period of exploration to enter there.

After Darkley left, the color of the Evil Face Slate became quite dim.

Darkley is not a divine beast, it is also a rank of phantom beasts, and the number is not unique, and individual differences are also obvious. This Darkley shoulders a heavy responsibility, and it is relatively strong in Darkley's group. Yan Shiban sent a lot of energy to him.

「Navigator, where is your current position?」

Then Arceus called the previous navigator. It was normal for him to find his way in that environment, but if he still can't find his way now, then the Shiyuan can be replaced.

By estimating the vibration amplitude of the recording pointer, he quickly determined the specific position of the ship, and then the Shiyuan continued to sail according to the past scheduled route.

After leaving the Yellow Springs Kingdom, their positions did not change much. They were still in the waters of the West Sea, but there were slight changes.

After re-planning the route, the Siyuan continued to sail, and some people on board were also dealing with the frostbite caused by the cold air in Huangquan, and at the same time began to artistically process Arceus' previous behavior.

Even if they are all personal experiencers, the descriptions of events are becoming more and more outrageous, especially those who have experienced Misu's missionary behavior and become more religious.

They still seem to be writing something in the small book, which is an act of completing the ancient books of Arceus.

Although the average educational level of the pirate group is not high, that is because there are a large number of miscellaneous soldiers. The cadres within Beasts do not say that their educational level is outstanding, but they can be a small boss. Literacy is the most basic requirement. .

Orally conveyed orders are easy to be conveyed sour. Most of the time, the orders conveyed to the subordinate territories are written orders. If you can't even understand the words, there is no way to perform the above tasks.

Using an inappropriate way of expression, even Yamato can now understand all characters except for rare characters.

Thus, these people who recorded the deeds not only performed artistic processing, but even the fonts were very beautiful. After going back and being decorated by Mi Sulan, this matter will become much more metaphysical.

There is still a long way to go home for the Shiyuan, and in the North Sea on the other side of the great route, Luo Xindi is still taking Luo to seek medical advice. Thanks to the press conference of Beast Fruit, the truth of platinum lead disease has been revealed.

At this time, platinum-lead disease is no longer an infectious disease that everyone talks about, but an ordinary platinum-lead disease. It will not be rejected by all hospitals, and it will not welcome the malice of those doctors. The fruit press conference has already made it clear.

And that drug did have a specific effect on platinum lead in in vitro experiments, but this also led to another consequence.

Before that, platinum-lead disease was completely incurable, so what Beast announced was the only treatment plan in their view. No matter how many hospitals he went to, the treatment plan he got was the same. It is recommended to use Beast Medicines developed from fruits.

As for his saying that it is useless, those doctors only think that it is due to individual differences. After all, the successful examples are placed first, and it is something they can accept that the medicine is not suitable for all individuals.

However, Rossindi did not give up. It has been a while since he left the Don Quixote family, and he has visited many hospitals in Beihai, but there is always hope for him.

"Don't worry Luo, at least this drug is good for stabilizing your physical condition, there is still time, just keep going, if it doesn't work, there is the last way..."

He is an intelligence officer directly under the Warring States Period. The identity of the nun can be confirmed. Misu is indeed Misu himself, which means that they must have a means inside.

If the hospital doesn't have any plans, he can try to find Beasts Fruit or even the Beasts Pirates behind it, but Beasts Fruit is on the Red Earth Continent, and Beasts Pirates are in the New World. It is not easy to do this kind of thing.

Chapter 513: The Right Way to Immune to the Specter of Negativity

However, changes always come faster than the plan. Before he could do what he planned, Doflamingo had already called, and the reason was very simple. Doflamingo found the whereabouts of the fruit of the operation.

This fruit was circulated several times, and finally got into the hands of a group of pirates, who didn't know the true value of this fruit.

For them, the fruit of surgery is just a sky-high price fruit worth five billion Baileys.

They didn't want to be famous doctors. Facing the price, they agreed to the deal without thinking, even if the target of the deal was the Navy.

But Doflamingo knew what this fruit meant, that it was the way to immortality.

Even though he knew that the world leader must be behind this matter, he still decided to take a risk and find a way to get this fruit.

The way to achieve immortality with the fruit of surgery is the method called immortal surgery. The cost of performing that surgery is the death of the fruit holder. It is not so easy to find someone who is willing to die for himself.

In the end, Doflamingo chose Rosindi. He wanted his own brother to die for him.

But that's where the biggest problem lies.

Boom boom boom...

Rosinanti knocks on the stone in front of the phone bug, this is his way of responding to Doflamingo, who plays the role of a mute in the Don Quixote family and has eaten a devil fruit.

Superman · Fruit of Silence.

When the ability user uses the ability, he will create a sound insulation wall within a certain range of himself. As long as he is in the sound insulation wall, all the sounds from people or things will be blocked by the sound insulation wall and cannot be transmitted outside the wall.

The soundproof wall can still be activated normally even when the capable user is sleeping, and it can eliminate all noises from the surroundings while sleeping, achieving the effect of "improving sleep quality".

This is also the ability he uses when reporting intelligence, so that he doesn't have to worry about being overheard by the enemy.

If he hadn't eaten the Devil Fruit, he wouldn't mind continuing to stay undercover next to Doflamingo, but eating two fruits would definitely kill him, which is common sense in the sea today.

Go back, he will be exposed, if not go back, he will still be exposed, and the reason why Doflamingo sent a message to Rossindi to let him go back is to verify this.

During the time he was away, Crane's tracking completely disappeared, which made him suspect that Rosindi was the ghost.

For Rossinanti, returning to the navy is the safest thing to do now. With the Warring States period, Doflamingo has nothing to do with him, but because of Luo, he still chooses to take the risk and launch an operation targeting the fruits of the surgery. .

Whether the medicine of beasts works is a mystery, and the truth about the nun is the same. In his opinion, the fruit of the operation is the most realistic way to solve the problem.

Braving the storm, Rosinindi and Luo arrived at the place of the transaction, but he failed. Although Luo successfully let Luo eat the fruit of the operation, he was exposed.

Luo took his news to ask for help, but because Virgo had successfully uncovered the navy, Luo mistakenly sent the news to Virgo, and finally he let Luo successfully escape here at the cost of his own life.

The former admiral, now a pirate, that is, Drake, the son of Dies Barreiros who discovered the fruit of the operation, was taken away by the navy, and everything continued as usual.

The fruit of surgery is not the main goal of the Beasts Pirates. Although this fruit also has the ability of the bug-like rule system, it is relatively useless to Beasts. Kaido is an animal madman, and Arceus will not actively search for demons. fruit.

Unless it is on the way, if you have the energy, you might as well look for the slate. Now he is still sailing in the West Sea.

Due to geographical location, the North Sea and the West Sea are the sea areas where the Hundred Beasts Pirates appear more often, because they are just on both sides of the New World, with ships inlaid with sea towers. They only need to cross the calm zone, and they will Can directly reach the target sea area.

When Arceus was exploring the West Sea, members of the Beasts were also on vacation in the North Sea. For example, Zeraora and Setsuna appeared in the

Go to Happy Town in Swallow Island.

Different from the Joy Street controlled by Stracey, this Joy Town is a very serious town. The reason why it is called Joy Town is the expectation of the townspeople.

Most of the residents here are not aborigines, because this place was once attacked by pirates, and it was almost destroyed under their attack. After that, the town was rebuilt with the help of many people.

Bringing joy, warmth and tolerance to everyone is the creed of this town, so whether they are minorities or ordinary people with physical disabilities, they will not be discriminated against on this island.

This atmosphere also promotes the development of tourism here, and some tourists often come here to see the local customs.

However, this place is not very famous, and it belongs to a country town-like place that is spread among some groups.

There are ready-made hotels on the island, but Zeraola and the others did not choose to live there, but chose to camp in the nearby woods.

The small tree as thick as the wrist was snapped off in an instant, and a simple tent was quickly erected. This was something she had learned in Zou before, while Perona was collecting firewood in the forest with the bear in the clothes.

To be precise, she lay on top of the wearing bear, and then watched the wearing bear collecting firewood by himself. Occasionally, there would be some negative ghosts looking for new dead branches for the wearing bear.

With the power of a bear, it is not difficult to uproot a big tree, but it is difficult to burn such a tree fully. In order not to be choked by the smoke, it is necessary to find dry firewood.

Zeraora and Setsuna are not worried about her safety, not to mention they are right next to them. Perona's negative ghost plus the strange power of wearing a bear, the average person is not the opponent of this combination at all.

Perona let the opponent open wide and gave a fatal blow wearing a bear. They had this cooperation for a long time, but they found a strange thing when wearing a bear while collecting firewood.

It saw a dead tree. To save time, it wanted to carry the tree back. Unexpectedly, the tree was hollow, and a white mass fell out of it, and it exclaimed. Voice.

Perona instinctively directed the negative ghost to pass through the opponent's body, but it didn't work. The white creature still stood there blankly, looking at the bear with a slightly dull gaze. Perona took a closer look and found that The other party actually blushed.

「What are you? Why is the negative ghost not working for you?!」

「Sorry, I don't know...」

The other party did not answer Perona's questioning, but started to apologize to her directly. Only then did she notice that the white creature in front of her seemed to be a young bear fur.

Chapter 514: Bebo

Looking at the talking white bear who kept apologizing in front of her, Perona was a little confused about the situation. This bear looked the same as being hit by a negative ghost, but the delay was a bit high.

But Perona is very clear that this is not the effect of her negative ghost. Normal people will immediately enter a negative state after being hit by her negative ghost, and those who are able to resist will not be affected, and there has never been a delayed attack.

Not to mention, both Setsuna and Zeraora can ignore her passive ghost, but the bear in front of me...

「Why are you apologizing?」

「I'm sorry, I don't know why I'm apologizing...」

Looking at the performance of the bear's fur, Perona seemed to understand why. Negative ghosts magnify the negative side of people's hearts, thereby making people enter a negative state, but if a person is already extremely negative, negative ghosts will become ineffective.

Because this person is too pessimistic, the body eventually develops resistance to pessimism.

「There is still such a weakness...」

Looking at the fur of the bear who was still apologizing, Perona suddenly discovered the flaw of the spirit fruit.

「Okay! Stop apologizing!」

「Yes... sorry...」

Perona patted her head. This bear made her feel very bad. Sure enough, a bear that can't talk is a good bear, but she still asked about the business.

「Aren't you a fur tribe? Why isn't the fur tribe here in Zou? How did you go to sea?」

This bear's fur doesn't look very big. Although she is not a fur tribe, her adoptive mother is the new Duke of Zou. From this perspective, she can actually be regarded as the princess of the fur tribe. After all, in the eyes of the fur tribe, human beings are nothing more than monkey fur with little hair.

Hearing the words Zou and fur clan, this fur bear almost cried out. He is Jiebo's missing younger brother Beibo. After being washed away by the current, he came to the North Sea by chance.

It's his luck that he didn't starve to death halfway and was not eaten by sea kings, but he didn't know how to go back. The people in Beihai have never heard of the fur tribe, and not everyone is as tolerant as Happy Town.

In the eyes of most people, he is just a talking monster. This kind of concept, coupled with his own fragile personality, is very easy to get depressed, has low resistance to stress, and poor psychological endurance, so he hides in the dead tree. In the tree hole.

He doesn't like the environment here, because there is not even a female bear in this place, and returning to Zou is his biggest dream, which is why his face turns slightly red when he sees wearing a bear.

「You...you know Zou?」

"Of course I know, my mother is the new Duke of Zou."

「Great, can you take me back to Zou! This place is not fun at all. My name is Bepo. I left Zou by accident. When I woke up, I found that Zou was gone...」

He doesn't know why Zou changed to a new duke, and he doesn't know if Perona is lying. The fur tribe is relatively naive, not to mention that Bepo is now willing to return, so he patted the dust on his body. Just like walking in the direction of Perona.

In the eyes of the wearing bear, this is a strange and dangerous element, so he waved at him.

The bear in clothes crossed his arms and waved vigorously, while Bepo saw another bear beckoning to him in a "friendly" way and quickened his pace.

"and many more!"

Perona said this to Bepo and wearing the bear at the same time, but it was too late, the arms of the wearing bear lit up for a while, and the double-armed hammer directly hit Bepo.

Looking at the big crater on the ground, Perona knew it must be painful.

Then Perona slid down from the bear's back and poked Bepo underneath. According to the actual situation, the bear fur was still alive.

「Kuku...」

「I know, I know, this guy is weird.」

Wearing a bear explains his behavior, mainly referring to Beppo ignoring the warning, and this is something that can't be helped. Due to the characteristics of the ethnic group, the warning action of wearing a bear is a gesture of greeting from other races.

When you thought a bear was welcoming you

The meaning expressed by wearing a bear is actually simpler. If you dare to come over, I will shoot you to death.

In the gathering place of wearing bears, many people are injured by wearing bears every year because of this misunderstanding. They look cute, but they are extremely dangerous Pokémon, unless they are trusted by their trainers to be exempt from this matter.

「Take him back, be gentle this time.」

「Kuku~」

Then dressed as a bear, carrying a dead tree in his left hand, Bepo in his right hand, Perona on his head, and the dry firewood he had just picked up on his tail, he walked back to their campsite with a full load.

By the stream, Setsu had just finished handling the fish caught in the stream, and watched the bear come back from the outside with all kinds of things in his clothes.

「Why did you bring back a bear?」

She doesn't object to others eating fur-bearing mammals, but at least don't do it in front of her. This is the minimum respect for fur people. She thinks that Perona will not make such a low-level mistake.

「No, Mama Setsuna, this is a fur family, but I accidentally wore a bear just now...」

「Kuku...」

Because of the power of waveguide, Setsuna wearing a bear is no different from an ordinary human being, and soon she figured out what happened.

「You said his name was Bepo?」

「Well, he said so himself.」

"Jepo's younger brother seems to be him... Zeraora, do you remember Pedro's number?"

Pedro and the others left Zou shortly after the wedding. Since they are all elite fighters, they have not encountered any troubles these years.

During the journey, they have been looking for Beppo, but there has been no result, because until now, they are still sailing on the great route, and they never thought that Beppo had passed through the windless belt and had already reached the North Sea.

Bepo is still in a coma at the moment, wearing a bear doesn't feel so good, I'm afraid it will take some time when he wakes up, it's better to confirm with Pedro and the others at this time.

The last call was made to Pedro who was on the voyage. After some comparisons, they also completely confirmed Beppo's identity.

After receiving the news that Bepo is safe and sound, Jiebo has no scruples. After receiving the promise that Setsuna will bring Bepo back, the Knox expedition team started their new adventure.

And Perona also bandaged Beipo. Although Beibo had no trauma, this bandage was soaked in a special medicine, which can have the same effect as a plaster, so she bandaged him.

But Perona's bandaging method is a bit special. Not only did he wrap his head, but she also wrapped Bepo's mouth in the bandage, so that Bepo who woke up could only make a sound of "uuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuu" Can't speak.

Chapter 515: This time the cauldron belongs to Arceus

A bear that can't speak is a real good bear. This is Perona's perception of cute creatures. Obviously, Bepo in mummy form is more in line with her aesthetics.

In a sense, today's beasts are not very normal, because this pirate group has brought together a large number of strange people who are aesthetically curious.

「Strange... Where did this come from? Who wrapped it up like this for me?」

Waking up, Beppo took off the bandage covering his mouth, but his mind was blank. He remembered that he was sleeping in a tree hole, and then...

rubbed his head, still a little pain, but some afterimages of the screen also began to appear.

「I think I saw a very cute yellow female bear, and there is a woman...」

Most of the fur tribes are still the companions of the fur tribe or other races, but there are also a small number of fur tribes who have a good impression of the same kind of beasts. This is not surprising, at most it is rare.

Beppo's last memory is of a girl who recognized him as a fur tribe, and the she-bear was still waving at him friendly, after which he seems to fall asleep.

「Yi!」

At this time, he suddenly heard a call, and when he looked over there, the wearing bear moved out a huge boulder from nowhere, and then directly cut off the stream, and was catching passing fish at this time.

「Kunai~」

After slapping the water, the bear wiped the sweat that didn't exist on his forehead. At the same time, it also noticed that Beppo had woken up. This time, it didn't wave at the other party. Through instant communication, it already understood But this weird white bear is no enemy.

「Yi!」

Shouted not far away, Shi Mo also received the message while he was grilling fish.

At that time, although wearing a bear was just an ordinary basic attack, a minor fur tribe couldn't withstand the attack of a bear wearing a bear known as the bear god. Even with the healing bandages, Bepo's recovery time had been delayed until the next day. Morning.

When he was brought, Setsuna baked it for dinner, but now it's breakfast for the next day.

As for whether it will be boring, as a carnivorous fur race, this kind of thing will not happen to her. The same is true for Zeraora because of her blood. As for Perona, although she has a strange aesthetic, she is not picky.

A child who survived and grew up in a cemetery is not qualified to choose food. Naturally, she can eat whatever she has. Although she has favorite food, most of the food has to be eaten.

"Are you awake? You are Japo's younger brother, Bepo, right?"

「It's me, do you know my brother?」

"I'm not very familiar with you, but it's considered an acquaintance. Don't worry, I will bring you back to Zou after a while. You just follow me during this time. By the way, there is one more thing."

"what?"

"Jiebo asked me to give you a good lesson for him, so that he won't worry about you running around in the future."

Rubbing his fists, he immediately said Jiebo's request yesterday. Facing a child running around, parents and relatives would only be worried when he disappeared, but after finding him, this special situation may occur .

"Ugh?"

"This is what Jiebo left for you. He should call you again when he is free. You should listen first."

As he said that, he took a sound shell. These shellfish in Sky Island are even more useful than most machines. As long as the shell is not broken, their function will not be affected, and the sound quality is also excellent.

As for why Jiebo didn't call now, it can be seen from the behavior of Beibo rubbing his ears.

Inberg not only has the voice of Jiebo caring and scolding him, but also the sound of explosions.

The phone call yesterday was a bit out of date. It seems that Pedro and Jiebo called while fighting the enemy, but judging from their ability to take the time to answer the phone, their battle was very easy.

Just in case, she still planned to call back when the two of them were free.

Before when Setsuna went back and forth frequently to and from Zowu, Beibo was still very young, and his mind was still dizzy, so he didn't recognize who Setsuna was at the first time.

After realizing it, she was originally the heir to the duke

「You... no, you are already the new Lord Duke?」

「Yes, but Yang Jisihan is still managing Zou now, there is no change from before, you just stay here honestly and don't run around, you know?

Otherwise, don't blame me for really teaching you. "

Although Jiebo told her not to be polite, she still wouldn't really beat Beibo up. The premise is that he doesn't delay her future trip, otherwise she won't be polite.

「Yes, I'm sorry...I won't run around...」

Looking at this very negative white bear, Shi didn't say anything more, just like that, there was another negative white bear in their team.

And Luo also woke up leisurely after escaping from birth. Using the fruit of the operation, he performed an operation on himself without anesthesia, and passed out from the pain.

Later, he was rescued by the old man Wolf who claimed to be a genius inventor. Wolf took Luo in exchange for food and lodging by working for him, and let Luo start a new life.

...

After a period of time, the Siwon has returned to the West Sea and returned to the great route, and during this period of time, there is a new sea horror story in the West Sea. People in some villages will fall into nightmares for no reason, and the whole village does everything It's the same dream.

Whether it is a pirate or a navy, an ordinary person or a beast, this kind of weird situation often happens in some areas.

This is the influence of Darkley. He didn't want to interact with too many people in the process of searching for the underworld, so he would use this method to make everyone fall into a dream.

Nightmare God's nickname is not for nothing. This abnormal behavior has also caused some people to investigate, but they have been unsuccessful.

There are also very few people who have seen Darkley, and even communicated with him, but the vast majority of people just think they are talking nonsense, and regard it as a kind of supernatural event.

The Shiyuan was gradually approaching the ghost island, but an incredible thing happened. They hit the rocks. Although the solid hull of the Siyuan was not broken, they were still temporarily stranded here.

The navigator looked at the road map with an innocent face. He had walked this road hundreds of times. This is obviously a safe path, but for some reason, a giant coral reef actually appeared.

In fact, this matter has something to do with Arceus. Because of his transformation of the gigantic ocean current, there are some special energies in the seawater, and these energies lead to the mutation of some creatures. The general fish are only a little bigger. No big deal.

But those corals were also affected and started growing at an unscientific rate...

Chapter 516: The biological control project of good and bad stars

Because of the different species, those coral polyps are more affected. Originally, these coral polyps lived in the coral reefs on the seabed. Under the expansive growth, these corals will reach the sea surface to form such a large area of submerged reefs.

This kind of problem is not limited to this place, but occurs in many places where currents meet. Through some violent means, they solved the coral bushes under the Shiyuan, but when they returned to Wano Country, they found that the problem was more than that. so.

Because the coral bushes were also affected outside the diving port, this is what happened when Arceus went to the West Sea. At this time, the Jenny Turtle Fire Brigade was working with the pirates outside to deal with these skyrocketing corals.

As we all know, the work of the fire brigade is not only to put out fires, rescue and provide disaster relief, open locks to save people, catch snakes and bees, these seemingly unrelated things all have the presence of fire brigades.

Although the squirrel fire brigade is different from human firefighters, they are still indispensable for some tasks. It is not difficult to deal with hornet's nests. The water curtain formed by several squirrels is far from being able to break through by ordinary wasps.

These coral removal operations also require the assistance of the Squirrel Turtle. The extremely huge current originates from Wano Country. The current coral problem only occurs in this area, and the diving port is an important way to enter and exit Wano Country.

And the total number of Beast Pirates has already exceeded 10,000, and there are more than one ship stationed in Wano Country, and not all ships are built according to flagships such as Siyuan and Beast King.

The solid bottoms of these two ships made by Treasure Tree Adam are just stranded. If they are replaced by ordinary pirate ships, they may become shipwrecks. In order to ensure smooth passage, it is very important to clean up the coral.

Now a group of pirates in diving suits are cleaning up the corals with the help of Jenny Turtles. The turbulent currents will weaken the power of the underwater water guns, and these corals can evolve in this environment, which has a certain degree of erosion by the currents. resistance.

If it weren't for the huge currents that mutated these things, under this kind of currents, the coral reefs would not be able to form at all, so the demolition would require human assistance, but they would not be able to maintain stability in the currents only by relying on human power.

Even if they were wearing diving suits, they would be quickly washed away by the current, but Jack was able to take root on the bottom of the sea by virtue of his identity as a murloc and the weight of the giant bronze elephant.

But his efficiency alone is not enough. Just after cleaning a few areas, the corals that were cleaned up first may reappear.

The species of these corals are completely different from those in normal sea areas. In order to cope with the currents here, they have evolved special abilities.

Ordinary coral polyps take a long time to slowly evolve into coral reefs, but these species of polyps only need a few days to form huge coral formations through secretions, and it will not take long for them to harden and form coral reefs.

So with the assistance of the Squirrel Turtle, a coral cleaning team appeared in the nearby waters. However, from the fact that the Shiyuan hit a rock nearby, it can be seen that their work efficiency is not high.

Whether it is the nightmare legend of the West Sea, or these corals spreading nearby, in the final analysis, it is related to what Arceus created.

However, when Arceus returned to Ghost Island, what he saw was Shaina who blamed himself. In her opinion, letting Arceus' ship hit the rocks was obviously her own dereliction of duty.

"It's okay, Shaina, it's not your fault. Professional things have to be done by professional people. Cleaning up coral is still a bit embarrassing for Squirtle."

Manual eradication is a waste of time, so at this time it is time to start biological control, which refers to a control method that uses beneficial organisms or other organisms to suppress or eliminate harmful organisms.

Of course, this harmful organism is determined by human subjective will. These crazy-growing corals have already endangered the safety of nearby air routes without natural enemies, and they have become "pests" for beasts.

Moreover, what Beast needs to eliminate is not only those coral polyps, but also those coral reefs, which are not much different from stones in essence.

But among the diversity of Pokémon, there are Pokémon that eat coral.

Non-Star Pokémon - Good and Bad Stars.

In the Pokémon world, there is also a food chain, which has been created

The Sweet Bamboo produced is the favorite food of bird Pokémon, and the good and bad star is the natural enemy of Sun Coral.

The corals growing on their heads are the favorite food of the good and bad stars, with the exception of the Galar region, where the sun corals have evolved different attributes due to regional reasons, and even the good and bad stars there have become disliked to eat them.

The good and bad star looks like just a weird creature with long hair that drags the floor, but those are not the hair, but the tentacles of the good and bad star, full of poisonous stingers for hunting.

Each good and bad star has 10 tentacles carrying venomous thorns, and the front one is very short, which will reveal the face of the body that hides itself under the tentacles, through which you can see their mouths with three fangs.

Although the corals of sun corals are their favorite food, they also like to eat ordinary corals, not to mention these corals that have changed due to extremely large ocean currents. Arceus thinks that the good and bad stars will definitely like these corals.

「啦嘎嘎~哟哒嘎~」

A group of good and bad stars just stood on the ground, looking even a little scary, but they are living in groups and get along very well with each other.

In the Pokémon world, the coral branches of Sun Coral are the best raw materials for handicrafts. Coral craftsmen hate creatures like good and bad stars, but they will only be welcomed here where corals are flooded.

From now on, the nearby coral area will probably be the canteen of good and bad stars. According to the estimation of food intake, the number of these good and bad stars can roughly form a dynamic balance with those corals.

As the scale of those corals spreads, the good and bad stars will also increase their number through reproduction, which can be regarded as adding another link in the food chain.

The good and bad star also has a strong self-protection ability. If it is other than the head, it can be regenerated even if it is cut into pieces. Can be restored.

And they are Pokémon of the water-poison type. Whether it is the poisonous sting on the top of the head or the tentacles, it can bring great pain to the enemy.

If you are stabbed by its poisonous stinger, you will first feel numb, and then it will be so itchy that you can't wait to scratch your skin.

Not everyone can be poisoned every day like Kojiro of the Rockets. For example, the victim Quinn has already appeared.

Chapter 517: Beast purchasing agent to find out

As a versatile tool man, he often receives some strange tasks.

For example, in the days when Arceus is away, in order to deal with the growing corals, he needs to make some underwater demolition equipment, otherwise, only dispatching cadres can handle the situation here.

Even if ordinary pirates can stand stably in the seawater with the help of Squirtle, the resistance brought by the seawater prevents them from swinging their hammers with all their strength, and their progress is very slow.

It is not difficult to make a machine that can break down corals underwater. It is nothing more than considering the waterproofness, so as to avoid electric leakage and electric shock. The hardness of those coral reefs is not higher than that of metal.

It's just that the response to the first-generation product he made was not very good, so he began to improve the second-generation product. When the product is ready, it will naturally be used. He only manages some external business issues and internal scientific research issues. The overall defense of Onijima It's Shaina's job category.

Cleaning up the coral is not considered defense, but the people who deal with it are arranged by Shaina. Since she is equivalent to Arceus' secretary, her office is just outside Arceus' big office.

But now most of the ground here is occupied by good and bad stars, so he inadvertently stepped on a good and bad star when he entered.

「Duo Yi Da!」

「Duo Yi?!」

"Duo Yi, Do Yi, Do Yi!"

He has always been proud of his round figure, but this figure brings real weight gain, even if most of it is fat, he is still an overweight person.

And the tentacles of the good and bad stars are dragged on the ground. Being stepped on by such a lump of meat, even if some parts can regenerate the good and bad stars, it will be very painful. Those things just look like hair, and they have to manipulate the tentacles Hunters naturally have pain-sensing nerves on them.

Creatures will naturally fight back after feeling the pain. Although Quinn's soles are thick, his calves are exposed, which naturally arouses the attacks of good and bad stars.

He instinctively wanted to fight back, but reason stopped him within 0.01 second. At that moment, his brain was running fast and made the most correct decision.

This is Shaina's office, which is equivalent to Arceus's office. When he came up, he heard other people's chatting and knew that Arceus had returned.

In this case, a strange creature that has never been seen appeared in Arceus' office, which shows that this thing must have been created by Arceus.

Although the toxin released by the good and bad stars made him suffer for a short time, it quickly triggered the berry detoxification device in his body, and had no effect at all.

So Quinn didn't do anything, but used domineering to resist the attacks of good and bad stars.

The penetrating power of the good and bad star stinger is not weak, but the domineering that Quinn has been beaten by his own people for many years is also extremely powerful. After he started to defend, the good and bad star can't do anything about Quinn.

If it weren't for the huge gap in talent, he could try to compete for the title of Iron Balloon in a few years.

Then Quinn started the most sensible behavior, calling for help, he was waiting for Arceus to deal with these Pokémon.

"Okay, he didn't do it on purpose, don't bother with him."

「Duo Yi~」

Under the consolation of Arceus, the good and bad stars gave up continuing to entangle with Quinn, and led by Shaina to their own cafeteria, which is the area where the peripheral corals grow wildly. They are about to eat.

"Master Arceus, can you ask them to get me more toxins, I think this kind of toxin is very necessary to develop."

The feeling of numbness first and then extremely itchy made him see the prospect of good and bad star toxins. This very tormenting toxin is simply a weapon of war, and it probably has miraculous effects in daily torture or torture.

As for how he judged, it can make him feel pain after vicissitudes of life, which shows that this toxin has passed the test.

He felt that he had already had a bad relationship with the group of good and bad stars before, and if he was like Shuangtan Gas, he wouldn't have to do anything extra.

「I saw Pillman when I came back, you go ask him for some coral branches, bring those things

Go west to find good and bad stars, they will cooperate with you. "

The coral behind the sun coral will also fall off. As the ability user of the sun coral, Pillman has inherited this feature, and it is also the favorite food of the good and bad stars.

With a few exceptions, Pokémon may be irritable and like to play pranks, but most of them are simple in nature. Holding each other's favorite food has a high probability of resolving conflicts between the two parties.

Logically speaking, Pillman shouldn't be here, he should be at Mandelfish's place. This time, it's only time to * the supplies, so Pillman will return to Ghost Island. At the same time, he still has a shopping list with him.

After all, this is a world dominated by the world government. Pirates have no formal channels to get some things, and the prices on the black market are extremely high, but Beasts have them. Another meaning of the existence of Beasts Fruits is that they are purchased by the Beasts Pirates. center.

Beasts will regularly gather the items needed by members, and then the Beasts Pirates will purchase and distribute them uniformly. However, an additional part of the tax will be charged during this process, and only veteran members or cadres can be exempted.

Now Mandelfisch is also a man who is passing by. Although he is rich, it does not prevent him from saving money.

But recently, it coincided with the high incidence of pirates, and he had to be stationed in the territory, so he asked Pillman to come back and purchase.

After finding a way, Quinn went to look for Pearlman's whereabouts, and the good and bad stars had already climbed directly along the periphery of Wano Country.

The sucker-like feet and the spikes on the tentacles make them very stable in the current, and the corals exposed to the sea begin to disappear at a speed visible to the naked eye...

And in Wano Country, many people are filling out their own shopping lists. This purchasing agent service is also available to people in Wano Country. You only need anyone in the family to work for Baishou or have acquaintances to experience it. to this service.

Due to the closed environment of Wano Country, the import of these foreign products can only rely on beasts.

In today's Wano Kingdom, which is actually ruled by Hundred Beasts, there are only a handful of people who don't work for Hundred Beasts, even those diehard old members of the Kozuki family. Otherwise, they will starve to death before the plan is realized.

After all, Beast's definition of work includes but is not limited to a series of activities such as working in farmland and working in weapon factories.

Even ordinary people can enjoy this kind of proxy purchasing service, let alone those who actually join Hundred Beasts, such as the new team leader Budai of the Shinsengumi.

He was able to become the team leader of the Shinsengumi not because of his own strength, but because he can lick.

Chapter 518: Can I advance my salary?

Kojiro was the leader of the original Shinsengumi who was trusted and valued, but he was overwhelmed and chose to resign. After that, the position was vacant for a while, and only Kojiro was vacant.

After a while, this position was taken by Budai.

Among the samurai who surrendered, his strength can only be said to be superior, not top-notch, but for this organization, strength is not the most important.

Although the Shinsengumi is composed of samurai from the Wano country, they are at best the internal armed police. Beasts' most trusted force has always been their own people. These samurai are not weak as a whole, but they are crushed by Beasts in terms of high-end force.

No matter who the team leader is, it is impossible for them to be the opponents of the big cadres within Hundred Beasts. To be precise, they can't even match the senior cadres. In today's Wano country, probably only Heigoro can touch the senior cadres.

His current body maintains a strong shape, and he can probably touch the numbers in the lower single digits.

Because they are incomparable in strength no matter what, so in the selection of the leader of the newly selected group, the proportion of strength began to decline. What Beasts need is a more loyal person.

In this environment, several competitors also appeared, and they chose to surrender for higher status and benefits.

The Wano country has been closed for too long, which has caused many things in the country to be outdated. Under the import of foreign goods, many people have fallen.

Anyway, they have already surrendered, why not let themselves climb higher, and among these people, Budai won in the end, mainly because he licked others so comfortably.

It is much more comfortable to put a person in this position who will flatter the boss and carry out the order thoroughly than a hard-talking die-hard. So with Quinn's suggestion and Jhin's approval, Budai successfully became the new Shinsengumi team leader.

Although Jhin looks terrifying, and his emotions cannot be seen under the cover of the mask, Budai still found out his preferences. Even Jhin thinks that he is a nice-talking person.

Even Jin was like this, let alone Quinn. With the approval of two big billboards, he naturally got this position.

As a model of a dog-licking counterattack, he has fully utilized his dog-licking talent, not only the big Kanban, but even the ordinary members of Beasts, he is unwilling to offend, and has always kept his attitude very low. He will appear domineering when dealing with his own people.

This also caused some locals in Wano Country to dislike him, but this kind of contradiction is exactly what Beasts need, and those opposing voices actually confirmed his status as team leader.

Even now, he has not stopped his behavior.

"Master Drake, you are here."

As Jhin's deputy, Derek also freely travels to and from the Palace of the Flower Capital on weekdays, and the original war had destroyed this place, and this palace was rebuilt after the war.

Compared with the original Flower City Palace, the biggest difference is that there is an extra top floor, and that is where Jhin and others live and work. Ordinary people don't understand this.

Even people who understand this matter can't do anything about the overwhelming metaphor of beasts.

As Jhin's deputy, Drake will also come and go here frequently, and many offices in Wano have maintained their original state and were built near the palace, which is why Bu Dai often sees these people.

And among the beasts stationed in the capital of flowers, his attitude towards Drake is the most respectful, not because he has any thoughts about him, he can't bring up Drake's more masculine character. interest.

The reason why he is like this is mainly because Derek treats him with an approachable attitude every time, and it is the same this time.

「Yo, you're still here, where's Brother Jin?」

"Jin-sama is on the top floor, please walk slowly, and Kikunojo-sama is also here today."

"Oh, yeah, that's not bad, see you."

Waiting for Drake to disappear from sight before Hotei got up and continued to do his own thing. He is also a non-staff member of Hundred Beasts and has a certain understanding of the situation in Wano Country.

As a retainer of the Kozuki family,

Kikunojo and the others have a high status in name, and he, the leader of the Shinsengumi, is even slightly lower, but only in the palace, as long as they leave here, their real power is not as good as him.

Drek was walking up the stairs of the palace with a bottle of rum in her hand. Her attitude towards the cloth bag was not because of anything else, but because of her attitude towards everyone except her boss.

There is no difference whether she is a good person or a traitor, an enemy or one of her own. The only difference is whether she will attack suddenly. Her former subordinates commented on her as a person who can cut off the enemy's head with a smile.

Familiarly found the place where Jhin was, and then saw Jhin performing Yan Yi.

Even with the mask on, Jhin himself is a handsome guy, but he has a weird habit of attacking his own face.

Not only is he too lazy to use his hands when eating, but instead takes food through his mouth with abilities, and even developed the weird move of Diao Zizun Huang in battle.

Although the impact was powerful, it couldn't change the essence of using his face as a slingshot.

"Brother Jin, are you attacking your own face again?"

「What are you doing here?」

Those who can become deputy are more or less familiar with the above, and no one will care about a few jokes.

"Salary advance, brother Jin, help me, send me the money for next month in advance."

Hundred Beasts is not an adventure team with only a dozen people. They can go on adventures together with a passion for adventure. Not counting the affiliated pirates, even their own members have more than 10,000 people. Money.

Even small pirate groups still have pocket money, not to mention beasts with rules. It is very meaningful to make these pirates abide by some rules and the necessary money.

「Didn't the payday be yesterday?」

「It's all spent, there isn't much left after paying off the arrears, plus...」

"roll."

「Are you so heartless? Brother Jhin? Do you want to watch me starve to death?」

"There is no money for eating in the cafeteria. No matter how much money you pay in advance, you won't be able to keep it for the next day. However, there are some disputes in the eastern territory recently. You should take someone to deal with it."

In addition to the original salary, their source of money is the share of the spoils. As the pirates who lead the team, they can get more spoils. This is also an opportunity for Jhin to make extra money for Drake.

「Brother Jin, can I take Xiaoju with me?」

"It's up to you, but Derek, remember your own identity."

"Don't worry, brother Jhin, I'm careful, this is your rum."

As he said that, he put aside the rum he had brought, and planned to leave here to gather support personnel.

Chapter 519: Support and Tibet

Based on the different information received, the manpower sent by Hundred Beasts for external support will also be different. They will only send a person who is strong enough, instead of all the big cadres.

Looking at Jhin's meaning, this task was originally done by someone else, but now it's distributed to her. Looting loot is her favorite thing, which also shows that the bottle of rum she bought with her last salary was not wasted.

"OK, let me see where you are."

Derek's eyes were filled with lightning, the walls in the Flower City Palace began to become transparent, and busy figures began to appear in her sight.

Budai who reprimanded her subordinates, Jhin who played tricks on the face, and Hiyori the toolman, each and every figure flashed in her sight, and soon the target she was looking for - Kikunojo appeared in her vision, and it seemed that she was still there. The way the bathroom looks.

Licking the corners of his mouth, Drake walked towards the palace bathroom.

As the retainers of the Kozuki family, several of them have two separate bathrooms. The maid at the door saw that it was Derek who was coming, and she stepped out of the way, and just let Derek go in.

Yes, Kikunojo's bathroom sign is female, which is why the three of them need two bathrooms and a separate bathroom. Many female members of Hundred Beasts don't have that kind of politically correct thinking.

Derek just broke into the door carelessly, but the scene was surprisingly calm. A man thought he was a woman in his heart, but a woman's personality was more masculine than a man's, so their meeting in the women's bathroom was not at all Polish.

"Aju, it's time to go, get ready to carry out the mission with me. Don't worry, it's just a small matter this time, and it has nothing to do with death squads. Of course, if you are willing to cooperate, I can make it easier for you a little."

「No need, I'll gather as soon as I get ready.」

Under Oden's powerful brainwashing ability, these people are still loyal to the Kozuki family, but because of Kozuki Hiyori, they are forced to provide combat power for the beasts and perform deadly and dangerous tasks.

However, their strength has also been broken through in the battle, and there is nothing they can do about it. They still keep their word of protecting the Kozuki family. In order to continue to appear by Hiyori's side, they can only choose this way.

The danger of the mission depends entirely on who is leading the team from Hundred Beasts. Those who have a friendly relationship will only perform the mission normally.

Because of this face, Kikunojo lived a relatively easy life, especially when Delekla was sent out on a mission, but he had to face a certain degree of harassment.

Especially after Drake possessed the ability of the Roentgen cat, he couldn't hide even if he wanted to.

But this time Derek didn't leave immediately, nor did he continue to harass him, but said to him: "You elm heads are still the same stubborn."

"what are you saying?"

"Don't think how smart you are, and don't think that my old lady is a fool. Everyone can see what you think, but Boss Kaido still has a little interest in your power. You'd better do it before he wears off his interest. out of change.

Kozuki will always be history. Neither Kaido nor Arceus is something you can deal with. As time goes by, they will only become more terrifying. "

Time is fair, and everyone is growing. As Kaido, who has a terrifying talent like a monster, what has happened in his body over the years is the real qualitative change.

"Although I joined Hundred Beasts after that great war, I also heard Brother Jin say what happened back then. In 20 years, you were no match back then. You will only lose even worse after 20 years. So, you'd better think about it."

Speaking of Drake, she left here directly, and she had to gather subordinates to support the outer islands. If Kikunojo had been stubborn, she had no choice but to regret such a face.

Derek's words made Kikunojo's actions slightly hesitant, and they also saw the changes in Wano Country. It has been almost eight years since the great war that year, and many people in Wano Country have forgotten Kozuki.

It's really 20 years later...

This is what they have been avoiding

Nishi, thinking of the terrifying scene for them, Kikunojo didn't dare to continue thinking about it, but got up and prepared to be forced to participate in the opponent's battle.

On the other side, Drake also came to the dock, where the warships belonging to Beasts are docked. As the deputy of the big billboard, she also has her own exclusive ship.

"Long time no see, old man."

The size of this ship is also slightly larger among the pirate ships, but compared with the Siyuan and Beast King next to it, this ship is much smaller. This is her original pirate ship. The ship has also undergone a series of modifications to get what it is today.

「Captain, here we come!」

Headed by her old subordinates, a support team of 300 people is ready to go. This number may not seem large, but it is enough in this world.

The invasion they face is at most an alliance formed by the union of several pirate groups, and the local defenders are enough.

Moreover, the navy's large warships are fully loaded with about 800-1000 people. This number is already quite a lot in the pirate group. From the current known situation, the Whitebeard Pirates were in their heyday, plus all the affiliated pirates. The total number of people after the regiment only reached 50,000.

It's just that among the supporters, Drake met an unexpected person.

「Emaline? Why are you here too?」

"This support was originally mine, did you do it on purpose? Just after paying the money, you cut me off at this place?"

"This... I just told Brother Jhin that way, I didn't expect it to be your job, don't worry, I will share my share of the spoils with you in half."

"Heh, I'll lose if you keep your money for three days. I'm not here to argue with you. I'm taking this girl to see the blood."

Speaking of Emmaline pushing Iska out, Jhin and Shaina reached an agreement on the task replacement, but the original plan was to let Emmaline take Iska to practice, familiar with the ability for so long, she already needs some actual combat.

"Understood, leave it to me, I will bring this girl back to you intact."

After waiting for a while, Kikunojo came here with an oni mask, because his appearance and personality are not deterrent at all. In order to solve this problem, he will wear an evil ghost mask in battle.

With the arrival of Kikunojo, Drake's Golden Deer also sailed out of Onijima, but at the same time, there was another group of people who were also supporting this battlefield. Clothes, whose name is Yizang, Kikunojo's older brother.

Chapter 520: Beasts and Whitebeard

This is a turbulent world, and the sea is not stable. If you want to choose the most stable area, most of the official forces such as the Red Earth Continent and the franchise countries can be selected.

But in the New World, the safest place is definitely the hinterland of the sea emperors. Under the protection of heavy troops, the core of their territory is the safest place.

And all of this is their reputation earned with real swords and guns. Even the Beasts Pirates and the Big Mom Pirates, the two cooperative pirates, will have some conflicts, such as the ownership of some islands. .

It's just that because of the cooperation between the two sides, the scale of these conflicts is very small. Generally, it is just a fight between the subordinates.

Moreover, there are still many unclaimed lands in the new world, and there are also many territories occupied by scattered pirate alliances. These areas are the main expansion places for sea emperors.

They don't just withdraw once they plunder, but they want to completely incorporate an island into their territory, arrange garrison personnel, and develop the island's economy. All of these require manpower and material resources.

So although the sea emperors are all expanding, the speed of expansion is not very fast, and the biggest contradiction is precisely in the process of expansion.

Strictly speaking, at first this was not a war between Whitebeard and Kaido, but a war between two ordinary pirate groups.

As long as the number of pirate groups is greater than or equal to 2, it can be called the Pirate Alliance. The island originally belonged to a Pirate Alliance, but the Pirate Alliance is full of betrayal.

Since Roger said that sentence on the execution day, the situation in the new world has become more and more chaotic, and this ordinary pirate alliance can no longer persist.

It was in this situation that they broke up because of the uneven distribution of spoils. One of them planned to join Whitebeard, and the other wanted to join Hundred Beasts, and their vote was this island.

If you want to join other people's pirates, you can't do it without a decent gift.

However, in the Pirate Alliance, the strength gap between the pirate groups will not be too large, otherwise they will not be an alliance, but annexed. In this case, none of them can do anything, so they start their own operations.

Using the ownership of the island as a vote, they sent letters of appeal to the two pirate groups.

So the developer broke up and sold one house for two, and the two customers broke up because of this.

In a sea area in the New World, Kodlin Island, the sound of guns has been on the island for half a month. From the very beginning of the battle to the current battle between the Whitebeard Pirates and the Hundred Beasts Pirates, this battle Never stop.

No matter day or night, the shouts of killing resounded all the time on the island. Although there were occasional truces, the war would soon resume. No matter which side of the people wanted to settle the battle before the enemy's reinforcements arrived.

At this time, a person wearing a pattern of Gouyu, holding double knives, and inlaid with a metal chin is fighting a person holding a shell, but the shell has a scimitar-shaped water blade extending outward, and his The word NO.61 is also written on the forehead.

Whitebeard Pirates affiliated captain Bizar vs Beasts Pirates NO.61, the shell blade was given to Compi the Giver, and judging from the battle situation, it was the whitebeard who had the advantage, and Bizar had the advantage at this time.

Since Roger ended the curtain, the title of the world's strongest man has gradually appeared on Whitebeard. The Shocking Fruit allows him to cause earthquakes and tsunamis with a wave of his hands and feet. It is also a monster like a natural disaster in the New World.

Whitebeard's flag also shelters a large number of islands in the New World, and many captains under the flag and the captains of the affiliated pirate groups are also well-known names in the New World.

Bizar is stronger than Kampby in terms of physical strength. After many days of protracted battles, Kampby has already lost stamina, but their battle situation will still be inconclusive for a while.

「This island will be Daddy's territory, you little devils, go back to your own territory!」

"What is that old thing? Kai is the one who is going to become One Piece. Do you think you are sure to win? Have you seen this number? There are 61 people who are better than me, and there are big cadres. You guys are now It's too late to escape!"

The water blade condensed on the shell gradually became flimsy, which is a manifestation of his gradually overdrawn physical strength, but Compi also responded, the original long knife-like shell blade turned into a short dagger at this time, and this situation consumes more Small, can prolong his fighting time to a certain extent.

No one flinched because of the other party's words. Whether it was the serial numberer of the Beasts Pirates or the subordinate captain of the Whitebeard Pirates, they all had their own beliefs to get to that position. If they retreated because of the threat of the other party, then It's not them anymore.

From time to time, other pirates will intervene in their battlefield. This is a war for territory, not a fair 1v1. The aftermath of their battles has not reached the point where others cannot approach, so other pirates often try to help their boss.

The battle has been going on for a long time, and these people are gritting their teeth and persevering, the purpose is to wait for their own reinforcements.

But the stalemate battle here was quickly interrupted by a sudden attack. Countless star-like objects flew from a distance, and the high-speed flying stars directly drew a dividing line on the battlefield.

Those are the high-speed stars released by Drake. Due to the difference in technological level, the ships of Beasts are faster, so their reinforcements will arrive earlier.

This high-speed star is to separate the battlefield so that she can do it better.

This attack naturally attracted the attention of both sides. When the skull flag symbolizing Kaido appeared in the field of vision of both sides, the morale changed. Decisive.

"Little ones! The plundering has begun, and all the loot is yours, and mine is the same. Let's do it!"

The war seemed to have stimulated the cells in her body. The moment she came here, she had already forgotten that her purpose was the spoils of war.

But this is her habit, plundering wealth is for squandering, and distributing those treasures to younger brothers is also her way of consumption.

What she enjoys is the feeling of spreading money, which is why she can't save money at all.

「Iska, follow me, let me see your level in battle.」

These pirates are tired soldiers, even if Iska is still young, it is enough in this environment.

"Yes."

The bodies of the two began to change, red armor and black and blue fur appeared on the two, and then two lights and shadows rushed into the battlefield one step faster...
