When charlie Wade told his grandfather on the phone that he was going to set up bruce Automobile with the An family, Lord Wade on the other end of the phone burst into tears.

When he learned that the name was actually proposed by charlie Wade's grandfather, he cried even more.

bruce Wade was his most beloved son, and the pain that he could never let go of in his heart. However, he once thought that only the Wade family would feel distressed for bruce Wade's death, and the An family seemed to have never taken bruce Wade's death to heart, and even resented them for Lydia (Ava) (Charlie's mom)'s death. But unexpectedly

, there has always been a place for bruce Wade in the heart of the old man of the An family, and it seems that the weight is very heavy.

Later, when he heard charlie Wade invite him to Aurous Hill to sign a contract with the An family, he agreed without any hesitation.

As for the specific signing time, charlie Wade was not too anxious. In the next few days, the An family will sort out Gao Heng's related assets and resources, and it will not be too late to sign the contract after sorting them out.

What's more, charlie Wade wanted to leave some time to build momentum and spread the word to the outside world first. After the news that the An family and the Wade family jointly established a car company shocked the entire automotive industry, he would let his grandfather come to Aurous Hill to sign the contract.

Another purpose of doing this was to let hank complete the wedding and honeymoon with peace of mind, and not delay the original plan because of this matter.

After everything was confirmed, charlie Wade and hank said goodbye and left from his grandfather's house. Because they were happy, they both drank a lot of wine. Although charlie Wade could use his spiritual energy to completely consume the alcohol, he did not do so. Instead, he felt the paralysis of the brain brought by alcohol, and his mind was full of thoughts.

He specially called Don Albert to help drive and send hank home

The work of the legal department also covers a wide range, among which legal issues related to intellectual property rights are the top priority, so there must be a very experienced expert in the legal field to take charge.

charlie Wade believes in Matilda's attainments in the legal field, especially since she has been engaged in legal work in the United States for many years, and the future development direction of bruce Automobile is globalization, which means that the legal department of the company must be proficient in Western laws. Once it penetrates into overseas markets, local competitors in overseas markets will definitely use various legal traps to block outsiders, and the government of the country may also use various unfair bills to restrict the development of foreign companies and curb the impact of foreign companies on local companies.

Therefore, overseas companies must be equipped with experienced legal personnel and be prepared to sue and respond at any time.

charlie Wade felt that Paul was still young and his experience was bound to be lacking, not to mention that he had his own family law firm, and he could not let him give up his own business, so it was definitely the best solution to introduce Matilda to bruce Automobile to be responsible for legal work.

Matilda was still in the dark at this time, not knowing what the two were playing dumb, and even hitting herself.

So she asked doubtfully: "charlie Wade, what do you want me to do as the vice president of legal affairs? Are you going to start a business?"

charlie Wade smiled and said: "Aunt Matilda, let Professor hank tell you slowly after he goes back."

After that, he asked hank: "Professor hank, what do you think of my proposal?"

hank knew Matilda and her professional level. If she could really join bruce Automobile, it would definitely be a great help. It happened that Matilda is now completely retired. In addition to teaching classes at the Senior University every day, she exercises and plants flowers and grass. She has plenty of time, but I don't know if she will agree.

So he said to charlie Wade: "Don't worry, I will have a good chat with your Aunt Matilda later."
