

Armipotent 1501

Chapter 1501 Lost Points

"Don't underestimate city defense! There's no time for city defense. You defend the city until no more calamity attacks the city. Depending on the number of the calamity, you might have to fight a month or maybe two months without a rest! You will need potions!"

Tang Shaoyang furrowed his brow, realizing the city defense was not as simple as the game in the Survival Game. In the Survival Game, the monster came in separate waves. It seemed like all monsters would swarm to the city at the same time instead of in separate waves. At least, it was what he got from Oby.

"I recommend you three potions, the basic ones if you are confident in your ability in a prolonged battle. You will need Mana Potion, Rejuvenation Potion, and Sacred Universal Antidote. Sacred Universal Antidote will help you against the poisonous Void Energy. Unless you are immune to..."

Oby did not finish his words and got the answer. He was a bit surprised deep inside, finding out the young man in front of him was immune to the poison made from Void Energy. That only meant one thing, the young man in front of him also had Void Energy.

'Dragon's descendant with void energy... Interesting...'

Oby shrugged, "Then you only need Rejuvenation and Mana Potion. Unless your body is fragile, then you need Healing Potion as well. Ah, you better have a moderate stock from now just in case the trial will change to city defense. The potion's price will double or even triple the normal price during the city defense."

Tang Shaoyang took the advice seriously. He indeed did not care that much about potion. Even when Oby mentioned it, he changed his mind after listening to the explanation. He thought the city defense would take the same time as the time for the trial. That was why he thought the potions were not necessary for him.

"The last tip..." Oby furrowed his brows for a moment, "I advise you to have a party. At least a party of three. Three should be enough if you choose your party carefully. Even if you don't have an enemy, some people will go after your head. Especially if you have big points."

The cook then winked his right eye and waved his hand, chasing Tang Shaoyang from his counter. He was closing the bar, "But remember. The city defense is still a possibility. You don't need to think about it too much."

Tang Shaoyang returned to the lodging while pondering the issue. Even if Oby said it was just a possibility. However, it was a high-rate possibility with all the signs.

"I have to stop playing as a hunter..." He muttered in a low voice.

The following morning, he came to the first floor and went to his usual spot for his usual breakfast. He talked to Oby as if the conversation last night never happened.

Instead of going out to hunt, he went to Manoe's exotic restaurant. It was to confirm the city defense. Not that he did not trust Madaki and Oby, but he just wanted the third voice and the fourth voice.

Manoe's story was about the same as Oby and Madaki. However, this exotic cook had a different reaction. The cook was quite excited hearing the news of the possibility of the city defense. Understandable since he would gain more variety of new ingredients.

After leaving Manoe's place, he went to the Scorching Tavern. He wanted to confirm from the fourth voice. The barkeeper was quite concerned about the city defense.

Tang Shaoyang let out a sigh as he came out of the Scorching Tavern. Four people said the same thing about the signs. It looked like the city defense was most likely to happen.

"We will be hunting bears today... You don't mind, right, Afi?" He told his spirits about the plan for today.

"I told you before. I don't care even if we are coming from the same race. Even if they are my descendants!" The Urosa Warrior replied firmly.

"The prey has taken the bait. Let's finish this once and for all."

Tang Shaoyang noticed the Sorc Clan's people had been following him from the moment he came out of his lodging. Those big guys tried to follow him unnoticed, and it was quite a sight from his Chaos Eyes.

He went to the south gate and stopped in front of the ranking screen, looking for his name.

18. Eson Artus Figueroa - 8220

19. Julian Heymans - 8220

20. Timo Alain Woodgate - 8220

Tang Shaoyang was speechless when he saw Ian Carmen Lorentia's points. The gap widened even further. That just showed the advantage of solo hunting, a high risk and high return hunting.

A party with two members managed to overtake the tournament champion for second place and third place. That just proved further that a party with fewer members gained more points than a party with more people.

The solo participant Novoa Valentine maintained seventh place. However, her points were getting closer to the tournament champion's party's points. Initially, the gap was more than two thousand points and now it was less than a thousand.

Gerda Eva Lorenzen, another solo hunter, managed to overtake Clement Salle's party to eighth place from twelfth place.

Tang Shaoyang paused upon noticing Gerda Eva's points. Her points were less than eleven thousand, below his, and yet, his name was not in the top ten. With his eleven thousand points, he was supposed to be in eighth place, not Gerda. The first thing he did was to check his point.

[Tang Shaoyang - 5852]

Chapter 1502 Meeting Amos Again

Tang Shaoyang was confused at first that he lost half of his points. The confusion turned into anger because he lost half of his points. He was about to head to the Main Administration Office to ask what happened to his points.

"Keep your killing intent down and follow me." Ira's voice came from behind.

Tang Shaoyang turned around and followed her without a word. As they arrived in front of the office, he finally said something to Ira.

"You better have a reasonable explanation behind my lost points."

Ira let out a sigh, "Administrator Amos will explain the reason. Just follow me!"

They entered the office, and Tang Shaoyang entered the familiar office. The same office when he first arrived for the trial. He met the same person, wearing sleeveless clothes with a scar on his eye.

However, Administrator Amos was not the only one in the room. There were another three people, sitting next to Administrator Amos.

On Amos's left was a woman with a red robe and a big pointy red hat. The hat covered her face, and Tang Shaoyang would not be able to see her face. Next to her was a man in all black. His face as well as his eyes were covered in the black cloth. The nose was the only feature that could be seen from this man.

On Amos's right was a man in gray plate armor. He did not cover his face just like the other two. He looked like a man in his mid-thirties with white hair, observing Tang Shaoyang with his expressionless face. His eyes were unique, there was a slit gray on top of his pupil, splitting the iris. Tang Shaoyang knew who these people were even though Ira did not tell him anything. They might be the main Administrator who oversaw the trial.

"Do you know why you are called here?" Amos was the first one to speak. He did not bother to tell Tang Shaoyang the people next to him. His solemn tone echoed in the room, turning the atmosphere in the room to somber.

"I hope it's related to why my points were deducted by half. If it's not about my point, I want an explanation!" Tang Shaoyang did not cower in front of the four administrators.

The four administrators did not hold back their aura inside the room. The three he did not know did not hold their auras, and Amos directed his aura on Tang Shaoyang. Even Ira lowered her head even though she was not the main subject in the room.

"As you said, he is quite fearless, huh?" The man in the black spoke. Despite his toneless voice, his voice was quite good and comforting.

The moment Tang Shaoyang heard that, he confirmed why the other three administrators were there. Amos tried to intimidate him with his friends. Maybe that would give Amos the satisfaction that someone with a dragon bloodline cowered against him.

A chuckle rang in the room. Tang Shaoyang chuckled that someone like Amos would go this far. That was funny because he had no conflict with Amos before. Let alone a conflict, not even an interaction.

Amos' lips twitched hearing the chuckle, but he did not show the same aggressiveness just like the first meeting.

"You broke the rule. You attacked your fellow participants inside the city, so your point is deducted by half." Amos finally spoke about why Tang Shaoyang was called.

Tang Shaoyang grinned as soon as he heard the reason. It was the absurd reason he would hear, half of his total point for self-defense.

"So should I just let them hit me? Should I not fight back when someone tries to hit me?" He asked with the same grin, "Ah, don't answer that yet. What about the point for those three bear folks? Did you deduct them by half as well?"

Amos grinned, "No. They received a warning!"

"I see..." Tang Shaoyang's grin disappeared, nodding his head. He did not stay and turned around. There was no need to stay anymore. He got the answer. Amos used his authority as overseer to deduct his points regardless of what happened. It was pointless to continue the conversation.

"Where are you going? We are not done yet!?" Amos stood up and called out.

Tang Shaoyang gave the man two middle fingers. He opened the door, looking straight into Amos' eyes, "I will play your game, and you better be prepared." He then closed the door.

'We have a change of plan. We will be hunting again, not calamity but people!' Tang Shaoyang talked to his spirits.

'Are you really going to fight that administrator?' Vindir asked with a tinge of excitement in his voice.

"Maybe," Instead of going to the south gate, he went to the market district. He came to meet Madaki, and coincidentally the butcher was waiting for his arrival as well.

"Your goods are inside," Madaki said as Tang Shaoyang entered the building.

Instead of going to the storage, he sat across Madaki, "I have a question for you. Do you know anything about Administrator Amos?"

Madaki furrowed his brow, especially after noticing how serious Tang Shaoyang was, "Do you have a problem with Amos?"

"Yes."

Madaki let out a sigh, "What do you want to know? I don't know much about him, so don't expect detailed information about him from me."

"Nothing specific, just some basic information. What's his faction?"

Madaki raised his right eyebrow, not expecting such basic information. He thought his customer would ask him about Amos' bloodline, level, ability-related questions, and so on.

"Vigamaur Dgaror. I don't know how to spell it because it's a language from his world. But I know the meaning behind the name, Dragon Slayer. They have quite a reputation in the God Realm because of their conflict with the Dragon Realm."

"Vigamaur D..." Tang Shaoyang could not spell the remaining name.

Madaki had to write in a paper while Tang Shaoyang muttered the name in a low voice, trying to memorize the name, "Do you have a list of the participants?"

Madaki was confused because that was not something he would expect to hear from Tang Shaoyang. However, he was quick to catch what Tang Shaoyang wanted to do. Amos' faction then the next question was the participant list.

"Of course, I don't have the list. But do you have to go that far? No matter how annoying and jerk Amos is. He is still an Administrator."

Tang Shaoyang shook his head, "Thank you for your help."

Madaki was bewildered that Tang Shaoyang did not ask him anything specific about Amos. He did not mind telling Tang Shaoyang something he knew about Amos.

Chapter 1503 Hidden Information

Tang Shaoyang met someone he did not expect right outside Madaki's building. Ira was standing three steps away from the porch. Her eyes immediately focused on Tang Shaoyang, proving that she was here waiting for him.

There were many scenarios played in his head, possibilities of why she came to him. But the first thing that came up in his mind was that she came to capture him. She was ordered by the four Administrators to drag him back to them.

"Don't worry. I come on my own, not under Amos or other administrators' order," Sensing Tang Shaoyang's aura slowly rising, Ira immediately explained.

"There's something I want to talk about with you. Do you have time?"

"We can talk here!" He felt like there was nothing to talk about between them. There was no way he would not be suspicious of Ira. Especially with her assignment in this trial as an Administration Helper.

Ira let out a sigh, "How to make you trust me? Do you mind if we talk in Oby's place?"

She proposed Oby's lodging because she noticed that Tang Shaoyang was close to Oby. He trusted Oby more than her.

Tang Shaoyang did not immediately say yes. However, he indeed trusted Oby more than Ira, and he felt more comfortable with Oby than the others. After a while, he responded with a nod, "Let's go."

As they arrived at Oby's place, the burly cook was more welcoming than Tang Shaoyang expected. Not only did he welcome them, but he also provided a private room for them after Ira told Oby about what happened in the Administrator's Office.

The burly cook grinned widely as he looked at Tang Shaoyang. He looked happy about what happened between Tang Shaoyang and the administrator.

"Why do you look so happy?" Ira could not help but ask, wondering why the burly cook was happy.

"Nothing," Oby shook his head, his eyes stayed on Tang Shaoyang, "You are doing the right thing to ignore them. However, the last threat is unnecessary."

Tang Shaoyang just shrugged, not regretting what he said to Amos. He was genuinely angry because what happened was so similar to his past. What Amos did to him reminded him of his past before The Game. It was the time when he had to bow his head even though he was being treated unfairly.

The reason for his hunger for power was not to repeat what happened in the past. He would not let others step on his dignity anymore. He would fight back against whoever tried to trample him with their authority, even if it meant that he would get disqualified. Of course, he did not bother to explain his reason and his past to Ira and Oby.

"What do you want to talk about? Is it okay for Oby to stay here?" He glanced at Oby.

The burly cook waved his hand at Tang Shaoyang, "Ay, don't worry. My lip is tight. No words from this room will come out of my mouth."

"Why didn't you just accept your punishment?" Ira questioned Tang Shaoyang's decision. It would not become a big issue if he stayed silent and accepted the punishment.

"I know it's unfair for you, but it's not too late to have your revenge later in the future. It's not too late even after you win the trial."

Ira in fact felt bad deep inside. She felt like it was her mistake that led to this situation. If she intervened earlier, the situation would not have reached this point. She was there when the Sorc Clan blocked Tang Shaoyang's path. There would be no problem if she came earlier. The guilt was what pushed her to come to meet Tang Shaoyang.

"Is that all? If so, then I have other matters to attend to." His intonation was polite and distant. It was clear that he did not look at Ira the same anymore as before.

Ira was also aware of that. She understood why he did so. It was natural for him to think that she was on the administrator's side.

"No. That's not what I want to talk about. I want to know what you are going to do now? Amos won't stay still after you threaten him. He will use authority as Administrator to get rid of you, even though that means he will lose his Administrator Class. "He took a risk of losing his class just to throw the bait for you, and you ate the bait," Ira furrowed her brow, showing her dislike for what Amos did. Then she added at the end, "I come to warn and also help you."

Ira was sincere with her words, "If you doubt me, then I can tell you the reason. I feel guilty because you are in trouble because of me. If only I had come out earlier last night, then you would not lose your point. So, I will help you as long as it's within my capability... And of course, I will not help you fight the administrator."

"You can trust her with that. Of course, if you also trust me and my judgment," Oby spoke out before Tang Shaoyang could respond, "But are you really going to fight Amos?"

From his tone, Oby sounded interested in a fight between Tang Shaoyang and Amos.

Tang Shaoyang stayed silent for a while. He observed Ira for a moment, then he turned toward Oby who looked entertained by the news of his conflict with Amos.

"I will trust Oby once more."

"What do you mean once more?" Oby sat straight when he heard the 'once more' as if he had betrayed Tang Shaoyang before.

"Tortoise Steak!" Tang Shaoyang reminded Oby. Without waiting Oby, he met Ira's eyes, "You don't need to do anything for me but just answer three of my questions."

"What's the consequence for killing an Administrator in this trial?"

If a fight really broke out against Amos, he wanted to know the aftermath so he could be prepared. One of the implications is a war between his faction and Amos's faction. That was something he expected, but he wanted to know if the System would punish him as well. If that was the case then he must avoid killing Amos if a fight broke out.

Oby grinned ear to ear after hearing the question. Not waiting for Ira to respond, Oby answered the question, "Do you know an interesting fact about this trial?"

Tang Shaoyang turned toward Oby, not expecting an answer from Oby.

"Killing an Administrator will give you the same point as Unique Rank Calamity. And I have to say, killing them is far easier than killing a Unique Rank Calamity. Just usually the Administrator will not come out from their cage. Even if they go out of the city, they will not let others notice them. You can kill the Administrator, not only you will not be punished but you will be rewarded. Of course, there's a condition, and that is you can't kill them inside the city. You must kill them outside the city or you will face System's wrath."

Tang Shaoyang was surprised by the new information. He glanced at Ira, she did not say anything about this. It was indeed an interesting rule for the trial. Depending on the location, he would be punished or rewarded.

Chapter 1504 Commence The "Killing Administrator" Plan - Part 1

Ira nodded to confirm Oby's answer. That was the case, but the Administrator would not say it to the participants. It was not like the participants would target the administrator either. There was a reason for it, killing an administrator would make the other administrators hostile to the killer.

"But no one is crazy enough to do that. I do believe the people from the big factions know about the rule. The other Administrator will become hostile to you if you kill one of them!" She did not forget to warn Tang Shaoyang.

"Tch," Tang Shaoyang clicked his tongue, letting out a chuckle at the same time, "So, should I turn a blind eye to Amos?"

Ira could not say anything about it. She also did not expect that Amos would have such a deep hatred for the dragon to the point of risking losing his Administrator Class.

"How many Administrators oversee this trial?"

The second question was for him to be prepared for the fight with Amos. He must be prepared for what would come for him after killing Amos. Just like Ira said, the other Administrators would turn hostile toward him. He wanted to be ready for the worst scenario.

Ira frowned after hearing the question, "You don't know that? It's not something hard to find. There are nine Administrators overseeing the trial. You have met four of them."

"You can ask me one more question." She added at the end.

"Do Administrator Helpers must comply with the Administrator's order? Can they command you to fight for them?"

"Their command is not absolute. Usually, we will get a progression to get Administrator Class by complying with their order. However, that command must align with the mission that System gives them, or else, there will be no progression for us," Ira did not hide anything from Tang Shaoyang. She answered the question honestly.

"Their command is not absolute. Usually, we will get a progression to get Administrator Class by complying with their order. However, that command must align with the mission that System gives them, or else, there will be no progression for us," Ira did not hide anything from Tang Shaoyang. She answered the question honestly.

If the Administrator ordered them to do something unrelated to their quest, Administrator Helper could refuse the order. That meant the decision was in their hands. If they followed the order, they would gain a favorable impression from the Administrator. That meant there was a high possibility that Amos might mobilize Administrator Helpers to get Tang Shaoyang.

"I see," Tang Shaoyang nodded. He realized that this fight would not be just between him and Amos. However, that would not change his mind. He would do what he had been planning.

"The last question. Can you give me the list of Vigamaur Dgaror's members in this trial?"

Oby did not know what Vigamaur Dgaror was, but Ira widened her eyes. She realized what Tang Shaoyang planned.

Ira closed her eyes and took a deep breath. This would put her in a tough spot if it was known by Amos and his faction.

"Don't worry. No conversation in this room will come out from this room. Trust me!" Oby spoke after he noticed Ira was hesitant.

"Alright. There are thirty Vigamaur Dgaror's members in this trial..." It was easy for Ira to find all the participants. She had the list because of her status as Administrator Helper.

*** **

Ira was the first one to leave after finished her conversation with Tang Shaoyang, leaving Tang Shaoyang and Oby.

"Do you need my help? I can hold back half of the administrators from helping Amos. You just need to tell me when you are going to do it." Oby offered a hand.

Tang Shaoyang rubbed his chin, "Just like how I can't kill them inside the city. They also can't kill me inside the city. I don't think they can kill me."

Of course, he had a way out if things went south. He could leave one of his spirits in this lodging and switch positions when he was in danger. That was his escape if the Administrator was too strong for him.

"I do need your help, but for another matter," Tang Shaoyang summoned Arkanos. The dual-wielding knight appeared next to him and surprised Oby.

Oby knew about summoners, but a Summoner did not summon the same race as a summon. It caught him off guard. He furrowed his brow and observed Arkanos then a class name appeared in his mind, "I see why you are so confident. But someone like him will not help you against the Administrator. Even ten of him are not enough."

If it was the old Arkanos, he would get mad being called weak right in his face. However, the arrogant spirit realized the burly man was on the same level as his Master or even stronger. He did not take it as an offense.

"No. I will not involve you in my fight, but can you let him stay here?"

Oby was confused as to why the knight had to stay in his building. He had figured out one of Tang Shaoyang's classes. But he did not know much about the skills. He did not have the slightest idea what this knight would do staying in his building. However, it was not that big a favor, something simple, and he would gladly help.

"Of course, he can stay here."

If Oby refused, Tang Shaoyang thought of coming to Madaki and the last place would be Duvrag or Cladeos Emporium by making a deal with them. He was glad that Oby was ready to help him.

"And I have one question for you. Do you know anything about Amos? Do you think it's possible for him to convince the other Administrator to change the city's location to trigger city defense just to kill me?" Tang Shaoyang had a suspicion, merely suspicion.

Amos could use the city defense to kill him. That was the ideal situation. The suspicion came to his mind after meeting with Amos. The last change for the trial format and also the tournament. He had a suspicion that the tournament was to kill him.

However, the other participants said the tournament was not uncommon during the trial. He did not think much about it until today. It was just his gut feeling, telling him that all changes were directed at him.

"I don't know much about Amos, and I didn't know his faction until just now. But I have heard things about, and I think he will go that far just to kill anything related to the dragon," Oby concurred with Tang Shaoyang's speculation.

"Now you say it, it makes sense. It's rare that the trial format changes at the last moment, but it's not like it never happened before. I didn't think much about it at first but now things start to make sense. But this is more interesting than I thought. Amos will meet his match this time," Oby grinned, excited, and could not wait for the fight. That was what he looked like right now.

Chapter 1505 Commence The "Killing Administrator" Plan - Part 2

Tang Shaoyang and Oby had a short conversation, mostly talking about the city defense.

"If you have a question, you can come to me. I will do my best to answer your question," The burly man looked like he wanted to make the fight between Tang Shaoyang and Amos happen.

As the sound of the door closed, silence followed inside the room. Tang Shaoyang remained on his chair. A minute passed and he spoke, "Do you guys think Oby is suspicious?"

He could not help but think so because Oby wanted him to fight Amos for some reason. The cook was so excited about the fight and wanted to make it happen. That just made Oby suspicious in Tang Shaoyang's eyes.

From what he heard, Oby barely knew anything about Amos. The cook did not even know Amos' faction until a moment ago. Tang Shaoyang just wanted to know Oby's motive behind the burly man's enthusiasm.

'That cook is indeed suspicious. He said he would hold back half of the administrator if you fight Amos. That means he has a big influence in the city, or maybe he is one of the nine overseers.'

Zara the Goddess of Death was sharp with her deduction.

Everything made sense if Oby was one of the nine Administrators. He could persuade the other four administrators not to help Amos. The motive was also clear. Maybe there was a difference between them as overseers for the trial.

'If that's the case, then you need a backup plan. Go meet the manager of that artifact store. It's better to make a deal with them than putting everything on one baste which is Oby. We don't know when that guy will change his mind.'

Vandir suggested that Tang Shaoyang leave another spirit in Cladeos Emporium. Even though it was just a suspicion, it was better safe than sorry, after all.

Tang Shaoyang stayed in the room five minutes longer before leaving the lodging. He stood in front of the building for a while.

'The Sorc Clan is still following me, and there are new guests as well,' He figured out that Amos would send his people to keep a watch on him.

'We will not change the plan, but let's take a detour.'

He headed toward Madaki's store. The butcher was confused as Tang Shaoyang was here not long ago. After hearing Tang Shaoyang's explanation, Madaki agreed to lend a room to Tang Shaoyang.

From Madaki's shop, he went to Duvrag Smithy. Duvrag did not agree to lend him a room, but Calderon, Duvrag's partner, managed to persuade the dwarf. Tang Shaoyang left a spirit in Duvrag Smithy.

Then he went to Cladeos Emporium, and Elonia, not the manager, always came to greet him every time he visited the store. In the same exclusive room, he sat across the half-elf.

"Do you come for your artifacts?" Elonia asked lazily. Every time Tang Shaoyang visited the store, it was always about trading the materials for artifacts.

"Not this time. I have a favor to ask. Can you lend this room to me?"

Elonia who sat, leaning on her chair lazily, immediately sat straight. It was an interesting favor, and she was curious why he wanted this room.

The female half-elf smiled and the manager of the store, Rene, frowned. Elonia found this could lead to an interesting event. However, Rene, the manager, thought this was the source of the problem.

"I can, but why should I lend this room to you?" Elonia raised her index finger as Tang Shaoyang was about to answer, "First, I want to know why you want to borrow the room?"

Tang Shaoyang's forehead creased, hesitating. If he told him the actual issue, Elonia might not have lent the room to him. And he did not trust her enough to tell her what actually happened.

'Just tell her the truth.' That was what Avyn said, straightforward.

"I want to leave one of my summons in this room while I am going out." That was the truth, a part of the truth.

"Second, what your summon will do in this room? And why do you want to hide your summon here?" Elonia's face brightened as she almost confirmed there was an interesting event transpiring behind her.

"My summon will not do anything in this room. He just needs a place to stay. I don't trust you enough to tell you the reason why I want my summon to stay here. It's related to one of my skills."

"I see," The smile on Elonia's face got wider and wider.

Tang Shaoyang found it was similar to Oby's reaction. Both looked excited about the potential problem. They just expressed their excitement differently.

"So you are in trouble, huh?" The female half-elf managed to guess it with three questions, "This will be my last question for you. I will lend you the room if you tell me what actually happened. Not just I will lend the room for your summon, but I will protect your summon from anyone, including the Administrator!"

"Young Miss!" Rene blurted out, raising her voice subconsciously.

Elonia dismissed her aide's concern by a wave of her hand, "Tell me."

Tang Shaoyang thought of asking Elonia to take an oath. However, he realized the oath would be futile. This store might have the item to break the oath.

"I hope you can keep your promise..." He told everything about his conflict with Amos. Starting from his point getting deducted by half until his declaration before leaving the office.

"Ah, right. We have that guy in the city. He indeed hates dragons, but I don't know that he will go this far just to kill you. You have my promise. You can leave your summon in this room, and I will also protect your summon."

Tang Shaoyang summoned Maldros. The Dragonewt would not be of any help in his fight against the Administrator. So he left him behind for a position switch.

"Hoho... Dragonewt is a strong summon, but still lacking if you want to fight Administrator. You need a stronger summon." Elonia commented.

Tang Shaoyang just shrugged, not even telling her that he had more summons stronger than Maldros. There was no need to tell her everything.

Chapter 1506 Commence The "Killing Administrator" Plan - Part 3

The preparation was done, and it was time to hunt and throw the bait for Amos. After leaving the Emporium, he headed toward the north gate, leaving for his most familiar area.

Three bear folks from The Sorc Clan were still following him. There were also two people in black following him. Pretending not to notice them, he stood in front of the ranking list. He was surprised to find familiar names. The names that Ira told him were in the top twenty, five of them.

'Niere Pallares and Tiyana Viveiros. The second and third are from Vigamaur Dgaror. The solo hunter Gerda Eva Lorenzen, the eighth place, is also from Vigamaur Dgaror.'

The other two were in a party, but they joined a different faction. Negasu, ranked ninth, and Timo Alain Woodgate, twentieth.

'The hunting is not going to be as easy as you thought.' Karoen, the Void Knight, commented.

'Do you think so? If those kids really are a threat to us, then we should not think about fighting the big guy, Amos.' Vandir said his piece.

'Do you think those brats can trouble us? Are you looking down on me, Karoen, Vandir?' As soon as Avyn said that, the spirits stayed silent.

'There's no need to argue. We will find out soon,' Tang Shaoyang walked past the screen and headed to the gate.

The two in black did not follow him, but the three from The Sorc Clan followed him, "It's a pity. I want to interrogate those two." He muttered in a low voice.

*** **

"Should we make a move right now?" One of the three bear folks asked.

They were tasked to follow and report Tang Shaoyang's movement. They had reported that the target was going out to the north and more of their clan members would come soon. However, they might lose sight of their target if the target entered the forest.

"No. Lokongga ordered us not to fight him until they came."

As their target entered the forest, the three bear folks picked up their pace. They kept their distance so as not to alert the target. But what they were concerned about came true. As they followed the target into the forest, they lost sight of their target.

The dense forest hindered them from tracking their target. Especially when most people traveled between the trees. There was no footprint on the branches.

The two bear folks looked at their friend in the middle. Their friend had the best tracking skill because of the smell. Tang Shaoyang's smell was unique, and it should not be hard to follow the smell.

The bear folk in the middle gestured to his two friends to follow him. They jumped to the tree and followed the smell. The bear folk in the middle frowned, realizing something amiss.

"Why the smell is so strong? Is he still hunting Tortoine?" The bear folk in the middle voiced his concern. The smell was too strong as if the target was close to them.

After a few minutes, the three stopped in the thick branch. His frown deepened, "This is the end of his smell. The scent stopped here... Watch out! He is here!" He quickly realized that the target noticed them.

The three bear folks had their back on each other, scanning the surroundings. The other two trusted their friends.

"How long until Captain Lokongga arrives?" One of them asked, quite nervous. His voice trembled because they did not see or even sense anyone near them

"Are you sure he is around here, Gunnagar!? I can't find or even sense anyone nearby!" The other one raised his voice.

"Yes! He is..." The bear folk with the tracking smell skill had his eyes widened. He dashed forward and turned around, "Above! He is above..." He had not finished his words, but he saw his friend's head fall followed by the body afterward.

The last bear folk could not believe that Tang Shaoyang managed to sneak between them without being noticed. But he managed to calm his shock and the momentary terror.

"You dare to kill a member of the Sorc Clan!?" He raised his hand, pointing at Tang Shaoyang.

Tang Shaoyang chuckled as he found it was a stupid thing to ask. It was something said by the inexperienced. They were at odds, and they came to kill him. And yet the bear folk said that as if they never met before.

"I don't know why The Sorc Clan sends someone inexperienced like you to chase after me. They really underestimate me that much, huh?"

The last bear folk was confused until he sensed a new smell, a smell he did not know. That smell came from behind him, and he quickly realized their target was not alone. Even though he was not experienced, he was quick-witted. The first thing that crossed his mind was to report that the target was not alone.

However, before he could send the report, his vision was spinning in the air. He saw his body and blood sprayed. He also saw who was behind him. A species he did not know. He really wanted to describe the thing that killed him, but it did not work. The System was no longer responding to his call.

Karoen The Void Knight caught the head before falling to the ground. He caught the head and placed it next to the body. God Rank's body, was the best material for Tang Shaoyang.

"Let's decorate the forest to welcome our guests, shall we?"

Lokongga, the leader of the Sorc Clan in the trial. He was the first son of the third Elder in the Sorc Clan. Not only did he hold a high position in the Sorc Clan, but of course, he was the strongest among all the bear folks in this trial.

Following the directions given to him, he entered the forest. The forest where Tortoine resided, and reminded him of the bad memory where he felt like he was being humiliated by a single person.

"We lost contact with Gunnagar, Captain."

Lokongga received the report from his aides.

"Quicker!" They picked the pace until they arrived at the location where they were supposed to meet with the scout.

Three bear folks' bodies were hung on the branch. Then they saw the head stuck on three different trees. It was the three people that followed Tang Shaoyang.

Chapter 1507 Commence The "Killing Administrator" Plan - Part 4

Lokongga was livid, his chest heaved up and down at a quick pace, and his eyes turned red. The same humiliation he felt back then returned once more. The humiliation when a single person dared to go against The Sorc Clan's authority.

"Quick! Look for him right now! Form a group of five..." He stopped midway, looking at the three bodies.

He did not see a trace of battle around. When he saw the three expressions, he concluded that the three bear folks died without being able to do anything. A group of five might not be enough to catch their target.

"Form a group of eight and find him!"

The Sorc Clan had fifty-seven members in this trial. With their number, they could only form six groups. Six groups looking for one person in this vast forest were not effective. It would be hard with so few groups. Even with ten groups with each group being five, they were not necessarily able to find their target.

"It will be hard to find him with just six groups..." The Vice Captain of the group tried to speak up. He thought five should be enough.

Lokongga turned toward his right hand, "Are you the Captain or me?"

The Vice Captain immediately stopped persuading Lokongga. He knew Lokongga would not listen when he was angry like this. He arranged the group, leaving five bear folks with Lokongga behind.

"Get their bodies! We will give them a proper burial!" Lokongga ordered the five bear folks.

The five bear folks immediately executed the command. They did not dare to talk back as usual when their captain was in the current state. The five climbed the tree, but they died before they could get the body.

Lokongga witnessed everything from where he stood up. A portal suddenly formed behind his people, and five individuals came out from the portal. Three of them had their heads cut just like the three who died earlier. One died with a single touch, and the last one was torn apart.

Lokongga witnessed everything, and yet he could not do anything to help them. They died without being able to do anything. He saw the five individuals, and he did not recognize a single one of them.

"WHY!? WHY ARE YOU GUYS ATTACKING THE SORC CLAN!?" He raised his voice to the point of screaming.

The Sorc Clan did not have a conflict aside from Tang Shaoyang. He did not understand why he was being attacked.

"This is too easy. We should fight them head-on instead, Your Majesty."

Lokongga heard the voice from the skeleton who killed his people with just a single touch. He turned toward the voice. The skeleton was looking at him, but it was clear that the skeleton did not speak to him. The skeleton just said Your Majesty, and it was certainly not him. He was confused, but he quickly realized what happened. Before he could do anything, his head flew and his vision spun.

Lokongga saw his headless body, and Tang Shaoyang was right behind him. Just like the other five, there was a portal behind Tang Shaoyang. He was too caught with the five, not expecting there would be another one behind him. Of course, the portal behind Lokongga formed later than the five portals. That was how the trick worked, or else, Lokongga would have noticed it earlier.

Tang Shaoyang caught Lokongga's head and stored Lokongga's body. He gestured to the other five to bring the bodies down to him, "We are here not to have fun, but to get rid of the problem. I don't want to be distracted when we fight Amos. The same trick won't work on Amos."

"Guess I have to wait until then," The five brought the bodies to Tang Shaoyang.

"It's time to hunt the bear." Since the bear folk split up, it would be easier for them to kill them all.

*** **

Three hours later

"This is the last group, right?" Vandir threw the body toward Tang Shaoyang as he asked.

"Yes. This is the sixth group." Karoen answered for Tang Shaoyang.

"Are we going to hunt the dragon slayers now?" Vandir sounded a little bit excited when he mentioned dragon slayers. The dragon slayer in Vandir's mouth was the Vigamaur Dgaror and five of them were in the top twenty. Vigamaur Dgaror was certainly stronger than The Sorc Clan.

Tang Shaoyang shook his head, "No. We will not go for them. We will wait for them today. If they come for us, then we will fight them. Let's wait here for a while."

He recalled the two people in black who followed him to the north gate. He expected Amos to send his people to chase. That was why he waited for them instead of looking for them.

"We killed fifty-seven of them. I should have recovered my points from the deduction."

[Tang Shaoyang - 14111]

Not only did he recover his lost points, he got three hundred more. He frowned as he expected to reach twenty thousand points. He killed fifty-seven bear folks. If each of them had 500 points, it would be 28500 points. He got 8259 points from killing fifty-seven bear folks. It was proof that these lazy bums were not hunting the calamity.

"They are not worth that much, hah?" Avyn noticed the frown and asked with a chuckle.

Tang Shaoyang nodded, "No wonder they came after me to get my points. I take them too highly."

"We still have Vigamaur Dgaror. You will surpass Ian Carmen after hunting them down," Vandir tried to get Tang Shaoyang to go after Vigamaur Dgaror right away.

Tang Shaoyang shrugged, "Point does not really matter now. I have an Administrator after my head. If this Amos is as strong as Krazon and Grizik, it will not be an easy fight."

He was talking about the Administrator from the Stygian Wither Clan of the Dragon Realm. The Administrator he met in Aqura, the group who managed to scare the enormous Calamity.

Vandir did not say anything after that. He must agree it would be troublesome if Amos was as strong as those people.

Tang Shaoyang waited in the same forest, waiting for Amos' people. Five hours passed, and they did not see anyone from Administrator Helper or Vigamaur Dgaror's member.

"It seems like they are letting The Sorc Clan take care of me." That was just his random guess. He decided to go back after five hours of waiting.

The first thing he did was check his ranking. He should be in the top 20 with 14111 points.

1. Ian Carmen Lorentia - 36302
  2. Novoa Valentine - 18888
  3. Niere Pallares - 17509

Tang Shaoyang let out a chuckle when he checked his ranking. Not only did he recoup his lost point, he entered the top ten in just nine hours. The effort that Amos put to reduce his point was pointless. But it still made him mad for what Amos did. He should be ranked second if not for the point reduction.

What surprised him was the new name in second place. Novoa Valentine went through five rankings to be the second place. And of course, Ian Carmen Lorentia kept widening the gap between first place and second place.

This made him curious about Ian Carmen. Tang Shaoyang wanted to meet the person to see how strong this Ian Carmen was.

'What are you going to do now? How are you going to find Vigamaur Dgaror's members?' Zara asked.

Different from The Sorc Clan, Vigamaur Dgaror moved separately. Niere Pallares and Tiyaana Viveiros moved together as someone from the same faction. Gerda Eva Lorenzen was a solo. The three were quite famous in the city, so it should not be hard to track them.

The problem was Negasu who was in a party with people from a different faction as well as Timo Alain Woodgate who was in a party with Agnes. The elf girl he knew. He might get involved with the party members, involving the other factions in the fight.

The other Vigamaur Dgaror's members in the top hundred were also in a party from a different faction. They all spread out and mingled with the other factions.

'Let's focus on Niere Pallares, Tiyaana Viveiros, and Gerda Eva Lorenzen for now!' He decided to take care of the highest ranking first.

Not only it was easier to find them because of how famous they were. He also did not want to scare them. If he killed Vigamaur Dgaror's members below them, Amos might prevent those three from going out hunting.

Based on the ranking, those three must be the precious assets for Vigamaur Dgaror. Among their peers, they were clearly ahead. It was shown by the ranking.

'Let's go to the arena and find where they usually go hunting.'

Chapter 1508 Vigamaur Dgaror - Part 1

Tang Shaoyang thought gathering information was not that hard, and he was wrong. It was so hard to the point that he got nothing from his multiple attempts. He tried to ask the other participants about Niere Pallares and Tiyana Viveiros, but no one answered him.

Most of the time, the person he asked would cast a suspicious glance at him and the rest straight ignored him. The six hours he spent in the arena got him nowhere. It was midnight and most of the people had gone back to their lodging or they were still outside, hunting.

Not willing to give up, Tang Shaoyang gave another try. This time he changed his target. Maybe people avoided him because he was asking to be ranked third and fourth in the whole trial. This time he asked about Gerda Eva Lorenzen, the solo hunter.

It was the same, no one was willing to give him anything about them. When someone answered, that person told him to fuck off instead of telling him what he asked. This time he gave up after just three hours. He realized that his method of gathering information did not work.

That afternoon he ended up coming to Scorching Tavern. Even though the sun was up above his head, he decided to cheer himself with Scorching Beer and Fried Flying Squid.

"We usually don't take a guess at noon, but you are an exception," The barkeeper said as he put the glass and a plate with squid in front of Tang Shaoyang, "Aren't you going to hunt?"

"Mnnn. I have in mind my next prey, and I want to gather some information about them first," Tang Shaoyang and take the first chug. After taking the first chug, he looked at the glass in his hand and let out a sigh.

"What's wrong? Is there something wrong with the beer?" The barkeeper asked after hearing the sigh. He thought there was something wrong with the beer.

Tang Shaoyang shook his head, "The beer is amazing as usual. I am just concerned about what I should drink after I finish the trial? Yours is the best I have ever had."

The barkeeper let out a chuckle, "There's no need to worry. You can visit my tavern in the God Realm." He took out a small compass with one needle. The needle was spinning like crazy, "That thing will guide you to my closest bar."

Tang Shaoyang took the compass and looked up at the barkeeper, raising his right eyebrow, "I don't think I will have time to visit your place once I arrive there."

He was not so optimistic that his day in the God Realm would be peaceful. The Nirvana Alliance would not stay still if they knew he was in the God Realm. Even though they were in a truce. He did not know what they might cook to get him killed. The God Realm was their turf, after all.

While he might be acquainted with Arion, The God Rank he met in the Dimensional Tower. He could not rely on Arion to fight the Nirvana Alliance.

The Barkeeper raised his eyebrow in surprise, but then he understood what Tang Shaoyang was trying to say. He shrugged, "Yeah, you probably need to solve your problem first before visiting my place."

Even though the barkeeper did not say it directly. He could tell that the guy did not want him to bring the trouble to the bar.

Tang Shaoyang enjoyed his dried squid and the drink. He enjoyed the quietness in the bar since the tavern had not opened yet. Just as he was about to ask for the third glass, he heard the door open.

The barkeeper said the tavern did not serve guests at this time. The person who entered must be a regular just like him. Or else, they would not come at this time. Curious, he turned around to see who came. To his surprise, he recognized three of them.

The female elf was Agnes, the woman he met in the arena on the first day. The two men were Castor and Eson, the guys he met in the tournament. They came to a full party, and to his surprise, they were heading toward his direction. He furrowed his brow, not liking where this would go.

'But this is good for me.' He just remembered that one member Vigamaur Dgaror was at this party. Timo Alain Woodgate was his target. One of the two men he did not recognize.

Taking another dried squid, he kept munching the chewy squid. He was right, they were coming toward him.

"We are not open. Come back in three hours!" The barkeeper thought Tang Shaoyang came to his tavern to avoid this party. Out of goodwill, he tried to kick the party.

Of course, Eson would not back down easily. He smiled at the barkeeper, "We don't come for a drink but for a friend."

The barkeeper squinted his eyes and asked Tang Shaoyang, "Are they your friend?"

Tang Shaoyang shook his head, "We have met before, but they are not my friends for sure." He was blunt with his words.

Eson's eyes twitched a little bit, but the man did not get angry. However, the two men Tang Shaoyang had the opposite reaction. They revealed their emotions, anger

Eson took a seat next to Tang Shaoyang, "I have heard from my people that you are looking for Niere, Tiyana, and Gerda. Why are you looking for them?"

"I don't think this is related to you in any way," Tang Shaoyang shrugged, throwing another dried squid, "I am not going to share." He pulled the plate closer to him as he chewed the squid.

Eson put a serious look, looking straight into Tang Shaoyang's eyes for intimidation "I am here to warn you. Niere is my fiancée. Hurting her is the same as a war declaration against me and White Mystery!"

Tang Shaoyang stopped chewing the squid for a moment. Not because he was afraid of Eson, but because he felt familiar with the name of White Mystery. He heard that name before and tried to recall where he heard the name.

It did not take long for him to remember. The White Mystery sent someone to invite him to join The White Mystery. But they also sent someone to kill him after he declined the invitation. He remembered the fight against a Demi-God Rank Swordsman in the Dimensional Tower.

Now he met the person related to the White Mystery. He just remembered that The White Mystery was also an issue if he ever stepped into the God Realm.

'It seems like I made too many enemies.' He smiled, shaking his head.

Tang Shaoyang let out a chuckle, finding it funny that these people came for him and tried to intimidate him with their faction name. He had encountered so many people like them, and they all did the same like Eson. It was just funny as if he would care about Eson or even White Mystery. Sure, White Mystery was a big faction in the God Realm, but he did not believe White Mystery was the strongest one out there. At least, that was what he thought about The White Mystery, not a faction that he should fear.

Chapter 1509 Vigamaur Dgaror - Part 2

Tang Shaoyang knew that Eson must think that he was looking for Niere and Tiyana to kill them to get the points. The suspicion made sense since his point suddenly rose into the top ten. He wanted to kill them, that was true but not for the point. His real purpose was to lure out Amos by killing these prodigies from Vigamaur Dgaror.

He waved his hand at Eson, shaking his head, not wanting to continue the pointless conversation. However, his eyes were on the two men he did not recognize. He was looking for Timo Alain Woodgate, another Vigamaur Dgaror's member.

Eson just got angrier that Tang Shaoyang ignored his warning. He stood up from the chair and was about to reach Tang Shaoyang. However, he received a gaze from the barkeeper. Even without words, Eson understood the gaze. He would be troubled if he continued what he wanted to do.

"Let's talk outside!" Eson did not want to give up. The guy was so concerned that his fiancée was suddenly being targeted. He wanted to solve the problem right now with Tang Shaoyang after realizing the threat did not work.

Tang Shaoyang waved his hand without sparing a glance at the five, "Leave me alone, please. We have nothing to talk about."

Eson gritted his teeth as he had never gotten such a treatment before. People respected him and White Mystery. No one dared to ignore the name of the White Mystery. Alas, he just did not know the history of his faction with Tang Shaoyang.

Just as Tang Shaoyang thought of asking for a private room, the door opened. He used Chaos Eyes to look at the person who just entered the tavern. It was a young man, who looked like in his early twenties.

The man was wearing black leather armor, black all the way down to the boot. He had thin silver pauldrons on both his shoulders with a sword dangling on his waist. A frown formed for a moment as the young man found six people inside.

What Tang Shaoyang found weird was that Eson and his party did not say anything after the young man entered. He thought they would be pestering him, but they did not say anything.

The young man approached the barkeeper and said, "The usual!"

"I will get it ready quickly. For a week, right?" The barkeeper smiled.

The young man responded with a nod. As the barkeeper left to take care of the order, he looked at Tang Shaoyang's plate and the glass.

"I thought you don't serve anyone at noon?" The words were directed to the barkeeper. After taking a look at the food, only then did the young man scan Tang Shaoyang for a moment.

Tang Shaoyang also looked up, looking at the young man in the eyes. The young man gave off a powerful aura, and his gaze was sharp. The one in front of him was the strongest participant he ever met so far aside from the helper and The Administrator.

A name came up in his head, Ian Carmen Lorentia. He heard that Novoa Valentine was a woman, so this man in front of him might be Ian Carmen Lorentia. The rank 1 of the trial. That might be the reason why Eson and his party were quiet all of a sudden.

"You are quite strong, do you want to form a party with me?"

Agnes, Eson, Castor, and the other two were shocked to hear the invitation. As Tang Shaoyang guessed, the young man was Ian Carmen Lorentia. The five did not expect Ian Carmen to invite Tang Shaoyang to form a party.

It was known before the trial started that Ian Carmen would be coming out in the first place. He received a lot of invitations, including Niere and Tiyana who were currently in third and fourth place, and also invited Ian Carmen. But Ian Carmen declined the invitations, and now he took an initiation to invite Tang Shaoyang.

"I knew a few Rank 7 Calamity and two Rank 8 Calamity. I think we can work together to get them. Are you interested?"

Tang Shaoyang did not even consider the invitation as he turned down the invitation, "I have a different prey on my list."

"I see..." Ian Carmen nodded in regret. He felt like he could take down the Rank 7 Calamity with Tang Shaoyang, so he did not need to look for their weakness to hunt them. Especially for the Rank 8 Calamity.

"If you change your mind later, you can speak to the old man," Ian pointed at the barkeeper with his thumb.

At the same time, the barkeeper returned with ten jugs of Scorching Beer. Ian took them all, "You have a good taste for alcohol." That was Ian's last words before leaving the tavern.

Only after Ian Carmen left that Eson regain his boldness. But before he could continue, the barkeeper spoke first, "We don't serve until later with a few exceptions. You can come back later when we open."

He pointed at the exit and did not forget to emphasize the exception. It was telling the party of five that they were not welcome here.

Eson looked at the barkeeper, but he did not dare to say anything. It seemed like he knew the barkeeper's background. He left with his friends while sending a sharp glare at Tang Shaoyang, trying to show that the threat was serious.

The barkeeper looked at the party. His eyes glanced at the floor for a second, noticing a movement. However, the party of five did not notice that. After the five left the tavern, "Do you have a beef against them?"

Tang Shaoyang was surprised that the barkeeper managed to catch his trick. He sent two spirits, two Shadow Banes, into the two men he did not recognize. He had been looking for Vigamaur Dgaror's member, and one came to him.

"Not them, but just one of them. No, I don't have a problem with them, but I have a problem with Amos. I..." He wanted to say what happened but hesitated.

"You still haven't trusted me yet, hah?" The barkeeper smiled, "I am offended that you trusted Oby and Madaki but not me."

Chapter 1510 Vigamaur Dgaror - Part 3

Tang Shaoyang was not surprised if all the owners of the stores were acquainted with each other. But with the way the barkeeper spoke, it seemed like he was close to Oby and Madaki.

"You don't need to hide it from me. Oby has told me everything that happened between you and Amos and also your plan. The one with brown hair is from the Vigamaur Dgaror," The barkeeper winked his right eye at Tang Shaoyang.

"Actually, you should ask Ian to join you. From his character, he will agree to fight Amos if you ask him. He likes that kind of challenge. That will raise your percentage by far to kill Amos."

Tang Shaoyang shook his head, "I don't like involving strangers for my personal problem. That's why I plan to hunt Vigamaur Dgaror's members first one by one. If I am struggling to kill them, then I will cancel my plan to kill Amos."

The barkeeper nodded, but he did not say anything anymore. Both spent their time in silence, and Tang Shaoyang stayed for another two hours. He had acquired his target, but the target was not moving from the city.

In fact, he sensed them from the Shadow Bane that the two were still outside the bar. They were waiting for him right outside the bar. They were so persistent that they were waiting for over two hours before leaving.

As the party left, Tang Shaoyang stood up from his chair, offering his hand to the barkeeper to pay. 'You have to be careful. People know you are looking for Gerda Eva Lorenzen, Niere Pallares, and Tiyana Viveiros. Vigamaur Dgaror might notice that you are targeting them.' Zara, the Goddess of Death, voiced her concern.

With how famous Vigamaur Dgaror was among the participants. It felt like Vigamaur Dgaror might be stronger than The Divine Church that they fought before.

As Zara predicted, the moment Tang Shaoyang came out of the bar. He noticed four people following him. Two of them were Administrator Helpers, and two of them were fellow participants. The two Admin Helpers might be Amos' people, and the other two were Vigamaur Dgaror's members.

'They come to me on their own without needing me to look for them. Let's start with them.'

Tang Shaoyang followed Eson's party who was heading out through the west gate. The two Vigamaur Members followed him to the outside of the city. The same as before, The Admin Helper did not follow him out. They were just watching his movement inside the city.

'Do we hunt them or do we fight them?' Vandir asked.

Hunt and fight had a different meaning. Hunt meant they needed to kill their prey as quickly as possible. A fight meant they were free to choose however they wanted to kill their target.

"We need to be quick with them. Our target is just Timo Alain Woodgate and the people following us. We don't need to kill Eson and the others. But we have to get rid of the people following us first before going after Timo."

Tang Shaoyang made sure that he was not that fast so the people from Vigamaur Dgaror did not lose him. After twenty minutes following Eson's party's track, the two people who followed him became eight people.

Eight people spread out, following him from a distance, hiding themselves behind trees. But they could not hide from his Chaos Eyes. When he arrived in the middle of the forest, he stopped abruptly.

"This is a good place to bury them, and we are far enough from Eson's party," Tang Shaoyang muttered in a low voice.

"How long are you going to follow me?" He said that loudly with a smirk on his face, taunting the eight people.

Realizing they were caught, the eight people came out from their hiding spots. Eight people surrounded Tang Shaoyang, standing on the trees while a man came down and came closer to Tang Shaoyang.

The man took his shield from his back and pulled his sword out, in a stance to fight. The other seven followed as well, getting ready to fight at any moment.

"What's your purpose for asking around about Tiyana, Niere, and Gerda?" The man asked in a deep voice.

Tang Shaoyang realized that Vigamaur Dgaror's members did not know what happened between him and Amos. In fact, he was surprised that these people were not as hostile as Amos. Vigamaur Dgaror meant Dragon Slayer, but these people did not show their hostility toward him or even were targeted by them. It seemed Amos was just an anomaly, and this made him hesitant to kill these people. They were innocent, did not know anything, and they did not show hostility toward him until now.

'Don't hesitate or you will regret it! They might not be as hostile as Amos now, but once they receive an order from Amos. They will not hesitate to swing their swords at you regardless of the reason!' That was Vandir's words after sensing the doubt in his master.

That was not wrong, and if he wanted to kill Amos. A war between two factions was bound to happen anyway. It did not really matter killing them now or later.

"Why should I tell you?"

The man gave a signal with his eyes to his friends. The seven people on the trees came down and surrounded Tang Shaoyang.

"You better answer me before this gets even rougher!" The man pointed his sword forward at Tang Shaoyang.

"Let's get rougher then!" Tang Shaoyang summoned Afi, Karoen, Avyn, Vindir, Zara, Doombringer, and Baccara.

It was no longer eight against one, but eight against eight. The Vigamaur Dgaror's members made a distance as they were surprised by the summon. Doombringer and Baccara's size surprised them, and after realizing what they were, they panicked. It was obvious from their expression.

"You all have been waiting for this. What are you guys waiting for?"

Hearing that, the seven spirits made their move. Each Spirit chose one of their targets, and Tang Shaoyang did not use his Dragon Transformation. He was facing the man who confronted him. He wanted to try to fight without the transformation. It was to test how strong these people compared to him since it was too easy for him when he fought the Sorc Clan.

Tang Shaoyang took out Nightfall and assumed a posture for the Heavenly Sword Technique, Heavenly Revoke.

The man did not pay full attention to Tang Shaoyang. He was more concerned about the summons. It was until he saw the sword gleam coming toward him. Raising his shield, he received the sword strike. He managed to react despite how fast Tang Shaoyang was.

Clank!

The man's eyes widened in shock at how heavy the sword was. He was pushed back a few meters. It was a surprise attack, but he blocked the strike even though it was a hasty block. While he was preoccupied with the first strike, he was late to notice the following attack.

Heavenly Sword, Heaven Fall

A massive sword fell on top of the man and was followed by a boom.

To Tang Shaoyang's surprise, the man managed to block Heaven Fall as well. However, the man used his transformation, and his transformation was similar to Afi, Urosa Warrior. Not only did his physique transform, but his shield and sword also followed the transformation.

The silver sword and shield had turned to red-brown, similar to the fur. It also got bigger just like how his body got bigger.

His feet sank to the ground while the man blocked Heaven Fall materialization with his sword. He let out a roar and swung his shield. The swing neutralized Heaven Fall and was followed by a roar.

Meanwhile, Tang Shaoyang grinned ear to ear, happy that the fight was not over shortly. It was totally different from his hunt against The Sorc Clan. This fight would entertain him, and this fight slowly awakened his old spirit that was crazy about fighting.
