Jacob, whose emotions and mentality collapsed, finally got off the plane crying and took a taxi to the hotel crying.

Elaine, who had been lying down in a luxury hotel for a day and a night, was shocked and speechless when she saw Jacob crying like a child and swiping his card to enter the room.

Jacob, on the other hand, seemed to see psychological sustenance when he saw Elaine. He cried and threw himself into Elaine's arms, wailing: "My wife...that person named Pei tricked me...I There is nothing now..."

Elaine was a little stunned by Jacob's crying action, and then quickly patted his back to comfort him: "Don't cry, husband, you are just a piece of shit. The Calligraphy and Painting Association? We still don't like it! Listen to me, we won't go there anymore!"

Jacob cried, "But I like it and I want to go..."

Elaine was annoyed. The hand that was still patting Jacob's back to comfort him immediately slipped to his waist, and pinched his waist hard while he wasn't paying attention.

"Ouch!" Jacob yelled in pain, and asked angrily and aggrievedly: "Why are you pinching me?!"

"Nonsense!" Elaine reprimanded with a cold face: "I'm so f*cking kind to comfort you, you turn around and give me I'm going against the grain, so go ahead and cry!"

Jacob was even more aggrieved and asked her, "Just comfort me, can't you just comfort me one more time?"

Elaine waved her hand: "That's it, no more. Not a little."

At this moment, Charlie Wade was driving downstairs to Claire's company, waiting to pick her up from get off work.

Matilda suddenly called him and asked him: "Charlie Wade, how is your father-in-law? I sent him a WeChat message and he didn't reply. Is it okay?"

charlie Wade said: "I don't know. "My father-in-law and mother-in-law went to Dubai for a trip and haven't come back yet. What's wrong, Aunt Matilda?"

Matilda said: "I received an announcement from the Painting and Calligraphy Association in the afternoon, saying that your father-in-law resigned from the Painting and Calligraphy Association, although it was said that it was your father-in-law who resigned. , but combined with the previously reported incident about the Bronze Buddha, it doesn't feel like it. I wonder if there was any conflict between him and the Painting and Calligraphy Association. "

Jacob resigned from the Painting and Calligraphy Association, which surprised charlie Wade.

He had asked Zhang Ermao (Cade) to expose the inside story of setting up the trap, mainly because he wanted to teach Jacob a lesson, and also to let him truly know the feeling of pain.

However, in his expectation, although Jacob lost money and was embarrassed this time, President Pei of the Painting and Calligraphy Association would at least leave him an insignificant position so that he could at least have something to do. However, he did not expect that the Painting and Calligraphy Association would suddenly announce He left his job, which he really didn't expect.

So he said to Matilda: "Aunt Matilda, my father-in-law didn't mention this to me. If you hadn't called me, I wouldn't have known that he had resigned."

Matilda sighed: "With your father-in-law's character, And the importance he attaches to the Painting and Calligraphy Association. No matter what the reason is for leaving this time, whether he is active or passive, I probably won't be able to accept it for a while. It's hard for me to ask him, let alone persuade him. You try to pay attention to him. Don't look back and get into trouble again. "

Although Matilda no longer has feelings for Jacob, she is still a classmate and old friend for many years, so she still cares about him in her heart. She called charlie Wade because she was afraid that Jacob would bear it. Not such a big blow.
