

Arceus 701

Chapter 701: Green blood and the rudiment of the pacifist

There are too many precious documents recorded in O'Hara's library, and these documents also gave Vegapunk great help in the original timeline. The world government relies even more.

The 800-year-old world government has its own background, and they still retain many things that have disappeared from the outside world, including some documents.

As the rulers of the world, many things are easy for them. Compared with the illegal behavior of O'Hara archaeologists, everything they do is legal. In some respects, this is similar to the difference between archaeology and tomb robbery.

There are many restrictions in this way, such as some secret things that the world government wants to disappear, even Vegapunk cannot touch them.

It can only be done through transactions. Even if there are materials for some things, it is impossible for people with insufficient ability to make them.

Vegapunk exchanged government services for more research funds and materials. In the process, he produced more things for the world government that they needed.

Punk Hazard Island, at this time there has not been any gas leak or marshal battle. It is just an ordinary research island. Vegapunk himself and Caesar are both on this island at this time.

Strictly speaking, Vegapunk is a scientist affiliated to the navy, but the world government is also qualified to intervene.

A team of CPO agents came here with a new order, with the identity certificate of the world government, unimpeded all the way, until the research area of Vegapunk was stopped.

"The main body doesn't have time to answer you, just tell me if you have something to do. You better hurry up, because I'm also very tight on time."

In the rest area, they saw Desire York, one of Vegapunk's avatars. She rests and eats instead of other avatars. It can be said that she is relatively the most "leisure" among the many avatars.

「Here are the materials you wanted before, we brought them all.」

The CPO headed by        seemed to be used to Vegapunk's attitude, and put a briefcase in front of York.

"That's all?"

"Here's the catalog, more on board."

As soon as the voice fell, the closed mechanical door at the back of the rest area slowly opened with the sound of gears turning, and the main body of Vegapunk appeared here, and a man with a slightly strange appearance appeared here.

"Doctor, it seems that you are not that busy."

"Just finished an experiment, and you guys are full of weapons of war. You haven't finished researching the last thing, so what are you going to do?"

Vegapunk's tone is not very friendly, and his attitude towards the world government is not very close, but due to changes in the sea situation, he finally chose the navy as a force. His research requires a huge amount of funding, and ordinary forces cannot satisfy him.

Long also invited Vegapunk to join the Revolutionary Army, but he was rejected in the end. The reason was that his Revolutionary Army was too poor to meet his research needs. Only in a more suitable place can he exert his greatest strength. value.

"We are also for the stability of the sea. This is the information you need, doctor. Please read it."

Opening the file box, Vegapunk glanced at the text on it. The speed of turning the pages is hard for ordinary people to understand, but in fact, he has already memorized most of the things. He himself is a superman. The ability of fruit.

Naonao fruit brought him unlimited brain capacity. After combining with his own scientific research talent, he gradually took the lead in this era on the road of research. Memorizing things is very simple for him. He only needs to read textual things.

「It's these, where are the things?」

「Doctor, you have to show us the previous research results first.」

At this time, the world government had the capital to negotiate conditions, lost O'Hara's literature, and part of Vegapunk's research progress was greatly delayed, so it could only choose to compromise.

"Come with me, don't touch things."

Led by Vegapunk

Next, they walked into another room, which contained many mechanical parts, and on the screen next to it was a structural diagram that these agents could not understand at all.

When those lines came together, they just formed the shape of Genesect.

In addition to the two giant weapons of King Yanwu and Bankira, war robots like Genesect also attracted their attention, and it was earlier than King Yanwu. After all, it looks like a mass-produced machine.

For a force, the value of energy production far exceeds that of a single individual.

Only in terms of expressiveness, Genesect is far inferior to King Yanwu.

As a security force, they rarely go out to fight, but they are also concerned by the world government.

"What you want is a combat robot that can identify pirate information and act autonomously."

Vegapunk pressed a button beside him, and then the robot in another compartment started to move and attacked the target marked as a pirate. The weapons were just ordinary machine guns and flamethrowers, and the appearance was crude. Many, this is the rudimentary form of a pacifist.

Compared to the full version of the pacifist, this machine is very simple, and a lot of research is still in progress.

Several people reported what they saw upwards, and after getting a positive answer, they called the ship and ordered them to start moving the materials, and then made new requests to Vegapunk about the plan for giant weapons.

"What are you talking about? The giant human body experiment has been declared a failure. Don't you know about this? And this matter has been accepted by Caesar, right? And I have already said that the ability you want is similar to the nature department. It is too difficult to achieve."

"We know, but Doctor, you can look at this."

The video phone bug played Bankira's picture, and at the same time, it also had the analyzed text information.

「Sandstorm...Laser...」

"This is Crocodile's blood sample. General Polusano will be in charge of the defense work here in the future, and will also cooperate with your research, Doctor.

If Quinn can do it, then there's no reason you can't, right? "

For Shichibukai, the world government has methods to collect their blood. The name of similar medical examination and registration has convinced those people. No one thinks that a little blood will have any impact, and they all cooperate with the world government's requirements.

This is a research proposed by Vegapunk a long time ago. He called it green blood, which is rooted in further research on bloodline factors.

Through the blood of the capable person, the green blood can reproduce the ability on other people, but it is still under research and immature. Although there are successful examples, there have never been successful natural examples.

Chapter 702: If you have the ability, you call in

The bloodline factor is a very magical product. It is almost the analysis of the ability of the devil fruit. Due to its particularity, the animal system has become the easiest target to analyze. Through the analysis of Kaido's bloodline factor, Vegapunk copied a Imperfect Fruit Abilities.

It's just that this imperfection is only for him alone. The biggest difference between this fruit and the original is the color, and there is no difference other than that.

Of course, there is another reason for Vegapunk's refusal. He doesn't want to mass-produce devil fruits for the world government. If they find that it is a perfect ability, they will definitely require mass production.

He also has certain achievements in the superhuman system. After obtaining the blood factor of a superhuman capable person, he can fuse it with the special blood, that is, the green blood he studied, and then he can obtain the fruit ability of this person, but it also exists in mass production. difficulty.

As for the Natural Science Department, it can be said that there are many difficulties in research, and there is not much clue.

「How did this guy find the right carrier...」

CPO didn't pay attention to the remark similar to the aggressive method, but became curious about Quinn. It is not difficult to control ordinary sea beasts, but this giant beast that uses elemental power is different.

The fruit is not used in this way. Few normal people will feed the powerful natural system to pets, and the blood factor is not so easy to bear. The green blood he made has not yet entered the actual combat stage, because normal creatures cannot bear it. that power.

This is even more true for phantom beasts. Phantom beasts are not Chinese cabbage. Except for beasts, it is very rare for the forces on the sea to have the ability of a phantom beast. People are not enough to get animals.

The horse of the Blackbeard Pirates... can only be said to be willful. After all, Blackbeard could plunder other people's abilities at that time, and it was easier to obtain the designated ability.

Unless there is a breakthrough, the limited rare abilities will definitely be distributed to people, not beasts.

Judging from the information he received, Quinn also seems to have made an incredible transformation on himself. Originally, he was just an ordinary brachiosaurus fruit, but according to the latest information, he has the ability to control plants.

If that's just Quinn's research results, the application seems to be very wide.

"Okay, it's time for you to leave, I will inform you of the research results."

New ideas flashed in Vegapunk's mind. Combined with the new knowledge, he felt that he would start his new research immediately. The CPO did not delay, and soon left Punk Hazard, and the CPO of the other team also took over. A new order has arrived.

In the new world, the CPO responsible for the affairs of the beasts has also received new instructions. In the past few years, they have been in charge of the affairs of the beasts, and they are generally much safer than other CPOs.

But today, they received a more dangerous task.

「At all costs? Are the above serious?」

"Well, it's just an opportunity, not forced to do it. With that guy's reclusive character, there shouldn't be much chance to execute it."

"Why did the higher-ups issue such an order? Isn't his reward order to capture alive..." "The main goal now is also to capture alive, but there is a new option."

The most important thing that the world government recruits CPOs is loyalty. If they are not loyal enough, they will not be able to enter the CPO no matter how strong they are. Their loyalty can make them ignore their own lives.

For example, risking their lives to interfere with Kaido's battle, risking their lives to take pictures on Onigashima, etc., when the world government issues an order at all costs, it means that their lives are also one of them.

The order given to them by the world government is also very simple. If there is a chance, they can bring Quinn back, and if there is a chance, they can even choose to kill them.

They want this thing, but under unavoidable circumstances, it is not impossible to destroy him.

According to the pirate theory of relativity, the world government itself is in an absolute advantage. If it does not make progress, as long as it blocks the enemy's progress, it can continue to maintain its advantage.

In another laboratory of Quinn's Wano Country, Queen Ling, the braids on the back of his head suddenly unraveled, forming a small

's Umbrella Shield.

All the water guns sprayed by the spiny ammonite were blocked, and then it was even more domineering, blocking all the subsequent spiked cannons.

「Hahaha! Now you have nothing to do! This is the defense mechanism that I specialize in, isn't it a surprise?」

After successfully blocking the attack of the spiny ammonite beast, Quinn's face reappeared an incomparably shy smile, but the next moment, he was covered in mud for being too shy.

「Damn it... tell me, what's the news this time?」

"Oh, good news, they didn't increase your reward this time."

"Ok??"

The bounty has not changed, which makes Quinn a little surprised. He is used to the weird situation where the bounty soars inexplicably while he is in Wano country. Sometimes it becomes abnormal if the price does not increase.

"why."

"I don't know, it seems to be the decision of their intelligence department, but there is another bad news." "Bad news? How bad can it be? This time, even the bounty has not been increased. It seems that my bad luck has come to an end." "They say special circumstances can kill the price at any cost, good luck."

Prickly Ammonite finished the last sentence word by word, and then went into a dormant state, completely ignoring the cigar in Quinn's mouth and being startled.

In the past, his life was not in danger, but now he seems to be facing something even more terrifying.

In his eyes, CPOs are all lunatics. Those guys are all brainwashed by the world government. They are willing to die for the top brakeman.

"No, I have to find a way to deal with it... This self-defense device should be strengthened. It is only suitable for spiny ammonites. It needs to expand the sensing range..."

When he was researching toy combat suits for Yamato, he rummaged through O'Hara's library looking for technical materials, discovered this technology by accident, and applied it to himself.

Now it seems that further improvement is needed. After thinking about it, Quinn has no plans to leave Wano country in the near future. Anyway, there is everything here, so there is no need to go out to seek guilt.

After thinking about it, Quinn took a piece of paper and wrote the report directly.

【It is recommended to strengthen the identity registration of Wano country residents and improve the identity card system...】

This matter has been popularized within Hundred Beasts, but Quinn felt that it was necessary to expand the scope, so that the possibility of those agents getting in could be greatly reduced.

It is impossible for them to storm Onigashima. The nature of CPO is not to do this kind of thing, so he has to reduce the probability of possible assassination...

Chapter 703: Quinn's "dirty" plan

"I want to see how you guys plan to get in this time."

If you want to carry out a kidnapping or assassination plan against him, the prerequisite is that they have to get close to you, as long as you keep the other party away

Getting close to your own possibility can reduce the occurrence of this kind of thing from the root.

Before, he felt that the identity card system was a bit redundant, but now it seems that there is nothing more secure than this policy too.

It's just not going out of the Wano country, it's no big deal.

As long as he wants to, he can still go out. As long as he doesn't make too much publicity, even those secret agents can't lock his actions.

Tracking.

The most stable way is of course to go out with a big backer, but he doesn't want to do that, go out with Kaido and

Going to the big prison under the sea and throwing yourself into the net is no different.

He often walks on the road of death, Kaido himself is definitely immortal, but if Quinn follows him, it is not necessarily the case up.

Arceus is relatively safer, but it is also not a big deal to be easily beaten by Shaina when following Arceus.

What a good choice.

Checked the report he had written, and Quinn found nothing wrong, just when he was going to submit the report

At that time, a new idea suddenly flashed through.

"Miss Yamato. No, it should be said that our beloved Onihime-sama can help a lot."

If he can fool Yamato to go out together, first of all, he will not be taken to an extremely dangerous environment inexplicably,

You will not be beaten by unknown persons.

Yamato's strength is one aspect, and more importantly, she still has Arceus behind her. Thinking about it this way,

Going out with her is really a very safe choice.

The most important thing is that Yamato is much easier to fool than Kaido, who looks careless but is actually human.

Being blackmailed by Yamato last time, he thought it was just an accident.

Now Yamato has more self-confidence, as long as he can successfully fool her, many problems will be solved.

It's just that he forgot one thing, and if something happened, he might be just as unlucky.

Quinn is not weak, although more than half of the 1.7 billion bounty is pot, but his own equipment and all kinds of disgusting battles

The combination of skills makes him like a difficult hedgehog.

But he lacks a clear understanding of his own strength, because the enemies he faces are more than one animal, from the sand

Ina and Jhin, the two survivors of Lunaria, to the husband and wife group of Setsuna and Zeraora, and then to Yamato, the energetic challenger.

There is also the kind teaching from Kaido, which makes him have serious misunderstandings about his own strength.

After all, he is a scientific research talent. Except for the special tasks in the early development stage and later stage, his chances of fighting outsiders

There will be so few that they are perfecting their own life-saving plan at this time.

"Speaking of which, Ms. Yamato's schedule seems to have been delayed. This might be a new opportunity."

Arceus asked her to spend half a month to experience what is real in the world. It stands to reason that she

It's time to return to Ghost Island, but I haven't returned yet, obviously something special happened.

No matter what this matter is, this is a trick, ah no, it is a good opportunity to comfort, so that you can pull a Giant Umbrella up.

A slightly sinister smile appeared on Quinn's face, as if he was planning some conspiracy.

...

「Ah, ah, ah!

"Master Oniji, you may have caught a cold, why don't we change the method so that we can go back as soon as possible."

「Impossible, I have never had a cold, how could I catch a cold because of this kind of thing, it must be some bastard

Talking bad about me behind my back. "

On the small boat, the four of them are still sailing, but they are slightly more beautiful than when they first set sail.

fall

soul.

Penniless, this word can describe their experience very well. Originally Yamato thought that private money was enough for this time

It cost a lot, but after the trip, she found that everything in Yun Duo's satchel was gone except Ajian.

They are all adults, with hands and feet, and they will definitely not starve to death. As for where their things go, there is a kind of attribute

Sex is called evil, and there is a skill called thief.

That is a skill that pickpockets all over the world will cry when they see it. With it, the identity of the Thief King has already been obtained.

There is no material support, not even any flags related to beasts, everything depends on their own efforts.

Originally, they started their return journey a few days ago, but there was a little accident on the way.

The weather in the new world stabbed them hard. Under the huge storm, although the ship was not damaged, the crew on board

Materials are basically lost.

It will take some time to return to Wano Country from here, and it is impossible to eat or drink at all, unless it is the kind of persistent

The battle of life and death continued for several days, otherwise no one would fast and drink.

During this period of time, Yamato has realized how difficult it is to survive in the new world, because there is no reason to hang the flag

This ship looked like an ordinary ship in distress to outsiders, and it also caused a lot of trouble.

Auron Booth looked at the looting target as poor, and there are very few people who change from looting to poverty alleviation, and most pirates

They don't care about the conditions of the robbed people, and they rob whatever they have.

Even if there is no money, a bottle of milk or a sampan can be the target of their snatching.

The purpose is not to take risks, or realize dreams or make a name for yourself.

They are just bullying the weak, experiencing happiness from oppressing the weak, and they belong to the most scumbag of pirates kind.

In this process, shelling is unavoidable. Yamato adheres to a principle for this. She just wants to fight.

She will be merciful, but whoever dares to touch her boat will have to pay the price.

She would rather catch the cannonball with her face than drop a piece of scum from the ship, otherwise the price would be too heavy.

「Onihime-sama, why don't we just be more direct, don't replenish the supplies, if you want to return to Wano Country

It might be a bit difficult...」

"Yeah, we are pirates after all, even if you don't like Oniji-sama, let's make an IOU."

Both Speed and Mizeka hope that Yamato can return as soon as possible. These young people who were born in Wano country really have no experience

Living this kind of hard life, in the past, no matter how hard the training was, there was no shortage of logistical supplies for them.

Only in this environment can they understand how many benefits they have enjoyed from the beasts.

The method is naturally to rob. With Yamato's habit, it will definitely cost money to replenish supplies, and it is impossible to rob ordinary people hard things.

As for working part-time to make money, part-time work is impossible, and that occupation is not suitable for them at all.

「Wait a little longer, there will always be pirates passing by, and if they rob their supplies, we can go back, **** it, why?

Why can't I meet such kind-hearted people again...”

Chapter 704: Yamata no Orochi

「Onihime-sama, I don't think that's really kind.」

「Ah? These are the people who have offered to give us supplies for so many days, and aren't they from the Big Mom Pirates? I remember that we have a pretty good relationship.」

「Yeah, that's why they do it」

Speed didn't know what to say. This was the most amazing experience during their sailing days. In the waters of the New World, besides the honest and colorful pirates, there are also three sea emperors, the BIG MOM Pirates. Many pirates under his command also want to plunder supplies.

It's just not in the Totland sea area of BIG MOM. When they were swimming in the sea normally, they were attacked by the pirate ship. Since their ship was not big, the ship did not fire, but chose to Battle on board.

However, they had just leaned over, and before throwing the anchor hook in their hands, they could see clearly who was on the boat, so the movements of this group of people froze instantly.

Beasts and BIG-Mom are no strangers to each other, and they know a lot about each other's cadres, not to mention that the other party is Kaido's daughter. Unlike the BIG-MOM pirates who have many children, Beasts has only one person.

And according to the general perception of members of the BIG MOM pirate group, the captain's children must have a high status, and they are generally very strong.

At the same time, their ideas are substituted. If someone wants to **** their own boat, no matter what the other party's identity is, as long as they pass, they must kill the other party first. As for the consequences, that will be dealt with later.

Now they have encountered a person who is absolutely impossible to beat, a monster that only the ministers of the kingdom can deal with.

But the good news is that they haven't done anything yet, so the people on the ship had an idea, changed their behavior to sea rescue, and kindly sent all the supplies on their ship to Yamato.

With their "sincere" attitude, this matter can be regarded as fooling the past, so Yamato has the idea that there are good people.

"Wait a little longer, this is the only way for pirates to enter the new world. Wait a little longer and you will always meet the right one."

Looking at the empty sea, Yamato suddenly remembered something. If she remembered correctly, Ulti and Peggy had done similar things before when they went out, and they seemed to be used as bait.

They didn't say the details, and Peggy Wan didn't say what happened that day, and Ulti seemed to regard it as his little secret, but Yamato felt that it was something that could be referred to.

「Will any of you be willing to be bait once?」

Looking at the three people next to her, Yamato decided to release a bait as well. She found that she was quite well-known outside, and being a bait was a bit too conspicuous.

「I'm a capable person, so it's not suitable for me at sea.」

"I have to take the helm. This ship is still a bit old, so someone has to watch it all the time."

Spider and Solitia have given their reasons one after another. It is not dangerous to be a bait here, but strange things may encounter along the way. Yamato's strength is enough to protect their comprehensiveness, but it is only the result.

The process is not necessarily the same. There are four people on board and only Mizeka is left at this time. She can't find a reason to shirk, so she has to act as Yamato's "bait"

Yamato succeeded, and after wasting another day, a group of kind-hearted pirates reappeared and contributed enough supplies for them to return to Wano, but they were not as lucky as BIGMOM.

Because they chose to shoot, their dreams were completely shattered less than a month after entering the new world.

Ten days later than scheduled, Yamato and others returned to Wano Country with the commemorative ship. At this time, she finally realized how wonderful the logistics of Hundred Beasts is!

「happy?」

「It was a little accident. If it wasn't for the storm, I would have come back long ago.」

In the bathroom of Ghost Island, Yamato was soaking comfortably in the hot spring water. The previous ship could take a shower, but it didn't have the function of taking a bath. At this time, she was soaking in the hot water with a happy egg behind her. Do her hair.

There is still a small boat floating on the water, with prepared drinks and snacks on it, which is completely different from a few days ago.

After tidying up, Yamato put on a set of neat clothes again, and went to Arceus to talk about his feelings about this voyage.

「Feel the difference?」

「I feel it. Without logistical support, life outside is really hard.」

「Any new plans?」

"Well, try to become stronger, and then defeat that guy father as soon as possible. The future of beasts should not be like those scum in the sea. There should be a way that is more suitable for us."

This trip allowed her to see the sufferings of the outside world, and she had a certain change in her thinking, but she only saw what was in front of her eyes. Compared with her previous idealistic thinking, this was already a big improvement.

For this answer, Kaido is the happier person.

Even if Yamato's goal is to defeat him, as long as she is still on the way to become stronger, he can accept this.

...

On the other hand, the singing and dancing in Wano Country's Flower City is peaceful, and there is no trace of the war a few years ago. The quality of life of the residents is not bad, and the people living in the Flower City are also high-income class in Wano Country. Ordinary people are richer.

It's just that there are many more Pokémon in the streets and sky, and some animals with Pokémon blood, such as Xiaoka's descendants.

Today's Xiaoka didn't stay in the kennel either, but wandered outside, looking at his "land". At this time, he was drilling around in the bushes, looking for something more interesting to him.

After a shovel rushed down a hillside, Xiaoka found a strange fruit on the ground. The appearance of the fruit was similar to that of a pineapple. There were several symmetrical stems and leaves spreading out around the top of the fruit. The ends of the stems and leaves were triangular, like several snake heads. Same.

There are scaly lines on the outer skin of the fruit. Looking at this strange thing, Xiaoka returned to the house with it in his mouth. After turning into a katti dog, his intelligence developed rapidly, knowing that his master would also look for this thing.

"Wow!"

Kojiro was not there, but Xiaoka dialed the phone bug placed in the kennel by himself, and successfully contacted Kojiro.

After confirming that he had found a new devil fruit, Kojiro also handed it in directly. After several transfers, this fruit was also sent to Quinn to determine a more specific type.

Through comparison, Quinn quickly found the type of fruit.

It is Kaido's favorite animal system, and it is also a very rare phantom beast, snake snake fruit · phantom beast · Yamata no Orochi form. More than ten years after the death of the big snake, this fruit was once again found in the Wano country. turn up.

Chapter 705: Wind speed dog and general servant knife

"This place in Wano Country... really makes people wonder, what is it that attracts them?"

After carefully comparing the illustrations and confirming that he had not mistakenly recognized the fruit, Quinn couldn't help but sigh at the particularity of Wano Country. Animal fruits are not rare, and most people can't use this ability well if they just turn into animals.

He didn't even understand his own body, let alone develop an animal body.

In the past few years, the most famous phantom beast species known to the outside world, Kaido's Yuyu fruit · Qinglong form, Sengoku's human fruit · Buddha form, Marco's bird fruit · phoenix form.

Besides the three of them, there are no famous Phantom Beasts in the sea. Although all the beasts are gathered together by "Phantom Beasts", it is the ability of Arceus, not an ordinary fruit ability user.

While Wano Country is different, the Phantom Beast species found in Wano Country in recent years include Dairudo and Yamata no Orochi. It always makes people feel a little strange that these fruits appear here. According to opinions that are not 100% certain, devil fruit is the product of idealism, and each fruit symbolizes the fantasy of people in the past, because someone imagined similar abilities, and similar fruits will be born.

Wano has been closed to the outside world for hundreds of years, and the unique landform environment has given birth to a large number of myths and legends. This may be the reason why a large number of phantom beasts were born here.

But these have nothing to do with Quinn. Originally, his main research topic was viruses.

At the beginning, the members of MADS were all of this virtue, except for Vegapunk, Quinn was keen on studying viruses, Gage made his spear and combat uniform, and Caesar started the research on artificial fruits.

Now relying on the literature and practical needs of the database, Quinn is becoming more and more omnipotent, but it is obviously meaningless to think about this kind of metaphysics, and he can still deal with scientific problems.

Ascending to theology, seek Misu for theoretical issues, and Arceus for practical issues. This is the most practical solution.

It is enough for ordinary fruits to be registered and stored in the warehouse casually. For rare phantom beast species, he still has to make a special trip. Of course, he also wants to ask about the implementation of population identity registration.

In the more than ten years since he came to Wano Country, it was the first time that Quinn cared so much about the people's livelihood in Wano Country.

It is difficult for those CP0s to accomplish their goals, but Quinn does not want to be stabbed for no reason.

Bringing the fruit and a brand new report, Quinn went to Ghost Island again in his pig cart.

...

「Yachi Orochi? Is this thing really reborn in Wano Country?」

"I don't know, anyway, this thing was found by the dog of Kojiro's family, but Lord Arceus, do you think the problem of the popularity of identity cards..."

「You can handle it by yourself. You know the process specification, but it just takes some time to collect personal information.」

At this time, the prestige of Beasts in Wano Country is full, and the advantage of non-terrorist rule is also reflected. Due to the substantial improvement of the living environment, they are very cooperative with the new policy of Beasts, and such things are not very troublesome.

It's just a little bit more summary of statistical information. Since Quinn is so concerned about this matter, he just let him arrange it himself.

Everyone knows why Quinn did this, and letting him handle it by himself can just prevent accidental factors. Except for Kaido, few people will joke about their own safety.

Compared to this, the thing for Kojiro is the issue that needs to be considered. Although this thing was found by Xiaoka, Xiaoka is Kojiro's domestic pet after all, and it is difficult to completely separate one person and one dog.

"It's about time, just let them evolve together, Shaina, you will take them to Kojiro's place later, and give them to him. This is the usage, you remember to tell him together."

"Of order."

After receiving Arceus' instructions, Shaina quickly memorized the simple method of use, and walked towards Kojiro's mansion with the newly appeared Pokémon.

...

Not long after, a group of new faces appeared in Kojiro's mansion, and several Commanders of Chop and Slash came to Kojiro's house with a fire stone.

The fire stone is for Xiaoka. Katie needs it to evolve into a wind speed dog. This stone with strong fire energy can activate the genes in the Katie dog to evolve into a stronger wind speed dog.

Commander Chop and Slash is Kojiro's next opponent and future new subordinate. It can be regarded as his personal guard, which can make up for the force of the Chamber of Commerce and deal with thieves and the like more conveniently.

The way Commander Slash wants to evolve is very special, and these commanders are here to help him complete the evolution.

The evolution of Commander Slash is different from ordinary Pokémon, and the final evolution can only be completed through battle.

Chop Commander and Kudao Xiaobing are legion Pokémon that live in groups, and most groups are led by the strongest Chop Commander.

But in this majestic army, only the Commander Slashing on top can evolve into General Servant.

When a Chop Commander defeats three Chop Commanders with leader certificates, it can evolve into a Pokemon General, a Pokémon with a big sword on its head and a beard with blades, resembling an ancient Japanese general.

General Bodao will lead the army to fight, but this kind of Pokémon is not good at difficult tactics, and will only use brute force and physique to suppress the opponent.

What Kojiro lacks is not skills, but just brute force and physique.

"You also know the specific method. You can fight them by yourself later. It's easy with your ability. By the way, where is your little card? Lord Sacred Beast also prepared something for it."

「Wait a moment, it should have returned by this time.」

Saying that, Kojiro blew a whistle, and Kaka's cry came from outside the door.

Kojiro is not inflated. Although his status has risen, he is aware of his own situation. The development of his chamber of commerce needs to rely on Beasts, but he is not the only option for Beasts.

Therefore, he has always maintained a respectful attitude towards major cadres, which has further stabilized his position.

"Wow?"

Looking at Shaina in front of her, Xiaoka tilted her head in a humane manner, and began to wag her tail to show her affection. The dog and the owner of this family have the same personality, and Shaina didn't waste any time, and directly sent Fire Stone Put it on top of Xiaoka's head.

"The reward given to you by the Holy Beast, remember to bring it back when you find similar things in the future."

The moment the Fire Stone came into contact with Xiaoka, it felt like melting, the dissipated red light directly merged into Xiaoka's body, and the familiar dazzling white light also shone on Xiaoka's body.

The body size began to swell, and the original body shape swelled to the size of a pony in the blink of an eye. Although the appearance did not change much, it was completely different from the previous Katie dog.

Chapter 706: devil fruit animation

It is still fluffy orange-red fur, and flaxen mane covers the face. The eyes turn brown and the body has tiger-like black and orange stripes.

If Kitty was cute back then, now he has more majesty.

Wind Speed Dog has many legends in the Pokémon world, the most classic is the legend that it once fought side by side with a certain general and governed the country.

Because there are too many legends, it is even called "Legendary Pokémon".

Fascinating with its magnificent mane, Wind Speed Dog has a large number of fans throughout the history of the Pokémon world, and it is itself an excellent running Pokémon.

As a classic fire-type Pokémon, the raging fire in its body is its energy, and its name comes from its own running speed.

According to the legend, the wind speed dog running at full strength can even travel thousands of miles a day, and if it runs non-stop day and night, it is no problem to run 10,000 kilometers.

Of course, the reality is not so exaggerated, legends always exaggerate to a certain extent.

Looking at the evolved Xiaoka, Kojiro sighed quite a bit. This is a far cry from the little milk dog back then.

"These chopping commanders won't listen to your orders until you finish the battle. Of course, they won't make trouble. I personally suggest you finish the battle as soon as possible."

After explaining everything, Shaina turned around and left here without any intention of delaying, but when she was leaving, she saw a few giant blacksmiths sneaking around looking at Kojiro's mansion, as if they were looking at Kojiro's mansion. discussing something.

It can be seen that with the addition of the Commander Chop and Slash group, Kojiro's future life will not be peaceful, and the mansion may become lively.

But Kojiro in the house doesn't know what's going on outside. At this time, Xiaoka has turned into a licking dog, expressing his joy to Kojiro while adapting to his new body.

Tongue left a lot of drool on his face, and Kojiro also used the mane on his chest as a towel.

「It seems that your furniture has to be replaced with a new batch. I didn't expect your body shape to change so much.

If such a big change happened to an ordinary dog, the entire kennel might have to be replaced, but Xiaoka is different. The kennel that is comparable to a villa does not need to be replaced at all, but the bed and the like must be changed to a larger one.

As for the original one, it can only be used by Xiaoka's heirs.

"By the way, you are not allowed to run around with those two little guys, do you understand?"

「Wow~」

"They can't find you, they can only stay nearby, and they can't run too far."

What Kojiro said about them is Meowna and Worf, the influence of fur clan and Zeraora bloodline. These two little guys get along very well with other Pokémon and people or beasts with Pokémon abilities or bloodlines.

Xiaoka is an example. In addition, Misu's flaming horse, the steel crow and Tanabata blue bird on Xiaokong Island, the Gyarados and large carp king in the water, any creature that can serve as a means of transportation has a relationship with them. familiar relationship.

This caused Sha Mo to catch the children all the time. If Sha Mo hadn't seized the time to get the life cards for them, Sha Mo might not be able to catch the two of them in time.

It is difficult to control them in this regard, these two little guys will always find opportunities to sneak out, so Setsuna can only change the angle, and ask other people or Pokémon not to take the two of them to run around.

Kojiro ordered other people to resettle the Chop Commanders. Although Shaina advised him to do so as soon as possible, he didn't plan to do it right away, and a new experiment had already started on Onigashima.

Oguchi Shinsho was transformed and given to Yamato, Oinudao was given to Nereus after his weaknesses were removed, but Yamata no Orochi had another arrangement.

As a legendary big monster, Yamata no Orochi's ability is far more than what he showed. It's just that Heitan Orochi wasted the fruit's ability, and he didn't develop any ability except life.

It's not even as good as an ordinary animal type. A phantom beast, he just used it as a big sandbag for one-sided beating, and showed what is called the eight ways of death of a big snake.

The abilities of phantom beasts have always been more widely used, so Baqi

Orochi fruit ushered in Arceus' new experiment.

The content of the experiment is very simple - the devil fruit is alive.

The biggest feature of the animal system is that they have their own will, and there is an animal soul in the fruit, and Arceus intends to use this.

In the past, when he transformed Pokémon, he often used existing materials such as animals, plants, and steel to reduce his consumption. The ability to make the fruit itself was also done, but this is a brand new attempt.

Using the devil fruit itself as a carrier to create a brand new creature.

In this way, there is no need for a person with abilities, and entities that can directly display abilities are the same as the batch of sea stone Pokémon, which is a brand new regional form of Pirate World.

He doesn't need the original "devil" will. Under the influence of Arceus' power, a brand new will has occupied the devil fruit.

「Master Arceus, is it over yet?」

As the most miraculous product in the sea, Quinn also has a certain degree of curiosity about devil fruits. At that time, Shaina went to give Kojiro

After the reward was delivered, Quinn stopped after hearing about Arceus' plan, wanting to watch what Arceus was going to do.

It's just that this fruit doesn't look any different now, and it's no different from the previous Yamata no Orochi fruit.

"Of course we can't be here anymore, let's go, go to the roof and see the new results this time."

This attempt has basically been successful. The body shape is based on the fruit. The size of the animal system is affected by the host and the fruit type.

There is no host at this time, and the body shape naturally follows the legend of Yamata no Orochi. Judging from the effect of the big snake's transformation, although Yamata no Orochi is not that huge, it is also a large creature of nearly 20 meters, which can be compared with the giant beast army.

The room can fit it, but many things are not good

Try, it hasn't been long since it was rebuilt here, and Arceus doesn't want to break it again.

...

On the training ground on the roof of Onijima, the Yamata no Orochi fruit was placed on the surface. At this time, it, like a seed, began to take root and germinate in a suitable environment. The fruit gradually expanded into a sphere, and then began to extend other limbs outward.

The main body is dark green, with purple lines between the chest and abdomen, and it is also covered with a lot of black. On the back, there are huge black wings.

There are three pairs in total. The shape is neither the wings of birds nor the membranous wings of bats, but a new type of wings with a very special shape.

The strange wings flew into the air with the huge body, and then the eight roars came almost simultaneously...

Chapter 707 Regional Form-Eight-headed Dragon

Three-headed evil dragon, the form of the Wano country area, because the body is derived from the fruit of Yamata no Orochi, the original three heads have evolved into eight heads, but this has no effect.

Although the original three-headed dragon has three heads, only the head in the middle is the real head, and the heads on the arms have no brains.

At the same time, the three evil dragons also have no feet. The blue long strips on both sides of the tail are not their feet, but the underdeveloped tails like the heads of the arms.

This is also the reason why the three evil dragons usually don't fall to the ground, and always choose to float at low altitude.

At this time, as it turned into an eight-headed dragon, the surrounding heads without brains also became seven, and there were seven smaller tails beside the thick tail behind it, which was very similar to Yamata no Orochi in image.

Even the color has inherited the green-based color of the Yamata no Orochi fruit, which just fits the different-colored forms of the three evil dragons.

Of course, the seven heads just have no brains and are controlled by the will of the head in the middle. In addition, they can perform all normal behaviors, such as roaring and eating.

At this time, the eight-headed evil dragon is suspended above the ghost island, and the special wings on the back contain strange dragon energy, which can maintain this flying state, and unlike the previous Bangira and King Yanwu, the eight-headed evil dragon With a very terrifying breath.

Some working Wano people at the bottom of Onijima saw the newly born behemoth on it, and once again a symbol of fear appeared.

But this feeling of fear quickly changed, because the monster did not destroy, but made a performance of surrender. Even the monster that symbolized destruction chose to surrender, which further changed the mentality of many people.

Especially not long after they discovered that King Huguo Ming of Wano Kingdom was actually riding on the back of that monster.

"Hey hehehe, this guy is very good, follow me in the future."

He likes the ferocious aura very much, and is also very interested in the fighting spirit of the eight-headed dragon, and such a ferocious flying beast fits his temperament very well.

Kaido, who seems carefree, actually pays attention to the appearance of the cards. When appearing in front of newcomers, he will choose an extremely intimidating way, such as jumping off the sky island and smashing a big hole with his body.

However, during the fall from this height, a little wind is enough to cause the position to shift. To accurately fall in front of some people, he has to use his ability to adjust his position in mid-air.

A suitable mount will greatly improve the card, and the image of the eight-headed dragon meets Kaido's needs.

Although it is the body of Yamata no Orochi, it is also a Pokémon transformed from the three evil dragons. Vertex fantasy creature.

"You can figure it out yourself, but if you want it to act as a mount, you can't do it with a few words."

The main purpose of Arceus is a new attempt. At present, it seems that it is not difficult to make the fruit of the animal department alive, and the effect is also very good. Arceus has no objection to the new position that Kaido wants to arrange for it.

"I know, I just like this guy's temperament."

At this time, the heads of the eight-headed dragons were staring at Kaido, intending to bite if they disagreed.

This is its own character, extremely violent.

In the records of the Pokémon world, the three-headed dragon is also a very ferocious horror Pokémon. There are very few trainers who can tame it, because everything the three-headed dragon sees will become its attack target.

It doesn't choose to attack now, just because Arceus is still in front of it. Although its mind is full of destruction, Pokémon like the three dragons are very intelligent, and they can tell who is the real master.

This is also similar to Kaido. They have high intelligence, but they are often too lazy to use it. In a sense, their compatibility is indeed not low.

And the eight-headed dragon itself is not as tyrannical as the three-headed dragon, but it is more aggressive and lonely than other Pokémon.

In the world of Pokémon, the tribal character of the three-headed dragons is formed little by little. Due to their ferocious appearance, the three-headed dragons were previously regarded as the incarnation of evil, and they were constantly disgusted and attacked by people, so their temperament became violent.

.

Before evolution, the monocephalic dragons in their original form had no vision, they couldn't see things, and they understood everything through biting, and this process easily hurt other things.

For a single-headed dragon, there are only two kinds of things in the world, those that can be eaten and those that cannot.

This also caused other Pokémon to dislike them, which eventually led to this situation.

"I like you very much, you can act as my mount in the future."

Not afraid of the sharp teeth of the eight-headed dragon, Kaido directly reached out and grabbed it, and this time the eight-headed dragon also directly bit it.

"Not bad strength, this guy is really a good mount."

Feeling the force from the skin, the smile on the corner of Kaido's mouth became wider.

"You have also heard what the person who created you said. If you have any dissatisfaction, express it now."

"Roar!"

It heard what Arceus said, and knew what Arceus meant, that the man in front of him could be his master, but it didn't mean to obey directly.

Except for Arceus, it is not so easy for others to tame it.

Although Kaido does not understand this language, he can also feel the meaning of the eight-headed dragon.

So the most primitive Pokémon subjugation action appeared here. The character of the Eight-Headed Dragon is difficult to subdue it simply by being touched, and it is impossible to do it without enough strength. Kaido just fits this character. With the physical body and the eight The culprit engaged in a fierce hand-to-hand combat.

Above the ghost island, a scene of Kaido fighting the evil dragon was staged. The eight heads of the eight evil dragons spewed attacks of different attributes, sharp rock thorns, scorching flames, and roaring thunderbolts smashed into Kaido's body one after another. Body.

But it just made Kaido more interested in it.

In order to show the master's ability, Kaido is like a pile, no matter whether it is biting or breathing, he uses his body to carry it down.

Finally, he controlled the eight-headed dragon with a naked twisted posture, and used his own strength to make him accept the identity of the master.

And the workers of Wano Country who were lucky enough to see Kaido and the eight evil dragons from a distance told their stories after returning home, so that in the end, Wano Country added a new stage play.

Based on the identities of Kaido and Yamata no Orochi, they evolved the story of King Ming protecting the country.

Chapter 708 New World Central Fighting Tournament

This plot has nothing to do with Kaido, except for the character image and abilities, the background of the story is completely rote.

But this is the current situation in Wano Country. Kozuki Hiyori is a general, but except for those who have no interest in politics, anyone with a little political awareness can feel the situation in Wano Country.

In terms of force, they have no ability to fight against Kaido. In name, Kozuki Hiyori's general status is extremely stable. It is impossible for the assassination of Kozuki Sukiyaki to happen again.

Guangyue Rihe will travel abroad once a year. As the leader of the puppet regime, except for having no real power, she has everything she should have.

Even ordinary people have vested interests in the rule of Beasts. These people want to overthrow Beasts, but now it is difficult to win the hearts of the people. Even the old-fashioned Guangyue family can't find a suitable reason now.

In this case, it doesn't hurt that Shin Pai's drama touts the real ruler.

Besides, Kaido has a certain interest in drama, so this is a good match for him, and because of Kaido's character, the drama actors have worked a lot, after all, he has high requirements for acting.

With a new mount, Kaido did not stay in Wano Country, but went out to find trouble on the eight-headed dragon. With such a fierce mount, it is not in line with his character not to go out and make everyone know.

The eight-headed dragon was transformed from the devil fruit, but the devil fruit is just a seed. Now it has germinated and evolved into a brand-new creature. A seed can be fried and eaten, but when it becomes a big tree, normal people But there is no way to chew wood.

Even if you gnaw on the bark, most of it cannot be digested.

In short, at this time it has become an independent Pokémon, and it no longer has the nature of the original Devil Fruit of Yamata no Orochi Fruit.

As for Kaido's "screaming" behavior when he went out, no one of Beasts cares anymore. Even if they read Kaido's arrest in the newspaper, they wouldn't be very shocked, but Yamato remained excited.

As long as Kaido is not around, whatever she does is a good thing for her.

Among all the people, there was only one exception, Quinn. Looking at Kaido who was riding out on the eight-headed dragon, he wanted to stop him, but he couldn't do anything. He could only speed up the registration of his population information.

He had a premonition that sooner or later he would suffer bad luck because of Kaido.

The days when Kaido is not around can make many people feel relaxed and happy. This is a rare free time for Yamato.

"Miss Yamato, what are you doing here?"

On the giant tree above the Palace of Flower Capital, Jhin found Yamato who was in a daze. At this moment, she and Tianxi were looking at the sea level in the distance.

In the Great War of Wano Country, this tree collapsed during the battle between Kaido and Kozuki Oden. After recovering, it has returned to its original appearance.

"Look at the sunrise. I heard that the angle here is very good. I suddenly remembered that I was tortured by my father every morning before, and I never really enjoyed the scenery when the sun came out."

"I see, you can do whatever you want, and I won't bother you."

He only came up to check the situation because he sensed someone was on the roof. He is in charge of the defense work here. Since it is Yamato, there is no need to worry about the situation.

"No, Uncle Jhin, why did you come up? Where's Drake?"

Derek's perspective ability is simply a good hand in surveillance. The walls of the house can't hinder her sight. Normally, she only needs to look at it to know what's going on on the roof.

"She has been out with Iska for a while, and her character is not an ordinary woman. Recently, her hands have been itching badly."

Wano Country is very big. If you don't get along day and night, if a few people leave, it won't attract the attention of others. Even if Drake is the deputy, she has her own life.

"Someone is attacking our territory again?"

"Yes, there is, but it hasn't reached the point of needing support. She is actually going to compete this time."

A new world, a certain island. At this time, a large number of strong people from all over the world have gathered here. Although they are not top-notch, the average strength of the people here is much higher than that of ordinary people. The island is divided into several parts, and each area is different. arena.

The New World Central Fighting Conference is a private activity of the people, but it has a strong reputation in the entire New World, even in other sea areas.

Every year, a large number of martial arts masters, pirates, bounty hunters, civilians, and even some navies will participate in this battle.

For Kaido and Yamato, this kind of competition is meaningless, but for others, it can still play a good role in training.

"Sister Derek, is... really okay here?"

"Of course it's no problem. I don't know who organized this thing, but that person's energy is not small. There is a rule that no killing is allowed here. At least there will be no deaths on the field. It's a good place. .

See that kid? Destroyer Edio, a rookie who started participating in this competition last year, has made quite a name. "

"Is that the long-handed family?"

"Well, but don't worry about him, it has nothing to do with us, what we are going to is a semi-no-restricted fighting match."

The New World Central Fighting Tournament is not divided into different weight levels, but divided into several areas according to different competition methods. As the name suggests, the semi-unlimited fighting competition has very few restrictions, whether it is fruit ability, domineering, armor, or sword. use.

However, long-range attack methods such as guns, and throwing props such as grenades are expressly prohibited.

After all, it is a fighting game, and the situation where two people confront each other at a long distance should be avoided.

Derek is a frequent visitor here. After gaining the ability, he has won three unrestricted fighting championships.

In unrestricted fighting, what kind of things are on the opponent's body? The endless emergence of exotic weapons may affect the outcome of the game, but the ability to see through just avoids this problem.

She brought Iska here mainly to experience different battles and increase the opponent's combat experience.

The way of the semi-unlimited fighting competition is very wild. It was a melee at the beginning to eliminate a large number of players. Drake, as the defending champion, attracted the attention of many people, but Iska found a strange person.

"Sister Derek, look at that man over there..."

"Don't worry, those guys who are in a group are not strong. No! That thing"

There is no restriction on wearing armor here, so you can see a lot of armor monsters who dress themselves up like Michelin tire people. Their goal is the final high bonus, but on the chest of that man's armor, they saw a very special shape. Stone.

Chapter 709 The man who was fooled by Kaido

For the members of Beasts, especially the core members stationed in Onishima and Wano Country, the shape of the Arceus Slate has been engraved in their minds. The best way to climb.

Mandelfisch is the best example. Today, the number of the numberer has undergone several rounds of major changes, but Mandelfisch is still firmly in the No.1 position, which is inseparable from his luck.

At this moment, Drake had no place for other contestants in his eyes, so he focused on that person.

There are many people wearing armor here, and they all pay more attention to practicality than gorgeousness. At this time, the suspected slate is located in front of his body, which can just block the vital parts of his upper body.

Because it is the New World Central Fighting Conference, there are no weight classes, and there are people of all shapes and races in the arena, whether it is a tall and strong man or a seemingly thin woman, or a long-handed, long-legged family. This is true for races that are relatively rare in the outside world.

"Do you want to notify Onijima?"

"Wait a minute, this competition won't be over for a while. Since this guy is here to compete, he must be aiming for the championship. We have to make sure that thing is real."

Fishing is also an air force. On the way to find stone slabs, there are many accidents. Occasionally, some fakes will be encountered, but except for Heitan Orochi, a blatant counterfeiter, it doesn't matter if you find the wrong thing, but it's not. good thing.

They don't have slate radar on them, so if they want to detect, they have to use the familiar earth method.

"Iska, try it in a while and attack that stone slab with all your strength. If there is no damage at all, it is probably true. Then you go to help that guy and observe his strength. You must not let him Retire and find a way to help him advance."

Derek has never seen that person in his memory, and it is impossible for her to have no impression of a player with some ability, so that is a new competitor, and his strength is completely unknown.

If you retire early due to failure, it would be bad if there is any accident.

Theoretically, as long as the game is not over, he will not leave here, and the verification method has been confirmed by many parties.

It comes from Kaido's earth method, the one that can't be damaged is the real guy. In terms of the explosive power of the giant pincer mantis, it is impossible for ordinary rocks and metals to resist her attack.

As for why Derek didn't do it herself, what she had to face was the melee of the entire arena, and those people took her as the defending champion very seriously.

If she went directly to the newcomer, it would make people feel abnormal.

The two entered the transformation state one after another. There are more than the two of them who have similar abilities. This semi-unlimited fighting is heaven for the ability users of the animal department. In terms of body blessing, the animal department is the most powerful .

Phantom beast species' elemental attacks are also limited in this semi-unlimited battle, so what they receive is only a physical bonus.

"Let me see, I haven't seen you for a year, have you guys come up with some new methods?"

There are many fighters in Beasts, and Drake is one of them. The prize money for the championship is also one of her goals, but she enjoys the fun of fighting more.

A few wires of electric current flashed under the skin on the body surface, the current attack was limited, but it was reasonable to stimulate one's own cells with electric current to increase explosive power.

There are many loopholes in the rules of this game. Except for those things that are expressly prohibited, the rest are designed to let people take advantage of the loopholes.

The melee was on the verge of breaking out, and a large number of players began to be eliminated. When Drake responded to the siege, Iska had already turned into a red afterimage, and most people could only see that touch of red.

As the battle began, Iska also began to look for a suitable assault position, and she discovered a mistake in judgment by Drake, who seemed to be quite strong.

In other words, the thing on his chest has exceptional defense.

In a sense, this person's armor technology is different from that of ordinary people. The stone slab is not fixed, but embedded.

Not only can it serve as a heart shield, but he even made a special card slot on the gauntlet, which can hold the stone plate on the arm and act as a handheld shield.

"It's useless, it's useless! This is the armor material that even the emperors of the sea dream of. With this, you can't break my defense at all!"

Blocked another person's attack, seeing that there was no trace left on the slate, a presumptuous smile appeared on the corner of his mouth.

Kaido's reason for looking for the stone slab is that he wants to make it the hardest armor in the world, but to this day, in countless battles, Kaido has never worn any armor.

However, no one cared about the authenticity of the reason. The world government even took the initiative to trade with stone slabs. They didn't know that this kind of stone had any meaning other than being hard.

However, there are many people in the sea, and many people still believe the reasons given by Kaido. The people among them have also made different choices. Sasagi chose to use it as a meeting gift to join the Hundred Beasts Pirates and become one of them. core members.

But this person is different. Since it is something that the emperors of the sea want, why doesn't he keep it for himself? Maybe with this, he can also become the new emperor of the sea.

"Shield Impact!"

Using the slate as a weapon, he almost turned into a berserker, holding up the slate and attacking the opponent in front of him. Seeing the fist of the enemy, his expression was very disdainful.

"It's useless, this kind of attack is useless against me, remember my name, Weili Gaponov, I will definitely become the strongest!"

It hasn't been long since he entered the new world. When he was full of energy, relying on the defensive power of that stone slab, he even defeated many pirates in the new world.

Gaponov himself is also a lone ranger, offering a bounty of 90 million Baileys. The purpose of participating in the competition this time is the high prize money. He wants to use this as capital to search for new stone slabs and complete the task before Kaido. The "dream" of indestructible armor.

But at this time, he felt a series of blows coming from the stone slab. Judging from the force feedback, this attack was much stronger than before. More importantly, he didn't notice at all that the person who attacked his "shield" When did it appear.

"Fortunately, you are an idiot, with this speed, you don't attack from the side."

The slate at most protected his half body. This kind of high-speed opponent, whether it was kicking or attacking from the side, made it difficult for him to deal with it, but the opponent chose the most stupid way.

What puzzled him even more was that the red figure retreated inexplicably after the attack.

Chapter 710 Give me a face for the beasts

"This is the New World Central Fighting Conference? Are all the participants dead-brained?"

Gaponov found it very strange. Even if he was a lone ranger, he had encountered many opponents along the way. Those people would often take advantage of their numbers and firepower. Facing a large number of bullets, he had to squat halfway to protect his legs. Department is not hit.

At the same time, he had to deal with sneak attacks from behind, but in this Central Fighting Tournament, those contestants hit him from the front one by one, and no one attacked him at all, so he passed the qualifiers smoothly.

The qualifiers were originally a melee, and no one noticed that everyone who planned to attack Gaponov was surprised by Iska. This newcomer showed a combat power that far exceeded the average level of the qualifiers.

The semi-unlimited competition system restricts the means of attack, not where to hit. As long as you can't die, there is no limit. Relying on his own high speed and bullet punch power, Iska gave most of the competitors a hard blow on the field.

The chaotic semi-unlimited fighting qualifiers are not beautiful at all, with hair plucked, eyes inserted, and all kinds of weird methods emerge in endlessly. The purpose of the qualifiers is to let most people who fish in troubled waters exit.

It is inevitable to be attacked in melee, but the steel carapace of the giant pincer mantis is almost the hardest armor, and Iska was not affected too much.

At this time, she had retreated to the vicinity of Drake, and the insect wings on her back vibrated at high speed, relieving the heat generated in her body due to the battle.

Derek's fists were already stained with blood. She struck much harder than Iska. Even with just fists, many people were bloodied. Those unstable alliances were far away from Derek. Lake.

Those who are really capable are a little arrogant in their hearts. They disdain to join forces with others at this time, but want to knock down the opponent alone and win the championship. The rest of these people are not enough to make a qualitative change.

"How was the test?"

The smile on Derek's face is very sincere, it can be seen that she enjoys this kind of battle, and the scar is also slightly hideous under the smile, but Iska doesn't think it's scary.

Compared with a ferocious appearance, a person with a beastly face is more frightening.

"Ninety-nine are close to ten, but that person feels naive. I don't think he may be able to pass the personal battle."

"There is no need to worry about it, we can help him, but in this case, we have to make arrangements."

After the qualifiers ended, Drake came to a taller building on the island, relying on binoculars and clairvoyance to monitor Gaponov's movements.

There are free lodging rooms for players on the island, and the behind-the-scenes organizers are not short of money. The New World Central Fighting Conference itself is also an opportunity to make money. In this sea, everything related to the event can be exchanged with money. phase hook.

Compared to the profits brought by these players, other things are just a drop in the bucket.

"Brother Jin, good evening"

While monitoring Gabonov's whereabouts, Drake sent a contact information to Jhin. She didn't have the ability to be 100% sure, otherwise she would have chosen to skip the report and contact Arceus directly.

"You have already paid in advance for the next two months' salary, so if you want to advance it again, there is no need to talk about it."

Derek's view of money is exactly the opposite of Mandelfish's. If Mandelfish is the ordinary person with the most savings in the Beasts Pirates, then she is a clear counterexample.

Yamato, Tezolo, and Kojiro are no longer ordinary people. One is a second-generation lady, and the other two have extra income from business.

Mandelfish's deposits are always available for emergencies, and the top numbered people can all be regarded as Drake's creditors. Her year can be divided into two parts, borrowing money and exchanging money. The income is all she needs.

"Brother Jin, please don't be so ruthless, and I'm not a salary advance, oh, nor a loan."

"Stop talking nonsense, you still have a minute."

Jhin is also used to Drake's gags, if she hadn't been reliable in her work, the phone would have been cut off long ago.

"Really, Brother Jin, you are still so boring. You will be single for the rest of your life. I suspect that I found the slate of Master Arceus."

"real?"

"More than 70%, we just identified it with that soil method."

"Wait for me there, keep an eye on that thing, and next time, let's talk about important things first, don't talk so much nonsense."

"But you"

Derek just wanted to refute that it was Jhin who brought the topic here, but Jhin didn't listen to what she said, and hung up the phone directly, and it seemed that he had already left.

He knows when the New World Central Fighting Conference will be held, and he also knows where Drake is now.

Arceus and Shaina had just sailed, and now Yamato stayed behind in the Wano country, so Jhin didn't contact anything, but waved his wings, transformed into a beast form in the sky and flew towards the distance.

The flames behind him had disappeared, and Jhin flew towards the target island at extreme speed. If he flew at full speed at the speed of a fossilized pterosaur, he would be able to reach Drake's location within two days.

As for Derek who was hung up, she was visiting in someone else's room, but in a rough way.

"What the **** are you going to do?"

"I don't do anything, but I can trouble you. How about admitting defeat in tomorrow's game? Anyway, there is still a rematch, so just work harder when the time comes."

"Are you kidding me? Do you know how long I have been preparing for this game? Don't even think about it even if you are the defending champion."

At this time, there was a sudden bang in the room, and Drake accidentally dropped something on the ground. It wasn't a bomb or anything else, it was just an ordinary scroll.

While picking up the scroll, she accidentally opened the lock on the scroll. After the scroll was opened, there happened to be a pattern of a pirate flag on it, which belonged to the pirate flag of all beasts.

"Hey, I'm sorry, what did you just say? I didn't hear you clearly, do you mind giving us some face?"

Derek shook off the dust stuck on it, and slowly rolled up the scroll in front of his face, for fear that he might not be able to see the appearance of the flag clearly.

"This. I suddenly remembered that I just caught a cold and felt unwell. I really can't compete tomorrow"

"That's right, let's cooperate, so that everyone will be well, remember not to talk nonsense, I am quite clear about your situation."

"Yeah, you're right, I haven't seen you at all."

Drake's smile did not let him relax at all. This flag reminded him of Drake's other identity. Apart from being the champion, she is also a cadre of beasts. Showing the pirate flag means that she is not alone. people thing.

To offend beasts for a game, it is better to choose to go directly to the resurrection match to fight once.