Hearing charlie Wade's response, Knight was a little surprised for a moment.

He thought to himself: "What does this guy mean? What does it mean that I am too happy too early? This doesn't sound like a good thing!"

Thinking that charlie Wade was Steve's subordinate, Knight was worried that what he said was instructed by Steve, so he hurriedly asked: "I don't know what Mr. Wade means by this?"

charlie Wade smiled and said: "Literally, Mr. Ellis, are you sure you are really happy to see me?"

Although Knight was confused in his heart, he still said very politely: "Mr. Wade, you are Mr. Rothschild's subordinate, and I admire Mr. Rothschild very much. I am naturally very happy to have the opportunity to meet you."

charlie Wade nodded and smiled: "Don't make conclusions too early. You might as well wait half an hour and tell me whether you are happy to meet me."

Knight was even more puzzled. He didn't know why charlie Wade was targeting him, so he could only turn to look at Steve to see how he reacted.

Steve saw him looking at him, so he asked him directly: "Ellis, right? You asked Jimmy to invite me here. What do you want to do?"

Knight Ellis said quickly: "Mr. Rothschild, for many years, Ellis Law Firm has been solving some legal problems of peripheral companies and collateral families for the Rothschild family you belong to, and I personally admire the Rothschild family very much. I heard that you and Jimmy have become friends, so I would like to invite you to come and participate in our high-level meeting and give us a chance to demonstrate our professional ability in front of you."

Steve nodded, looked at Jimmy, and asked him: "Jimmy, if you were asked to objectively evaluate your boss and your law firm, what kind of evaluation would you give?"

Knight looked at Jimmy expectantly, expecting him to praise his firm highly.

After all, he had just signed a guaranteed contract with him for more than 10 million US dollars a year, and he could be considered his absolute financial sponsor. At this time, he would definitely endorse his financial sponsor.

But Knight never dreamed that when Jimmy heard this question, his expression instantly became extremely disdainful. He looked Knight up and down and said in a cold voice: "Mr. Rothschild, my boss is a scumbag. How can a company founded and led by a scumbag be any good?"

Knight never dreamed that Jimmy, who had always been respectful and flattering to him, would suddenly turn against him, and in front of Steve Rothschild, a big shot. This made him immediately furious, and he blurted out: "Jimmy, what do you mean by saying this? I've been so good to you and just promoted you to the director of the company for only a day or two, and you actually say I'm a scumbag?"

Jimmy sneered: "It's a bit insulting when I say you're a scumbag. The word scumbag is insulting! Do you really think you can buy me with money? "

Knight understood instantly and thought to himself, "Oh no! Jimmy, this bastard, must be upset about the fact that I set a trap for him and left evidence of his crime! I thought that bringing him to the board of directors and giving him an extra option would be enough to shut him up, but it seems that this guy's appetite is not so easily satisfied. "

Thinking of this, he smiled at Jimmy and said, "Hey, Jimmy, I know you still have some grudges about the previous things, but to be honest, I have been very kind to you. What's the point of you tearing me down at this time?"

Jimmy snorted coldly, "I'm tearing you down at this time because I hope more people can see your true face!

Then he turned to look at the confused senior partners and said loudly, "Everyone, there is something I have never told you. The bastard Knight Ellis set a trap for me at work and induced me to commit a typical financial crime. However, I was kept in the dark for a long time. It was not until recently that I found out that the reason why he induced me to commit a crime was to secretly obtain my criminal evidence and use it as a threat against me."

Knight was so scared that he broke out in a cold sweat. He quickly grabbed Jimmy and pleaded in a low voice, "Jimmy, if you think the money I compensate you is not enough, you can talk to me. I will I can fight for more benefits for you, but if you expose my secrets and make me lose face, you will definitely not get any good results!"

Jimmy said disdainfully: "What's wrong with me exposing your secrets? Even if I expose your secrets, you still have to give me good results, and I will have to give you ten years of suffering!"

After that, he looked at everyone and continued: “Everyone, all of you senior partners should have committed financial crimes. I believe you are all aware of this, and I can also tell you clearly that your previous financial crimes have been left with evidence by Knight, the bastard;”

“You are valuable to him, and he will use this evidence as a bargaining chip to threaten you in the future, and as a time bomb buried next to you;”

“If you are of no value to him, he will use this evidence to send you to jail and ruin your second half of life!”

Knight quickly said, “Don’t believe what Jimmy said. This guy is an ungrateful person. Before I came here, I just signed a new option agreement with him, and I have to pay him at least an extra 10 million US dollars every year. But he turned around and falsely accused me in front of everyone. This kind of person is not even a human being. He is worse than scum.”

Jimmy sneered, looked at someone in the venue, and said, “Eric, you Two years ago, I took over a divorce case of a well-known golfer privately, and helped his wife to divide 70 million US dollars of assets from him. You yourself got 7 million US dollars. According to the agreement you signed with the company, you have violated the non-competition clause. If you undertake legal business without the company’s permission, you must compensate the company ten times your income. In this case, as long as the company sues you in court, you will face a huge compensation of 70 million. Do you know this?”

The man called Eric was frightened and his face turned pale.

The order he took privately was not from Ellis Law Firm, but was introduced by a friend, who approached him directly.

Knight was shocked by Jimmy’s words and broke into a cold sweat. He also understood the interests involved in the matter instantly.

He cursed in his heart: “No wonder Jimmy signed the ten-year agreement so readily. It turns out that he was trying to trap me!”

He was furious and stared at Jimmy with murderous eyes, gnashing his teeth and questioning: “Jimmy, what good will it do you? If it affects the performance and profits of the law firm, your own income will also be greatly affected. Are you willing to cut off one of your arms in exchange for one of my legs?”

Jimmy smiled slightly and asked him back: “We signed a basic salary agreement, regardless of the income of the law firm? You have to pay me a fixed amount of 14 million US dollars every year, so no matter how much or how little you make in the future, my share of the money is constant. In this case, of course I won’t let you have it too easy.”

Knight suddenly remembered at this moment that Jimmy, the bastard, did not accept the options he gave him, but used the options to discount the annual cash dividend of 10 million.

Foolishly, I thought he was too narrow-minded and only looked at the present, but now it seems that this guy has already made perfect preparations!

Knight stared at Jimmy with hatred and threatened, “Jimmy, I will not pursue all the things you just said, but I warn you, don’t continue to oppose me and don’t continue to reveal more secrets, otherwise I will never let you go!”

Knight knew very well that he was fooled by Jimmy yesterday and sent him all the evidence he had on other people.

Jimmy just said one of them. If he chose to tell all of them, then these people would turn against him and regard him as the biggest enemy.

Therefore, the top priority now is to control Jimmy’s mouth and not let him expand the negative impact no matter what.

However, if they were to be let go directly, and everyone kept the secret and kept it a secret, it would also be a huge loss for the law firm.

You know, many of the evidence was obtained by directly sending ready-made cases to them, which was equivalent to giving them money in exchange for their evidence. If these evidences were not used in the end, then the money would be wasted.

At that time, both the people and the money would be lost, and the mainstay of the entire Ellis Law Firm would be lost, and the loss would be heavy.

So, he said to Jimmy in a pleading tone: “Jimmy, we are colleagues. If you have any demands, you can tell me directly. There is no need to destroy the internal unity of the law firm...”

Before Jimmy spoke, Eric, who was named by Jimmy, shouted loudly: “Jimmy, if there is any secret that concerns everyone, just tell it together! If Knight really has something on each of us, we must unite and fight together! Otherwise, once he defeats us one by one, we will all be doomed!"

Eric was angry and scared at the moment. Although Knight's behavior towards him was shameless, the mistake was his own after all. It felt like a wife deliberately looking for other women to secretly hook up with her husband in order to get more property in the future divorce. Although this practice was indeed vulgar, once the man really couldn't resist the temptation and had an affair with that woman, it would confirm the fact of cheating and could not be washed away.

Therefore, his idea was very simple. He could hear from the conversation between Jimmy and Knight that Knight must have set a trap for more than just himself. It was very likely that other senior partners had also fallen into the trap without knowing it. Therefore, the best way now was to let Jimmy tell everyone else about their affairs, so that they could form an alliance and advance and retreat together. This way, they would be more confident in dealing with Knight.

Although the others had not spoken, they knew very well that since Knight could set a trap for Eric, the other senior partners would probably not be able to escape. In the past few years, they could not resist the temptation and took orders privately or directly intercepted the company's orders. Although they could not be sure which of those behaviors were high-risk, they could guess that Knight must have a handle on them, so the top priority now was to first figure out how big the risk was for them.

So, everyone spoke up.

Someone said, "Jimmy, since everyone is here, you might as well tell us everything you know!"
