

Armipotent 1601

Chapter 1601 Choosing The Reward 1

It was not an easy decision for Tang Shaoyang. He ended up skipping the talent and checked the artifact section. The artifact was divided into three categories: Weapon, Armor, and Miscellaneous.

When it came to Artifact, he did not really think that much about it. He felt like he had everything, and he did not like wearing armor. His scales and skills were his armor.

"Should I look for a new sword?" He might need a God Rank Sword. He thought of giving something to his wives, but he had prepared them with new equipment he bought from the first stage trial. Most of them were on the Primordial Rank already, and he had a few Legendary Ranks as well. That should be enough to help them to reach the God Rank.

Tang Shaoyang decided to get a new sword. He chose Weapon and sorted it out based on the rank and type of the weapon he wanted. God Rank, and a sword. There were not that many God Rank Swords. He thought there would be ten thousand or even maybe hundreds of thousand. However, there were only 2891 swords, God Rank Swords.

That was too little for an artifact. Especially after he found out that the God Rank Players were not that rare. The number of people who joined the last stage trial was one thousand. That was one trial, and there might be more in the God Realm.

He preferred his sword long and big, he wanted his sword heavy just like his battle axe. What annoyed him was that he could not see the information for the sword. Just like the talent, he did not have the authority to see the details of each sword until he reached The Chief Administrator.

That was bad news, but thankfully it provided a picture for him. He could see the picture of the sword, so he could see how big and long the sword was. He did not look for something specific that could match with his Nine Heavenly Gate. What he looked for was a sword in the God Rank quality, not picky with the details.

Surprisingly enough, he spotted a familiar name for a sword, Azure Dragon Blade. The azure-colored blade with the dragon-head hilt was what he saw in the picture. But he was unsure if the sword was related to the Nine Heavenly Gates or not. Based on the picture, he could tell the sword was over two meters including the handle, but it was slimmer than Nightfall.

There were a few that were similar to Nightfall, the length also the width. But his eyes fell on Azure Dragon Blade. Just because it had a similar name to the Ninth Heavenly Gate.

It was different when he chose a talent, he did not mind even though the sword was not ideal. The weight should be much lighter than Nightfall, but he did not mind. He picked Azure Dragon Blade for his God Rank Artifact.

The sword appeared before him, floating in the air. The sword had a white sheathe, pure white with no mark or engraving. The hilt and the handle were the exact same as the picture he saw. The thing he was wrong about was that it was not just over two meters, but over two and a half meters.

The handle itself was forty centimeters (0.4 meters), the blade slightly over two meters. The sword was four fingers wide, not too small as he thought it would be. But he was not wrong about the weight, it was lighter than Nightfall. He pulled out the sword from the sheath and was captivated by the blade.

He had not seen the details of the sword, but he was already satisfied with it. He swung the sword a few times. He was not disappointed with the grip and the feel of the sword. The last thing was to check the details of the sword.

[Azure Dragon Blade]

Grade: God

Bonus:

- +20% Agility
- [Barrier Piercing (Passive)]
- [Armor Piercing (Passive)]
- [Windstorms]
- [Azure Dragon Descent]
- [Azure Cutter]

Durability: —

The sword came up with five additional skills. Something he should try before using it in an actual fight. The most interesting skill was of course, [Azure Dragon Descent]. He wondered whether he truly would summon an Azure Dragon or not. He also quickly noticed that the sword did not have durability. It could mean two things. First, it could not be repaired. Second, the sword was unbreakable.

Tang Shaoyang hoped for the second, unbreakable. Both possibilities made sense. It was a God Rank weapon, not so easy to repair. Or it was a God Rank weapon, there was no way it would break. He hated it, the half-baked information like this.

He saved the sword into his inventory, next was class. In addition to the Administrator Class, he could choose one more class as the reward because he was an Administrator Candidate. This was the real issue, choosing the class. There were ranks for Artifact and Talent, but not for the class. It would be hard for him to choose the right class.

He needed to find a class that fit with his fighting style instead of giving him a new way to fight. He preferred a class that would improve his current fighting style. The mage-type class or healer was of course a no. While he mastered all elementals, he always put himself in the front, never fighting from behind.

Tang Shaoyang opened the class section, and he was right. He could not sort it out based on rank. But it could be sorted out based on the fighting style. Healer, Close combat, weapon user, mage, production class, and range class. He checked the list of close combat and weapon users. From the basic class such as warrior to the class he never heard of before like Hell Druid.

He typed his own class, Spirit Contractor. While he could not buy the class from the Administrator Shop, the information was available to him. At least, there was a basic explanation of what the class did, but there was not much detail about it.

He tried to browse the class one by one, and it was too tedious for him. There were too many of them, and the list was far too long. He gave up searching for the class for now and back to his talent options.

Chapter 1602 Choosing The Reward 2

He reread all the options, from the Devil's talent to the ten talents he put on the list. After rereading it three times, his heart truly stuck on [One-Man-Army]. It was a good description of himself. But he hesitated, afraid it was a zonk. The only way for him to get another talent was when he ranked up to Chief Administrator, buying them from Administrator Shop. But it would be far in the future, ten years might not be enough for him to complete one hundred missions.

If most missions could be completed in hours, then it was possible. But he knew that a mission would take a few days or a few weeks if not months. That was the main reason for his dilemma. He might not be able to get more talent until ten years.

[Follow your heart. Your heart will never betray you!] That was Avyn's words after sensing his hesitation to take [One-Man-Army].

[If you want my advice, then my choice will be [Energy Harmony], [Berserker Heart], and [Void Zone]! [Energy Harmony] and [Berserker Heart] for sure will make your existing skills stronger. As for [Void Zone], I haven't heard anything weak when it's related to Void. Those three choices are the safe choice in my opinion. Of course, I agree with Avyn. Follow your heart and live with your decision. Isn't that what you are the best with?] Vandir added.

Tang Shaoyang considered their advice as he eliminated his choices one by one. Between [Sword Saint], [Sword Supreme], and [Swordstorm], he inclined more to [Sword Supreme]. He eliminated [Sword Saint] and [Swordstorm] from his option.

Between the two devil's talents, he preferred [Pride] over [Gluttony]. He began eliminating them one by one until he was left with five options.

[Pride], [Sword Supreme], [Void Zone], [Berserker Heart], [One-Man-Army].

He reduced the list to five, and it still took him half an hour to make the decision. He followed Avyn's advice, and following his instinct, he chose [One-Man-Army].

[You have acquired a new talent, One-Man-Army!]

[If you are alone with no allies in a radius of 1000 meters, your Strength Attribute will increase by 0.1% percent per enemy!]

[If you are alone with no allies in a radius of 1000 meters, your Agility Attribute will increase by 0.1% percent per enemy!]

[If you are alone with no allies in a radius of 1000 meters, your Stamina Attribute will increase by 0.1% percent per enemy!]

[If you are alone with no allies in a radius of 1000 meters, your Vitality Attribute will increase by 0.1% percent per enemy!]

[If you are alone with no allies in a radius of 1000 meters, your Magic Power Attribute will increase by 0.1% percent per enemy!]

[If you are alone with no allies in a radius of 1000 meters, your Basic Damage will increase by 1% percent per enemy!]

[If you are alone with no allies in a radius of 1000 meters, your Elemental Power Damage will increase by 1% percent per enemy!]

[If you are alone with no allies in a radius of 1000 meters, your Skill Damage will increase by 1% percent per enemy!]

[If you are alone with no allies in a radius of 1000 meters, your Energy Regeneration will increase by 1% percent per enemy!]

[If you are alone with no allies in a radius of 1000 meters, your Regeneration will increase by 1% percent per enemy!]

Right after he read all the notifications, he did not regret taking [One-Man-Army] Talent. That was not what he imagined from the talent, but he liked it more than he imagined. It was basically that he was stronger facing a big number of enemies. There was one concern, what was included in Ally. Whether his spirits were considered allies, or it was just the people from his faction. There were also companions and summons.

Ophelius, Ophelia, Wrath, Greed, and Kalliyen were his Companions, and the Skelly Family was his summon. He needed to do some experiments on what they considered as. Despite his satisfaction, he was aware that he needed to do a lot of experiments with the new talents. There was also an enemy. How the talent perceived the enemy was also important.

"It's too early to be satisfied. There might be a lot of conditions to use my new talent..." He muttered in a low voice.

He was not complaining about the one-thousand-meter radius. That was not that big at all in a war.

"Is there a time limit for taking my reward from the trial?" Tang Shaoyang asked Adam.

He was worried that he would be given a random class if he did not pick the class after a certain time. Rather than a random class, he would rather pick the class himself, even if it would end up disappointing.

[Yes! You must choose your reward within three days after you win the trial. If you don't choose your reward within three days, The System will pick something automatically for you. You don't need to worry because The System will pick the appropriate reward.]

When he heard the answer, Tang Shaoyang was more assured to let the System choose for him. Knowing the System would not give him such a Warrior or Knight Class, he felt like letting The System choose the reward for him instead of him choosing a random class.

Even though he did not really like it for someone he did not know to choose for him, it was better than getting a zonk. Of course, he still had two more days to browse all the classes before the System decided it for him.

"Let's take time with the class. Let's go with the bloodline. I want to advance my bloodline!"

It was an easy decision for him. He did not need to look for the Primal Bloodline in the list. He had a strong bloodline, and the only thing he needed to do with the bloodline was to evolve it further.

Tang Shaoyang raised his right eyebrow, confused. He heard two notifications in his head when he said he wanted to evolve his bloodline.

[You have learned Shadow Elemental Power!]

[You have learned the Primal Berserker Constitution!]

Chapter 1603 God Realm 1

Tang Shaoyang asked for an upgrade, and he ended up learning two new things. The Shadow Elemental Power and Primal Berserker Constitution. He was confused for a moment, but then he connected the dot. His bloodline evolution was adding more heads and more power for his Wicked Dragon.

If he was not wrong, then he should have eight heads right now. However, he was curious about where this Berserker Constitution came from. The Shadow Elemental Power might come from his spirits, The Revenant. They were the shadow creatures, and he might learn it because he was once in a while doing an integration with one of them.

However, he did not know where this Primal Berserker Constitution came from. But that might be from one of his spirits.

"Do any of you know something about this Primal Berserker Constitution?"

[It's my innate! I awakened it when you advanced me to the Archaic Rank!] The answer came from someone he did not expect, Karan. The orc was now known as Battle God.

Tang Shaoyang was surprised and inquired further, "What does your innate ability do?"

[I am not sure myself... Make me stronger?] Karan only cared about the fight itself, never trying to understand what it did. He just knew it made him stronger.

[Hah... It would help if you were more specific when you talk with a blockhead. What's the change you feel after awakening your innate?] Vandir rephrased the question.

[It made me stronger. I think my skin is as hard as steel, a normal sword can't cut my skin. The power behind my punch is stronger. I get stronger overall.] The Orc replied honestly.

[It's basically enhancing you physically, most likely something like that. Based on its name, Berserker Constitution, it might be enhancing you physically indeed. If we talk about berserkers in general, they will get stronger, and more powerful as damage was inflicted on them. I don't know much about Berserker, but that should be it. What about your energy? Do you feel anything different?] Vandir tried to understand the Berserker Constitution as well. The skeleton did it because of his thirst for new knowledge, not entirely to help Tang Shaoyang.

[I don't know. I haven't fought an enemy that gave me a hard time yet, so I can't say anything about the difference. Give me someone to fight, not necessarily an Administrator. A random God Rank should do the job as well, but must be one against one. I don't want any help!]

Karan was not the type to do training. A battlefield was a place where he trained and got stronger. So he did not really try to understand all the new abilities outside the actual fight. The orc was just that wild.

Tang Shaoyang recalled the past battle. Each time his spirits fought, they fought in a team. Maybe that was the reason why. However, there was one time when they had to fight a few hundred God Ranks at once.

[That can't be counted as a fight, Ta— Master. Everyone is focusing on you, and they don't put a hundred percent attention on me when they fight. That was quite disappointing, to be honest. I expected a good little fightback, but they were too focused on looking for you. They wanted the bounty!]

[But Karan awakened the Primal Berserker Constitution when he ranked up to Archaic Spirit. It should be something good.] Vandir added at the end.

Tang Shaoyang nodded, "Maybe we can try to fight you during my first mission as Administrator."

With the upgrade of his bloodline, he had received all his rewards. For the land in the God Realm, he needed to come to the God Realm to check it. The bloodline evolution was the most disappointing of the three rewards he just received. He was satisfied with his new talent and sword, but the bloodline evolution was below his expectations.

"But shouldn't I learn Zara's Death Power instead of Shadow Elemental Power?" Not that he looked down on Shadow Elemental Power, but because he integrated with Zara more often than The Revenant. He understood why he learned something from Karan because Karan was one of his earliest spirits.

[Maybe because Death is not something you can learn, but you must have an affinity with it. So far, only me and Zara have The Death Power. She is the Goddess of Death, and I am a Lich. We are the closest to Death, and you are not. What about your class? I saw a few interesting classes. Of course, it's based on the name of the classes.]

Tang Shaoyang shook his head, "Let's take our time. I think I have read enough for now. My head is getting dizzy from reading those little texts. Let's browse them again later."

He had finished his business in the Administrator Space. The mission was for later because he wanted to check out the God Realm first. That was the place he was curious the most.

"So, how do I enter the God Realm?" The question was of course directed to Adam.

[The same when you try to get to the Administrator Space.]

"I want to enter The God Realm!" He said it out aloud even though he knew he could do it silently.

[Select your destination! 1. Nameless Territory (Your Territory) 2. Starter City of God Realm]

He got the gist of what it meant by Starter City, but just to make sure, he asked Adam.

[It was a place for a newly promoted God Rank. Most people who just recently ranked up to the God Rank will be teleported there if they want to enter the God Rank! The city is directly under the System's supervision. It's a safe space for a newbie like you, or it's more like protecting others from people like you.]

He had the same guess, something similar to the Dimensional Tower where he started at the Starter City. The name of the city might be the reason why he was called Rookie or newbie by those Administrators. He did not choose Starter Town as his first destination because he wanted to check his territory first.

Chapter 1604 God Realm 2

Tang Shaoyang looked around, in guard. He was in the middle of the greenfield, something similar to those golf courses. It was clean, the air was refreshing, and there was no monster as far as he could sense.

When he was rewarded territory, he expected to be in the wilderness. Expanding his Chaos Eyes up to 3000 meters, he found a lake to the east. A clear lake with a normal fish, not a fish-like monster.

Then his eyes back on the map in front of him. The map appeared when he arrived, and he was right at the center of the map. The map of his territory only, it did not show the whole God Realm of course. Deciding to look further, he flew to the sky, following the map, he explored his territory.

The reward list said it was large territory, but he was not expecting it to be this big. When it came to the number, he was not sure how big his territory was. However, he was sure it was bigger than his capital. It was not just slightly larger, but ten times larger than his city.

Most of the area was greenfield, surrounded by the forest. When he arrived at the edge of the map, he noticed the barrier. The barrier was right at the border of the territory. He was about to ask Adam what this barrier meant, but then he remembered he was no longer in the Administrator Space.

He put his hand on the barrier, and his hand went through. The barrier was not meant to confine him inside his own territory. Maybe the barrier signified the border for his territory.

The green lush forest, the green, and the lake with fish in it. That was the only thing he could find inside his territory. There was no monster, beast, or anything dangerous inside. It was safe and was ready for construction.

"Can I bring the dwarves here?" When it came to construction, the dwarves immediately came to his mind. But the problem was that could he bring them into the God Realm even though they were not God Rank?

[The God Realm is not exclusive to the God Rank. But only a faction with one or more God Ranks could get into the God Realm.]

[Do you want to set up a teleportation portal on your territory in the God Realm, and your territory on Earth?]

As if the System heard his concerns, a notification popped out. He was glad that he could bring his people even though they were not God Rank. Even though he was in the dark about what was the used territory in the God Realm, he had a plan in his mind. He was going to rebuild a new city here, and he would need people to design it.

"I don't have a castle yet, maybe I will build one here." When someone talked about empire, what crossed his mind were two things. First, it was the Emperor. Second was the castle.

"First, let's set up the portal gate." He was experienced at setting portal gates. He set up most of the portal gates on Earth that connected directly to the Capital. The location for the portal was the exact same location when he arrived in this area, right in the middle of the territory.

A stone platform rose from the ground with two pillars on it. There was a big word right above the platform, [Please Connect the Portal!].

"That will do. I will check out the Starter City first before going back," Tang Shaoyang teleported to the Starter City.

The first thing he noticed was the noise from the crowd, then he got to see where he was. He was standing on top of the platform, the same platform that he just set up. The crowd immediately went quiet and turned toward him. Their attention was on him for a moment before the crowd continued whatever they wanted to do. It was not something rare for a newbie like him to appear.

However, Tang Shaoyang could sense the lingering gaze on him. Dozens of people kept observing him. As if they knew who he was. He was not surprised because he made a lot of enemies during the Trial of God.

The Sorc Clan, The Vigamaur Dgaror, The Lafreser Clan, and The White Mystery must be looking for him. He was not worried about the God Alliance, The Nirvana Alliance, and The Nebula Alliance. All factions in those three alliances were the culprits behind the rigged trial. They could not step out of their territories for ten years. Even if they went out, they would be a target for him.

[But you can't cross the chance that they will send an assassin after your life. I think they would do it, and they might even put a bigger bounty on your heads. If those factions put bounties on your heads, everyone might come after your life. Bounties from several factions, that's too tempting to refuse.]

Tang Shaoyang nodded his head, that might be their only way to get rid of him, through external force. As he stepped on the street, he met two familiar faces. He was not expecting to see them again, especially here.

Agnes and Ira, the former teammate, also an Admin Helper. As if they had been waiting for him here.

"I did not expect to meet you guys here," He then shot a glance at the female elf and smiled, "I am surprised you could survive that day while your two leaders are dead."

Agnes let out a sigh and shook her head, "You know the circumstance, Tang. I don't have a choice but to follow them."

The reason she could survive the fight was because she was not fighting. While Donis, Bran, Vitali, and Ian tried to fight the Spirits, she ran away. She was running, and the spirits were chasing him. That was why she survived despite being the weakest.

Tang Shaoyang shrugged and glanced at Ira, "What do you want now? If you expect me to trust whatever comes out from your mouth again..." He shook his head, "Just get lost!"

Chapter 1605 God Realm 3

Ira let out a sigh, "Can we continue our conversation somewhere else? I am not asking for your forgiveness, but I still owe you an explanation for what happened."

Tang Shaoyang looked at the two girls, and then he looked at the city with his Chaos Eyes. The city was bustling with people, vendors, and stalls. It was not that different from the city he encountered in the Dimensional Tower. It was just that most of them here were the God Rank.

"Alright, let's hear what you have to say."

Ira brought him into a bar. She seemed to know the owner as she led him to a private room. As they entered the room, both Tang Shaoyang and Ira glanced at the shameless female elf who followed them, "I don't remember inviting you."

"I also have something to discuss with Tang Shaoyang!" Agnes shamelessly retorted.

Ira just shrugged and let her into the room. It did not matter if Agnes listened to them or not. The Nebula Alliance's involvement was no longer secret. Not wasting time, Ira went straight to the point.

"We know The God Alliance and The Nirvana Alliance want to rig the trial to kill you. We have no way of stopping them from doing so. Eighty percent of overseers are either from the God Alliance and The Nirvana Alliance or taking bribes from them. We can't stop them, but we have a plan to save you in the case of an emergency. I can't directly tell you that or they will find out about it because they are monitoring you all the time."

"Just so you know, it's not our intention to play hero to win over your heart, but that's the only way for us to save you in the trial. Meddling too much in the System's event will put us in danger. We are involved, but our involvement in rigging the trial is minuscule. The System punished The Nebula Alliance, but our punishment is much less severe than The God Alliance and The Nirvana Alliance."

It seemed like Ira was telling the truth. His Absolute Sense told him that she was telling the truth. But he would not show that he trusted her story.

"How am I supposed to trust you after what happened?" Tang Shaoyang asked, "How do I know your punishment is less severe? Only you and your alliance know your punishment."

"You can confirm it with Adam in the Administrator Space. He will answer your inquiry since you are the victim of the Administrator's authority. The Nebula Alliance lost half of their Administrators, and that's the only punishment for us. We can still progress and not lose our power even if we are outside our territory. I can prove my words to you. If you don't believe me. We can go outside the city, or an arena in the city to test it out whether my power is sealed or not."

Ira's explanation sounded believable, and his Absolute Sense also told him that she was not lying with her story. That might be the truth behind The Nebula Alliance's involvement. He could confirm with Arion as well that he would not die because of the Nebula Alliance.

Tang Shaoyang nodded his head, "That's it? Are you waiting for me here just to explain that?" He narrowed his eyes, at Ira.

Ira shook his head, "I have two reasons to meet you. The first is to clear the misunderstandings between The Nebula Alliance and you. Second, I have a personal request for you."

His Absolute Sense was never wrong. She wanted something from him, and he did not mind listening to her. Listening and granting her request were two different things.

"I have insider information, you are directly getting promoted to the Senior Administrator. Pick me as your Admin Helper, and I will do my best to help you. I am not asking you to appoint me as Administrator. You decide for yourself whether I deserve to be promoted to Junior Administrator or not."

That was the reason Ira had been here, waiting for Tang Shaoyang since yesterday. Half of the Administrators from the Nebula were fired, and one of them was the Administrator she was assigned to. She had no choice but to look for Tang Shaoyang, someone she knew was also strong.

Someone like Tang Shaoyang would not die so easily, and she judged Tang Shaoyang as a fair individual. There was a big chance she would be appointed as Administrator if Tang Shaoyang picked her. Even if she could not win him over with her work, she had something else in mind. She could use her assets to seduce him. Since their first meeting, she caught Tang Shaoyang often glancing at her plump breast. That was the last and most desperate measure. That was also the reason she wore revealing outfits today.

"I don't plan to pick Admin Helpers, and I also prefer to work alone," Tang Shaoyang shook his head. He was telling the truth when he said not picking any Admin Helpers. There was no reason for him to pick them when he could do the work by himself.

Ira smiled when Tang Shaoyang said those, "You will need Admin Helpers to take care of the trivial issue for you. While I don't know you long enough, I know you don't like complicated work. Do you know that you need to write a report every time you complete a mission?"

Tang Shaoyang furrowed his brow when he heard the last part. Absolute Sense might not pick it up that Ira was lying, but it sounded like Ira made it up so he chose her.

"Administrator's mission is different from your average quest when you are in the Dimensional Tower. It will not automatically complete when you finish the mission. You must send an actual report for the mission completion. The big mission that requires several parties also has its own procedure. You can't just join the mission just because you take the mission. You will get rejected from the mission if you don't fulfill the condition."

Ira shook her head, "I thought you were studying the Administrator's work all day yesterday since you are not here. Pick me as your Admin Helper, and I will take care of everything for you."

Chapter 1606 God Realm 4

Tang Shaoyang did not respond to her immediately. He had no way to confirm what she said either since he had not delved further into the Administrator's work. Not giving her answer right away, he turned toward Agnes, "What about you? What do you want?"

Agnes glanced at Ira, then she turned back to Tang Shaoyang, "I also want you to pick me as your Admin Helper. I would like to work with you."

Without making an excuse or an apology, Agnes spoke what was in her mind. That was the reason why she had been waiting for Tang Shaoyang. The same with Ira, she wanted to work with Tang Shaoyang.

"Just so you know, you can only pick an Administrator Candidate as an Admin Helper if you are thinking of taking your people as your Admin Helper."

Tang Shaoyang shook his head, "I can't take your words at face value anymore. And there's not enough reason for me to choose you. Don't the other candidates do the same work as you if I pick them?"

"The reason to choose me? I am experienced, not like just a certain someone who just recently became an Administrator Candidate. Also, I don't think the other candidates would be willing to work under you with how many enemies you have. The risk of working with you is doubled with what happened during the trial." Ira added.

Tang Shaoyang glanced at Agnes. There was one candidate who wanted to work with him right now.

"The same with me, she wants to work under you because she knows you a little bit. Those prideful High-Elves are too arrogant to form an alliance. They are more scattered by forming a small clan or faction. There must be no single Administrator from her clan, and she is too prideful to work under the other High Elf. The only chance for her to be an Administrator is working under you unless she wants to be a toy for those people who lusted after High-Elf, or else, she doesn't have a chance to be promoted to Administrator. That's the reason she is looking for you."

Ira stood up after explaining why Agnes was here, "I will be waiting for your decision here. You only have two days, because I will start looking for the others if you don't choose me." She then left the room, leaving Agnes and Tang Shaoyang.

Agnes let out a sigh as she could not deny Ira's words. She stood up, "I will be waiting here too, slightly longer than her maybe, but I will not apologize for what happened in the trial. I will make the same decision even if I could turn back in time."

Agnes also left the room, leaving Tang Shaoyang. He just shrugged before leaving as well. But these two women surprised him once more as they were waiting for him outside the room. The way they talked earlier, as if they would not meet again unless he chose them to be his Admin Helper.

"What now?"

"I don't know about her, but I am here to offer you a hand by being a guide. This is your first time in the God Realm, right? I can show you around," Ira replied with a smile.

Before Tang Shaoyang could give her his answer, he received a message. Not just one, but many. His notification was flooded by the messages, and he read one of them.

"Not now. I have an emergency," He declined the offer and rushed toward the portal, and he returned back to Earth. He returned to the rooftop and he saw two giant shadows in the sky. Those two were the emergency, Ophelius and Ophelia went on a rampage not seeing him or Avyn when they woke up. That might be the trauma of what they have gone through so far.

Tang Shaoyang sent telepathic messages to the two Calamities, and they also immediately sensed his presence. They stayed afloat above the rooftop. The rooftop was too small even for one of them, "This is my home! No one will hurt you here!"

The twins exchanged glances, but they did not transform back into their human form. He summoned Avyn and told them to stay away from the city for a while now. He was careless, forgetting about the twins. They were Unique Rank Calamity, no one could suppress the twins on Earth. It could be said they were strongest after him.

He immediately checked up and fortunately, everything was fine because they just broke the room where they slept before roaring loudly in the sky. He was relieved that the twins did not try to destroy the building. His daughter was one floor above them.

The twins had a terrible interaction with humans except for him so far. It was a bad idea to let them live in the city. After making sure that everyone was safe and sound, he had no choice but to bring the twins to meet Kalliyān's nest. It might be better for them to live with Kalliyān.

The Kirin was alerted when the two gargantuan creatures appeared above her nest. But then she was relieved when she noticed Tang Shaoyang's presence. Her nest was on the top of a mountain, slightly far away from the Capital. It was her choice not to live too close to the humans.

Tang Shaoyang landed right in front of her nest, and he noticed three smaller Kirin hiding below her along with the Celestial Wolves cub. The cub was the size of a husky now. He got them when he finished the Trial of Ancient. The two cubs recognized him and rushed toward him.

"You are scaring me with them, Master." Kalliyān made sure Tang Shaoyang knew her dissatisfaction. If she did not sense his presence, she might attack the two massive creatures. Even though she knew these two were far more powerful than her, she would do so for the sake of her children.

"I didn't mean to," Tang Shaoyang looked up, "Come down now!" Albeit slightly reluctant, the twins followed the order. They turned their size smaller, but they made sure to be in the same size as The Kirin.

"Can't they stay with you until they adjust to their new home?" Tang Shaoyang went straight to the point.

"No! Why would they stay here instead of staying with you?" The one who protested was Avyn.

Kalliyān scanned the two creatures who hid behind Tang Shaoyang. Despite how powerful they were, they seemed to be scared of her for some reason.

"They obviously can't stay in the city with me. Haven't you seen what they did just now? It's fortunate there's no casualty, but we don't know what will trigger them. They might destroy the city and no one could stop them but me, and I can't stay with them all the time. You know it as well. I will be going out a lot with the Administrator's work, and soon there will be a new Dimensional Tower as well!"

"They don't have to stay in the city. You can bring them with you. They are strong enough to follow you around!" Avyn refuted.

"You should know as much as I know about it, Avyn! They will be just a burden and also a target if they follow me. Especially for the Administrator's work, those factions will come for them. They have survived two times, and we don't know if they could survive for the third time. Letting them stay here is the best for them." Tang Shaoyang usually relented when he had an argument, but not in this matter.

This matter involved his people's safety and also the twins' safety. He could not leave them in the city, and he could not bring them for sure. The God Alliances and the other factions wanted them. Bringing them with him just puts them at unnecessary risk. Avyn should know it more than him.

"Even though I have reached a God Rank recently, I don't think I can control them, Master. I can't stop them from running amok if they want to, and you should be aware of this issue," Kalliyān interjected. Up this close, she was sure the two dragons were stronger than her.

"They are kids, Kalliyen. I am not asking you to control them, but I want you to raise them..." He told Kalliyen what the twins were and what they had gone through in a short time, the reason he could not keep them in the city.

"Hah..." Kalliyen let out a sigh, "When we made a contract, I expected that you would use me as your mount, but this was worse than becoming a mount. You want me to be your dragon breeder and also a babysitter."

Inside her nest, there were many Dragon Eggs. She was responsible for hatching those eggs. Before the egg, she was asked to babysit the wolf cub, and now a calamity. A creature she had never heard of before.

Tang Shaoyang and Avyn argued a little bit more, but Avyn gave up because she also understood everything. She wanted him to bring them everywhere they went, but she understood the risk. She gave up and decided to stay in the mountain with the twins for a while instead returning to the Spirit World.

Tang Shaoyang hugged the twins' dragon heads into his shoulder, rubbing their heads, "I know. I will visit you often, but you must behave and listen to Kalliyen, understand?" Albeit reluctant, the twins agreed to stay with The Kirin. In their eyes, The Kirin was much better than those small humans.

Tang Shaoyang also bid his farewell to the two Celestial Wolves and Kalliyen's children before leaving the mountain. He had not explored the God Realm, and more importantly, he wanted to confirm how the Administrator worked first. Whether it was true that he had to make a manual report for mission completion. The Administrator's work took priority over the God Realm which was less impressive than he expected.

Chapter 1607 God Realm 5

Back to his room in the Administrator Space, Tang Shaoyang immediately confirmed what Ira just told him. Unfortunately for him, Ira was telling the truth. The System demanded a report from the Administrator. It was different from those quests in the Dimensional Tower where he just needed to return after completing the quest.

[The reason the system needed an administrator was to take care of what the system could not without destroying everything. Void Creature and Calamity are things that are outside the System's control. They don't follow the rules set by the System, and The System needs Administrators to control them instead of destroying a whole world infested by Void Creatures and Calamities.]

[They are like Viruses, and the Administrator is like an antivirus to clean out the virus. So we need detailed reports, in case you find a new type of Void Creature or new Calamity just like your companions. Their behavior, in case they behaved strangely than usual and more. That data would help the other Administrators, and that's the reason why Admin Helper is available.]

[It's generally harder to work alone, but you can recruit them to ease your work, taking care of your paperwork but with a reward. You can promote them to Administrator only after they work for ten years, or they finish a hundred thousand missions together with their Administrator. That's the condition for their promotion, so you can't abuse your authority as Administrator.]

[As you also know, a certain mission requires you to form a team. You can form a team with Admin Helpers as well. I know your class and how you fight, but I advise you to have at least a few Admin

Helpers work under you. You can't just choose anyone to be your Admin Helper, and we have made a list for new Administrators to choose Admin Helper. All Administrator Candidates are on that list, and you can choose Admin Helper from the list.]

[As Senior Administrators, you can choose ten Admin Helpers even though you can only appoint three Administrators from ten of them. I suggest you recruit at least four Admin Helpers because you need five people to form a team for a mission.]

Tang Shaoyang let out a long sigh as Ira told the truth. He did really need Admin Helper if that was the case. Paperwork was his weakness, and he did not think he would write a report faster than completing the mission itself. Without Admin Helper, writing the report would take most of his time to complete a mission.

"Can I see the list for Admin Helper?"

There were two types of Admin Helpers. The Admin Helper specifically helped the Administrator and Admin Helper that helped to smooth out the System's event. The former was someone like Ira, and the latter were the people who opened the shop during the first stage of the trial.

He thought Administrator was kinda a rare class, but it was not as rare as he thought. There were more than twenty thousand Administrator Candidates.

[They are still rare considering how many players existed in the Universe. I do believe there are more than Trillions of Players from how many worlds? Thousands of worlds? We don't know how many worlds under the System are. Over twenty thousand Administrator Candidates are not that many.]

Tang Shaoyang had to agree when Vindir explained it like that. When he had more than a hundred spirits, most of them coming from different worlds mostly. There might be millions of worlds, not just thousands. Something he could not find out unless the System was willing to share the information.

"But still, how am I supposed to choose from these twenty thousand people? How do I know they are good at their work?"

He finally understood why Ira was confident that he would choose her as Admin Helper. As she said, it was better to work with someone he knew than some random people.

"Can I sort them out by their factions?" The list in front of him was sorted out alphabetically. When he said that, the list changed. It was sorted by the factions, alphabetically.

"Can I exclude anyone from The Nirvana Alliance and The God Alliance?"

[There are no Administrators and Administrator Candidates from the alliances you mentioned! As their punishment, their members have been blacklisted for ten years.]

"Then exclude anyone from Vigamaur Dgaror, White Mystery, The Sorc Clan, and anyone based in the Dragon Realm!"

He remembered Vitali was from the Dragon Realm, but he forgot his clan name. That was why he excluded anyone from the Dragon Realm.

Despite his attempt to reduce the number of candidates, there were still more than eighteen thousand candidates on the list. The list was quite detailed, not just names but also their races, pictures, factions, how long they had become a candidate, and so on.

After looking for twenty people, he gave up and typed Castor's full name. Castor should be on the candidate list since he finished in the top ten. He wiped out the participants, leaving Ian, Agnes, Vitali, and Castor. Sure enough, Castor Bach Justesen appeared, available to recruit. But he hesitated to pick the guy because he did not know if Castor was any better than him for the paperwork.

"At least the guy has loyalty, and I know for sure he will not betray me since he has become my companion!" He tapped the recruit button, and the recruitment notice was sent. The System gave more freedom for the candidate to decline.

In the end, he typed Ira's name and there were many with the same names. Fortunately, he remembered her faction, Aedes. There was only one person named Ira from Aedes. He sent the recruitment notice to Ira.

"As for Agnes..." Even though he understood her circumstances, it did not mean he would let her off the hook that easily. If she was faced with the same circumstance, then she would not hesitate to betray him again.

It was different from Ira, she was just the bridge between the Nebula Alliance and him. She could overlook what her faction and her alliance did because it was not her personal decision. Regardless of Ira's choice, she had to listen to the Nebula Alliance's decision.

"I still need two more, but that can wait... Let's check out the God Realm this time."

Upon arriving at the portal in the Starter City, he received two notifications that Ira and Castor accepted his recruitment. The two were officially his personal Admin Helpers now.

Ira seemed to be able to read him as she was waiting for him near the portal at the Starter City. She was smiling at him upon noticing his arrival, and Agnes was next to her as well.

Tang Shaoyang glanced at the female elf, wondering why she was still there. From her sullen expression, he could tell that she knew about Ira becoming his Admin Helper. But it seemed like the female did not want to give up yet.

"Are you planning to make a team with two other Administrators? Since you are a Senior Administrator, you form a team with two Junior Administrators, and that will automatically put you as the team leader," Ira only saw one co-worker on the list. She started her work by giving him advice. Becoming a team leader allowed Tang Shaoyang to have the privilege to choose the mission.

Tang Shaoyang shook his head, "I don't plan to form a team with other Administrators and don't have a plan to form a team for the time being. I want to take on a mission that does not require a team for now. Even if I want to form a team, I would rather fill them with more Admin Helpers."

Filling his team with Admin Helper would give him Absolute Authority rather than having other Administrators in his team. That was the plan.

"I see... What about if I introduce myself to my friends? A lot of my friends lost their spots because you killed their Administrators," Ira did have a lot of friends, and they lost their spots after the incident with Tang Shaoyang.

"Let's talk about that later. I need to know more about the God Realm!"

Ira nodded, listening to his request. As they were about to leave, Agnes was about to follow them as well. However, Ira pulled the female elf to the side. They talked about something, but he could not hear what they talked about. It seemed like Ira did something to cover their conversation, and she convinced Agnes not to follow them. It was not like Tang Shaoyang could stop the elf from following him, but he was glad if Agnes left on her own.

"So what do you want to know about the God Realm? Even though I would say there's nothing special about this place aside from a world where the strong reside."

As Ira said, the city itself was not so special. If anything, he could buy the God Rank Artifact at an outrageous price. More than a trillion for one God Rank Artifact, and there are less than five of them. The store also sold the bloodline, and of course, it was bloodline from blood essence. There were a few advanced classes, but nothing particularly eye-catching for someone like Tang Shaoyang. He had a high expectation for the God Realm, but it was nothing but just another world where people from many worlds gathered.

"If you are looking for an artifact, then I know a place to find them. But you must prepare more than just GC. Or if you want to try your luck, you can try Arena of God. Something like a gladiator fight, and the winner will get an artifact or bloodline. It's an event hosted by The System directly. If you want to take the risk, there's also a dungeon. But it's not easy to enter a dungeon in the God Realm. A lot of people are lining up for a dungeon, so you might not get a spot even if you want to."

Tang Shaoyang was disappointed when he heard about the God Realm. He expected more than just another world.

"Ah, if you are looking for a new source of resources to strengthen your own faction, then you need to take over other faction's territories. The System will spawn a random mineral vein and dungeon in a random territory, so don't be surprised when you hear often about a war between factions. The larger your territory, then the higher the chance for a dungeon, mineral vein, or System Event to spawn in your territory."

"Ah, right, you got a territory by finishing in first place, right? Since it's a new territory, you will gain one year of protection. No one could take over your territory in a year. The System gives you a time, a time for you to prepare for the war! That's why a lot of factions in the God Realm are forming an alliance. You can't survive by yourself."

Chapter 1608 Together 1

The Starter City was a disappointment for Tang Shaoyang, but he got the information he wanted about the God Realm. It could be said that the God Realm was just another world with bigger resources. Of course, those resources were not so easy to obtain as well. Most of the territory in the God Realm had been occupied, and the undistributed territories belonged to the System.

Just like the previous briefing for the first stage of the Trial of God. The System absorbed an abandoned world to expand the God Realm. The God Realm never stopped expanding. The System's territory was neutral territory. It was usually a territory where the System held an event.

Tang Shaoyang used this opportunity to get to know more about the war in the God Realm. A faction could officially challenge the other factions to take over the territory. It was kinda the same with the World War, observed directly by the System. It is usually used to minimize the damage to the territory. But of course, a faction could launch a full-scale attack without a challenge.

There was no specific rule for the God Realm. The rules only apply to the System's territory. War is just another day in this God Realm.

Tang Shaoyang was thinking of focusing on his Administrator's work, but it seemed like he needed to focus on defending his territory more. His idea of bringing his people to the God Realm was discarded. Bringing them to the God Realm might put them in danger.

He might have a few God Ranks, but that was nowhere near enough to defend his territory. It was not like he could not stay in his territory all the time to protect them. An ample preparation was needed for him to immigrate his people to the God Realm.

"If you are worried, you can recruit people. As I said, one or two factions falling in one day is a normal occurrence. You can recruit the people who lost their homes, giving them a new home. That's the fastest way to grow your power as a newcomer in the God Realm. But of course, the risk is high. There's a chance they may betray you, so you must be careful. Those people might try to take over your land from inside."

That was Ira's genuine advice. It was not a little person who fell to the very same trick. Rather than giving Tang Shaoyang an idea, it was more like she was warning him of the danger lurking in the God Realm. She did not want to lose another Administrator only to restart her painstaking work for another ten years.

After a quick tour, they returned to the same restaurant where he first had a discussion with Ira. As soon as their butt touched the chair, Ira went straight to the business, "So when will we take our first mission?"

"I don't know. Maybe in a week or maybe two weeks—"

Ira cut him off when she heard the possibility of taking the mission in another two weeks, "You must remember that you have a quota as Senior Administrator. You must complete three missions in one month. If you fail to do so, you might get demoted to Junior Administrator. Especially if you are a new Senior Administrator, you can't miss your first month's quota!"

Tang Shaoyang rubbed his head. His mind was elsewhere during the tour. His mind was on his territory, and how he should respond to the aggression. He was not as confident as facing hundreds of Administrators. It was a war, a faction, or maybe involved an alliance. He was unsure if he alone was enough. However, he did not think that his army was ready for a battle on this scale.

Then Ira reminded him of the quota. He had a quota to fulfill as a Senior Administrator. He almost forgot about that, 'Might not be a solution, but I have to rely on myself for this one. At worst, I will just lose my territory.'

The only solution was to get stronger, facing the war by himself. There were several ways for him. First, he could start entering the dungeon on Earth. Second, the God Realm was a full opportunity. Trying the dungeon here and joining the System's event might help him as well. Third, it was the Administrator's mission. He would go around the world, and maybe he could gather a lot of materials. Enough to upgrade all his Spirits at least to high sub-rank Archaic Spirit.

"Do we have any way to communicate even if I am in my world?" While he was worried about the territory in the God Realm, he still needed to prioritize his Empire. He wanted to hear the update during his absence from the trial. His father-in-law also requested a meeting, and he also had a dungeon issue. Earth had reached the last stage of the Game right after he ranked up to the God Rank back then.

He wanted to know how his people handled those dungeons. He was not that worried about the dungeon issue since he had Hemlin, Forlan, and Luneia from Aquara who were more familiar with the dungeon. They should be able to handle the dungeon issue.

"You don't even know such a basic thing for an Administrator?" Ira shook her head. She was unsure if she made the right choice by sticking with Tang Shaoyang, "You can use your Administrator's Authority to make a call or send a message to your Admin Helper. You must initiate the contact, or else I can't call or send you a message."

"How long do you need to take care of your issue? Do you think we can take this mission?" Ira shared a screen with Tang Shaoyang. It was a mission screen, a special mission, reclaiming an old abandoned world.

The Executive Administrator initiated the mission to reclaim this unknown world that had been abandoned for more than a thousand years. It was a special mission because of how dangerous the mission was. Since it was a special mission, it required a team to join the mission.

"It's a dangerous mission for sure, but we will not fail this mission since the Executive Administrator directly leads the operation. It's also counted as three missions because it's a special mission. So you will have more time to take care of your issue after completing the mission."

Chapter 1609 Together 2

Ira took her job as Admin Helper seriously. She knew that she must push the job on Tang Shaoyang rather than wait for his call. Knowing Tang Shaoyang was in a tight time with the new territory as well as the aftermath of the trial. She suggested a special mission.

"But we need to form a team for this special mission," After reading the requirements for the mission, he noticed it was a mission that required a team. They only had three people, not a full team yet.

"If you trust me, then I can handle the rest. As I said, I have a few reliable friends. I will make sure that I will bring the best and the most hard-working one!" Ira already had a few names in her mind, "If you can't fully trust me, we can do a short interview one or two days before the mission."

Tang Shaoyang checked the time when the mission started. The mission started in eight days. He had one week to take care of his business before focusing on his Administrator work. While he would like to keep it hidden about the God Realm from his wives, he must tell them the truth about everything.

They were his brains, and he was the muscles that did the brute work. While he could not rely on them to fight in a war, they could offer him ideas that he could not think of.

"Alright, let's take the special mission. I will message you in three or maybe four days, and we will do a short briefing. I need to know my team before we go into the mission." He had no choice but to put his trust in Ira once more. Of course, he would keep his guard against these people, Ira included. He learned his lesson enough not to fully trust the person he just knew recently.

Bidding his farewell with Ira, Tang Shaoyang returned to Earth. The moment he returned to his room, Origin notified him of his wives' return.

[The Ladies have returned from the Dimensional Tower after learning of your return, Your Majesty.]

"Alright, tell them to meet me in the meeting room. I am going to meet with the dwarves first."

Tang Shaoyang went to the underground city where the dwarves resided, Dwarven Keep. The Dwarves had not opened their gate to the public yet, so only a handful of people could enter Dwarven Keep. Only the high-ranking officers and the Emperor could get in and out of the Dwarven Keep anytime.

He met with the Council and the President, and he brought them to the God Realm. For some reason, The Dwarves were in awe as they arrived in the God Realm.

"What do you guys think? Can you make a fortress for me? This territory might be attacked in one year..." Tang Shaoyang explained where they were and what would happen there. As for why he needed a strong fortress or castle.

The Presidents and the Council gathered. They were already discussing what kind of wonder they wanted to build here. After a short discussion, President Engin came to Tang Shaoyang, "Can Your Majesty give us one day to survey the area? We need to see the terrain and how big the territory is before we can come up with a rough sketch."

"That's fine. Do you need anything?" Tang Shaoyang nodded. He liked the dwarves' attitude that did not get affected by the potential of fighting an army of God Ranks.

"We need a few of our people. Can we bring them here as well?" Engin smiled.

Tang Shaoyang brought Engin back to the Dwarven Keep before sending him back with his people to the God Realm. He fully trusted the dwarves who had helped him to rebuild his country as well as arming his army.

After sending the dwarves to the God Realm for a survey, he returned to the meeting room. It was different from the meeting room in the office. It was a family meeting room, two floors below Tang Shaoyang's main room.

As soon as he entered the room, his seventeen wives turned toward him. At the sight of him, they immediately stood up and rushed toward him with the exception of Elinova, Li Shuang, and Ava. They were giving him hugs and kisses, and the last one was Zhang Mengyao.

Tang Shaoyang was surprised when he saw her again. Her black hair had turned white, and her skin became smoother and paler. Her eyes became redder like blood, and he noticed two small fangs protruding from her lips.

She kissed him, hugging him tightly. It has been almost three months since their last meeting. After sharing the passionate kiss, Zhang Mengyao refrained from taking further action. There must be a reason why Tang Shaoyang gathered all of them here.

They all returned to their seats, and their expressions changed into solemn ones. They turned into a working mode, all of them, including Elin.

"First of all, I have become a God Rank!" That was the first thing he told them. Instead of being happy that their husbands ranked up to the God Rank. Almost all of them let out a frustrated sigh.

Tang Shaoyang almost burst into a chuckle, but he understood why they acted this way. His reaching the God Rank meant he was getting further away from them.

Not immediately telling them about the God Realm, Tang Shaoyang recounted his story about the trial. He must share about the trial with them as they eventually would participate in one.

He did not hide anything, including the Nirvana Alliance and The God Alliance's scheme.

"They broke the truce!" Zhang Mengyao could not hold it any longer after hearing what Tang Shaoyang had gone through.

"They did!" Tang Shaoyang nodded, "But they were punished for meddling in the System's event..." He told them about the System's punishment, and how they had ten years to prepare for the Nirvana Alliance. Not just the Nirvana Alliance, but also the God Alliance.

Zhang Mengyao let out a defeated sigh and was down, knowing she was still far away from helping Tang Shaoyang even after fully awakening her Primal Vampire Bloodline. That was her reward after reaching the Demi-God Rank a week ago. She just entered the Demi-God Rank, and it would take months if not years to get to the God Rank without a war.

She was aware that Tang Shaoyang could reach the God Rank because of the war against the Divine Church, The Giteron Dynasty, and The Allurion Faction. Her husband fought them by himself, and she was aware that she would not be able to achieve the same feat.

Chapter 1610 Together 3

Tang Shaoyang sensed the happy atmosphere for their reunion after almost three months were down. Their mood was dampened by his story, but he preferred not to hide it from them. He understood why they were down, because they felt helpless, not being able to help him.

"We still have ten years. Take your time. In ten years, we will still open two more Dimensional Towers. We have more than enough time to prepare for the war."

Sensing their mood, he hesitated to tell them about the territory in the God Realm. If the war against the Nirvana Alliance and the God Alliance would take ten years, the war to defend their territory in the God Realm might happen in a year. He assumed the other factions would try to take over his territory as soon as the protection expired.

"But have a big concern to address sooner than the war against the two alliances..." Tang Shaoyang decided to tell them everything. They would find out eventually, and it would be better if they knew it directly from him. If they knew it from someone else, they might misunderstand him.

Sure enough, the moment he said there might be a war in a year, against a faction in the God Realm. The atmosphere in the meeting room tensed up. The no ending war concerned them more.

"You don't have to worry about our territory in the God Realm. I will try to defend it by myself, but if it's too overwhelming for me, then I can just give up. We will make our return once we are ready."

He told them about the war, but he would not let them get involved in this one. One year was not enough for them to have a big war against the God Ranks. Even if they reached the God Ranks, they would still be weaker than most of the God Ranks in the God Realm. He would not take the risk of letting them join him.

Tang Shaoyang expected them to fight back, but none of them opposed his decision for this one. Even Zhang Mengyao did not say anything.

"There's still more..." When he said that, everyone got even more tense. They thought it was more wars, "I am not talking about war, but my class, Administrator." He went on, to explain what an Administrator was and how the class worked.

He would spend most of his time in his Administrator's jobs and would leave the Empire to their care. With the impending war between the two alliances, he told them what he planned.

Then he also told them about Ophelius and Ophelia. Li Na was the main reason he told them about the twins. As a summoner with familiars, he hoped she could develop a connection with them. The twins might be too young, but they were the actual guardians of his empire during his absence.

Li Na nodded, "I will try my best to get on their good side."

She did not talk about taming them, but more about forming a friendly relationship. Tang Shaoyang was glad to hear that. He then told Li Na and the others a little bit about the twins' background, and what happened to them during the trial. Not forgetting the story about him almost wiped out the Administrators as well.

"That's all for the actual story. My experience might help if you ever join the Trial of God. Just keep in mind never trust the Administrator."

"I am done with the yapping. It's time for the gift," Tang Shaoyang then took a set of new armor and lance for Zhang Mengyao. The Primordial Rank Artifact was much more superior than her Grade B set of armor. He remembered how he obtained her armor from the mini-game in the hospital where he met Kang Xue.

"It's time for you guys to upgrade your equipment!" Then he took out another one of Kang Xue. One by one, all of them received a new set of Artifacts. It was not just an upgrade, but a super upgrade.

All of them were delighted with the upgrade, except for a few, Li Shuang and Elinova. Both did not like fighting, so the artifact was less valuable in their eyes. However, both realized that they also needed to get stronger. While they were as passionate as the others, his lovely Cook and Minister had reached Ancient Rank.

"There's one more!" Tang Shaoyang took out a scroll. It was the Cosmos Serpent Bloodline. The Primal Bloodline he got after coming out as a first place in the first stage. He could not use them, so he might as well give them to someone who had a weak bloodline.

He went on, to explain how crucial and how strong Primal Bloodline was. A bloodline that allowed them to have True Transformation. Instead, he picked one to inherit the bloodline, he would rather they discuss it by themselves who took the bloodline.

"I think you should give it to Lu An. He stays in the Legend Rank even though he could take the trial to the Demi-God Rank because he wants to consult you about the bloodline. He came to me two months ago, saying his bloodline was not the ideal. So he had been stuck on Legend Rank in order to find the right bloodline, so he could upgrade his bloodline for his last trial."

Talking about bloodline, Zhang Mengyao remembered Lu An's concern. Her little brother had been roaming in the Dimensional Tower, hoping to find a good bloodline. So she thought of giving this bloodline to Lu An. The young guy was the core of the Tang Empire's force, after all.

"I already have something else for him," He had another Primal Bloodline, compensation for what happened in the trial.

"I don't want the bloodline. I don't want the serpent's blood to flow into my body!" That was Ava's answer. Her sister, Aleesa followed in agreement. Both elves refused to take the bloodline no matter how good the bloodline was. That was because of the Green Sky Serpent in the Gigante Forest. The elves hated the serpent, one of the Guardians of the Gigante Forest, and that hate spread to the other serpents.

Sylvia from the Moon Rabbit, and his two priests, Selena and Arina also did not want the serpent bloodline. It was followed by his two Queens, Rosalie and Jasmine. He just realized his wives were so picky about their problems.

Tang Shaoyang shook his head, "Women, am I right?" He blurted out. The moment those words were heard, he earned sharp glares from his wives.

Elinova and Li Shuang also did not want a strong bloodline. They declined the bloodline for a different reason. Their roles were in the back line, in the safe area most of them. Such a strong bloodline would be wasted in their hands. A reasonable excuse.
